Observe Founder's Birthday

The Scout Mothers' Auxiliary of St. Alban's Anglican church met Monday evening. In honor of the birthday on February 22 of Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the scout movement, the room was decorated with flags, candles, pictures and copies of the scout rules. President Mrs. Jack Gray conducted the traditional opening ceremony, and the meeting was concluded with the playing of "Calling All Scouts" as recorded by Lord Baden-Powell. This coming Sunday, February 22, also marks the birthday of his wife, Chief Guide Lady Baden-Powell, and is to be celebrated by guides and brownies of Peterborough at a guides' own service in St. Peter's auditorium in the afternoon. A Valentine party for the brownies was arranged for Thursday after school, and a euchre party is to be held in the evening. The door prize was won by Scouter W. Wood. Lunch was served by Mrs. H. Hewie and Mrs. L. Thibadeau .

Party For Handicapped

Ladies of the Senior Swim Club of the YWCA arranged the delightful sleigh ride and Valentine party so much enjoyed by members of the handicapped swim class on Saturday afternoon. The twelve children who went on the sleigh, with club members and several men of the Rotary Club to take care of them, were Alda Webster, Dorothy Lowe of Lakefield, Bona Farthing, Joan Fitzgerald, Carol Holden, Doug Lockington, Dolores McNulty, Jane Anne Pilling, Terry Shortt, Del Smith, Lynn Strickland and Margaret Trueman. The party afterward at the Y commenced with a half hour of movies and then specially prepared Valentine refreshments were served. Tables were brightly decorated and there were favors for each guest. Club members in charge of the party were Mrs. E. G. Baker, Mrs. J. Buckley and Mrs. V. Ferguson, and they were assisted by Mrs. K. Pilkington, Mrs. A. R. Gariepy, Mrs. Eric Dinesen, Mrs. S. Constable and Mrs. Stewart Wright.

Tells Of Work In N. Africa

Festive Valentine decorations highlighted the meeting of the Women's Federation of George Street United church Monday evening. Guest speaker was Mrs. J. F. Sauve, who told of missionary work done by she and her husband, the Rev. Mr. Sauve, now of Park Street Alliance church, among the red Lobo tribe in West Africa. She was introduced by Mrs. S. Johnston and received a vote of thanks voiced by Mrs. F. A. Hucks. Mrs. Arthur Black reported from a United Nations Association meeting she had attended, and read a report on the address of Mrs. W. W. Marjoribanks of Toronto UNA given in this city recently. Mrs. Hucks gave a short resume of the lecture last week on Israel by Mrs. Joan Comay of Ottawa. Master Barry Black entertained with two piano solos and was thanked by Mrs. G. Douglas. Scripture reading was by Mrs. G. Gatfield and prayer was offered by Mrs. H. Race. An attendance contest was suggested by President Mrs. R. S. Hutton and is to be adopted in coming months. Five groups will participate and the two winning groups will be treated to a picnic by the losers. Conveners for the rose tea in June were chosen, and are Mrs. Black, Mrs. Gatfield and Mrs. H. Allison. Special Valentime refreshments were served at the close.

Paper that's stuck to wood can be removed by allowing oil to soak into it. Use just a few drops of the oil and then rub gently with a clean cloth.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both— Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only $1.19 a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember — if not entirely satisfied — your money will be refunded promptly. ®Trade Mark

Lawyers Entertain Their Ladies At Dinner Dance

Peterborough Law Association held a "ladies' night" Monday at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club, and the evening was so much enjoyed that both members and guests are hoping it will become an annual event.

Dinner, at which the guest of honor was the Honorable Mr. Justice R. J. Ferguson, member of the High Court Division of the Supreme Court of Ontario, was followed by dancing, with orchestra music supplied, and bridge for those who preferred it.

A toast to the Bench, proposed by Mr. F. D. Kerr, QC, was replied to by Mr. Justice Ferguson. His Honor Judge J. de N. Kennedy proposed a toast to the Bar, and to this Mr. T. J. Carley, QC, responded. The ladies were toasted by Mr. W. Donald Bark and Mrs. B. D. Hall made a reply. President William C. Grant was chairman.

Prizes were given for a spot dance, won by Mrs. Alex Fleming and Mr. Walter Howell, and an elimination dance, won by Mrs. Robert Carley and Mr. Howell again, and for high score in bridge won by Mrs. Wilfred Huycke and Mr. B. D. Hall.

The committee in charge of the arrangements was headed by Mr. Alex Fleming with Messrs Frank Foster, QC, Richard Batten, John Corkery and Ralph Standish assisting. Only three members of the Association were unable to attend.

Society Enters Project For Fair

ROSENEATH (ENS) — "Christmas Fellowship" was the theme of the worship service in charge of Mrs. Reginald Timlin at the February meeting of Centenary WA. The scripture reading was given by Mrs. Silas Sherwin, prayer was offered by Mrs. Dawson Timlin.

The meeting was held in the church with the president, Mrs. D. Timlin, presiding and with Mrs. Arnold Elder as pianist.

The treasurer, Mrs. Reginald Timlin, reported a balance on hand of $106.70.

The good cheer report presented by Mrs. Walton Lean, showed four boxes and seven cards had been sent during the past month.

The society decided to enter an exhibit in the new project in ladies' work at Roseneath fair "Let's Have a Bazaar."

Many donations were received by the society during the month, these included money, aprons, a quilt top and several yards of print.

Mrs. Walton Lean was appointed to be in charge of the birthday box.

Mrs. Ernest Burrison was in charge of the program and was assisted by Mrs. Bruce Arthur and Mrs. Walton Lean. A valentine contest by the convener was won by Mrs. Reginald Timlin.

A lunch committee served refreshments.

Institute Hears J. E. Stephens

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Principal J. E. Stephens of the Lakefield District High School addressed the Women's Institute in Memorial hall and told of the progress made in the school and also some of the set backs experienced. He was introduced by Mrs. Eldon Johnston, the Educational convener.

The vice-president, Mrs. Roy Farrow conducted the meeting and Mrs. Fred Kemp presented the secretary's report.

Mrs. Clarence Foster, district director, was appointed a representative to attend a meeting to be held in Peterborough today concerning the arrangements for the oratorical contest and for the Exhibition, Mrs. Foster will also make arrangements to have South Smith WI join with Lakefield for an exhibition and demonstration to be held in Memorial Hall, April 5. The theme for the demonstration will be "Brighten your home with color".

It was decided to send the 1954 president to the President's Convention in Guelph in May.

Mrs. Howard Bullock reported that 21 members had attended the visit to the old peoples' home, where a splendid program was enjoyed and treats distributed.

The members will quilt a quilt at the home of Mrs. Bullock for the Red Cross on February 17 and will also make four pairs of pyjamas and a layette for them.

A skit, prepared and acted by members, was well received. Those taking part were Mrs. E. Waldon, Mrs. T. Payton, Mrs. H. Bullock, Mrs. Alex Hunter, Mrs. Foster, and Mrs. J. Moore. The skit was titled "How to conduct a properly prepared meeting" and was given at the Leadership Forum held recently.

Eighteen members answered the roll call by telling something about the first school they had attended.

Mrs. J. McKerchar and her committee were tea hostesses.

Only 24 Rinks Entering Bonspiel

Curling bonspiels in other centres this week have cut the entry list for the annual Warne Bonspiel in Peterborough to 24 rinks.

As a result, Mrs. V. A. Selkirk, president of Peterborough Ladies' Curling Club, expects the schedule to be completed in two days, instead of three as previously arranged. The games start on Wednesday morning and continue through Thursday.

Visiting curlers will be guests for a buffet supper in the club rooms Wednesday evening. The usual tea and presentation of prizes is to take place Thursday evening whenever final results are in.

Woman Helps Husband Demolish Old Buildings

VANCOUVER (CP)—When Mrs. Bonnie Perpet was interviewed by a reporter here, she was prying boards from the side of an old store, exerting the full strength of her five-foot-four frame and 120 pounds weight.

The 40-year-old mother of two children is chief assistant to her husband, Hank Perpet, whose business is contracting for the demolition of buildings.

Mrs. Perpet quit work for a minute to explain she had been raised in the hotel business in Saskatchewan.

"When I first came to Vancouver I worked as a waitress," she said, "but I wouldn't go back to it for all the money in the world. I was a nervous wreck.

"Now I can lift as much as the average man. To be honest with you, this kind of work is not nearly so tough as being a waitress. At least in this line you don't have screwball customers driving you nuts.

MONEY HELPS

"A hard-working girl housewrecker can earn more money than any waitress in town. Of course, there are tricks to every trade. When I first started in this business, I thought it would kill me. I was lifting with my arms instead of using my legs and whole body. Now it is a cinch.

"Can't be bothered wearing a hard hat. I've been conked once or twice by falling debris, but nothing serious.

"There's one thing: None of my suits fit me. My jackets are all right as long as I don't bend my arms. When I do my muscles make the sleeves bind."

1st GA Conference At All Saints'

Girls' Auxiliaries of the Anglican churches of Peterborough and district met Saturday at All Saints' parish hall for the first district conference. St. John's was represented by 19 girls under leadership of Mrs. W. C. Boate, St. Luke's by seven girls under leader Miss Anita Mason. There were five from Havelock with their leader, Mrs. Cooke, and All Saints' group had nine girls and their leader, Miss M. Riel. These formed the nucleus of what is hoped to be an annual get-together.

Mrs. E. R. Bagley, Diocesan GA secretary, whose husband, the Rev. Mr. Bagley, has done much in church extension, was present. Also Miss Jean Leppington, Youth Leader for the Diocese of Toronto.

The film "Transition" was shown. This was in connection with study on missions and showed the changes in the lives of Indians and Eskimos through Christianity and modern civilization entering the northland. It also presented a challenge to the church in the light of present day needs.

A period of recreation was conducted by Miss Leppington while Mrs. Bagley took charge of a leaders' conference. A period of sing-song was conducted by Mrs. M. P. Poole.

Pauline Rusaw, of All Saints', conducted the devotional service while Josie Hendren, of St. John's, took the responsive scripture reading. Miss Leppington gave a talk on "Women's Vocation in the Church." She said, in part, "There is a Christian vocation for all of us, and that is to follow the Master. All our skills can be used in His service, helping those who are in great need."

Supper brought to a close the program for Saturday.

All Saints' anniversary services were marked on Sunday by Pauline Rusaw receiving the honor ring. Bishop Marsh of the Arctic, who was guest speaker for the day, invested Pauline with the ring. This is the highest award a girl can receive in the Auxiliary and to do so she must prove herself worthy in every way, striving to put "service before self" and so fulfilling the challenge of the theme hymn, "Youth of the World Arise."

Canon Gilling Presides At Young's Pt. Meet

YOUNG'S POINT (ENS)—In the absence of a resident rector, the vestry meeting of St. Aidan's Anglican Church, Young's Point, was presided over by Canon W. J. Gilling of Peterborough (Rural Dean).

The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Darling with a good attendance. In place of the incumbent's report, Canon Gilling addressed the meeting.

The annual financial report was given by Mr. Arthur Morris, people's warden, and showed all obligations met, and all debts paid.

Leonard Wilson was appointed rector's warden, and Arthur Morris as people's warden. Sidesmen are T. Berry, John Darling, Douglas Heard, Leo Traynor, Mr. Foucher and Capt. Sloan.

Mrs. R. Nicholson gave a report of the activities of the Woman's Auxiliary for the past year and Mr. Morris reported for the Sunday School.

The services will be conducted for the next few months at Young's Point, Haultain and Buckhorn, by Mr. Patterson, a student of Wycliffe College, Toronto.

Canon Gilling also said that he is at the disposal of all three congregations for any duties that he can perform such as visiting the hospitals while they are without a minister in residence.

The meeting was closed with prayer by Canon Gilling and refreshments were served.

Tasty Treaters Make Various Types Of Salads

NORWOOD (ENS)—The fourth and fifth meetings of the Supper Club were held at the homes of Margaret Clark and Barbara and Doris Brown, with six members attending each meeting. Margaret Clark demonstrated "Prune Sponge", Barbara and Doris Brown demonstrated "Cheese Fondu".

Mrs. Knox led in our discussions on "Meat Planning". Lunch was served at both meetings.

The sixth meeting of the supper club was held at the home of Colleen English with six members present. It was moved by Barbara Brown and seconded by Marie English that Margaret Clark be press secretary.

The next meeting will be at the home of Audrey Gardner on February 22nd.

The members under the supervisor Mrs. Knox made salads. Three different kinds were made, all of which turned out successfully. A fruit salad was demonstrated by Colleen English. Lunch was served.

Lazy Women Chief Asset To Industry

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP)—Talking with assorted business men, I've decided that the laziness of women is one of the chief assets of industry.

In fact, the top brains of science and finance are constantly at work to make us even lazier.

We are encouraged to buy automatic washing machines, electric dishwashers, electronic devices for watching the baby, cooking the roast or opening the garage doors.

We are pampered by food companies which do all our cooking for us. We can buy anything from chicken pot pie to French hors d'oeuvres in frozen food packages, ready to heat and serve.

DIFFERENT FROM GRANDMA

All we need to become a champion cake baker is a package of one of the popular cake mixes. Biscuits and hot rolls, that Grandma used to labor hours to make, are ours in a package.

My most recent conversation on the economic importance of being lazy was with a big, genial Irishman named Dan Mahony, a merchandising executive for Lily-Tulip Cup Corp. Naturally he thinks it's a crime to have to wash dishes and believes everybody should use paper cups, plates and containers.

"No woman ever really enjoyed washing dishes—that's for sure. And today's trend toward back yard dining, barbecues, patio parties and TV-snacks is right up our alley."

GET RID OF IT

The trend of the times is toward making practically everything disposable—and we've already gone a long way toward that goal.

Today you can serve a full-course dinner on disposable dishes, bake in disposable pans, store your leftovers in paper cartons, dress the baby in disposable diapers, mop the sink with paper towels, wipe your nose with a tissue handkerchief and even go swimming in a paper bathing suit.

In the future we may all be dressed in disposable clothes, which can be tossed in the incinerator when soiled.

Winter's End No Signal Ceasing Skin Care

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Some dry-skimmed women adhere to sound skin-care programs all though the winter but drop them just as soon as the first balmy breeze blows. They expect their skin to get by without constant pampering.

Actually, dry skin does require year-round lubrication to remain soft and lineless.

Probably impatience with sticky preparations has caused many women to limit their care to wintertime. They hate the messiness and the stains on clothing and bed linen.

One maker of babies' toiletries believes that these women would get on the year-round schedule if they were to try its baby lotion. The lotion will do an effective job without causing annoyance, it is claimed.

This lotion is made of pure oil with a little lanolin and water added. It is said to spread so well that very little need be used and no stickiness whatever is felt.

To women whose skin is particularly dry, the firm recommends that the lotion be applied to the ordinarily dry areas immediately after bathing, while the body is still warm and wet.

Bath-Time ritual of this girl (above) includes applying a baby lotion to her legs to prevent dry patches.

But whatever lubricating agent you favor, you should continue using it throughout the year. Legs, for example, should at least be pampered with a softening preparation after hair has been removed. And roughened heels generally are a year-round problem.

DOROTHY DIX

Now That Wife Has Left Husband Tells Of Remorse

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 45, and have been married 17 years. We have two boys. Unfortunately, I acquired the drinking habit, and would sometimes stay out from Friday through Sunday drinking. I never lost a day at work, however, but when I drank I was very disagreeable. I argued constantly with my family, hit my wife for no reason and never was a good father or husband. Four weeks ago my wife left me. She went to her mother, who sent her out of town so I couldn't find her. She refuses to see or talk to me. I have the children. She claims everything is over between us, that she doesn't love me and can't stand the sort of life she had with me. I have promised to quit drinking if she'll come back. Oh yes, I made these promises before, and broke them, but this time I know I will stick to the bargain. I went to a doctor who helped me a lot, and also to our minister, who has shown me how wrong I have been. I love my wife very much and want her home.

MATT

CONVINCE YOUR WIFE

ANSWER: Seventeen years of the life your wife had is enough to break any woman. Sometimes the damage is irreparable; sometimes a lucky man gets another chance and proves that he can make good. What the future holds for you is largely in your own hands. I'm sure your wife would welcome a chance to come back to her home and be with her children. Your immediate job is to convince her of your good intentions—and to be sure of them yourself. Since both your doctor and minister are aware of the situation, they might help in persuading your wife to return.

A man takes a terrible chance when he pits his family's happiness and welfare against the dubious pleasure of drinking bouts. Nothing kills a woman's love so completely as the week-by-week appearance of a drunken spouse, who is usually abusive. It takes a pretty strong love to hold out against this treatment, and no woman can be blamed for finally deciding she's had enough. I hope you've learned your lesson, Matt, and with God's help will reestablish your little family as a happy unit.

DEAR MISS DIX: For several months I've been acting as hostess at a service club, attended by boys from a nearby camp. I became quite friendly with one of the boys and knew he was expecting a transfer. When I went to the club last week, I was told he had left two days previously. Should I write to him, as I have his address, but he doesn't have mine. He had prised to call before he left, but did not.

SALLY

ANSWER: Sure, write to the boy. What can you lose but a 3-cent stamp. Since you have been around service men for so long, you should appreciate the fact that their orders frequently come through on short notice, and that in the general confusion it's quite possible he had no time to call you. Give the lad the benefit of the doubt, and write, wishing him Godspeed.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Last month a very good friend of mine died suddenly of a heart attack. His wife has asked my advice on several business matters, and it is apparent that she may lose her home. Feeling that eventually she will be able to get over this financial difficulty, as she is capable of filling a good job, I'd like to help her out now, but don't know how to handle it without having my intentions misconstrued by outsiders.

J. F.

ANSWER: You might offer to take over a mortgage on her house, or make a loan on a strictly business basis. If you're careful to have everything in writing, the arrangement will be above suspicion, even for the smallest-minded onlooker. Of course, things like this shouldn't be anyone else's business anyway, but since some tongues wag with the slightest encouragement, your wish to handle the affair delicately is very wise.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Julia Works Wonders For Four On $15 A Week

Two or three weeks ago I mentioned in this column that I would mail a release of January 1953 entitled "Julia Works Wonders for Four on $15.00 Per Week" to a reader who was requesting suggestions for making her small food allowance stretch further.

Prompted by my mentioning of it I received so many letters from other readers for this release that I had to make a new printing. The new printing includes all of Julia's letter, and this is it:

"Dear Mary Moore—I manage to stretch $15 a week for four and think I'm doing wonders . . . I make my own bread . . . 4 loaves made in headcheese tins which I cadged from the butcher (I took him a loaf of homemade bread to thank him for them) The bread is made from your "Simplified White Bread" recipe . . . I use cooking oil to keep it moist because it is simpler than fat. We also use oil in your Wacky Cake. I "butter" our loaves with margarine when they come hot from the oven.

I use pure castile soap—another economy—and it agrees with all our skins. It is harder and lasts longer; we lay the soap on a nail brush at the back of the basin to prevent dissolving . . . I watch for 2-for-something sales of cake mixes. I find two cake mixes for 49 cents are more economical than I can mix up . . . at Christmas my grocer sold me a goose with torn skin on shoulder for 30 cents a pound. At New Years' I got another at 35 cents a pound—the last one he had and I had to pick out some pin feathers but it was worth it.

Often he has a last week's ham that he trims for me and sells for 5 or 7 cents per pound less. I get a beef bone with fat and no meat for nothing and with a very little meat for 10 cents. He frequently has boiling chickens for 37 cents per pound. When stuffed and rubbed with bacon fat and cooked slowly at 400 deg. it is as nice or nicer than any "roaster" . . . I buy two dozen pullet eggs from my egg man at 40 cents per dozen now.

Here are some of our menus on $15 per week:

Breakfasts: Orange or tomato juice, or squeezed oranges with 1 lemon added to the pitcher; oatmeal or Vita-B or wheat flake cereal hot, with milk and sugar, scrambled eggs or omelette or bacon or boiled egg; cocoa or milk, coffee, toast and honey or homemade jam.

Lunches (for husband and daughter to carry): 3 slices homemade bread sandwiches of egg, meat or fowl; celery and cheese; 2 soda biscuits; apple or tangerine, cake or cookies. (My daughter takes a milk ticket for milk; my husband can heat water and make coffee at work).

Lunches (at home when husband is on nights): soup, biscuits, cheese, shredded lettuce, bread, fruit and cake or cookies or graham wafers, tea and milk for son.

Often soup is made from canned tomatoes and milk. We love this kind and a 28-ounce can lasts two meals for all four. Don't forget the baking soda in tomatoes, and don't let soup boil for an instant after adding milk . . . it has a better flavor if seeds are left in and margarine is added to pan first before adding tomatoes and is allowed to sizzle a little with a bit of onion in.

Today for lunch we had soup and homemade bread and pancakes with honey butter (melt sugared honey over hot water with a good sized piece of margarine). We also had salad . . .

Here is my week's supply of meat bought today: 2 lbs. riblets, (cheaper than spareribs but delicious barbecued), 15c per lb.; 2 lbs. pork liver 29c lb.; ½ lb. bacon (25c ½ lb.), 1 soup bone 10c, 1 blade roast $2.51 at 55c lb. This was large but lovely, so I will cut it in half and keep half in freezer for next week. We'll have bacon and eggs for one meal, liver will do 2 meals, riblets 1 meal, bologna 1 meal (sometimes I steam it to heat it and serve with fluffy mashed potatoes), beef 2 meals and maybe the soup made very hearty with perhaps the roast end or ground bits of liver if any left; soup mix will be added, lentils and bits of celery and carrots. The meats I have mentioned were all specials for this weekend and that's why prices are quoted. (NOTE from M.M.. These are 1953 winter prices. The over-all cost of meat is somewhat lower in 1954.)

I've followed your column as long as I've been married. Then I could only bake scalloped potatoes, cake, macaroons . . . so you've turned out another good cook to your credit . . . Julia T."

Anyone can see that it isn't my column that deserves the credit . . . that Julia gal has savvy and determination and a sunny disposition.

I hope Julia sees this repeat and writes to me again.

Tribute Paid A. Macphail

TORONTO (CP) — The Union Jack atop the Legislative buildings at Queen's Park was flown at half mast Monday in tribute to Agnes Macphail, former member of the Ontario Legislature and the House of Commons who died Saturday.

In the Legislature Premier Frost described Miss Macphail as a "militant, able and fearless woman who pioneered in the public life of Canada."

"We're poorer here today for the passing of this great Canadian woman for whom we had such great regard," he said.

W. J. Grummett, CCF house leader, said Miss Macphail "pioneered the cause of womanhood."

"The world needs women like her to hold high the banner of faith, integrity and respect."

Liberal leader Farquhar Oliver said Miss Macphail was the "ablest woman speaker in Canada in her time" and had been a "mighty advocate in high places of persons of small means."

Your Hands Need Basic Attention

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Why is it that the sight of dirty hands is so unpleasant? A smudge on a face in some instance may seem amusing, but soiled hands never fail to make a bad impression.

Because of the work they engage in, some people just cannot avoid having dirty hands a good part of the day. As frequent as are their trips to the wash basin, they suffer this problem.

But, teen-agers, it would seem that you do not have such an excuse. And it is true that many of you do go through a day with hands that are not quite clean.

In fact, more than once we have noticed teen-agers with grimy hands that sported bitten nails. What a horrifying contrast to their freshly-made-up faces.

To get your hands really clean, you should use a nail brush and lots of sudsy warm water. Really work at those fingernails.

While drying your hands, push back the cuticles with the towel. A few times during the day massage in a bit of hand cream.

If your cuticles are in bad condition, apply some oil and slip on a pair of cotton gloves to wear overnight.

Calgary Women Study Woodworking Want To Heckle Husbands

CALGARY (CP)—Ever feel like heckling your husband on the way he does those repair jobs?

A group of Calgary women are taking a night course in woodworking which will put them in a position to heckle with authority.

At the Institute of Technology of Art, the women are learning to turn out tables, lamps, bookshelves and other household furniture. It is a 72-hour course with classes of two hours each, held twice weekly.

Why do women take such a course?

"I'm taking the course for the fun of it, and because I think it's a good idea to be able to use hand tools properly, and know something about machine tools," says a doctor's wife.

ADDED ABILITY

"I think most of the women in the class are taking it so they can either heckle their husbands into doing things the right way, or failing that, so they can do the jobs themselves," this woman added.

Another "student" explained: "I have bought an unfinished house in Victoria and I want to finish as much of it as I can myself, particularly the interior. I want to change it around a lot so it will fit better into its setting.

"One of my women friends built her house herself, so I guess if one can do it, another can. I just wish I had started the course a long time ago."

A sister and brother team, Dorothy and Raymond Blust, have taken up woodworking as a hobby.

"We both want to make furniture for the house," said Dorothy. "I am working on a set of floor lamps and my brother has a cedar chest and an end table on the go. We are having a lot of fun out of it too."

LIKES TO HELP

Mrs. J. M. Browning said:

"My husband wanted to take the course and I joined so I could work at the same things he does. We are finishing some rooms in the basement and he wanted to learn the proper methods.

"We're both enjoying it and my husband is making a magazine rack while I work on a sewing box complete with partitions, so I have to use some of the machine tools.

"I'm not too keen about machine tools—some are a bit scarey. I would rather work with appliances. I want to make some things for the children, toys like doll houses and cradles, and I guess that will keep me pretty busy for a long time."

The students select their own projects with guidance and draw up their own plans.

"But I like to see them undertake projects within their scope," said instructor George Miles.

"The women try very hard and generally show good progress. They are not too fussy about working with specialized equipment since most of them haven't, or may never have, such equipment to use at home."

ever think of going into business for yourself?

Of course, it will take money. But if you've got a steady job with a regular income—that money is within your grasp. For instance, if you had decided just two years ago to save $10.00 a week—you would have over $1,000 in cash today. And once you have proved you can save and are willing to work, you are a pretty good risk for a business loan that could make your dream of owning a business come true.

WHATMAN. — In loving memory of Mrs. R. Whatman, who passed away eight years ago today.
We do not forget her, we love her too dearly
For her memory to fade from our lives like a dream;
Our lips need not speak when our hearts mourn sincerely,
For grief often dwells where it seldom is seen.
—Lovingly remembered by the family.

WHATMAN—In loving memory of Mrs. Roy Whatman, who passed away eight years ago today, February 16, 1946.
The depths of sorrow we cannot tell,
Of the loss of one we loved so well.
And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep
Her memory we shall always keep.
—Ever remembered by her Daughter Viola.

WILLIAMS—In loving memory of Thomas and Mary Williams.
You left sweet memories to blossom,
Bearing fruit for the years to come,
In the lives of those who loved you
Precious memories of days that are gone.

Strange Monster Met In Ocean

DAKAR, West Africa (Reuters) Two Frenchmen who Monday went deeper under the ocean than man has ever been said today that they met a 10-foot "shark-like" monster more than 2½ miles down on the floor of the Atlantic.

Excited by their success, the explorers said they now hope to plunge nearly seven miles under the Pacific — to the lowest spot on the world's surface.

Naval Commander Pierre Willm, 27, said he saw the grotesque creature when he peered through his thick porthole, with powerful searchlights probing the ink-black mystery land.

"It was nose to nose with me," he said. "Fortunately the thick porthole was between me and it."

Creatures living under the heavy pressure at such depths are distorted in shape.

In their plunge to the ocean floor, Willm and Cmdr. George Houout, 40, penetrated more than half a mile deeper than Swiss Prof. Auguste Piccard's record dive in the Mediterranean last year.

Three Youths Charged With Cigarette Theft

Three Peterborough youths were charged in court today with the theft of a quantity of cigarettes from the King George hotel Monday night. They are Milton Hobbs, William A. Richmond and Al James McGlennon. The trio were remanded on bail to appear for trial on February 22.

$10,000 Libel Suit

"If UE issues any so-called photostatic copies of my signature, etc., please compare them with my real signature below and you will see as I did that the signature is a forgery. That signature on the 50 cent checkoff card is written by some right-handed person and I write left-handed." (Then follows the written signature of Quinn and the notation "Issued by the IUE-CIO CGE organizing committee, 393 Water St.)

On the basis of this document Mr. Hunter started suit against Quinn and the three other defendants.

He wants damages for injury to his character, reputation and employment—set forth in his statement of claim at $10,000. Also costs of the action and such further relief as the court sees fit to give him.

The defendants, in their statement of defence, deny that they distributed the leaflet previously quoted. Besides, they say, the wrong meaning has been attributed to the wording on the leaflet, and there was no defamatory meaning.

If the words were published, it was in the course of a dispute between the rival unions during last spring's jurisdictional battle, the defendants say.

The case is continuing.

Younger Man Drawn To Shipkeeping Jobs

TORONTO (CP)—Shipkeeping—the routine business of looking after Great Lakes vessels tied in harbor for the winter months—is getting an infusion of young blood.

Up to the end of the Second World War such caretaker jobs were invariably held by veteran sailors looking for a berth to tide them over the cold months.

The younger men however have been moving in since 1947, when the Dominion Marine Association decided to do something about the growing shortage of qualified navigating and engineering officers. The association, representing shipowners on the Great Lakes and coastal waters, started a winter school in the Navy League building on Toronto's Lakeshore boulevard, and encouraged ambitious young deck and engine room personnel to enroll.

FITS IN NICELY

In many cases shipkeeping jobs were made available to the students, who pay a moderate fee for tuition. During the sailing season they continue their studies by correspondence.

Today's shipkeepers do their shipkeeping in the morning and then hustle off to the marine school until late afternoon, when they again check their ships. Some of the men have their wives and children aboard.

The school graduates about 100 men each year. In addition to navigational and engineering courses it is keeping abreast of the latest electronic shipping aids — ship-to-ship and ship-to-shore radio telephony, radar and emergency portable radio telephone equipment.

People's Faith Strongest Yet In History

"I feel that the faith of the people, although not as widespread as in other periods of history, is more vigorous and strong than ever before", said the Rev. Gordon S. Maxwell speaking to Rotary, Monday.

Much church attendance in the past, around the turn of the century, was dictated by convention, said Mr. Maxwell, but now the people go because they sincerely want to. The evil in men's hearts has been clearly shown during the past world wars, and no longer do people have the optimistic outlook they once had. They realize that the Kingdom of God will not come swiftly.

God is always the same. He is like a point of reference which we may fall back on. If we do not have Him, our lives are aimless. God wishes to redeem man and bring him into fellowship, not only with Himself, but with his fellow man. Many times this foundation has held the world together, and the belief in God proclaims the dignity of human life.

"I am not a bit discouraged with the state of the Christian church", he continued. "She is continually rising and falling, only to rise again, and always flourishes under opposition. All the great ideas of civilization stem eventually from the church . . . such things as justice, righteousness and brotherhood. These things are of the future . . . tyranny and oppression are as old as time itself."

The church is the symbol of God at work in the spirit of man, and it is this that will combat the powers in the world today which say that man is merely a puppet of the state.

Father Of Five Drowns Near Eton

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) Arthur Lawrence of this city, father of five young children, was drowned Monday at Callahans lake, a mile west of Eton, 120 miles north of here on the Algoma Central Railway line.

Lawrence, an assistant logging superintendent with Gillet Logging Company, was a passenger on a tractor which was crossing the lake and went through the ice. The tractor operator, Donald Emery, was rescued.

Ask Headache Pill Sale Restricted

TORONTO (CP)—The provincial council of the Ontario Retail Pharmacists' Association urged Monday that the sale of headache pills be restricted to qualified pharmacists.

Delegates to the council's semi-annual meeting, concerned over recent cases of overdose by headache pills, said that "indiscriminate sales leads to indiscriminate use."

The association said it views with "sympathetic understanding" the recent disclosure by the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto of the dangers of indiscriminate use of acetylsalicylic acid and headache pills for fevers in children.

One-Year Agreement Signed At Mine

NORANDA, Que. (CP) — Waite Amulet gold mines and the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) Monday signed a one-year working contract after a three-month strike. About 300 men will get a 7½-per-cent wage boost.

An incident at the mine gates preceded the signing when pickets refused entry to about 35 men in a company bus. The unionists had agreed to let no one through until the agreement actually had been signed. The men had been called in to clear roads and clean up the plant before the anticipated reopening.

Urge Churchill Make New Move

LONDON (Reuters)—The Daily Herald today urges Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill to make a new move in trying to bring about an understanding between East and West.

The four-power Berlin conference has failed to ease a single European problem, the Labor newspaper declares in an editorial.

"It is unthinkable that the finality of failure can be accepted. All eyes in this country will now turn towards Sir Winston Churchill. Two questions will be in people's minds:

"1. Can Sir Winston—whose offer to meet (Soviet Premier Malenkov) had the support of this nation—now speak up and give the world a new, constructive lead?

"2. How will this reverse in Berlin affect the prime minister's political future at home?

"It is no good looking backwards. Berlin has failed on Europe. Let the government tell us how it proposes to go forward."

Council Agrees

to understand now that the registry would require $1,000 a year subsidy?"

"We would like to see the registry self-supporting," Dr. Taylor said. "We would like it to sell its services to more subscribers and be able to give the public something for nothing. But I believe it is providing a service which ought to be continued."

In answer to Ald. Holt's next question, Miss Evelyn Robson, director of nursing at Civic Hospital, stated that there were about 65 or 75 doctors in Peterborough.

"Then why do only 33 or 34 doctors subscribe to the registry?" Ald. Holt asked. "If 30 others paid $5 a month, it would amount to $1,800 a year."

USED BY CLINICS

Dr. Taylor said that almost without exception the medical groups (an apparent reference to clinics) had been using the service. It was not their custom to have telephones answered at their homes. Many of those in private practice had adequate telephone answering services in their homes.

"Some of them are getting quite satisfactory service from TAS (Telephone Answering Service, operated by Ald. Pat Anglesey)", he said. "At least one of our doctors is using both TAS and the registry. But the main reason is that they have other arrangements."

"Is a doctor not under contract for a year?" was Ald. Holt's next question.

"I understand that he is," said Dr. Taylor, then, conferring with Mrs. Breckenridge, "and on that basis he can give one month's notice."

"Glancing over your financial statement, I see there are only four doctors who have paid $60; the rest have only paid part of it," Mrs. Holt said. "They don't have to belong for a year. I think that enters into it as far as the city is concerned. The doctors can drop out whenever they like and somebody would be left holding the bag."

Ald. Anglesey was the next questioner.

"How many cities of a comparable size to Peterborough receive a subsidy from the taxpayers' money—not the Community Chest—and how much does each of these cities receive?" he asked.

Quoting from a partial list of 1952 figures, Dr. Taylor said that in Guelph and Kitchener the Community Chest paid $1,000; in London, the city gave $1,000; Ottawa gave $600; in Sault Ste Marie the Community Chest made a grant on a percentage basis; in Windsor, there was a municipal grant of $1,500; in St. Catharines a grant from the city of $300; Stratford, a grant of $100.

"That report is not a true picture at any time as a comparable guide," Mrs. Breckenridge said. "As the work of the registry fluctuates, the need for a grant increases or diminishes. When these registries were started, money came from the city, the Community Chest or private citizens to get them going."

GOT NO HELP

"We have gone to the Community Chest but our appeals have been in vain," Dr. Taylor added.

"At any rate, you want $1,000," Mayor Norman Graham said.

"Isn't it $1,000 a year they want now?" Ald. Holt asked.

"We'll still be here next year to turn it down," said His Worship, somewhat prophetically in his own case.

"The reason we have only 33 or 34 doctors," Mrs. Breckenridge said, "is that we can only give service to doctors who live in the city or near the city. Long distance calls would make a tremendous bill. We have most of the active doctors on our list. Many local doctors are practising only part-time. A few left our service to join TAS because they could get a service we could not give — telephone answering service."

"It would seem that in other cities, most of the grants have come from the Community Chest," Ald. Holt observed.

"In the main, most of the money has been coming from the Community Chest," Dr. Taylor agreed.

"I don't think we should put that group of 35 doctors in a position where it would be impossible for them to put the number in the telephone book," said Ald. Powell, referring to a question by Ald. Harold Rehill.

Ald. Rehill wanted to know if it wouldn't be in order to discuss the question at the same time as the requests for other grants.

"If it is deemed advisable, I think the committee of the whole will have the opportunity to decide that," Ald. Powell replied.

Predicts 100,000 Houses May Be Built In 1954

MONTREAL (CP)—P. S. Secord, vice-president of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, said today more than 100,000 houses may be built in 1954.

He said proposed amendments to the National Housing act to ease credit facilities will encourage construction but shortages of serviced land and high building costs may slow construction in certain areas.

Addressing the 46th annual convention of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association, Mr. Secord said few cities have enough serviced land—lots with utilities laid on. In some cases this was because expansion had already pushed to city boundaries. Elsewhere it was because of failure to keep pace with demands of builders.

Mr. Secord said cost increases in 1953 had resulted chiefly from higher labor costs. He believed a five-per-cent cut in construction cost could bring a five-per-cent increase in building in 1954.

The lumbermen also heard from J. H. Jenkins of Ottawa, chief of the Forest Products Laboratories of Canada, who said wood has come to the cross-roads.

NEW MARKETS URGED

He urged a careful and honest appraisal of what he described as the failure of wood to keep its place in traditional markets and urged branching out into new markets.

W. J. Leclair, secretary-manager of the Canadian lumbermen's Association, said higher production and a fall in buying by the United Kingdom led to softening in the market for Canadian lumber during 1953.

During the year Canadian sawmills produced 6,900,000,000 board feet of which nearly 3,400,000,000 feet were exported. The United States, with purchases totalling 2,450,000,000 feet, remained the chief importer of Canadian lumber.

British buying was off, but at 600,627,000 feet was better than had originally been expected.

He said the outlook for 1954 is promising. Production would be cut back and markets were expected to improve, especially at home where expanded building would increase demand. Prices should remain firm.

Marilyn In Purple Dress Hit With 31,000 GI's

By JIM BECKER

WESTERN FRONT, Korea (AP) Marilyn Monroe's purple dress—cut down to here—was really intended for "a cocktail party or something like that" but there wasn't a gripe from the 13,000 United States marines who saw her in it today.

The blonde movie actress had arrived at Seoul a few hours earlier in drab combat boots, pants and shirt—the top two buttons open.

She swung down the ramp from a cargo plane that brought her from Japan for her four-day tour, and met hundreds of cheering soldiers, airmen and marines, almost all of them firing cameras furiously.

"I've never seen so many men in my life," she said. "I am just sorry Joe couldn't come along." Husband Joe DiMaggio is in Japan coaching Japanese baseball teams.

10 SHOWS SCHEDULED

The plush young actress was flown by helicopter from Seoul to the 1st Marine Division for the first of 10 scheduled shows.

While airmen staged a variety show, Marilyn changed into the purple dress.

She said she'll have to wear it in all 10 shows. There probably won't be any objections in the other nine either. Two narrow shoulder straps hold it up, and when she moves it does too.

"We've had them all," one marine officer said, "but this crowd outdraws the best ever. She's outdrawn Cardinal Spellman 2 to 1."

Union Delegation Asks Report Speeded

TORONTO (CP) — A union delegation from Georgetown has asked J. B. Metzler, Ontario's deputy labor minister, to push to completion of the work of a conciliation board whose decision will affect 400 paper mill workers.

The delegation from the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphide and Paper Mill Workers (AFL-TLC) asked the deputy minister to speed up the report that the union claims has been hanging fire for months.

The men want a reduction in the work week to 40 from 44 hours in the coating divisions of Provincial Paper Limited and Alliance Paper Mills Limited in Georgetown about 25 miles west of here, with no loss in take-home pay.

Heart Diseases Cause Highest Death Toll

TORONTO (CP)—Heart diseases caused the greatest number of deaths in Ontario during January, according to figures released today by R. B. Wallace, deputy registrar-general.

A total of 1,561 persons died of heart diseases last month. Cancer claimed 607 lives. Vascular lesions affecting the central nervous system caused 546 deaths and 252 persons died violently.

The death toll in January reached 4,175, compared to 3,961 in January, 1953. Births totalled 11,425, compared to 10,101, marriages 1,978, as against 1,712 and still births numbered 175, compared to 155.

Denies Getting Reinfeld Drunk In Office

NEW YORK (AP)—Sam Bronfman, Montreal business man, Monday denied getting Joseph H. Reinfeld drunk in his office there in 1931 when the two completed a deal involving Reinfeld's mortgage on a Canadian distillery.

Bronfman is a defendant together with Reinfeld and others in a $22,500,000 federal court suit brought by James (Niggy) Rutkin.

Rutkin, currently serving a jail term in New Jersey for income tax evasion but appearing in court daily, charged in his suit that Bronfman and his brother, Allan Bronfman, had conspired with Reinfeld to deprive Rutkin of large sums of money from the sale of the L. L. and B. distillery at Chatham in 1931.

DENIES RESPONSIBILITY

Questioned by his counsel, Lowell Wadmond, Bronfman denied having had anything to do with the indictment and conviction of Rutkin on the tax evasion charges. He asserted he first learned of the indictment from newspaper accounts.

During a trial last year, Rutkin testified that he had been told by Reinfeld of a visit by the latter to Sam Bronfman's office in 1931.

Rutkin had testified Reinfeld told him that Sam Bronfman got him drunk and that he, Reinfeld, had disposed of the partnership's interest in the distillery on a dollar-for-dollar basis.

Wadmond asked Bronfman Monday: "At that time did you get Mr. Reinfeld drunk?"

The witness replied, "No, I did not. I don't get people drunk."

15 RCAF Men Interrupt Movie

WINNIPEG (CP) — Shouting "Vive Quebec," a group of 15 men in RCAF uniforms interrupted a showing of the movie Martin Luther at a theatre here Monday night. Witnesses expressed the belief the men were French-Canadian.

The picture has been banned in Quebec province.

The disturbance lasted about 10 minutes.

Before hastily-summoned police arrived, the men walked out shouting "Vive Quebec".

Festival Results

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario results in the Kiwanis music festival Monday included:

Operatic solo, lyric soprano: Anne Stephenson, Orillia, third.

Piano solo, under 12 years: Mary E. Brookes, Merritton, first.

Violin solo, under 15: Sheila E. Paul, Acton, second.

Piano solo, under 9 years: Sharon Dale, Oshawa, first.

Collegiate or high school orchestra: Owen Sound Collegiate and Vocational Institute orchestra (conductor, E. W. Bartlett), first.

Red Invaders Of Laos Report Victory Over French

SAIGON, Indo-China (CP)—The Communist invaders of Laos today claimed their troops had won a victory over French Union forces only five miles from Luangprabang, the pagoda-studded royal capital of the state.

The Vietminh rebels' radio claimed their troops had captured the French commander of a Laotian battalion in battles for villages near Nambac, north of the capital. The Communist-led troops overran the villages, the broadcast said.

There were no French communiques on the situation at the capital, where King Sisavang Vong's Laotian subjects have erected defence barricades in a determined effort to thwart a Vietminh invasion from the thickly-wooded hills surrounding the city.

FRENCH REPORT SUCCESS

But on another front, the French announced today their forces broke out of their northwest Indo-China fortress of Dien Bien Phu to drive encircling Vietminh troops from two hill positions. The French claimed they inflicted "heavy losses" on the Communist-led enemy and admitted "appreciable losses" on their side.

By this attack the French seemed to indicate that they are going to carry the battle to the 35,000 rebels who have been threatening, but never yet have attempted, an all-out assault on the heavily-fortified French post just north of the Laotian border.

Gen. Rene Cogny, French commander in northern Indo-China, apparently tired of waiting for the Vietminh to attack the fortress, sent out 4,000 to 5,000 men against the rebels strongly entrenched in the hills surrounding the French Union position.

GUNS BLAST AWAY

As the infantrymen hacked their way through the jungle into the positions, French mobile artillery blasted away for hours. French fighters and bombers joined in with heavy strafing and napalm bombing of the Vietminh concentrations.

Whether the French action would force the Vietminh into decisive battle remained a matter of guesswork. But hopes ran high among the French, who consider the northwest sector of more military significance than the capital.

Won't Allow Patterson Fight Maxim

By MURRAY ROSE

BROOKLYN (AP) — Undefeated Floyd Patterson has 10 straight victories and is the fifth ranking light heavyweight contender of the world, but manager Custer d'Amato is in no hurry to push his pugilistic prodigy.

"No Joey Maxim for him," said d'Amato after the 19-year-old Olympic champion punched out a unanimous eight-round decision over Canada's durable Yvon Durelle at Eastern Parkway arena Monday night.

It was a clear-cut win for the Brooklyn Negro, but he was far from impressive and as wild as a southpaw pitcher on an off-day as he downed the Baie St. Anne, N.B., fighter.

WON'T BE MAXIM

"He'll fight someone at the parkway on March 15," said d'Amato, "but it won't be Joey Maxim or any top-ranking light heavyweight. If he managed to beat Maxim, who would he fight? Moore? (Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore). Let's not kid anyone. Floyd has a lot to learn. . . ."

Patterson, who weighed 167½, to Durelle's 170¾, missed as often as he connected and twice fell to the canvas after swinging at the air. Rusty after a two-month layoff, he staggered the former Canadian light heavyweight champion several times, but couldn't drop him.

Include Waiter Service At Cardinal Stadium

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Plush box seats, selling for $2,500 a season and complete with telephone and waiter service, are new fixtures at Busch Stadium home of the St. Louis Cardinals.

The new seats, still under construction, are already sold out for the coming baseball season.

There will be 16 boxes each seating eight persons. The boxes are suspended above and beyond the second-deck seats. Patrons will enter the boxes from suspension ramps.

Ada Mackenzie Still Going Has Canadian Open Plans

By WALTER GRAY

TORONTO (CP)—Ada Mackenzie announced her retirement from competitive golf in 1949. But the 61-year-old links star just won't quit.

Just to prove that she wasn't through Ada won the Ontario ladies' title in 1950, exactly 31 years after she hit the jackpot with victory in the 1919 Canadian women's open tournament. In those 31 years she won the open five times, the Canadian close five times and the Ontario open nine times.

Last year she captained a Canadian team on a tour of Britain. And she's got her clubs polished up for 1954.

"I'm like an old racehorse when the season rolls around," she said in an interview. "I'm just itching to get in the race."

TROPHIES GALORE

Ada has been digging divots in golf courses of the world for nearly 50 years. The trophy room in her home in suburban Richmond Hill is stacked with silverplate—she's never bothered to count the number.

She's laying plans already for the Canadian Open in Dartmouth, N.S., next Aug. 9-14.

"I haven't yet decided if I'll play. But after all, when they asked me to captain the team to Britain last year, I feel that I should at least make an appearance at the open this year."

Miss Mackenzie, whose memory for personal golf statistics is modestly lax, believes the first trophy she won was at Toronto Mississauga while in her 'teens.

WON OPEN IN 1919

The official golf records show that she won the Canadian women's open in 1919, 1925, 1926, 1933 and 1935, and reached finals in 1924 and 1934.

She won the Canadian close championship in 1926, 1927, 1929, 1931, and 1935 but lost in the 1923, 1925 and 1950 finals.

Her provincial titles were gained in 1922, 1925, 1927, 1931, 1933, 1939, 1946, 1947 and 1950.

But Ada said her biggest thrill came last year when she defeated Jeanne Bisgood, the British champion 3 and 2 in the second round of the British Open at Porthcawl, Wales. Ada was eliminated in the third round and the title was ementually won by Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ont.

Miss Mackenzie's lowest score of her career was a 73 shot during a friendly game at the Toronto Ladies Golf and Tennis Club in 1948. Her lowest competitive score was a 75 at the Royal Ottawa in 1938.

WON'T WEAR GREEN

Like most golfers, Ada has her superstitions and favorite courses.

"It's silly I know, but I won't wear green while I'm playing."

Her favorite course is at Newcastle, County Down, Northern Ireland.

Miss Mackenzie, whose golfing days began when discreet young ladies trudged over the fairways in grass-sweeping gowns and huge flowered hats, says golf is easier now "but not as interesting."

"In the days of the wooden shaft there used to be one club for many different shots. Now you have a different club for each shot."

Mention Marlene Stewart and Ada is ecstatic. She scoffs at anyone critical of Marlene's short game.

PLAYING UNDER STRAIN

"It's nothing but a case of nerves. She's under terrific strain. Everybody expected phenomenal things of her when she won the British Open and it is telling on her. But she has to go through that stage."

Ada predicted great things for 18-year-old Rae Milligan of Jasper, Alta.

"She's a beautiful golfer but unfortunately she hasn't had much tournament experience yet."

Her advice to the golfing novice is to learn the principles of the game first.

"But the important thing is to take a bunch of balls out on the fairway and practice your shots. Become fascinated by what you can do."

Miss Mackenzie says she's never regretted taking up the game.

"It's made all the difference in the world to my outlook on life. It's paid off 100 per cent in friends I've made through the game."

VETERAN GOLFER — Although officially retired, Ada Mackenzie, 61, a leading Canadian woman golfer for the last 31 years, and interested in the sport nearly 50 years, continues in tournament competition. Last year she captained a Canadian team on a tour of Britain and in 1950 she won the Ontario ladies' title. She is polishing her clubs for 1954.—(CP Photo).

Belleville Man Dies

TORONTO (CP)—Sidney Earner Eakins, 74, a partner in the firm of Eakins and MacDonald, certified public accountants, died Sunday. Born in Belleville, Mr. Eakins was graduated from the University of Toronto in mathematics and physics in 1904. A founder and charter member of the Certified Public Accountants Association of Ontario, he was governor of the organization from 1928 to 1943 and president from 1933 to 1938.

"Body" In Snow Later Jailed As Drunk Driver

When OPP constable R. A. Feeley went to the scene of an accident on the Buckhorn Rd. early Christmas morning he found a wrecked car straddling a fence and a body lying in the snow nearby

The "body" turned out to be very much alive. It was Hubert Jacobs, Peterborough, who had lain in the snow for some time after the accident. At the time the constable considered him to be just sobering up after a hectic night, but it was later discovered that Jacobs had a broken back as well. His two passengers had been taken to hospital, but somehow Jacobs had not been noticed.

CONVICTED

In court Monday Jacobs was convicted of drunk driving and sent to the county jail for one week. He was also fined $50, costs $2.50, for joy-riding and $50, costs $2.50, for dangerous driving.

In the car when it skidded off the road and crashed into trees and rocks, were Ray Taylor and Mrs. Annie Edwards. Both were fairly seriously injured. They told police that Jacobs had been intoxicated after leaving a party at Lakefield and had been driving fast and erratically.

PLANS COMEBACK

DETROIT (AP)—Lefty Hal Newhouser is going to try a pitching comeback with Cleveland Indians at 32.

He announced this Monday, seven months after he and the Detroit Tigers agreed he was through after 15½ baseball seasons and 200 American League victories. He lost 147 games.

Then, Hal said: "This is the end. I'm through as a pitcher. I'm convinced I haven't got it any more."

Monday, his tune was different: "I know the Indians have one of the best pitching staffs in the majors, with fellows like Bob Feller, Mike Garcia and Bob Lemon, but I hope to make the grade—preferably as a starting pitcher, but if not, as a reliefer."

An old pal is giving the often temperamental southpaw a new chance. He is general manager Hank Greenberg of the Indians, who was clouting home runs as a first baseman Tiger teammate of Newhouser's much of their playing careers.

CALLED TO RANGERS

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Rangers have called up two players from the Saskatoon Quakers, their farm in the Western Hockey League. Monday marked the deadline for such transactions.

The two, both of whom have had brief tryouts with the Rangers previously, are Aggie Kukulowicz, a 20-year-old centre standing 6-2 and weighing 175 pounds, and Vic Howe a 24-year-old right wing, six feet and weighing 180. Vic is the younger brother of Detroit's Gord Howe.

Kukulowicz and Howe will appear for the Rangers here Wednesday night for the game with the Boston Bruins.

A GOOD WORD

TORONTO (CP)—Conn Smythe pulled a switch Monday and defended the refereeing in the National Hockey League—even when Toronto Maple Leafs are playing.

Smythe, managing - director of the second-place Leafs, saw Leafs battle New York Rangers to a 3-3 tie Sunday night. The Rangers scored two goals while the Leafs were two men short.

Ordinarily, Smythe would have been boiling. However, he said here Monday that he could find "no fault with the officiating."

Smythe also said he was happy with the Leaf team.

"I'm pleased with the team in general. They have the fight but not enough finesse. The finesse would include less penalties. But they're some team—a colorful one. The 'old men' are still the best but we have some good young guys."

FIGHT DATE SET

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan has been signed for a non-title fight with Johnny Cunningham of Baltimore Feb. 23, promoter Chris Dundee announced Monday.

The fight, scheduled for 10 rounds, will be held in the Miami Beach auditorium. Cunningham upset lightweight champion Jimmy Carter in a non-title fight here last summer.

Battle Resumes For Playoff Berth

CINCINNATI (AP) — The big battle for sixth place—the last playoff berth—resumes tonight in the International Hockey league.

Fort Wayne, Ind., and Troy, O., have jockeyed each day for the last four in taking the spot. The Indiana Comets are in the position now because they blanked Johnstown, Pa., 3-0 Monday night to lead by one point.

On the Indiana ice last week, Fort Wayne beat the Ohioans 5-3. They do not meet again until the last day of February, but the standing could change again tonight as Fort Wayne travels to Grand Rapids, Mich., and Troy goes to Johnstown.

The top six teams of the nine-club league compete in mid-March in the championship playoffs.

Charge High Freight Rates Losing Lumber Markets

OTTAWA (CP)—Lumber producers on Canada's west coast have protested that high freight rates largely are responsible for their being pushed out of traditional markets in western Canada by competitors in central B.C.

The British Columbia Lumber Manufacturers' Association made the complaint Monday before the board of transport commissioners in an application requesting lower freight rates on lumber shipped from the B.C. coast to points between Calgary and Fort William and Port Arthur. The application is being opposed by the Southern Interior Lumber Association of B.C.

C. W. Brazier of Vancouver, counsel for the association, said west coast lumber men have lost markets in western Canada because of freight rate increases, but that the rate boosts have improved the competitive position of interior mills.

NEW RATES

Mr. Brazier said many rates now in effect represent an increase of as much as 140 per cent compared with the general freight rate boost of 98.2 per cent since 1948.

The association proposed that west-coast-to-prairie rates be held to the 98.2 per cent average increase over rates in effect before April 8, 1948. This levelling off of rates would have the effect of reducing tariffs on long-haul traffic and increasing some rates on short hauls between Calgary and the Lakehead.

Under this proposed scale the rate to Fort William would be reduced to $1.22 per 100 pounds from $1.49. However, the rate to Moose Jaw, Sask., would rise to $1.09 from $1.05 and the Calgary rate to 78 from 75 cents.

The proposed rate scale would give the railways a reasonable return and would permit members of the association to compete on a fair and equitable basis with other lumber producing centres of Canada. Existing rates between Calgary and Fort William had the effect of decreasing shipments from B.C. coastal areas, depriving the railways of profitable long-haul traffic.

Asks Investigation

TORONTO (CP)—Alderman Edgar Roxborough Monday asked the city's buildings, assessment and health departments to investigate living conditions in a Sherbourne street house in downtown Toronto. He said the 28-room house, in which at least 67 persons were living, had only two toilets and no bathrooms. Six families lived in the cellar which had only two ordinary windows.

Lindsay Teams Break Even

LINDSAY (ENS) — Lindsay teams won and lost in the opening games of their first-round OMHA playdowns with Newmarket at the arean here last night. The visiting midgets went home with a four goal lead for the second game of the series after a 7-3 win, while the Lindsay Legion juveniles earned a hard fought 4-1 win over the Office Specialty team from Newmarket.

Dan Patrick and Forhan led the visiting midgets to their win. Their other goals went to Lewis, Bell and Bill Cain. Dean Dawson scored two for the homesters, with Don Kelly tallying the other. Dawson led the penalty parade with five minor sentences. The teams playing Newmarket on Saturday night.

In the juvenile game, Lindsay couldn't click until the second half, and went to work in the final period, after a scoreless first session and added another in the third. The other goals went to Bill Hennessy and Alex Sinclair. Davis scored Newmarket's only goal in the third period. Goalie Gerry Ray in the Lindsay nets was one of the bright spots for the 200 odd fans who attended.

Stewart Scores In Hamilton Win

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Cubs defeated Galt Black Hawks 3-2 Monday night to take over sole possession of fifth place in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A league.

Cubs, who have won six of their last eight games, are two points behind the fourth-place Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts.

Galt coach Al Murray said before game time that he would protest because of the condition of the Hamilton forum. A pipe was uncovered in one of the goals.

Bill Stewart, Ed Louttit and Marlin McAlendin scored for Cubs.

The game ended the Hamilton-Galt season series which Hamilton took 7-0.

Urges One University For All Maritimes

HALIFAX (CP) — Dr. Sidney E. Smith, Nova Scotia-born president of the University of Toronto, Monday night advocated one university, up to the standards of Harvard or Yale, for the Maritimes.

Dr. Smith told the Dalhousie University Alumni Association that he questioned whether the 22 colleges and universities in the Maritimes were "equipped to maintain the ascendancy in Canadian education that they once enjoyed."

Women Plan Meet

TORONTO (CP) — A two-day spring executive meeting of the National Council of Women in Canada will be held here Wednesday and Thursday. Presidents and executive members of nationally organized women's societies from across Canada, federated with the national council, will meet with the council Wednesday.

Asks Royal Commission Investigate N. Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — The appointment of a royal commission to investigate provincial government activities in northwestern Ontario was urged Monday night by Albert Wren, Liberal-Labor member of the Legislature for Kenora.

In the CBC's free-time broadcast over a provincial network, Mr. Wren said such an investigation should cover the activities "in all their aspects, and without confining it to the department of highways."

He said the investigation of alleged irregularities in the Fort William division of the department of highways "will be only a surface skimming of the whole range of activity throughout the northwest and even in the investigation of this one department willing witnesses will not be heard and the unwilling kind will be pleased to contain silence, lest their evidence be recorded under oath on a witness stand before an experienced jurist."

Mr. Wren said the revived proposals of residents of northwestern Ontario for a new province of Aurora arises from the indifference of the provincial government to the needs of the north country.

He said the Progressive Conservatives have been in office since 1943 but have failed to appoint a cabinet minister from the northwestern part of the province.

Mr. Wren suggested a more suitable post be found for Lands Minister Gemmell who has been ill for several months.

"We know he cannot help his plight, but they should give us the vigorous attention required if we are not to sink into depression," he added.

West African Conference To Move Towards African Defence Pact

By JOHN WORRALL

CAPE TOWN (OFNS)—It is believed in diplomatic circles here that the West African Defence conference at Dakar in March will pave the way for an African defence pact on the lines of the Atlantic Pact. The vulnerability of the African continent is concerning many countries which possess territories on that continent, and it is known that the South African Government favours the negotiation of such a pact.

An indication of the importance which interested countries attach to the matter is the visit—officially termed a "goodwill visit"—of M. Paul Reynaud, deputy prime minister of France, who has arrived here. On arrival he refused to be interviewed; but a French diplomat hinted that mutual defence would take up a considerable part of the time that he will spend in discussions with the Prime Minister, Dr. Daniel Malan and his ministers.

South Africa is sending an important delegation to Dakar, together with delegations from Britain and British territories, the Central African Federation, Ethiopia, Portugal, Belgium and, of course, France. The United States is sending a team of observers.

FRANCE STARTED MOVE

The talks are complementary to the Nairobi conference of 1951, which was convened by South Africa and Britain. Then the talks were mainly concerned with strategic communications in the event of an emergency. Recommendations were submitted to the governments concerned about the rapid movement of troops and military supplies through the Central and Eastern parts of Africa. It was at this conference that France raised the question of Western African defence; and since then it has been agitating for similar talks covering the vast area which it regards at its own sphere of influence.

As long ago as 1950, F. C. Erasmus, South Africa's minister of defence, attended African defence talks in London, where the question of an African defence pact which all the interested powers would sign was brought up. South Africa is known to have long accepted the prinicple that an attack on any African power would, in the terms of such a pact, be regarded as an attack on the Union.

Mr. Erasmus explored the possibility of such a pact during visits to France and the United States—Americans are known to favour strongly an integrated African defence arrangement because of their deep financial commitments in Africa and their reliance on Belgian and South African uranium to keep their atom plants going.

Dr. Malan has indicated that his main fears are of a Communist attack from the north, through the Middle East; and he firmly supports the retention of British forces in Egypt.

Plan Inquest In Shooting

SARNIA (CP)—Crown attorney S. A. K. Logan announced Monday an inquest will be held, probably next week, into the death of Louise Blackhall in a hotel room here last October. She was found shot through the abdomen with a .38-calibre revolver which was on a table.

Mr. Logan said: "I have no doubt in my mind that the woman's death was suicide but because of all the publicity and rumors that surrounded the case, I feel we must hold an inquest."

He said the two men who found the woman dying have moved out of the city but "they haven't vanished."

"If we can locate them we'll call them in for the inquest but we'll hold the inquest whether we find them or not," he said.

Two handwritten notes were found in Miss Blackhall's room but their contents have not been made public.

Christian Science Lecture Planned

THE SPIRITUAL UNDERSTANDING of the Lord's Prayer will be the topic of a Christian Science lecture by Earl E. Simms of Austin, Texas, announced for Thursday at 8:15 p.m.

Now on a nationwide lecture tours, Mr. Simms is a member of the Christian Science board of lectureship in Boston, Mass. He will speak in Queen Mary auditorium, Monaghan Road. The lecturer's subject will be "Christion Science; Magnifying God in Prayer". The public is invited to attend without charge.

EARL E. SIMMS, C. S.

Before becoming a full-time practitioner of Christian Science healing in 1935, Mr. Simms held an executive position with an investment and real estate firm and was prominent in civic organizations.

Battle For Minds Of New Citizens Waged Vigorously Drew Warns

GUELPH (CP)—"The battle for the minds of our new citizens is now on," Hon. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said Monday night.

He described the situation as "a national emergency" in an address prepared for delivery in presenting the B'nai B'rith award to Mrs. J. Erle Browne as Guelph's citizen of the year. The award was given for her work among newcomers to Canada.

"Well financed, well trained and utterly ruthless servants of the Communist fifth column are doing their best to destroy friendship before it has a chance to be established," he said. "By deceptive names, by appeals to the desire for peace and by various devices of that kind, Communists bring under their influence many who would be most unwilling to be influenced by Communists in any way.

BATTLE ON

"Let us make no mistake about it. The battle for the minds of our new citizens is now on.

"It is a national emergency. Let us all roll up our sleeves and join hands in the challenging task of training citizens who are proud and worthy to call themselves Canadians."

The work of making good citizens of newcomers "must start at the moment of their arrival in this country." They must be welcomed by friendly groups. If they aren't "then you can be sure they will be met by trained and determined Communists whose one purpose is to destroy the faith of these newcomers in our democracy."

Most immigrants are vigorous anti-Communists who have experienced the horror of Communist slavery, he said. But the loneliness and hardships of building a new life "may play into the hands of those who seek to sow the seeds of suspicion and fear."

"Often two or three trained Communists, speaking the language of the newcomer, will get on their train at the point of embarkation and some of their insidious poison may already have infected the minds of our future citizens before they arrive at their destination."

He said Communist newspapers, printed in all the main languages spoken by new arrivals, are freely distributed. The 105 democratic foreign-language newspapers published in 22 different languages in Canada "deserve our support in the splendid work they are doing to fight Communist propaganda and make these new arrivals good future citizens."

To Increase Acreage Of Burley Tobacco

CHATHAM (CP) — The Ontario Burley Tobacco Marketing Association Monday decided to plant 4,830 acres of burley tobacco this year, compared with 1,932 last year.

The association estimated the 1954 market at 6,000,000 pounds, of which 1,000,000 pounds would be exported. J. F. Thomas of Amherstburg, chairman, said the domestic market has expanded this year because abnormally-high inventories of burley tobacco have levelled off.

Attending the meeting were growers, buyers and president and vice-presidents of three tobacco companies.

Robertson Defends Raises For Members Of Senate

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator Wishart Robertson, Senate speaker, Monday night, said there are sound reasons for paying Senators more money—not less—than members of the Commons.

The question of equal pay for both houses was raised during the CBC network program "Press Conference" on which Senator Robertson answered the questions of a panel of parliamentary correspondents. Blair Fraser, Ottawa editor of Maclean's magazine, was chairman.

The question of Parliament's recent approval of a pay raise to $10,000 from $6,000 was raised, and whether the Senate should receive equal pay with the Commons.

UNFAIR TO COMPARE

Senator Robertson said it is unfair to make comparisons between the two houses but, if the question of parliamentary pay is considered on a "piece-work" basis, Senators should be paid more than members of the Commons.

One reason was that Senators generally have more legislative, business and professional experience which enables them to appraise legislation in one-third to one-quarter the time taken in the Commons. Parliament could cut its sitting time to one day a week and save the taxpayer $500,000 annually if the Commons worked as efficiently as the Senate.

Another reason for higher pay for Senators was that Senators attend more regularly. The Senate keeps records of attendance but for "some strange reason the Commons doesn't." The Senate's attendance was about 70 per cent of its membership.

CAPE TOWN (OFNS)—It is believed in diplomatic circles here that the West African Defence conference at Dakar in March will pave the way for an African defence pact on the lines of the Atlantic Pact. The vulnerability of the African continent is concerning many countries which possess territories on that continent, and it is known that the South African Government favours the negotiation of such a pact.

An indication of the importance which interested countries attach to the matter is the visit—officially termed a "goodwill visit"—of M. Paul Reynaud, deputy prime minister of France, who has arrived here. On arrival he refused to be interviewed; but a French diplomat hinted that mutual defence would take up a considerable part of the time that he will spend in discussions with the Prime Minister, Dr. Daniel Malan and his ministers.

South Africa is sending an important delegation to Dakar, together with delegations from Britain and British territories, the Central African Federation, Ethiopia, Portugal, Belgium and, of course, France. The United States is sending a team of observers.

FRANCE STARTED MOVE

The talks are complementary to the Nairobi conference of 1951, which was convened by South Africa and Britain. Then the talks were mainly concerned with strategic communications in the event of an emergency. Recommendations were submitted to the governments concerned about the rapid movement of troops and military supplies through the Central and Eastern parts of Africa. It was at this conference that France raised the question of Western African defence; and since then it has been agitating for similar talks covering the vast area which it regards at its own sphere of influence.

As long ago as 1950, F. C. Erasmus, South Africa's minister of defence, attended African defence talks in London, where the question of an African defence pact which all the interested powers would sign was brought up. South Africa is known to have long accepted the priniciple that an attack on any African power would, in the terms of such a pact, be regarded as an attack on the Union.

Mr. Erasmus explored the possibility of such a pact during visits to France and the United States—Americans are known to favour strongly an integrated African defence arrangement because of their deep financial commitments in Africa and their reliance on Belgian and South African uranium to keep their atom plants going.

Dr. Malan has indicated that his main fears are of a Communist attack from the north, through the Middle East; and he firmly supports the retention of British forces in Egypt.

Battle For Minds Of New Citizens Waged Vigorously Drew Warns

GUELPH (CP)—"The battle for the minds of our new citizens is now on," Hon. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said Monday night.

He described the situation as "a national emergency" in an address prepared for delivery in presenting the B'nai B'rith award to Mrs. J. Erle Browne as Guelph's citizen of the year. The award was given for her work among newcomers to Canada.

"Well financed, well trained and utterly ruthless servants of the Communist fifth column are doing their best to destroy friendship before it has a chance to be established," he said. "By deceptive names, by appeals to the desire for peace and by various devices of that kind, Communists bring under their influence many who would be most unwilling to be influenced by Communists in any way.

BATTLE ON

"Let us make no mistake about it. The battle for the minds of our new citizens is now on.

"It is a national emergency. Let us all roll up our sleeves and join hands in the challenging task of training citizens who are proud and worthy to call themselves Canadians."

The work of making good citizens of newcomers "must start at the moment of their arrival in this country." They must be welcomed by friendly groups. If they aren't "then you can be sure they will be met by trained and determined Communists whose one purpose is to destroy the faith of these newcomers in our democracy."

Most immigrants are vigorous anti-Communists who have experienced the horror of Communist slavery, he said. But the loneliness and hardships of building a new life "may play into the hands of those who seek to sow the seeds of suspicion and fear."

"Often two or three trained Communists, speaking the language of the newcomer, will get on their train at the point of embarkation and some of their insidious poison may already have infected the minds of our future citizens before they arrive at their destination."

He said Communist newspapers, printed in all the main languages spoken by new arrivals, are freely distributed. The 105 democratic foreign-language newspapers published in 22 different languages in Canada "deserve our support in the splendid work they are doing to fight Communist propaganda and make these new arrivals good future citizens."

To Increase Acreage Of Burley Tobacco

CHATHAM (CP) — The Ontario Burley Tobacco Marketing Association Monday decided to plant 4,830 acres of burley tobacco this year, compared with 1,932 last year.

The association estimated the 1954 market at 6,000,000 pounds, of which 1,000,000 pounds would be exported. J. F. Thomas of Amherstburg, chairman, said the domestic market has expanded this year because abnormally-high inventories of burley tobacco have levelled off.

Attending the meeting were growers, buyers and president and vice-presidents of three tobacco companies.

Plan Inquest In Shooting

SARNIA (CP)—Crown attorney S. A. K. Logan announced Monday an inquest will be held, probably next week, into the death of Louise Blackhall in a hotel room here last October. She was found shot through the abdomen with a .38-calibre revolver which was on a table.

Mr. Logan said: "I have no doubt in my mind that the woman's death was suicide but because of all the publicity and rumors that surrounded the case, I feel we must hold an inquest."

He said the two men who found the woman dying have moved out of the city but "they haven't vanished."

"If we can locate them we'll call them in for the inquest but we'll hold the inquest whether we find them or not," he said.

Two handwritten notes were found in Miss Blackhall's room but their contents have not been made public.

Two Trains Collide 15 Persons Injured

Truck Loaded With Livestock Topples Into Ditch

COBOURG (ENS)—A transport truck loaded with cattle and hogs was forced off the road and into a ditch where it fell on its side on Highway 2 at Massey's bridge, two miles east of here Tuesday.

One calf was killed and one pig was so badly hurt it had to be shot. One bull, two cows, two baby beef, seven calves and seven pigs survived the accident.

Although the cab of the transport was wrecked, driver Allen Willis of Wicklow escaped with only a shaking up. He told police than an oncoming eastbound car forced him off the road and did not stop after the accident.

The truck rammed into guard rails of the bridge, ripped through a section of iron railing and swerved to the north side where it rolled over into the ditch.

Neighboring farmers helped to round up the frightened animals and quartered them in a nearby field. The bull that had been dangerously belligerent when he was first loaded into the truck, was as meek as a lamb after the accident.

Provincial constables Stan Judson and Cy Meadows of Cobourg investigated.

U.K. To Buy More Tobacco

SIMCOE (CP)—Officials of the Ontario Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Association said Tuesday Britain is expected to buy more than 35,000,000 pounds of tobacco this year, compared to an estimated 10,000,000 pounds last year.

The board of directors decided that association members may grow their full base acreage in 1954. Last year growers produced an estimated 120,000,000 pounds of tobacco on 75 per cent of their base acreage.

Board officials said the increased British demand and higher consumption of Canadian cigarets made the increase in acreage possible.

The last time full acreage was grown, 1951, a record 140,000,000 pounds of flue-cured tobacco was sold.

One Man Said Dead In Quebec Hotel Fire

MONTREAL (CP) — Provincial police said at least one man is missing and presumed dead in a fire that destroyed the Monte Carlo hotel at nearby St. Martin early today.

The missing man was identified as Roger Bigras of St. Martin, who lived in the two-storey hotel.

Earlier reports said several other persons lost their lives but this could not be confirmed.

West Resigned Split Europe Big 4 Conference Considerd Complete Failure

By PRESTON GROVER

BERLIN (AP)—Faced with a conference stalemate, the Western Big Four foreign ministers resigned themselves today to seeing Europe split for years to come by a police-patrolled frontier bisecting Germany and Austria. One after another, in public or in private, John Foster Dulles of the United States, Britain's Anthony Eden and France's Georges Bidault reported that nothing of importance will be settled at the conference, due to wind up Thursday.

Two more meetings were set today with Russia's V. N. Molotov. The first, a restricted session, was for another try at getting together on plans for bringing peace to Asia.

This afternoon, in a regular plenary session, more talk was scheduled on Gernany and Molotov's propsed European security pact—talk which the West now considers pointless.

SMALL CLAIM

The foreign ministers meanwhile ordered their planes for the trips home.

Except for possible last-minute developments, which nobody expects to amount to much, this first Big Four foreign ministers conference in five years can claim few gains.

On his arrival in Berlin nearly four weeks ago, Molotov suggested vaguely to Bidault at a dinner party that Russia, with proper inductment, might use her good offices to help end the French Union-Vietminh war that has been draining France of military manpower and money since 1946.

Hope that Molotov might renew the offer faded Tuesday when he taunted the French foreign minister as representing a country whose independence had been partly lost to the U.S. through the

Gov't Recognizes Unemployment

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost said Tuesday the Ontario government recognizes that Canada has unemployment, but whether it was seasonal or confined to certain industries "is a question."

Mr. Frost, in replying to a question by J. B. Salsberg (Lab.-Prog.—Toronto 'St. Andrew), said the word from Ottawa was that 1954 would be "a year of high employment."

"We have in Ontario today a tremendous work program, so tremendous that it taxes some of our departments pretty terribly. Our aim and desire is to strengthen the departments as much as possible to provide more public works if necessary."

He said if it is necessary for the provinces to come in on public assistance "the credit and fiscal position of Ontario is such that we will be able to do so."

Wants To Share Atom Secrets Friendly Powers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower asked the United States Congress today for authority to share limited information on battlefield use of atomic weapons with friendly powers.

In a special message, the President also asked for the right to share peacetime atomic power production information with American allies and to give American private industry a greater share in the development of nuclear power.

Eisenhower said these steps would have the effect of "strengthening the defence and the economy of the United States and of the free world."

The President said the onward rush of atomic developments has outmoded the 1946 Atomic Energy Act which mistakenly assumed that the U. S. could maintain a monopoly in atomic weapons for an appreciable time.

LOSS OF MONOPOLY

Counterbalancing the loss of monopoly, he said, is the development of a wide variety of atomic weapons which have "achieved conventional status" in the armed forces.

"The thermonuclear weapon (hydrogen bomb)—non-existent eight years ago—today dwarfs in destructive power all atomic weapons. The practicability of constructing a submarine with atomic propulsion was questionable in 1946; three weeks ago the launching of the U. S. S. Nautilus made it certain that the use of atomic energy for ship propulsion will ultimately become widespread.

"In 1946, too, economic industrial power from atomic energy sources seemed very remote: Today, it is clearly in sight—largely a matter of further research and development, and the establishment of conditions in which the spirit of enterprise can flourish."

Former MPP Dies

NORWICH (CP)—Albert Homas Walker, 84, United Farmers of Ontario member of the Ontario legislature from 1919 to 1923, died at his farm home near here Tuesday.

He was reeve of Oxford township for five years and was elected to the first commission of the North Norwich Telephone Company in 1923.

Queen Presents New Colors To Army Cadets

CANBERRA (CP)—Queen Elizabeth stood today under a scorching sun for 15 minutes without a parasol in a colorful ceremony of presenting new colors to the corps of staff cadets at Australia's Duntroon Royal Military College.

The Queen, in delivering her speech, declined a red - carpeted stool that was placed in the centre of the parade ground near the microphone. Instead, she stood on the gravel of the parade ground.

After the ceremony the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh watched a fly-past of 69 fighters, bombers and transports of the Royal Australian Air Force.

Many Australians noticed that the Queen wore a diamond spray brooch presented to her by Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies Tuesday night on behalf of the Australian people.

The Queen will finish her formal engagements in Canberra tonight with a state ball at Parliament House.

She and the duke are scheduled to leave Canberra by plane Thursday morning for Sydney. There the royal couple will board the liner Gothic and sail for Tasmania.

A PRECEDENT

In a broadcast to the Australian people from the capital Tuesday night, the Queen said her meetings on this six-month royal tour with the peoples of the Commonwealth "not only give great pleasure to my husband and myself, but also illustrate more fully how close is the association between all members of the family (of nations)."

Until recent years it had not always been easy for a reigning sovereign to leave the United Kingdom. However, her father created a precedent when he visited Canada in 1939.

"He hoped to see as King all the countries of the Commonwealth. He travelled to South Africa in 1947 and as you all know he had every intention of coming to Australia, but fate intervened.

"Now the crown has devolved upon me and I am determined to make the acquaintance of the Australian people in their own land at the earliest opportunity. The wonderful welcome which I and my husband have already received has given us both the greatest pleasure."

Wright Appointed Atlantic Commander

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House today announced the appointment of United States Admiral Jerauld Wright as supreme commander of Allied forces in the Atlantic. He will replace Admiral Lynde D. McCormick April 12.

The White House said President Eisenhower also is nominating Wright to be commander-in-chief of the U.S. Atlantic fleet and Atlantic command.

Lands In Karachi For First Of Goodwill Talks

KARACHI —(CP)— Prime Minister St. Laurent arrived in Pakistan today and said he brought Canada's assurances of "our desire to co-operate with the great people of Pakistan in the fight for our common cause."

The prime minister, now on a globe-girdling tour of numerous world capitals, was greeted at the airport by Pakistan's Prime Minister Mohammed Ali.

Reporters asked the visiting prime minister if his talks here would concern "only the weather or anything else." He replied: "We shall discuss our mutual friends in Canada and in Pakistan and their problems."

Pakistan and Canada, he added will "co-operate in the common cause of peace so precious to us all."

While in Karachi, he said, he will learn a little more about the people of Pakistan and let them learn from him a little more about Canadians.

Prime Minister St. Laurent's RCAF transport plane landed at the airport here this afternoon after a flight from Bahrein, and was met by Prime Minister Mohammed Ali and his wife, and diplomatic and military figures.

Governor-General Ghulam Mohammed's daughter, Begum Husain Malik, was also present to receive the guests at the airport.

Others were the Canadian high commissioner, K. P. Kirkwood, Pakistan's Foreign Minister Zafa-

May Not Ask Permission

WASHINGTON (CP)—Chairman William E. Jenner (Rep. Ind.) of the Senate internal security subcommittee said today he does not know if he ever will seek Canadian permission to make public testimony from Igor Gouzenko.

Gouzenko, former code clerk in the Soviet embassy in Ottawa, was given asylum by Canadian authorities in 1946. He furnished them with evidence against a Red spy ring with contacts in the United States.

Jenner and Senator Pat McCarran (Dem. Nev.) went to Montreal and secretly questioned Gouzenko Jan. 4 under an arrangement. reluctantly accepted by the sub-committee, giving the Ottawa government a veto over publication of any of his testimony.

Last week The Canadian Press reported that Canada was willing that Gouzenko's testimony be made public if the sub-committee so requested. It asked only that 33 words be omitted, saying these involved names of persons against whom no charges could be proved.

Jenner confirmed today that he has not asked permission to make the testimony public, adding that he doesn't know if he ever will. He gave no reason.

Even The Ducks Duck

ST. MARYS (CP)—There's too much water for the ducks at St. Marys. A flock of 100 wild ducks which usually stay all winter, living on scraps of bread supplied by citizens, disappeared Tuesday as swollen Trout creek flooded parts of the town.

Recession Report Disputed In United States

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Chamber of Commerce, voicing a cheerful outlook for the American economy, today said "it is difficult to see any reason why this country should ever again experience an old-fashioned depression."

But CIO president Walter Reuther called it "dangerous and unrealistic" to think that "spring and the robins will bring prosperity."

Reuther obviously referred to a statement for the congressional economic committee to recent predictions by Republican administration spokesmen that the U.S. economy, which they contend is adjusting after the Korean war, will start turning upward about spring.

The chamber said in its statement for the committee that so far the "inevitable readjustment. . . . bound to follow the end of fighting in Korea" has been "surprisingly easy."

Discussing unemployment, the chamber said the census bureau reported that U.S. unemployment in January totalled 3.8 per cent of the civilian labor force — "in no sense an alarming amount."

NEW FIGURES

However, the commerce department announced Tuesday night—after the chamber statement had been prepared—that a new method of collecting statistics indicates that the number of unemployed early last month was 3,087,000—about 728,000 more than reported previously. This works out to 4.9 per cent of the civilian labor force.

Reuther said there may be differences of opinion on the seriousness of the unemployment situation, but "The problem is real, it is here now, and it is inexcusable in a country like ours. . . ."

The CIO president, who also heads the CIO's United Auto Workers union, said signs of an economic pick-up have not been seen yet in the automobile industry.

The chamber said a number of "powerful anti - depression tools" already are at hand, including bank deposit insurance, unemployment compensation and amortized mortgages. Such Eisenhower proposals as broadened social security coverage and tax reforms, it added "are clearly called for at this time."

Senator Paul Douglas (Dem. Ill.) said meanwhile that the new government unemployment statistics support his contention that the U.S. already is in a recession.

Meat Rationing Ends In Britain In July

LONDON (Reuters)—Meat and bacon rationing will end in the first half of July, bringing to an end-all food rationing in Britain, it was announced in the House of Commons today.

Both Trains En Route Toronto To Montreal End-On Crash At St. Clet

TORONTO (CP)—At least 15 persons were injured, four seriously, when two overnight CPR trains en route from Toronto to Montreal collided early today at St. Clet, Que., the CPR here said. One unconfirmed report said 29 were hurt. Two men trapped in one damaged car were freed by workmen using acetylene torches, the CPR reported. All the injured were put aboard a relief train to be taken to hospital in the Montreal area.

Four of the injured suffered serious hurts, the CPR reported. All were passengers in the first section of pool train No. 34, which left Toronto at 11:30 p. m. last night.

Most of the other injured suffered only cuts and bruises, the railway said. Most were aboard the second section of the same train, which ran into the rear of the first section at St. Clet.

One death resulted indirectly from the wreck. A CPR yardman was killed at Montreal when struck by a locomotive while despatching a rescue train to the scene of the wreck. The name of the man was not immediately released.

An auxiliary train carrying four doctors and two nurses reached the wreck scene at about 10 a. m. —2½ hours after the collision—the CPR said.

Another relief train was dispatched from Smiths Falls, Ont.

St. Clet is a small settlement about 35 miles west of Montreal.

Telegraph and telephone communications with the wreck scene were jammed with emergency calls. Newspaper men were unable to get information quickly.

The CPR said the engine and first baggage car of the second section of No. 34 were derailed in the smash, but did not overturn. It said the train crews were not hurt.

Conductor W. J. Morris of Smiths Falls was reported to have been in charge of the first section. The engineer was C. Wright, also Smiths Falls.

Crew of the second section were conductor W. A. Flagg and engineer E. McReynolds, both of Smiths Falls, the CPR said.

No. 34's first section, hit from behind, comprised five express cars, one baggage car and eight sleepers. The colliding second section comprised six express cars, one baggage car and six sleepers and coaches.

The spokesman said names of only nine of the 15 injured were available immediately. The list included:

W. H. Musgrove of 8 Snowdon Drive, Beverley Hills, Ont.
H. W. Chatfield, Barrie, Ont.
H. Robitaille of Montreal.
W. Flegg of Montreal.
G. C. Adamson of Toronto.

Recession Close In Canada Says Coldwell

OTTAWA (CP)—M. J. Coldwell, CCF. leader, Tuesday night said Canada is on the verge of a recession and the government doesn't realize the seriousness of the situation.

He said there are "unmistakable signs that the fall in farm prices and the rise in unemployment may foreshadow not only a period of readjustment but a recession in general economic activity."

In a speech prepared for delivery on the CBC's free time political series, The Nation's Business, he recalled that bank reports and statements by economists "are not confident that the high level of agricultural returns and industrial employment will continue."

A high level of employment and 'adequate" farm prices were linked. In the last two years, farm prices had been falling, costs rising and net farm income declining.

"Now this fall in farm returns is being reflected in industrial employment."

Farmers were buying less, affecting the farm equipment, clothing, furniture and other industries.

"It is sometimes said that high wages in industry are a factor in such a situation but let me point out that wages . . . have not increased at the rate that profits in industry and production per man employed have increased."

Snowstorm Stops All Business

CORNWALL (CP) — All business activity in this city of 17,000 was at a standstill today as the result of a wind-driven 12-inch snowfall, the city's worst storm in more than 10 years.

About 16,000 city and district school children had a storm - enforced holiday.

There was virtually no vehicle traffic in the city. Even snow plows, put into action Tuesday noon when the heavy wet snow began to fall, were immobilized.

Hospitals were operating with short staffs. Bread deliveries were restricted to stores, hospitals and mills. There were no milk deliveries.

Only pedestrians were on the streets, some wearing snowshoes. Highways leading into the city were impassable and a number of abandoned automobiles and transports were almost covered by six-foot high drifts.

The storm was only surpassed by the ice "blitz" of 1942-43.

Trains however were running fairly well on schedule and telephone communication was not disrupted.

Seek Baby Racket Leaks

Montreal Police Offer Protection

MONTREAL (CP)—Police have offered to protect the identity of persons volunteering information about a multi-million dollar adoption racket in an effort to get publicity-shy victims of the ring to help them.

Authorities last night clamped a rigid blackout on information about results of questions as they announced they are going out systematically to round up persons connected even in a minor way with the international ring.

They said many of those brought to headquarters will be only "minor cogs" in the baby black market and the promise of "immunity from publicity" will be dangled before them to induce them to tell what they know.

But they added: "This doesn't mean that they have been granted immunity from prosecution."

Announcement of the proposed roundup came only a few hours after detectives bared a story of underworld doublecross in which a 12-day-old baby was allegedly shuttled from one rival group to another.

They said the illegitimate child was born at the Laval street residence of a 60-year-old woman who has been questioned by police concerning the ring's operations.

The woman had asked a friend to take the child to another address, but the friend decided to sell the child independently and pocket the proceeds.

To cover her tracks she pretended the baby had been kidnapped by a rival gang, but police later found the child in charge of a nurse, in whose safe-keeping it had been placed. The nurse was not connected with the ring, they said.

Police last night refused to comment on reports that doctors will be hauled in during the roundup.

A separate move to obtain information about the adoption racket will be launched Friday when George W. Hill, senior crown prosecutor, will apply to the courts for permission to send an investigating commission to New York.

Police say they have evidence that New York couples paid from $3,500 to $10,000 for the children and that they believe some of them may be able to throw light on operations of the baby syndicate, said to have shipped 1,000 babies across the border during the last 10 years.

FLOODS HIT ONTARIO—The early spring thaw combined with a night of heavy rainfall has swollen Ontario rivers and creeks. Highland Creek, 20 miles east of Toronto, filled the whole of the Highland Creek Valley causing this house to be completely surrounded by flowing water.

Farm Home Destroyed By Flames

Furniture, Clothes Lost; Little Saved As Family Homeless

COLDSPRINGS (ENS) — The 10-room stone farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Baptist was destroyed by fire about two miles west of Coldsprings Tuesday morning.

The Baptists, their two children and Mr. Baptist's mother, were forced to seek shelter, at least temporarily, with neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bowman.

The fire apparently started in the chimney in the wall of the bedroom of Mrs. Baptist Sr. She was in bed at the time, but was rescued with no difficulty.

Mr. and Mrs. Baptist had left the home just a half hour before the fire was first noticed. They had gone to visit, Mrs. Baptist's brother, Gerald Rogers who was sick at his home in Fenella.

Mrs. Clifford Avery, a neighbor who had come in to look after the children, Elaine 5; and Linda 16 months, and Mrs. Baptist Sr., first noticed the smoke in the house.

She called her husband who was doing chores for the Baptists in the barn. He phoned the Cobourg fire department and spread the alarm.

USED OWN EXTINGUISHERS

Even before the Cobourg fire truck could arrive, neighbors rushed to the scene with their own hand fire extinguishers. They thought they had it under control. But the flames were eating away inside the wall.

The fire broke out and even the fire brigade which had arrived at the scene from Cobourg 10 miles away within 20 minutes of getting the call, could not halt the blaze. They were helped by about 100 farmers who had quickly gathered.

A refrigerator, washing machine, piano and some of the other furniture downstairs as well as preserves from the basement were saved, but all else was lost.

Mrs. Baptist Sr. had to be prevented from returning to the house to try to rescue her clothes.

The house and contents were covered by insurance but the cost of the loss has not yet been estimated.

It was the second call into the district for the Cobourg fire department Tuesday. They managed to put out a chimney fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Alexander about six miles south of Coldsprings in Bethesda South.

Roads Engineer Suspended

TORONTO (CP)—Highways Minister Doucett said Tuesday that D. S. Patterson, division engineer of the Ontario highways department at Huntsville, has been suspended pending a full investigation of the trans-Canada highway contract.

In a statement read to the legislature Mr. Doucett said:

"I wish to make it clear that we are not pre-judging this case. But the circumstances indicate that, in the interests of the department of highways, this suspension should take place."

It was learned that an investigation by the department has uncovered irregularities in the books of the Huntsville division involving hundreds of dollars.

FIVE EMPLOYEES

Five highways department employees are under suspension and have been charged with irregularities in the Fort William division of the department. Premier Frost has appointed a private auditing firm to make a full investigation in that division.

In addition a departmental highway patrolman has been suspended following disclosure of alleged theft of department materials at Rockland, near Ottawa. Provincial police have sent an investigator to Rockland.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The U.S. dollar was at a discount of 3 13-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. Tuesday's noon rate was 96 19-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.71⅞, against $2.71 13-16.

New Beauty Rage of Europe

By Elsie Carlstedt

Even if you think you look your best—who doesn't want to look more beautiful. This new rage is a Lanolin Face Pack ready mixed in a neat little plioflim sachet, just enough for one application. And what a difference one application will make to your face. Your skin will immediately feel toned-up and supple, look far clearer and fresher. It is called "Christy's Lanoline Face Pack." Imported from Europe, it is already selling in the Dept. Stores and Drug Beauty Counters and only costs 35c. Supplies are a little short — they can't make it fast enough in Europe to keep the "New Beauty Rage" supplied.

Flood Threat Continues

TORONTO (CP)—Continuing mild weather forecast for today is expected to prolong the flood troubles of a score of southern Ontario communities. Creeks and rivers rose after unseasonably mild weather Monday was followed Tuesday by rain and sleet. Fifteen families were evacuated from their homes on low-lying Front street along the south branch of the Thames river in south-central London. In the pelting rain and sleet storm, described as the worst in three years, rescue workers removed more than 35 families from threatened homes in Churchville and Meadowvale in the Brampton district. Ice cakes 30 feet long smashed store fronts at Churchville, a community of 300 persons on the Credit river.

The evacuated families from Churchville and Meadowvale were cared for in a fire hall. The Red Cross branch in Brampton sent emergency relief supplies of bedding food and clothing.

EVACUUATE 15

At Collingwood, 15 families including a critically ill woman were taken from their homes after a wave of water swept through the town from the west end.

Floods also hit sections of Long Branch, Pickering, Strathroy, Windsor, Wellesley, St. Jacobs, Waterloo, St. Thomas, Stratford, Welland, Hamilton, Woodstock, Exeter, Tillsonburg, St. Marys, Port Franks, New Hamburg, Paris and Simcoe.

Most of the communities experienced the storm and floods at the same time.

Up to two feet of snow fell over a wide area between Orangeville and Collingwood. Mount Forest had eight inches, Guelph six, Toronto 5½ inches of snow and half an inch of rain.

For the first time in three years, the highway department ordered out its big "V" plows. Officials cautioned motorists against setting out unless trips were absolutely necessary.

The mild weather and the storm were blamed for three deaths, including that of a Toronto area man police said bent his head against the driving sleet and walked into the path of a car.

FIGHT RISING WATER

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Civil defence workers helped remove more than a dozen families from their homes on flood-threatened Front street Tuesday night as the rain-swollen Thames river tried to burst its banks.

A crew of more than 100 volunteers early today stacked sandbags atop the dike protecting the low-lying section on the bank of the Thames' south branch.

Searchlights lit the scene as workers raced to keep ahead of the rising river but some water got through and flooded basements. More than a dozen city trucks were called into service to help move the families and some of their prized possessions from the area.

Earlier, 48 persons, 29 of them children, were rescued from flooded homes in other sections of the city by firemen.

City officials credited Fanshawe dam, three miles northeast of the city, with saving west London from flooding. The area was inundated in 1937 when the north branch of the Thames poured over a breakwater.

The dam, officially opened last year, was gradually closed as the water rose to keep the crest below flood level in the city.

The dam had no effect on the south branch threatening Front street.

Acres of land in the river flats were inundated.

Just north of the city the Thames swept across a highway for hundreds of feet, a bridge was awash and London township police helped a woman move out of her home.

A long line of trucks and cars were stranded on Riverside drive west of the city near the Thames Valley Boat Club.

City firemen said they have 10 boats on call for emergencies. The Royal Canadian Navy establishment, HMCS Prevost, stood by with four dinghies and crews ready to help.

Civil Servants Granted 5-Day, 40-Hour Week

OTTAWA (CP)—Mail handlers and carriers, customs and immigration officers and operating staffs of other government departments in 180 communities will start a five-day, 40-hour work week April 1. At present they work 44 hours.

The list of communities was announced Tuesday in the Commons by Finance Minister Abbott.

He said the change is being made in communities where the 40-hour week is the prevailing practice in private employment. However, operating staffs of all departments will be granted the short week wherever it is in effect for clerical employees.

Clerical employees were granted the 40-hour week in certain communities last fall.

Mr. Abbott said, however, that the 40-hour week can not be put into effect for federal employees in hospitals and other health stations, fire protection services, penitentiaries, security and watchman services, farms, fish hatcheries, national parks and historic sites, lighthouses and heating staffs.

rullah, high commissioners for the Commonwealth countries, Rear Admiral Mohammad Siddique Chauhri, commander-in-chief of Pakistan naval forces, Air Vice-Marshal L. W. Cannon, commander-in-chief of the Royal Pakistan Air Force, Maj.-Gen. Mohammed Musa Khan, area commander for Karachi, and other local officials.

The Canadian leader mounted a dais to take the salute while an honor guard of Pakistan navy personnel marched past.

INTRODUCED DIPLOMATS

Mohammed Ali introduced the diplomats and later Kirkwood presented all the members of the Canadian high commission in Pakistan.

Miss Alya Saddy, as secretary, presented members of the committee of the Pakistan-Canadian Cultural Association in Karachi.

Later the Canadian party drove in six different cars to the Governor-General's house, where they are staying as state guests.

The Pakistan Prime Minister's wife greeted the Canadian leader's daughter, Mrs. Hugh O'Donnell of Quebec. Tomorrow Mrs. O'Donnell will be guest at a luncheon exclusively for women at which the Begum will be hostess.

Ottawa sources said before the trip began two weeks ago Thursday that great importance would be attached to the prime minister's talks with Asiatic leaders during the tour.

Pakistan's prime minister is a man with whom the Canadian leader has had many talks before. Mohammed Ali was Pakistan's high commissioner in Ottawa for three years. And the Canadian visit to Pakistan returns the 1950 visit to Ottawa of Mohammed Ali's predecessor, Liaqat Ali Khan.

The Canadian minister took off for Pakistan this morning after an overnight stop at Bahrein, in the Persian gulf, roughly the half-way point between Rome, his last major stop, and Karachi.

He was greeted on arrival by Sheikh Issa Ibn Salman Alkhalifa, eldest son of the ruler of the British protectorate which is the centre of a rich oil-producing area. This morning the British political resident was on hand for the take-off of the Canadian party in the RCAF C-5 transport, but there was no ceremony at the departure.

During the four - day Pakistan visit the prime minister will fly more than 2,000 miles, visiting diplomatic representatives in this capital and tribal chiefs of the wild northwest frontier. Thursday he attends a state banquet here as guest of Governor-General Ghulam Mohammed.

During the visit he will discuss Pakistan's food situation with government leaders. Canada has played a big part in meeting the Moslem state's food problems, donating $5,000,000 worth of wheat last year, and in addition has extened major aid in development projects.

Churches Boost Relief

NEW YORK (AP)—More than 28,000,000 pounds of food, bedding, clothing and medicine—valued at $9,699,619—were shipped abroad in 1953 by Church World Service, it was announced Tuesday. This is twice as much as was ever shipped in any previous year by the interdenominational relief agency. Most of the relief supplies went to "distress areas" in Europe and Asia.

Women Increase Objective In Chest Drive

Dentists have no cause to look down in the mouth this year, for in the Community Chest campaign they will be canvassed by Mrs. J. E. Watters' 125-strong Women's Section.

This is the first year that the dentists have been grouped separately and made a special project for the women's section. It is hoped that this will help the women go even further past their objective than they usually do.

Last year, with an objective set at $5,500, the women raised $7,669.64. This year's objective is $7,250, more than $400 less than they collected a year ago.

The job of the women's section is to clear up all the tag-ends. They contact all people not otherwise contacted by canvassers in other sections — retired people, mothers-in-law, home wage earners and others."

"The women are doing progressively better every year," said Mrs. Watters speaking pridefully of her 125 zealous workers. "The objective set for us keeps going up, but I don't know if we have reached the saturation point even yet."

SPECIAL NAMES

Meanwhile the special names section, under Samuel J. Whitehouse, is organizing a committee to meet the $29,350 objective of this section. Purpose of this section is to persuade the more affluent members of the community to part with as much cash as possible.

Main artillery of the special names committee is concentrated on the various professional groups and on citizens specially earmarked for visits by this committee. A special medical sub-committee has been organized under Gordon Monkman assisted by Dr. S. Y. Walsh.

Last year's special names objective was $27,850. The section raised $27,940.85.

On the special names committee are the following: Bob Abbott, Lionel Browne, Andrew Purdon, Herb Cranford, W. E. Baggs, Ross Dobbin, Reg Faryon, G. K. Fraser, George Gillespie, Fred Hills.

Alex Elliott, J. E. Girvin, Gordon Munro, E. H. Howson, T. A. Mackay, Larry Tremblay, Bruce Payne, Jack Richardson, Fred Overend.

Dr. S. Y. Walsh, W. Gemmell, James Hamilton, H. G. Thompson, P. H. Turner, Sid Black and Gordon Monkman.

1 Dead, 7 Hurt In Collision

SARNIA (CP) — Frances Auld, 18, of Sarnia and formerly of Watford, Ont., was killed and seven others were injured early today in a head-on collision of two automobiles on Christina street north here.

Police said icy road conditions may have contributed to the accident.

Gets Two Months

STRATFORD (CP) — A Rostock man, Ray Morris, Tuesday was sentenced to two months in jail by magistrate A. F. Cook. He had pleaded guilty to two charges of false pretences arising from issuance of worthless cheques.

Youth Advised To Learn As If Will Live Forever

Learnr as though you were to live forever and live as if you were to die toworrow.

This should be the creed of modern youth, Dr. F. J. Moroney dean of Brooklyn City College told an Education Night gathering of the Sales and Ad club at Club Aragon Tuesday night. Also on hand at the meeting were 12 students from St. Peter's High School and the Peterborough Vocational Collegiate Institute.

"Tired white-haired men" are carrying the peak loads in all business and professions, Dr. Moroney declared. It is the responsibility of the younger people to "live the most and serve the best in order to protect this "human powerhouse."

Just as any well-equipped hospital has emergency dynamos for use when the main source of power is cut off, so must a healthy society build up its reserves — its youth.

PARENTS' RESPONSIBILITY

It is the responsibility of the older people, said the speaker, to see that youth is "nobly bred, firmly led, and wisely fed." The feeding is especially important. It is the endless process of education to promote, in the society, "continuous reconstruction through better orientation."

Education is much more than a process of osmisis said Dr. Moroney. He was critical of what he called the "I yell, you jump" system of education, still popular in some sections of the United States and Canada.

The human race divides itself roughly into three divisions. Two, said Dr. Moroney, are relatively small. These are the debased and criminal types, and particularly pure and high-living people. But most men and women, he said, are in a vast third group which does not "always hold high the ethical standards they pay lip service to."

It is up to the members of this third group to so re-organize their own thinking that youth will be able to take care of tomorrow. In training your child, "you will never get more out of him than you put into him of your own experience."

Don Loucks, chairman of the club's education committee said that the education night may be a regular aspect of the Sales-Ad program. "But it can't develop overnight or show quick results.

"We have to crusade for a new crop of salespeople" said Mr. Loucks. "Nothing is so good that it doesn't need to be sold. He mentioned Bibles, prayerbooks and religion generally as examples.

An appeal for help from all Sales-Ad members to volunteer advice and services for the Community Chest campaign was voiced by Russell Baer. Mr. Baer, past president of the Sales-Ad club which has taken over Community Chests publicity, is also public relations chairman of the Community Chests.

Special guests at the meeting were Bill Collins, a Grade 13 student at St. Peter's and Bob Ross, in Grade 13 at PCVS. Also at the head table were Pat Anglesy, Father Cochrane, vocational director at PCVS, Mr. Baer, Howard Doolittle, who introduced the speaker, and Dr. Moroney.

Queen Mother To Visit United States

LONDON (CP) — Queen Mother Elizabeth will visit the United States in October as the guest of President and Mrs. Eisenhower, a Buckingham Palace spokesman said today.

"Arrangements are virtually complete and the official announcement of Her Majesty's trip will be made shortly," the spokesman said.

"She is looking forward eagerly to the visit. She has been in the United States with her husband, the late King George VI, and of course met the President frequently when he was in Europe on military duty."

The Queen, 53, mother of Queen Elizabeth, made a royal tour of Canada with King George in 1939, and visited President Roosevelt in the U. S.

Her coming visit is expected to be a short one, centred in Washington. It is understood no swing around the country is on the proposed program.

However, the palace spokesman said the possibility cannot be excluded that the Queen Mother will visit Canada during her trip.

"There is as yet no indication that the Queen Mother will go to Canada as well, but that does not necessarily mean she will not decide to go."

Both Trains

Dave Spivack of Toronto.

H. Sparks of Montreal.

J. A. Delaraine of Montreal.

Involved in the collision were two sections of train No. 22, on overnight runs from Toronto to Montreal. The first section of the train stopped at St. Clet to permit a freight train to move on to a siding. The second section of the train plowed into the rear of the first.

The accident occurred about 7.30 a.m., with both sections of the train running late because of one of the season's worst snow falls.

St. Clet is a small farming community, one of the last before the railroads begin their swing through the suburbs of the city.

Snow—an estimated 10 to 12 inches fell during the night—was blown into drifts slowing traffic in the area to a crawl.

A CPR spokesman here said no cars were derailed in the first section of the train. The engine and three express cars of the second section were derailed. A fourth express car was damaged.

The pilot of the engine on the second section was jammed under the rear car of the first section.

The spokesman said it is expected the first section, minus the rear car, will move into Montreal under its own power. The second section would be rerouted.

He could not estimate how long it will take to clear the line. None of the derailed cars overturned.

The spokesman said he understood four passengers, considered more seriously injured than others, were in the first section. Lesser injuries were suffered by some of the passengers in the second section.

Dr. J. Arthur Valois, superintendent of the military hospital at St. Anne de Bellevue, said a special train carrying four doctors and four nurses from the hospital left for the wreck scene about 9:30 or 10 a. m. but he had received no reports from them.

He said it is impossible to get through to the scene of the wreck by car or ambulance.

Dr. Valois said the injured may be taken to the military hospital or directly to Montreal, depending on their condition.

A second auxiliary train was en route to the scene from Smiths Falls, Ont.

Laurent Valois, chief of police miles east of the wreck, said a special train was dispatched to the scene from Ste. Anne de Bellevue, carrying doctors and nurses from the military hospital there.

Snow, blown into drifts by a strong wind, was said to be hampering ambulances moving to the scene to treat the injured. An estimated 10 to 12 inches of wet snow fell on the area during the night and snow still was falling when the wreck occurred.

The trains are both operated by the CPR and run over CPR lines but form part of the railways' pooling system between Toronto and Montreal. Tickets of both the CPR and Canadian National Railways are honored on the trains.

The CNR also operates pool trains on the Montreal-Toronto line on which tickets of the CPR are honored.

Reports reaching here indicated the accident occurred about 7:30 a. m., with the trains running behind schedule because of the storm.

Prices Lower In Toronto Stock

TORONTO (CP) — Prices were lower and activity slight in early afternoon stock market trading today.

Although industrials were lower, they were not off as sharply as in Tuesday's session. Constructions showed a slight gain, papers, agricultures, textiles, motors and liquors had as many gaining as losing issues. Only steels, utilities, foods, manufactures and financial institutions were lower.

Western oil trading remained quiet.

Manitouwadge - area issues, although the most active base metals, were only slightly changed with a few penny losses. Seniors were much weaker. Noranda dropped $1.37½.

Golds were quiet.

Uraniums and Bathurst - area base metals slipped.

Bidault almost snarled his denial: "France is 100 per cent sovereign."

Demonstrating Berliners threaten to take some headlines away from the ministers' final session. Rival labor leaders of the East and West sectors have called for mass demonstrations late Thursday.

An estimated 100,008 East Berliners plan to form under their Communist leaders near the Soviet Embassy, where part of the conference sessions have been held, for a display of anti-American feeling and support of Russia.

The West Berlin trade unions announced that tens of thousands of workers would take part in a torch-light march to protest Soviet tactics which the West unions declare have destroyed hopes for German unification.

Three miles of half-ruined, half-rebuilt business blocks will separate the two groups at the start. Police will be on the alert to keep them apart.

A later message said that the ministers today held a restricted session on Asian problems and French delegates came away "very optimistic" about prospects of agreement on a conference on Korean and Indo-Chinese peace.

U. S. delegates were described as "less pessimistic" about hopes of compromise following the two-hour meeting.

This increased hope was supported by the fact that the Big Four agreed to hold a sixth restricted session tomorrow morning.

The Associated Press reported a new Soviet move on Korea and Indo-China was made today which compelled French Foreign Minister Bidault to ask his government for new instructions. The AP said the nature of the new Russian move was not disclosed.

Meanwhile, officials of Britain, the United States and France worked on the draft of a communique which may be issued jointly here by Foreign Secretary Eden, State Secretary Dulles and Foreign Minister Bidault.

As the conference schedule now stands, discussion on an Austrian independence treaty may be brought up in the last session tomorrow.

The west has little hope, however, that Russia will agree to an Austrian independence treaty providing for immediate withdrawal of all foreign troops from Austrian soil.

Refuse Request In Otonabee For Firemen

Although little damage resulted, Mayor Norman Graham turned down a request to send the city fire department to a fire in Otonabee township this morning.

About 10:30 a.m., fire of unknown origin broke out in a mattress in an upstairs bedroom at the home of John Perry, RR 6, Peterborough, near Downer's Corners.

The blaze was noticed by Mr. Perry's sister-in-law, Mrs. J. Weatheral, who called a neighbor, Milfred Steinburg, who in turn telephoned township councillor Joseph Slattery, who operates a store at Downer's Corners.

Mr. Slattery tried to get in touch with Ald. Harold Rehill, chairman of the fire, water and light committee, but was unsuccessful. Meanwhile, he got a gang of men from Wood's lumber yard together but their vehicle got stuck in the snow.

Mrs. Slattery then telephoned Mayor Graham but His Worship told her he had no authority to send the fire department out of the city.

Meanwhile, Mr. Steinburg smashed a storm window in the Perry's bedroom and threw the burning mattress outside. Only the mattress and its cover were destroyed by the fire.

MAYOR POWERLESS

"I was sorry not to be able to send the fire department out to help those people, especially because the fire was in a house," Mayor Graham said. "But council has made it quite clear that I am powerless to do anything."

Last month His Worship sent the department to a fire on Maniece Ave. in Otonabee township. City council subsequently reaffirmed a 1949 resolution to give no fire service to any of the surrounding townships unless they had a worknig agreement with the city for fire protection.

Otonabee council have since met with the city to discuss an agreement and have requested an interim charge for each fire as an emergency service until an agrement is reached. City council decided that the resolution still stands and will not consider any interim charge until a final agreement is arrived at.

A discussion with North Monaghan township will be held next Monday.

"I'm glad the fire wasn't a serious one," Mayor Graham told The Examiner today.

Highways Closed To All Traffic

TORONTO (CP) — The Department of Highways reported today that the following highways are flooded and closed to traffic: highway 2 west to London, at Delaware; detour via highways 4 to Talbotville, 3 to Morpeth, 21 to Thamesville; highway 3 at Tillsonburg, detour via highway 19 to highway 2; highway 3A, Beckett's Bridge to Welland; highway 54, Caledonia to Cainesville, highway 81, from highway 7 to highway 22.

The following are blocked by snow: highway 2 at Cornwall; highway 16 at Kemptville, and doubtful at North Gower; highway 31, Greeley to Williamsburg; highway 34 Alexandria to Lancaster; highway 43 west of Alexandria Highway 15 is heavy and doubtful north of Joyceville.

Highways in the Lake Erie, Niagara peninsula and Lake Ontario area, west of Oshawa, are mostly bare, with some slushy sections in the Caledonia-Brantford area. Highways in the southern Georgian bay and Lake Simcoe areas are snow-surfaced, now in places, heavy and rough, while highways in the Kawartha lake area are heavy. A heavy snowfall is reported in the eastern Lake Ontario area, and in the Ottawa and St. Lawrence valleys. Highways here are heavy, in addition to those reported blocked.

Work Of City Clerk Outram Acclaimed By Mayor Graham

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Mayor Norman Graham of Peterborough was one of two speakers at the weekly meeting of Rotary club this week.

Mr. Graham outlined the duties of city clerk, who according to Mr. Graham, is doing a great deal more than is usually required of such an official. Peterborough's city clerk, he said, is paid a salary of about $7,000 a year, and for this he works nearly every night of the week. Mayor Graham outlined the duties, which in Peterborough, are delegated to that official, but which are not performed by the clerk in the larger municipalities. Among the duties the clerk performs are management of city properties, including their care, maintenance and collection of rents, which now total $38,350 annually; management of city hall, purchasing property for industrial purposes, etc., for the city; secretary of the city planning board; receiving parking penalties; looking after claims against the city; looking after the issuing of city licenses; clerk of the court of revision and secretary of the board of health. He also serves on a special traffic committee and is advisor to the various committees in council.

Peterborough's police department, Mayor Graham said, is badly understaffed.

In giving general statistics about Peterborough, Mayor Graham said that the population now is 39,714 and the assessment is just over $42,000,000. The debentures debt, less the sinking fund, is almost $7,500,000.

FOREST RESOURCES

With Mr. Graham at the meeting was W. B. Greenwood of Peterborough, the regional manager of the department of lands and forests. He gave a very interesting talk on the department, saying that the forests of the country were an asset, entrusted to the department to manage.

The department is the equivalent of a multi-million dollar public corporation. President of this corporation is the Hon. W. S. Gemmell, minister of the department. As in a large industrial corporation, there are many departments. In the field, the general manager is represented by regional foresters, and under these are district foresters, under whom are conservation officers, rangers, tower men and many other employees.

In the past year, 21 million trees were set out and about 381 million fish were "planted." Something over $200,000 in timber dues was collected and 173 serious fires were extinguished.

Campbellford Chief Resigns From Force

CAMPBELLFORD —(ENS) — Chief Constable Charles M. Lockwood has resigned from the Campbellford force. The town council held a special meeting on Tuesday night and accepted the resignation which the chief had handed in earlier.

Mr. Lockwood said today that he is considering taking a similar position elsewhere.

Naguib Arms Sudan

CAIRO (Reuters)—President Mohammed Naguib announced Tuesday night that Egypt will give the Sudan defence force five training planes, arms and equipment for 1,000 men on the occasion of the opening of the Sudanese Parliament March 1. The announcement coincided with the Sudan government's decision to send two ministers to Juba in the south Sudan following reports of anti-northern demonstrations and threats by tribesmen.

FIT FOR A KING or for the most popular sales clerk in Peterborough. Some lucky clerk will receive a week's holiday at the Glades hotel shown here at St. Petersburg, Florida. Readers of the Examiner will choose him or her. Coupons will be provided in The Examiner on which to cast a vote which will be accompanied by a sales slip from one of the stores participating in the contest.

Sunshine Sweepstakes

Dream Holiday In Florida Awaits Most Popular Clerk

A dream-holiday in Florida is ahead for some lucky Peterborough sales clerk.

Today the Peterborough Examiner launches a 13-week contest which will give the winner an air trip to Florida, with all expenses paid for a one-week luxury holiday at the Glades Hotel in sunny St. Petersburg.

The lucky winner may swim in private pools, fish, go surfboard riding or water skiing, golf, play tennis or engage in any number of sports and recreations. For those less energetic there are also such spectator sports as dog racing and horse racing.

Dancing and entertainment are nightly features of the Terrace Room at the Glades while the tropic atmosphere of the Tahiti Lounge invites relaxation.

The rules of the contest are simple. Each Wednesday for the next 12 weeks, the Examiner will carry advertisements on page 2 about St. Petersburg. A number of local merchants will participate in this advertising.

COUPON TO CLIP

Each day a coupon will appear which is to be filled in with the name of your favorite salesclerk and mailed to the "Sunshine Sweepstakes Editor, Peterborough Examiner."

A sales slip from any of the stores participating in the St. Petersburg advertising must be attached to the coupon. The public may vote for any clerk in any store participating in the contest.

Readers may vote a soften as they wish, all members of the family may take turns during the week in casting ballots for their particular favorites.

Courtesy, service and personality will be important factors in this contest. Here is a great opportunity for the customer to repay his or her favorite salesclerk for services extended through the years and give her a wonderful holiday besides.

The contest closes May 15.

Sought On Murder Counts Found Dead In Woods

LONDON (AP) — Court records disclosed today that Ronald J. Chesney, whose death ended a two-continent search touched off by the London slaying of his wife and mother-in-law, once stood trial for the murder of his own mother.

Chesney, 45-year-old torpedo boat commander in the Royal Navy during the war and later a convicted smuggler, was found shot through the head Tuesday in a woods outside Cologne, Germany. Police said he apparently committed suicide.

He had been sought by Scotland Yard throughout Europe and in the African port of Tangier since the discovery last Thursday of two bodies in a "home for retired gentlefolk" in suburban Ealing—those of his wife, Mrs. Isobel Chesney, 42, and her aged mother, Mrs. Mary Menzies.

Mrs. Chesney had been drowned in her own bathtub and her mother, who had affected the title "Lady Mary," had been bludgeoned and strangled.

The police investigation of Chesney's background revealed that under his real name, John Donald Merrett, he was tried at Edinburgh in 1927 for the murder of his mother, Mrs. Bertha Merrett, but was acquitted.

Mrs. Merrett, 55, was shot through the head with a pistol in the living room of her flat March 17, 1926. Her son, then 18, told police she shot herself in his presence.

Chesney was captured by the Italians during the war, but escaped and made his way back to England.

After the war he turned to theft and smuggling and ran up a long police record in England and on the continent.

Utilities Men Reject Offer

COBOURG (ENS)—The public utilities has received word from the National Union of Public Services, of which the utilities employees are members, that the wage offer of the public utilities commission is not acceptable.

The union seeks a 25-cent per hour across-the-board increase plus changes in the 1953 contract. The commission wants the old contract to remain essentially the same but offered a three cent an hour increase.

Another meeting will be held between the union and the commission and if no agreement is reached, it will likely go to a board of conciliation.

Quemont Workers Sign New Contract

NORANDA, Que. (CP) — The United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) and Quemont Mines Limited signed a contract Tuesday, ending the four-month strike of 450 men.

The one-year agreement provides for a wage increase ranging from eight to 13 cents an hour. Quemont is a subsidiary of Noranda Mines, Limited, which came to terms with the union last week.

Quemont workers walked out last Oct. 2 in demand for higher wages, a shorter work week and union security.

Mrs. Annie Flynn

Funeral for the late Mrs. Annie Flynn of 190 Charlotte St., who died on Saturday in hospital following a short illness, was held on Tuesday from the Anglesley funeral home to Sacred Heart church, Marmora. Requiem mass was said by the Rev. W. P. Healey and pall-bearers were Fred Johnston, Irvin McCoy, Vincent Lynch, James Crawford, John Bell and Lack Hughes.

Burial was at Sacred Heart cemetery.

French Wages Up

PARIS (AP) — The National Assembly Tuesday approved the cabinet's action in raising the minimum wage in private industry from 100 to 114 francs (29-44 cents) an hour in the Paris area.

Grieving Couple Suicide

VINITA, Okla. (AP)—A middle-aged farm couple, who had brooded deeply since the highway-accident deaths of their only son and daughter eight months ago, took their own lives Tuesday after burning all their property. John McCord, 54, and his wife, 52, left suicide notes indicating that grief for their children prompted their action. Each was shot in the head, and a pistol lay between them.

Nominations Received For Rotary Directors

Quiet Legislature

The Ontario Legislature was opened last Thursday and already fog has closed over it. Is there any duller legislative assembly in the whole wide world than that at Queen's Park? True, a few sparks are flying from the rocks of Fort William highways. Otherwise the Legislature is as lifeless as a prairie farmhouse in mid-winter. The Speech from the Throne said even less than such speeches ordinarily do. It is apparently the intention of the Ontario Government to keep things going and as well as possible, but it would be pleasant to know when a spoke will be replaced, a wheel changed, or the engine tuned up.

* * *

The Frost Government is an administration, and even the best administrators do not want to be bothered by outsiders, like a debater in a Legislature. Seventeen House committees have been formed in a hurry, and yesterday the seventeen got down to the business the Government had in hand for them. That will keep the legislators occupied and the Legislature quiet.

* * *

It is perhaps not unexpected, even in a democratic state, that an executive runs the show, and that an efficient government is able to lasso a legislature. Nevertheless, it is disconcerting to find the Ontario Legislature a seemingly superfluous assembly. Ontario's business is both big and important considering that 35 per cent. of the people of Canada live in this Province and that these people produce nearly half the country's national income.

* * *

Perhaps people and legislature are lulled into complacent acceptance of what the Provincial Cabinet and their chief civil servants do, by the handsome surpluses each year. Premier Frost, as Provincial Treasurer has already been able to report that Provincial revenues were $58,427,385 greater than the expenditures last year. (Errors in budgeting and the annual production of great surpluses are not the preserve of Liberal Ottawa governments, obviously.) The surplus will be effectively hidden, or put to use, in a special fund. This is a highways reserve account, and twenty millions of the fifty-eight millions excess receipts went into it. (Some unkind critics of the Ontario Government call it a highway slush fund.) Another $30,859,000 went into the sinking fund. Much of the large surplus came from the Federal Government as its dues to Ontario for renting Ontario's income and corporation taxing rights. This brought to the Provincial Treasury a total of $123,437,363. Quebec people take note—you whose Government will have nothing to do with such an arrangement with Ottawa, but who will have to pay an extra income tax next year for the privilege of standing apart from the other Provinces.

Bad News For Party-Line Gossips

There will be sorrow in many hearts when the Telephone Act, now before the Legislature, becomes law, for it will make eavesdroppers on party-lines subject to a $50 fine. And how are the eavesdroppers to be caught, you may ask. Ah, was there ever a party-line eavesdropper who could keep quiet about what she heard?

The same Act will make it an offense to use the telephone for the transmission of 'indecent, obscene, blasphemous or grossly insulting language'. But if the party-line gossips are to be quashed, there will be much less obscenity and indecency on party-lines; a great deal of it is employed now simply to burn the ears of the listeners-in. It is pleasant sport to say, in the midst of a conversation on a party-line, 'Hello there, Mrs. ——, you old——! How's the reception tonight, Granny ——, ——you', and to hear the click as receivers are hastily replaced on their hooks. There is nothing which astonishes and insults a party-line gossip more than to be brought into a conversation to which she believes herself to be an unsuspected listener.

We wish that the Telephone Act could provide some penalty for people who dial wrong numbers. Admitting that this may happen because of misinformation or some excusable error, we nevertheless believe that it happens in most cases from sheer carelessness. Even carelessness may be forgiven—if it does not happen too often within a single day—but the rudeness of many people who dial wrong numbers cannot be excused on any grounds. Is there nothing—no button which, when pressed, would give them a mild electric shock—which can be devised to make them mend their ways?

The telephone is one of the great conveniences of our age. It is also a means whereby anybody with plenty of gall and a supple forefinger can intrude himself into your home at any hour of the day or night. We cannot do without it, but we are glad that the Telephone Act will limit the conduct of some of the people who use it.

The Martin Luther Film

The film Martin Luther has been showing in Peterborough since Monday, and because it is a film of unusual merit we hope that it is being heavily attended. Considered simply as a piece of film-making it is a notable achievement, finely acted and directed by one of the masters of film direction of our day, Irving Pichel.

There will be few people, however, who will consider it simply as a piece of film-making. Because of its theme the film is a controversial one, and its banning in Quebec has aroused uncommon interest in it. It tells the tale of the sudden and violent upsurge of the Reformation spirit which was led by Martin Luther, and it tells the tale simply, as a film must. The Reformation was not in any sense a simple movement and of course fault may be found with the film. We have seen it, and upon the whole we thought it good, though the relationship between Luther and the Holy See was perhaps unduly simplified. Pope Leo X (Giovanni de' Medici) was not an ornament of the Papacy, but he was far from being the foolish man shown in the film, and his negotiations with Luther were more involved and more intelligent than the film would lead us to believe. Nor was Luther entirely the man of simple greatness the film depicts. If Erasmus of Rotterdam had possessed Luther's qualities of leadership the Reformation would have been vastly more successful than it proved. However, it is pointless to find fault with history. And as for the Luther film itself, it is remarkably truthful and just, within the limits which a film imposes.

What particularly impresses us about this film, apart from its own merits as a depiction of a great moment in the history of human thought, is that it is the first film of outstanding merit to present the Protestant point of view in religion. The Church of Rome has benefited by many films (not, it must be said, financed by the Church) which present its belief and practice in the most favourable light; Protestantism has not been so fortunate. It would be ridiculous and unseemly if there were to arise a celluloid religious war, with film rivalling film in presenting first the Catholic and then the Protestant view on every possible point of controversy. But it is good to see a film widely distributed and widely popular, which gives fine artistic expression to the basic Protestant tenet of freedom of conscience.

U.S. In Turkey And Pakistan

The United States has offered Pakistan economic and military aid, on the understanding that the money and equipment will be used for defence against Communists. (Pakistan has a common border with Communist countries.) India looks with cold disfavour on this offer and Pakistan's readiness to accept it, because India and Pakistan have declared a now inactive war, over Kashmir. India maintains that the balance of force in the sub-continent would be disturbed, and Pakistan would be able to attack Kashmir and perhaps even India.

In seeking to build her power, Pakistan has wanted to make a "Moslem Alliance" in the Middle East, principally with Turkey. Turkey has been worrying about the southern flank of its defences against Russia and trying to make a Middle East Defence Pact, including Egypt and other Middle East countries. But it will have nothing to do with foreign policy based on religious considerations. Turkey is a secular state. However, Pakistan has made a new approach and Turkey, failing to get her Middle East Defence Pact, is looking with favour on a defensive alliance with Pakistan.

Behind all these recent moves is the United States, with dollars and military equipment and her anti-Communist foreign policy. President Bayar of Turkey has been visiting the U.S.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A German tailor is in the news because he cut up his wife's nightdresses to make brassieres for his girl friend. The Brantford Expositor calls this an insupportable affront, but we think it may have been an attempt to bolster up an impossible situation.

The Canadian Press guesses that thirty million Valentine cards were sold in this country last week. We can believe it, considering the many school classes in which every youngster gives every other one in the room a Valentine, so that there can be no hard feelings; each of the 41 pupils gets 40 cards . . This communistic balance is sometimes democratically upset by some who sneak in a card they give themselves.

LATIN AMERICA

With Axes To Grind

By J. HALCRO FERGUSON

THE INTER-AMERICAN CONFERENCE, which starts in Caracas, Venezuela, this month, is now occupying the attention of the Foreign Ministries of the twenty-one American republics. The conference is the annual meeting of the members of the Organization of American States, a United Nations regional body which since 1948 has taken the place of the former—not very effective— Pan-American Union.

Like the gathering of its predecessors, the full-scale O. A. S. get-together suffer from being exploited by countries with axes to grind. Argentina has hitherto had quite a reputation in this respect. This year Guatemala is liable to be the most talkative—the Leftist Guatemalan Government has a number of bones to pick with the United States, which has officially accused it of fomenting Communism in the hemisphere, and one bone to pick with the United Kingdom (which of course will not be represented) over British Guiana. All this is likely to take up a lot of time and temper, but unlikely to achieve anything.

ON a more serious level, Brazil is the first country to announce preliminary discussions on the probable items on the agenda. These took place in Rio de Janeiro from January 26 to February 4, and were attended by the delegates to the conference and the heads of Brazilian diplomatic missions to the other twenty republics.

One of the topics discussed was the question of "colonies and territories occupied by foreign Powers" — a question brought up by recent events in British Guiana, and also covering British Honduras (claimed by Guatemala) and the Falkland Island (claimed by Argentina) as well as french and Dutch—but presumably not United States'—possessions. More time was taken up in discussing Communism in American countries, and plans for economic development, subjects which are also likely to be stressed by the U. S. delegates.

* * *

OTHER MATTERS which Brazil expects to find on the agenda are the possible creation of an Inter-American Court of Justice, questions of political exiles and refugees and the right of asylum, and the rights of the State in civil law cases.

In the meantime, Caracas is being spruced up to receive the delegates. It should be able to put on an impressive show: in the last few years the old colonial capital of Venezuela has, thanks to a booming oil economy, been transformed into an aspiring white city of skyscrapers and multi-laned highways. It is a pity that the host Government is not so new in Venezuelan experience, but instead a dictatorship backed by force and keeping thousands of political prisoners in gaol. It will make motions deploring colonial oppression in the neighbouring Guianas look a little specious.

* * *

ONE GREAT POWER with colonial and semi-colonial possessions in the Western Hemisphere is often politely forgotten in public by Latin Americans: The United States of America. Forgotten, that is, by everybody but the Communists.

Last month the Communist bloc in the Parliament of semi-autonomous Puerto Rico presented a motion demanding complete independence from the U.S. It was defeated by forty-seven votes to ten. Most Puerto Ricans are satisfied with their present national status, which allows them home rule and a national flag plus the advantages of American citizenship and almost unrestricted entry into the U.S. of Puerto Rican exports at favourable prices.

* * *

ELSEWHERE in the hemisphere, however, there are renewed rumblings of irritation at the Colossus of the North. The Mexicans are particularly irritated with Washington's decision to "open the frontier" and allow braceros, Mexican migratory workers, unrestricted entry into the States. These people, who cross the border in search of higher wages to take back home, have frequently been exploited and the fact that they undercut local labour has exacerbated anti-Mexican feeling in Texas and other border States.

President Ruiz Cortines of Mexico has been pressing for well-defined contracts before braceros are allowed to cross, and the presence of Mexican officials to see fair play when they were hired. The unilateral action of the U.S. Government has thus caused considerable resentment, which is widely reflected in the Mexican Press.

* * *

IN BOLIVIA a Hollywood film has been causing dormant anti-U.S. feelings to rise again. It is some years old, called "Crisis," and deals with the dilemma of a democratic U.S. doctor who is called on to save the life of a Latin-American dictator (the same theme, in a European setting, was used in the British film "State Secret"). When I saw the picture myself I took the mythical country involved to be a composite of Argentina and Guatemala. The Bolivians thought it came closer to home, and paraded the streets shouting "Down with Imperialism" and slogans in favour of the revolutionary Government. Latest reports indicated the picture was likely to be withdrawn in the interests of public order.

* * *

CHILEAN-ARGENTINE relations despite the much-publicised economic union, continue to be uneasy. On January 19, the Chileans alleged that Argentine gendarmerie (who police Argentina's federally administered national territories) had entered what is called Chile Chico, or Little Chile. This district is cut off from the rest of the country by the Andes Mountains, and borders on Argentine Patagonia. Chilian Carabineros were ordered to go and find out what was happening. As far as can be established, their Argentine confreres had prudently left by the time they arrived.

A few days later a caravan of some thirty cars drew up on the Argentine side of the frontier at Los Andes, where the principal road and rail routes cross the border. The occupants of the cars carried posters and oversize portraits of President Peron and his late wife, and demonstrated in favour of "Justicialism" (the Peron doctrine) in concert with Argentine "tourists" on the Chilean side. The carabineros were called and later reported laconically that they had "corrected the situation." The Chilean Ministry of the Interior has ordered an investigation.

By a coincidence, a new road-tunnel connecting the two countries was opened to traffic on the same day. At least it is difficult to demonstrate in tunnels.

* * *

IT LOOKS as if Victor Raul Haya de la Torre, the Peruvian political leader who has been cooped up in the Colombian Embassy in Lima, capital of Peru, ever since he sought asylum there over five years ago, may at last have a change of address.

On January 17 it was reported from Bogota, the Colombian capital, that the Inter-American Peace Commission (a standing committee of the Organization of American States) had discussed the matter with representatives of the two Governments, who had provisionally agreed to direct negotiations in a "neutral" capital, possibly Washington. The Peruvian Government welcomed this development with the dry comment that it should help to "save the problem arising from the implementation of the ruling of the International Court of Justice" — a ruling which had left five matters exactly where they were, and Haya exactly where he was.

ON January 29, Columbia replied officially to a Peruvian Note and agreed to direct negotiations, suggesting preliminary talks in Bogota. On the same day it was reported that Brazil was willing to receive Haya if he were given a safe conduct, and on the following day the National Assembly of Panama offered Panama City as a meeting place for the negotiators. In Argentina a Radical (Opposition) member of the Chamber of Deputies introduced a resolution expressing the view that Peru and Colombia should settle Haya's case in a manner which would "permit him to exercise his right of asylum."

In the meantime, the Columbians themselves, as champions of the right of asylum were embarrased by an odd incident in Bogota. Dr. Ernesto Ruiz Holguin, a lawyer and member of a prominent Columbian Conservative family, sought asylum in the Mexican Embassy, who asked for a safe conduct for him. This was refused by the Colombian Foreign Ministry on the grounds that there was no need to grant it: there were no charges against Dr. Ruiz Holguin and he was perfectly free to come out of the Embassy whenever he liked.

An American View: "IT'S THE LEAST WE CAN DO!"

Trieste: Uneasy Quiet

SINCE the riots of last November, in which six people were killed and more than a score injured, all has remained calm in Trieste, with irredentists and other nationalist elements unable to stir up more trouble; so that the Anglo-American Zone commander, Major-General Sir John Winterton, has now thought fit to restore the right of assembly to Trieste political Parties and associations; subject, of course, to permission being granted by the public security authorities on the merits of each case.

The Allied military court in the Free Territory has just sentenced the last batch of political rowdies for activities during the November riots. Youngsters accused of assault on British soldiers and military vehicles, as well as on the headquarters of the political Party advocating the complete independence of Trieste from both Italy and Yugoslavia, received sentences ranging from three to nine months — but were immediately freed because no previous criminal convictions were on the register against them.

The sensation of the trial was the admittance by some of the accused that Signor Bartoli, the irredentist Italian Mayor of Trieste, had instigated their illegal doings and given them money. A few weeks ago Bartoli sent Christmas cards to Major-General Winterton and other high Allied officials, picturing the city's largest church, St. Anthony's, with the bodies of those killed during the riots allegorically rising to Heaven. Trieste's Italian nationalists had accused British police officers of having provoked the riots by violating the right of asylum which this church accorded to rioting youngsters— who, after having fled from the police, entered the church and hurled previously-collected stones from within the temple. This forced the police to dislodge the rioters from the church, in the course of which action the first victims, among them a boy of sixteen, were killed just outside the church.

Although Trieste is quiet now, the problems that it poses continue to hang fire. Triestines now regard as dead the Allied declaration of October 8 last year on the immediate return of the Anglo-American Zone — Zone A — to Italy. They regard it as dead as its predecessor, the 1948 tripartite declaration: while this earlier document, signed by the United States, Britain and France, suggested the unconditional return to Italy of both the zones of Trieste, last October's Allied declaration more modestly announced the intention of returning the Anglo-American Zone to Italy, leaving the Yugoslavs with the far larger eastern Zone B, which they have occupied since the end of the war. In both cases, the facts proved stronger than the statesmen's decisions.

There is not much hope at present of bringing together Italy and Yugoslavia with a compromise solution. But genuine Triestines — that is, those Italians, Slavs, Austrians, Greeks and members of other nationalities born in this characteristically international territory — as against those purposefully settled here for political reasons, are now clamouring for at least temporary independence to tide the city over its present economic difficulties, allow emotions in both Italy and Yugoslavia to further subside, and relieve Trieste of foreign military occupation.

NEVER EXPLAIN

The wife of a sportsman prohibited her husband from backing horses, but he continued to gamble secretly.

One evening an old friend, unaware of the prohibition, dropped in and said to the punter: "Well, did you have any luck with Millicent yesterday" Instantly the wife shot her husband an ugly look and went out of the room.

"You've torn it", groaned the husband. "My wife thinks I don't bet. Now you'll have to square this with her."

In a few moments when the wife returned the friend said breezily: "I say, Mrs. Brown, I'm awfully sorry if I misled you just now. Millicent isn't a horse you know, she's a barmaid."

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

And Moses called all Israel, and said unto them, Hear, O Israel, the statutes and judgements which I speak in your ears this day, that ye may learn them and keep and do them. (Duet. 5:1.)

* * *

Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord: and thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might. And these words, which I command thee this day, shall be in thine heart; and thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up. (Duet. 6:4-7.)

And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people. And his fame went throughout all Syria: and they brought unto him all sick people that were taken with divers diseases and torments, and those which were possessed with devils, and those which were lunatick, and those that had the palsy; and he healed them. (Matt. 4:23, 24.)

Rod and Clocks Scientists

(Kimberley, B.C., Bulletin)

The eminent Irish physicist G. F. FitzGerald, who died in 1901 before he was 50, doubtless will always be best known as the discoverer of the "FitzGerald contradiction." He devised this hypothesis to explain a very puzzling result which the U.S. physicists A. A. Michelson and E. W. Morley had found in trying to measure the velocity of the earth relative to the ether. With an interferometer they had compared the time of travel of light over a fixed distance in the direction of the earth's motion and at right angles to this direction. It was expected that the optical lengths of these paths would be different, but no difference could be observed. This suggested that the ether was carried along with the earth—a supposition hard to reconcile with the theory of astronomical abberation and other known facts. Discussing this dilemma one day with Oliver Lodge in Lodge's study in Liverpool, FitzGerald suddenly remarked that it would be solved if one could assume that the apparatus automatically contracted in the direction of the earth's motion. Following up this idea, he calculated that the contraction must be measured by the ratio $\sqrt{1-v^2/c^2}$ to 1, with v representing the earth's velocity relative to the ether and c, the velocity of light.

The Irish mathematician Joseph Larmor shortly afterward pointed out that clocks, as well as rods, must be affected by motion; must run slower in the same ratio as the contradiction of length. Lamor's assertion has had a remarkable experimental verification recently in the observation of the rate of disintegration of mesons, the particles produced in cosmic rays. According to Lamor's theory, to a stationary observer the rate of disintegration of a meson should appear to be slower, the faster the meson is moving. This was found in 1941 to be actually the case.

The discoveries that the length of a rigid rod and the indications of a clock are not absolute properties of the rod and the indications of a clock are not absolute properties of the rod and the clock, but depend on their motion, made it possible to explain the failure of all the experiments that had been made for the purpose of determining the velocity of the eath relative to the ether. They also led directly to the modern theory of relativity, which may be said to have begun with the discovery of the FitzGerald contraction in 1892. Unhappily FitzGerald died in 1901, barely missing the momentous outcome of the revolution in the philosophy of physics which he had started.

Government Plans Revision Telephone Act

TORONTO (CP) — The motion proposing the address in reply to the speech from the throne, calling for a new deal in taxation fields, cleared the decks for action in the Ontario legislature.

The house today will discuss a bill that would revise the Telephone Act, which has remained untouched since 1918.

Under the bill an Ontario telephone authority to regulate and advise approximately 500 independent telephone companies operating in the province, would be set up.

H. A. Rogers, executive secretary of the Canadian Independent Telephone Association, is expected to head the three-man semi-judicial body.

In moving the address in reply to the speech from the throne, Arthur Jolley (PC—Niagara Falls) Tuesday urged a "new deck and a new deal" in provincial, municipal and federal taxation. He said enormous demands are made on municipal and provincial governments."

"Then. . . out of every Canadian tax dollar, more than 78 cents goes to Ottawa and the provinces and the municipalities have to struggle along on less than 22 cents. It just does not add up. . ."

Mr. Jolley, touching on a number of subjects in his 4,400-word address, warned that the danger of a power shortage in the province is not over.

He suggested careful consideration be given the subject of rent control "including provision for local tribunals which will be in a position to see that even-handed justice applies to landlord and tenant alike."

Mr. Jolley urged a general upward revision in salary schedules for the Ontario Provincial Police, and suggested the attorney-general give some thought to revision of the highway traffic patrol system.

He also suggested that the various level of governments "go easy" in taking over good farm land for various projects.

W. G. Noden (PC—Rainy River) in seconding Mr. Jolley's motion, suggested a study of salary schedules in government service. He said he believed the salaries of senior executives "are often out of line in many instances with their responsibilities. . . ."

Mr. Noden also suggested that the 75-mile highway from Shedandewan to Atikokan in northwestern Ontario should be extended in the near future to Fort Frances. He also urged construction of another international bridge at Rainy river to eliminate the present traffic congestion during the summer season.

Liberal Blames Labor Leaders For Current Unemployment

OTTAWA (CP)—A Quebec Liberal Tuesday blamed irresponsible labor leaders for much of the current unemployment.

If union leaders were more sensible, said Jean Francois Pouliot, Temiscouata, there would be fewer unemployed.

"Quite often the union leaders are most undemocratic," he added.

"They do not consult the members of their unions about the course to be followed. They impose their own views upon the men and the men have to suffer because of the decisions made by a small number of men who receive large salaries and who try to exploit human credulity to its limit."

Mr. Pouliot spoke during the second day of a Commons debate on unemployment that was started by two motions of want of confidence in the government. A Progressive Conservative motion called for a parliamentary committee to study the unemployment problem and recommend methods to meet it. A CCF motion called for direct government action.

Latest unemployment figures showed 524,000 persons looking for jobs through the National Employment Service at Jan. 21. The bureau of statistics estimated the number of jobless at 280,000 Jan. 23.

NORANDA STRIKE

Mr. Pouliot, noted for his outspoken comments and sharp wit, said the strike of miners at Noranda, Que., is due to labor leaders who "had to show their usefulness to the men."

"The only thing they have done is to cause them trouble and make them suffer for many months."

The company had been willing to give the men pay increases but the union had insisted on a check-off of union dues. The result was a strike which started last August and depleted miners' savings of the last several years.

The workers had been paid a "pittance" from union funds, he said. He hoped they would not have to pay it back.

TERMED "ANTI-LABOR"

Ross Thatcher (CCF — Moose Jaw-Lake Centre) criticized what he described as "the anti-labor tinge" of Mr. Pouliot's speech.

Mr. Thatcher, a Saskatchewan hardware dealer, said one of the major causes of unemployment is the government's "short-sighted and oppressive taxation policies."

William Blair (PC — Lanark) urged government help for two hard-pressed industries, the dairy and textile industries. One of every six Canadians depended on the dairy industry for his livelihood and the textile industry was responsible for about 100,000 jobs in Canada.

He said the government should provide a fair floor price for cheese to support that key sector of the dairy industry. The decline of farm incomes was a major factor in industrial unemployment because farmers were unable to maintain purchases of manufactured goods.

There was marked unemployment in the textile industry with no hope for the future. Manufacturers were being forced to compete with textiles from other countries with lower-paid workers.

"Canadian consumers have a right to get savings from fair competition, but they would not accept those small savings if they knew it meant a fellow Canadian lost his job."

Wallace Nesbitt (PC — Oxford) said the farm implement, textile and shipping industries are hit hardest by current unemployment.

The main cause of unemployment could be found in international economic problems, and the only way to deal with these problems was to have a parliamentary committee make a complete study of the situation as soon as possible. Then the government would have some basis for action.

Anti-Submarine Fleet Equipped With New Weapon

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's anti-submarine fleet now is being equipped with a new sub-killing weapon.

The weapon is an anti-submarine mortar known as a "squid." Chances of destroying enemy submarines with it are much greater than with earlier weapons such as the depth charge and hedgehog used during the Second World War.

The squids, usually fitted in pairs, are linked to an asdic set—a form of radar—through an electronic fire control system. The weapon is three-barrelled and can fire a pattern of large high-explosive projectiles ahead of the ship with extreme accuracy.

The projectiles can be set to explode at pre-determined depth.

The navy disclosed today it has taken delivery of the first squids to be manufactured in Canada.

MADE IN VANCOUVER

The new weapons are being fitted in frigates and other ships being converted for service as anti-submarine vessels. They will also be used in training establishments ashore.

It costs about $100,000 to equip a ship with the new weapon.

The squids are being produced in the Vancouver plant of Dominion Bridge Company. The electrical equipment used with them is being manufactured by the Canadian Westinghouse Company at Hamilton.

The squid is of British design and is being produced in Canada under licence from the British admiralty. Certain alterations have been made to facilitate production in this country. The barrels, formerly made from tubing, are being made in Canada from steel plate formed into two half-circles, welded together and machined.

This method, the navy said, results in a straighter and more accurate barrel. It was developed by the navy in co-operation with federal mines department.

Gilmour Church BYPU Holds Meeting

The bi-weekly meeting of Gilmour BYPU was held Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Edmison with 23 present.

The meeting opened with chairman Jim McMullen while Udell Darling read the opening verse. Mary Raddon read the scripture, while Marj. Edmison, Jim McMullen and Don Raddon led in prayer. Barbara Bulmer sang a solo entitled, "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer," Jerry Middeton conducted a Bible quiz.

The speaker for the evening was Burrit Mann, who spoke on John 5:24, "He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me hath everlasting life." To help illustrate this subject Burrit told of seeing the Passion play in Florida and also of attending a Negro church in North Carolina.

St. Peter's Gain Close One Over Pt. Perry

St. Peter's seniors yanked out a 73-69 cage win over Port Perry while the bantam Ports edged SPS boys 35-32 in their clash last night. The senior Saints led 17-7 at the quarter and 44-23 by half-time. Port Perry outscored them 27-18 in the lively third quarter and it was nip-and-tuck right to the final whistle before SPS got the verdict. Ryan with 13 points, Dave Quinlan with 11 and Dan Quinlan with 10 led in the first half for Saints, while Gibson and Owen had nine each for Ports. In the last half for SPS, Dave Quinlan had nine, Ryan eight and Dan Quinlan six; Gibson and Owen having 12 each and Cornish 11 for the losers. Saints were minus Galvin, O'Rourke and Hull in his exhibition tussle.

CLOSE ENOUGH

SPS bantams tied Port Perry 7-7 in the first quarter but were down 21-11 halfway through. They edged their rivals 9-8 in the third and made it hot to the finish before bowing in the exhibition. Poupe had 12 points for the winners, but Cornish sparked their attack in both halves for a total of 19 points. Seidel led the losers with 10 points, Mahoney getting nine, Nolan eight and Legros five.

On Thursday at four p.m., SPS juniors open their next group playoff series in Bowmanville, while Friday evening at 8:30 sees SPS seniors commence their next playoff round in Port Hope.

Havelock Boys Get 9-0 Playoff Verdict

HAVELOCK (ENS)—Havelock defeated Wellington by a score of 9-0 Tuesday night at the local arena in first playoffs in the second series bantam OMHA, total goals to count.

Five penalties were handed out to Wellington and four to Havelock by Referees Frank Brimley and Harold Hunter. Despite this it was a fast, clean game.

The Havelock line of B. Watson, C. Chase, and B. McLaughlin scored the most goals for their team. MacMillan and Scott also played a solid game on defence. Clifford Chase was the high scorer of the evening, with three goals and an assist to his credit. It was the third shutout of the season for Havelock's goalie Garry Whitney.

Havelock — Goal, Garry Whitney; defence, Bob MacMillan, Reg Scott; centre, Cliff Chase; wings, B. Watson, B. McLaughlin; alternates, B. Rutherford, Jim Watson, Scott Little D. Brunton Don Wilde, B. Toms.

Wellington— Goal, Leslie Pendleton; defence, B. Lloyd, Neil Denard; centre, W. Channell; wings, D. Taylor, Donald Channell; alternates, D. Hicks, D. Yourt, M. Wandt, P. Welsh, G. O'Neil, R. Proctor.

AT LAST—Roy Campanella, Brookly Dodger catcher, let out a big sigh as he stands on scales at Hot Springs, Ark. Campy was overjoyed to find that he weighed 197 pounds. This was the first time he had been under 200 pounds in 10 years.

Marmora Boxer Provided Thrills In Last Fight

MARMORA (ENS). — A Marmora student at Queen's fighting his last intercollegiate fight provided the best match of the evening in a Queen's-University of Toronto tournament Saturday.

Bob Sweet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sweet, graduated from Marmora schools to go on to Queen's. He will graduate this spring with a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering.

Champion at Queens in the 135-pound class for three years, Sweet fought Saturday at 140 pounds against Bill Clarke Clarke, Varsity rookie boxer.

Bob Sweet

The fight was fierce from the start with Clarke pressing in to land some telling blows on the infighting. But Sweet managed to keep Clarke under control and with a looping right that started at the floor knocked Clarke to the floor. It was this knockdown that clinched the decision for Sweet.

While at Queen's, Sweet has not allowed boxing to interfere with his studies. Always near the top of his class, he last year received a scholarship in hydraulics.

$25-A-Plate Sports Dinner Should Yield Charity $75,000

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Three years ago, Ontario sports reporters hit on the idea of a $10-a-plate dinner to help promote the sale of Easter seals. Before the plan jelled, the ante was raised to $25 a plate with the double-barrelled purpose of helping the Ontario Society for Crippled Children and publicizing the seals campaign.

It was a rich bonanza and today, on the eve of the third annual dinner, it is estimated the society will receive nearly $75,000 from the feasts.

The dinners, staged by the Ontario Sports Writers' and Sportscasters Association, now is an annual gathering for hand-picked world-known athletes and a must for Ontario sportsmen.

The whole affair is underwritten by "angels" who pick up the travelling and appearance-fee tabs for some of the sports greats, the food and other expenses connected with the dinner.

A SELL-OUT

Tickets for Thursday night's dinner went on sale a couple of months ago and a sell-out was assured within days.

It has been the same story since the inaugural dinner in 1952 when a gathering of 443 paid $10,700. In 1953, proceeds were $12,700 from a 600 guest list and this year more than 800 persons will pay a total of about $20,000. Proceeds of the 1953 dinner were matched by an anonymous Toronto financier.

The association, only one of its kind in Canada, was organized on a rock pile at French river in northern Ontario in 1949 after a week-end of fishing and golfing by a few sports writers and sportscasters.

This year, Tommy Burns, Canadian-born world heavyweight boxing champion, will rub shoulders with jockey Earl Sande, immortalized by the late Damon Runyon with the line: "Never a handy guy like Sande, booting them babies home"

Other greats include baseball's Tris Speaker and Lefty Gomez, hockey's Cyclone Taylor, Eddie Shore and the 1932-33 Canadian Press all-star National Hockey League team, Detroit Lions' Leon Hart of the National Football League and Herman Hickman, former football coach, cycling's Torchy Peden, one of the greatest Canada has produced, and many others

OTHER GUESTS

Others goggled by guests in 1952 and 1953 included: Joe Louis, Jack Dempsey, Rocky Marciano; Toronto's Lionel Conacher and the late Jim Thorpe, the two outstanding all-round athletes of the half-century; billiards champion Willie Hoppe; hockey's Ching Johnson, Joe Malone, Newsy Lalonde, Frank Nighbor and the CP all-star NHL teams of 1930-31 and 1931-32; golfers Sandy Somerville, only Canadian to win the U.S. amateur title, Horton Smith and Marlene Stewart, and three diamond sculls winners, Bobby Pearce, Jack Guest and Joe Wright.

The men mainly responsible for organization of the dinners include three Toronto sports editors—Milt Dunnell of the Star, Jim Vipond of the Globe and Mail and Bobby Hewitson of the Telegram; sportscasters Rex Stimers of radio station CKTB St. Catharines, Ont., and Wes McKnight of radio station CFRB Toronto; Jack Berry, former sports editor and now in public relations in Toronto, and Fraser MacDougall of The Canadian Press, Toronto.

Mills Brothers To Put Title On Line Tonight

Word was received this morning that the Mills Brothers, alias Murder, Inc., will put their Canadian Open tag team wrestling championship (regained by them last Thursday at Maple Leaf Gardens) on the line in the feature mat event at the Brock tonight. Their opponents will be the team of Fred Atkins and Hombre Montana. One thing about it, the miserable Mills sure didn't pick any soft spot in meeting such a formidable pair as Montana and Atkins for the title.

Al Mills

Of course, the Mills' boast is: "Nobody can beat us!" Montana's viewpoint is: "With such a rugged partner as Atkins we stand a better chance of whipping the Mills".

In the semi-final, Pat Flanagan will meet Johnny Barend in what should be a mat classic.

Earl McCready will wrestle Ramon Cernandos, of Spain, in the first match.

McCartney Rink Defeated In Ont. Bonspiel

TORONTO (CP)—There were 16 rinks left in the running for the premier trophy as curlers came out of the third round in the second day of the Ontario bonspiel Tuesday.

Of the rinks which will enter fourth-round top prize in this 27th annual bonspiel, 11 came from Toronto. Each of the five Toronto clubs is represented.

Toronto Granites and High Park each have three entries into the fourth round. The Royal Canadian Club and Torontos supply two apiece and the remaining one comes from Civil Service.

Gerve Meech, winner of last year's Royal York trophy, fought a hard battle to stay in the fray. In third-round playoffs he defeated Dr. M. G. McCartney of Peterborough 6-5 to become the only 1953 trophy winner with a chance of retaining the cup.

Unionville, Chatham, Parry Sound, Brantford and Detroit each have one rink remaining in the primary vent.

OUT-OF-TOWN RINKS

Out-of-town rinks took the honors in the second round of the Birks trophy—second event of the bonspiel. Out of 23 entries visiting foursomes gained 12 victories. Toronto, who started with nine rinks, came out with four winners.

The 12 out-of-town rinks in the Birks trophy chase are from Haileybury, Agincourt, Churchill, Brampton, Bradford, Kingston, Huntsville, Oshawa, Fenelon Falls, London and two from Ayr.

Two of the home entries remaining are from the Royal Canadian Club and one apiece from Torontos and Granites.

Thirty-two rinks are left after the first round of the Selberling event, of which 10 are from Toronto.

Of the 71 games played in the second day of the bonspiel, six required extra ends for decisions. One extra end was played in the third round for the premier trophy, two in the second round of the Birks and two in the first round of the North American Life event. Fifteen games, including four extra-end games, were decided by one shot and 18, including two extra-end games, were won by two shots.

STOPPED PLAY

The bonspiel stopped play Tuesday night to hold its annual banquet which was attended by close to 600 curlers and friends.

Fred J. Lucas, representing the Dominion Curling Association, addressed the gathering and short addresses were made by R. B. Ness of Kingston, president of the Ontario Curling Association, Gilbert Layton of Montreal St. Georges, speaking on behalf of sister associations, and John R. MacFarlane of St. Paul, who spoke on behalf of visiting United States curlers.

A telegram from Premier Leslie Frost was read by chairman Alex Dow.

Five full draws—125 games—will be played today and by midnight the Royal York and Birks trophies will be down to semi-finals. All competitions will be started except the grand aggregate and the Monarch Knitting. Seiberling will be reduced to 8 rinks and North American Life to 16.

Seagram competitors will play a full round and a start will be made on the Parker Pen event.

Marmora Captures First Midget Game

MARMORA (ENS). — Wellington midget hockey team encountered Marmora here on Tuesday evening in the third round of the OMHA playoffs, and lost by the narrow score of 1-0.

It was the first of home and home games wherein goals count, the return fixture being in the Prince Edward town on Saturday evening.

The only goal of the game was scored by Darrah on assists by brothers J. and H. Brooks at 18:35 in the third period, when the tightness of both defences and the sterling play of the goalies made the prospect of a score remote. It was Prentice's second shutout of the season, and to acquire it, he made some great saves. O'Halloran in the Wellington goal had no chance with the shot which baffled him. The teams:

Marmora — Goal, Prentice; defence, Brady, Bell; centre, H. Brooks; wings, J. Brooks, Darrah; alternates, Ellis, Clemens, Ogilvie, Price, Walker, Bedore, Terrion, Moloney; spare goalie, Reynolds.

Wellington — Goal, O'Halloran; defence, McKenzie, Easton; centre, Denard; wings, Morden, J. Guernsey; alternates, Bush, Purtelle, McConkey, Foster, A. Guernsey, Heffernan, Platt, Houlding.

Referees——T. Cousins, Deloro; J. Ogilvie, Wellington.

FIRST PERIOD

No score.
No penalties.

SECOND PERIOD

No score.
Penalties—McKenzie, Brady.

THIRD PERIOD

Marmora—Darrah (J. Brooks, H. Brooks) 18:35
Penalties—Brady, McKenzie, McConkey.

Alouettes Win 4-2 Against Beavers

ST. JEROME, Que. (CP) — St. Jerome Alouettes chalked up a 4-2 victory over Ste. Therese Beavers Tuesday night to earn a 2-2 tie in the Quebec Provincial Hockey League semi-final series.

Georges Ouellette, Jean-Guy Renaud, Frank Porteous and George Jones scored for the Alouettes, while Mel Read and Peanut Richard connected for the Beavers.

Winner of the best-of-seven series enters the finals against Cornwall Colts, awarded a bye when St. Vincent de Paul elected not to contest the semi-finals.

NOSE DIVE—Justa Reward was somewhat less charitable than his name when he stumbled coming out of the gate at Hialeah and flipped Lewis Williams, while biting the dirt. The horse got up to run. Williams, unhurt, watched from the sideline.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Despite rough February weather, the OLA ups and sends an early notice of the annual meeting in Toronto's Royal York Hotel on April 3. Amendments to the constitution and bylaws must be filed with the secretary in writing at least 20 days before the meeting. Nominations for office must be in no later than 10 days ere the huddle. The Petes' Trailermen executive will be meeting before the end of this month to clean up a lot of business and make a few appointments, notably those of coach and manager. Also, the OLA senior "A" clubs were to hold a meeting during February to get a line on prospects and entries for the 1954 season. It's not too early at all to re-organize.

Though an intermediate "B" team, Orono wound up the OHA lakeshore loop in first place with 33 points for 28 games. Port Hope headed the "A" squads with 29, Cobourg got 28, Lindsay 26 and Lakefield 24. Orono now hits into "B" playdowns against Kingston Army. The "A" group semi-finals, best-of-five affairs, pit Port Hope against the Lakefield Lumbermen, as Cobourg tackles Lindsay. The odd game for home ice, if necessary, will go to Port Hope and Cobourg. Finals are four out of seven games, winner proceeding into provincial playdowns. Word from Port Hope is that Lakefield Lumbermen will open that sawoff series in Port Hope this Friday. No mention of the second game as yet. If the ice goes shortly in Lakefield, the club will play home games here.

Gary Leads In Sniping

List of scoring by the Junior Petes is in tonight, taken from puck summaries of their 24 OHA junior "B" group scheduled games ere they went into playoffs 'gainst Port Perry. Topping the list is Gary Kearns with 41 points in the 19 tussles he played. He had 23 goals and led in assists with 16. Gord Coyle is next with 38 points, having most goals with a neat output of 25. Others with 20 or more points in loop action are Paul Doris, Jim Morrow, Kevin Heffernan, Bob Gardner, Bud McDougall, Bill Twist and Larry Ball. Tops among defencemen is Jerry Frizzelle. The Creighton crew did well after a doubtful start, going on to win 19 of 24 games to finish in top spot last week. But they've got to dig now in group finals against the scrappy Port Perry squad.

* * * * * * *

Our senior "B" Petes are nearing the end of the long schedule trail. They have but four frays left. Orillia is here Friday, Petes go to Bowmanville to meet Oshawa next night, Kingston ends it up this way Feb. 26 and Petes are in the Limestone City Feb. 27 to finish the schedule. Group semi-finals go the following week. Top team plays off with the No. 4 finisher, as No. 2 meets No. 3 Best-of-five series, we understand, though the Quinte columnist says if time permits they may be best-of-seven sets, finals being the same. Petes and Oshawa have been having quite a dog-fight in recent weeks for sole possession of first place. And upsets have occurred all around the loop. A fine group race over the past four months.

* * * * * * *

Such An Odd Prediction

George Carver of Bella Villa comments on senior "B" group playoffs: "This is our limb-crawling prediction. The senior group finals will be between Oshawa and Orillia, with the latter taking the honors after a seven-game derby. Furthermore, no matter which team wins, it will ultimately skate home with the OHA championship. Mr. Rodden has been flaunting statistics by the hundreds, glorifying the teams which score more goals away and at home, and all that stuff. All the good it does outside of record keepers is fill newspaper space. When the playoffs start, kiddies, it is a new league. The four teams involved will be different squads when the playoff chips are down." Yeah, the champs come through at money time. Meaning the Petes.

* * * * * * *

Two senior "B" games were slated for last gloaming but only one was played. The Orillia busload of players, en route to an engagement with Oshawa at Bowmanville, became stuck somewhere in a snowbank and the tilt had to be postponed. Meantime, Kingston Goodyears — who may need retreading now — no doubt wish that they had missed the melee at Belleville as the Memos trimmed them 10-3. The win kept alive the Memo's mathematical chance of overhauling either Kingston or Orillia for a playoff slot, both Oshawa and the Petes having money berths clinched. They have 40 points each, K's and Pontiacs 35 each, and Belleville (with three frays left to play) have 30. Friday fixtures bring Orillia here, and Oshawa to Kingston.

Test Gets Lead In YMCA Basketball Loop

In YMCA house league basketball contests last night, under direction of Fraser Wade, the Test team trimmed Orphans 60-37, while Apprentices romped to a 41-21 victory against Trojans. Test now lead the league with six wins and one loss for 12 points. Orphans having four and three for eight, Apprentices three and three for six, and Trojans no wins in six starts. Games next Tuesday: Test vs. Trojans, Orphans vs. Apprentices.

Haney tallied 19 points for Test, with Webb and Cook clicking for 15 each, as Spragge counted six, and Junkey five. Scoreless were Keeler and Karras. Best for Orphans was Killen with 15 and Jamieson with 12. Fowler and Powers got four apiece. Butcher had two. Others in the lineup were Fell, Walks and Cranfield.

Ouellette topped Apprentices with 16 points, Hurle notching 11, Hempstead eight and Trimm six, Smith being held out. For Trojans, Noble notched 10, Wood and Heffernan four each, Pearton three, and Killen none.

Offered Job As Coach Of Hamilton Tigers

HAMILTON (CP)—Merv McKenzie, Ontario athletic commissioner, has been offered the job as coach of Hamilton Tigers of the Ontario Lacrosse Association, it was announced Tuesday.

Lefty Jordan, manager of the Tigers, said he has not yet received a reply from McKenzie. Arnold Smith, last year's playing coach, said he has decided to concentrate on business this year.

Kearns On Top Of Juniors With 41 Points

Gary Kearns, smart little forward for the Junior Petes, who finished atop their OHA junior "B" group schedule last week, easily led his team in scoring with a total of 41 points. In the 19 league games he played, Kearns counted 23 goals and had 18 assists, to average a little better than two points a game during the regular season. The Junior Petes presently are in group finals with Port Perry.

Gord Coyle is second high scorer for Red Creighton's crew with 25 goals and 13 assists for a total of 38 points. Paul Doris is also well up there with 17 and 15 for 32 points. Leading defencemen in scoring is Jerry Frizzelle with 18 points. Players who took part in three or less game aren't shown, these being Murphy, Kane, Terry, Doris, Ruttan, Brooks and Laing. Coach Convinced NHL Tougher Than 12 Years Ago

By AL COLLETTI, Canadian Press Staff Writer

After five weeks of coaching the Rangers, Murray Muzz Patrick is convinced that the National Hockey League is a lot tougher and faster than when he was a good Ranger defenceman a dozen or so years ago. There is much more forechecking and it has become more of an art than when he was playing with the great Patrick teams of 1939-40-41, Muzz says. "Players today can pass and receive and stickhandle as well as anybody ever could—but they never get a chance for fancy passwork with the close checking. The old teams wouldn't have been able to do it with some one hanging on their necks all the time either."

Because of the closeness of the play and the larger squads, the lines spend less time on the ice. "But it all adds up to a faster, more interesting game—as far as I am concerned—and a tougher one," Patrick concludes.

IMPORTANT GAME

The big guy isn't underrating the situation a bit as the Rangers face brother Lynn's Boston Bruins in a game Muzz says is "the biggest of the year."

It could be the turning point in New York's hopes of reaching the playoffs for the first time since 1950.

Since New Year's the Rangers have won 11 of 19 games with two ties, better than par for the course. But the club still finds itself five points behind the fourth - place Bruins.

For this one, the Rangers are not standing pat. They have called up two Western Hockey League rookies from their Saskatoon farm, Vic Howe and Aggie Kukulowicz, who will play on a line with their former coach, Doug Bentley.

Meanwhile, Camille Henry and Aldo Guidolin have been benched to make room for the rookies.

HAD GOOD WEEK-END

The Bruins have suddenly come to life with weekend victories and seven points out of a possible 10 in their last five games.

To make things tougher, the Bruins traded penalty-killer Jerry Toppazzini to Chicago Tuesday for Gus Bodnar, a player Patrick says is "real smart."

In 11 previous meetings, the Rangers have a 6-5 edge.

New York has one game in hand and the schedule down the stretch is in their favor. Including tonight's affair, the Rangers have 15 to play—eight at home. The Bruins have 14—six at home.

In the only other game tonight the red-hot Detroit Red Wings meet Toronto Maple Leafs, a club the NHL champions have had trouble with all season.

Detroit has won four, lost three and tied three against Toronto, but in their last five meetings with the Leafs the Red Wings have been able to salvage only one win and a tie.

Lyndhursts Win Nine Games In World Hockey

KREFELD, Germany (CP) — Toronto Lyndhursts made it nine victories in a row Tuesday night with a 10-0 rout of Krefeld before 7,000 fans.

Lyndhursts, Canada's entry in the world hockey championships starting in Stockholm Feb. 26, have lost only one game since beginning their European exhibition tour four weeks ago. The loss was the first game in Paris against a team of Canadians from the English leagues.

Centre Norm Grey and left-winger Earl Clements led Lyndhursts' scoring with one goal each in both the first and third periods. Left-winger John Petro and right-winger Moe Galand caged one each in the first.

In the third period, Heinz Wacker, a member of the German team, unintentionally gave the Canadians a bonus goal by kicking the puck past the Krefeld goalie. Lyndhurst centre Bob Kennedy and right-wingers Vic Sluce and John Scott each scored once in the finale.

The Lyndhursts move on to Cologne to seek their fourth win in Germany Thursday.

Red Line Reintroduced In English Hockey

LONDON (CP)—The British Ice Hockey Association has reintroduced the red line to English hockey.

The association, which dropped the red line in the 1951-52 season to encourage stick-handling and "pretty" hockey in general, decided to bring it back on the advice of rink management in the five-team English National Hockey League. Management also suggested that bodychecking be permitted only behind the defending blue line—and not behind the red line as in Canada and elsewhere.

Coaches commented that they expect play to speed up as a result of the change.

Golf Team Changes

TORONTO (CP) — A three-man executive meeting of the Ontario Golf Association Tuesday changed the method by which members of the Ontario Willingdon golf team are chosen.

The four-man team previously was chosen from a number of different tournaments. Teams now will be made up of the winner of the Ontario amateur tournament and the amateurs posting the best three scores in the Ontario Open.

Don Bowl Signs NFL Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington Redskins today snatched Don Bowl away from a prospective football job in Canada and signed him to a two-year contract in the National Football League.

Bowl, a tackle from Nebraska, was one of the best rookies in the NFL last season. Assistant coach Herman Ball, who reported Bowl's signing, said the 265-pound tackle was last season's "rookie of the year."

Bowl was closely associated with Larry Siemering, who left as the Redskins' backfield coach to take a job as head coach at Calgary in the Western Interprovincial Football Union. It had been reported that Siemering was trying to line up Bowl and Eddie Lebaron, who formerly played under Siemering, to lucrative Canadian contracts.

Ball said it was "kind of unusual" to sign a player to a two-year contract with the Redskins, but noted that Washington wanted to make sure that he continued playing in the United States.

Top Positions Remain Unchanged In Que. League

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The top four teams in the Quebec Hockey League clashed Tuesday but the results left the standing unchanged.

Montreal Royals edged Ottawa Senators 4-3, leaving the victors two points ahead of second-place Chicoutimi Sagueneens who walloped Valleyfield Braves 6-3. Ottawa is in third spot, four points behind Chicoutimi and six ahead of Valleyfield.

Edie Litzenberger paced Royals attack at Montreal with a pair of goals. Dick Gamble and Glen Harmon scored one apiece. Two Ottawa tallies went to Howie Riopelle and one to Leo Gravelle.

At Valleyfield, Lou Smrke scored twice for Sagueneens. Chicoutimi singletons were registered by Pete Tkachuk, George Roy, Bucky Buchanan, and Dewar Thomson. Marius Groleau, Kitoute Joannette and Andre Corriveau were the Valleyfield marksmen.

Winnipeg Curling Rink To Be Strong Contender

By AL VICKERY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP) — A city rink will represent Manitoba for the first time at the Feb. 22-25 Canadian high school curling championships at Hamilton.

Gene Walker and his Gordon Bell School rink broke the long string of rural victories during the Christmas holidays by defeating Grant Bailey's foursome from Portage La Prairie, 11-7, in a sudden-death final.

Officials handling the week-long Manitoba 'spiel are convinced the Walker rink will give the province —long recognized as the hotbed of curling—its strongest representation yet.

CLEVER PLAYERS

Although it is only the first year the rink has played together as a unit, each member has much experience, with lead Jimmy Ursel the latest recruit. The 17-year-old ycungster joined Walker this season after skipping his own rink last year.

Third Larry Morison has been with Walker three years; second Mitchell (Mitch) Czaja, two.

Walker, now 18—the same age as his second and third men—has been throwing rocks since he was 11 and has participated in competitive play for six years. A member of the famous Strathcona Club, which boasts of its three-time Canadian winner Ken Watson, Walker has won the club's junior title twice and last year reached the fours of a major event in the Manitoba bonspiel, largest in the world.

After two unsuccessful tries as a skip in the provincial high school tournament, Walker believes the early start this year due to artificial ice at the Strathcona was instrumental in his winning the provincial title.

PRACTICE PAYS OFF

"This is the first year my rink has really been prepared," he said. "We've never had enough curling before the 'spiel before."

Gne also takes in other sports—basketball, rugby, baseball, hockey and track—but still has time for his studies.

Walker claims his rink is equally as good at the draw and knockout game.

"We never stick to one style. It depends on the circumstances," he said.

Gene calls the shots for the rink, although he often huddles with Morison or the rest of the rink on a tough decision.

Morison, one of the best junior third men in the game, has been curling seriously the last four years. He has skipped his own rink in the Gordon Bell bonspiel for the last two years, but joined Walker in provincial play and in the Strathcona Club championships. He also plays in various other sports, but spends much of his time studying to enter engineering when he graduates next fall.

Lanky Mitch Czaja, who gives the rink much height as he and his skip stand at six feet two inches, is better known to Winnipeggers as a member of the Winnipeg Light Infantry basketball squad, Canadian champions last year. Also interested in soccer, baseball, rugby, hockey and track, Mitch hopes to take engineering at the University of Manitoba next term.

Ursel, the baby of the rink and only rural member, said curling is his main interest. Hailing from Glenella, Man., 36 miles northwest of Neepawa, Jimmy is taking a commercial course, but has no immediate plans for the future.

Here And There In Sports

U. S. PLAYER HAPPY

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Sam Etcheverry, quarterback of Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four Union, says Canadian football has given overlooked American players a chance to earn a living in the sport.

"Most of us weren't chosen by the National Football League after graduation from college," he said in an interview. "We desired to earn a little money from our talents on the gridiron and Canada beckoned."

If there is any difference of opinion over players between the Canadian Rugby Union and the NFL, Etcheverry places the blame on contract jumping rather than the occasional bonus pick lured north.

"It's this factor of established NFL stars leaving for Canada, not the occasional bonus boy like Billy Vessels, which irks NFL ones," he said.

The 180-pound passing star spends the off season in Albuquerque in his father-in-law's sporting goods firm.

He said only about 10 of the 76 Americans in Canadian football were looked at by the NFL.

"The rest of us didn't even make the 30th round of the pro draft," he said.

"Even if I were offered an NFL contract today, I think I'd stay in Canada," he said. "They've been good to us who were overlooked by the NFL."

MOOT PENSION CHANGES

NEW YORK (AP)—A joint committee of major league owners and players agreed Tuesday to recommend changes in the players' pension plan which would increase the plan's funds from $450,000 to about $2,000,000 a year.

The group also suggested that jurisdiction over these funds be placed in the hands of a committee of two owners and two player representatives with "full and complete control."

The pension now is operated by a four-man committee of owners and players and the baseball commissioner, Ford Frick. Final decisions must go before baseball's executive council, consisting entirely of owners.

Under the proposed new plan, the commissioner would have no say in the pension plan and the operation would be in the hands of the owner-player committee, selected by their respective groups.

The recommendations must go before the owners and players for ratification.

HAZELL SCORES EASY WIN

LONDON (AP)—Gordon Hazell, 25-year-old challenger for Randy Turpin's British middleweight crown, outpunched Jean Corhay, 23-year-old slugger from Brussels, to score a convincing decision in a 10-round middleweight fight at Harringay Arena Tuesday night.

Hazell weighed 164¾, Corhay 164½.

Briton Willing To Resign Job To Get To Vancouver For British Empire Games

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, (CP) — James Henry Peters, a thin, incredible Englishman, says his "whole life" revolves around getting to Vancouver this summer for the British Empire Games.

"I'll forfeit my pay to get there, or even resign my job," says Peters, on his record one of the world's great distance runners, perhaps one of the all-time greats.

Here are some of the things that are incredible about this master marathoner:

He trains like a commando. This season, at 35, plans to cover more than 5,000 practice miles, running twice a day through the monotony of putting one foot after another sometimes "bores me to tears."

QUICK SUCCESS

His record is unusual. He ran his first marathon only three years ago, and went straight to the top, outclassing everybody except Czechoslovakia's mighty Emil Zatopek. Though there are no official marathon records, Peters is credited with six of the 12 best times for the 26-odd miles, including the two fastest.

He is an "emotional" athlete, rejecting conventional methods. He can't pace himself at the start, so he goes "whamming off like a maniac," running five-minute miles till he is far in front, then trusting to sheer guts and stamina to keep him going to the end.

In those lung-testing last laps, he keeps telling himself:

"This is my last race. I'm through with this lark. Just let me finish this time and I'll pack up the foolishness. It isn't worth it."

Peters is practically a sure thing to represent England at Vancouver. If he doesn't make the team he'll quit running, because it would inevitably mean he'd passed his peak. If he does go, he'll run both in the marathon and in the six-mile event. He predicts records will be set in both races.

EYE ON OLYMPICS

His present training schedule is geared to take in both the Empire games and the European championships at Bern, Switzerland, about a month later, but it is the Canadian title he really wants. After that, he hopes for another crack at Zatopek in the 1956 Olympics.

ENGLISH RUNNER — Jim Peters, 35, England's top distance runner, is putting in more than 100 miles a week in preparation for the British Empire Games at Vancouver this summer. He says he'll forfeit his pay or give up his optician's job if necessary to make the trip. Peters, from Chadwell Heath, Essex, is credited with six of the 12 fastest times for the marathon distance of 26 miles, 385 yards, including the two best times.—(CP Photo).

Peters wilted against Zatopek at Helsinki in 1952 in the one bad race he has ever run. Since then he has twice eclipsed Zatopek's Olympic time, his best mark being two hours, 18 minutes and 34 seconds. This was also achieved in Finland and was five minutes faster than the Czech's time—but he admits that doesn't necessarily mean he would beat Zatopek in a rematch.

The Olympic flame of amateurism burns brightly in Peters. Born in London's drab east end, a railway foreman's son, he works a 5½-day week as an optician at less than £1,000 a year, spends 3½ hours daily travelling to and from work and does his running in his spare time.

"I force myself to keep on running, even in this cold weather," he said during a break for tea at his office in Mitcham, Surrey. "If I don't feel up to it my wife makes me go. She knows I'll be bad-tempered if I don't stick to my schedule."

ON BORROWED GEAR

His wife Frieda and six-year-old son Robin see little of the man who started serious running in 1946 on a pair of borrowed spikes.

"We've been married 14 years," he said. "Frieda knows running is part of my life. Anyway she knows she's not going to get me to come home Saturday afternoon —if it wasn't running it would be football."

Even in cold weather Peters goes outdoors in nothing more elaborate than a track suit. Occasionally, he wishes life were a little softer.

"You know, we don't get any help at all. Athletes like Zatopek, on the other hand—well, I imagine he's a pretty pampered fellow."

This feeling of scanty justice probably lay behind a speech Peters made to a gathering of sport writers.

"Please don't degrade us," he said. "You can count on one thing—we'll train till our eyeballs fall out."

Six Points In Six Games To Give OHA Title To Mercurys

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Six points in their six remaining games will give Owen Sound Mercurys another Ontario Hockey Association Senior A title.

Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen, who are in second place in the league standings and who have been sharing first place on and off with the Mercurys all year, are the only ones who can possibly catch Owen Sound for the OHA championship. And now, even the Dutchmen appear to be falling behind.

Owen Sound has a three-point lead over the Dutchmen and also has two games in hand. Kitchener have only four games remaining. The tie-up between the two teams is the fact Owen Sound won the league championship last season. But the Dutchmen, who finished third last year, went on to win the Allan Cup, symbol of Canada's senior hockey championship.

The Dutchmen, who have a hard time beating Owen Sound any time were helpless Tuesday night when they dressed only 11 players in Owen Sound. The Mercurys ran away with an 8-2 victory.

In Niagara Falls, the last place Cataracts were defeated by Stratford Indians 5-2 and in Windsor the Bulldogs dropped Chatham Maroons 6-2.

PLAYERS STORM-BOUND

At Owen Sound, five Kitchener players who commute from Toronto were stranded by the storm and couldn't make the game.

Herb Carnegie and Roy Leckie scored two each for the Mercs with Bill McComb, Buck Forslund, John Shedden and Bill Hagen scoring the others. Bob Schnurr and Don Bauer tallied for Kitchener.

Windsor pulled to within one point of the third-place Hamilton Tigers by defeating Chatham.

Wally Kullman, with two goals and two assists, all in the first period, led the Bulldogs. Lyle Wiseman, Frank Bathgate, Bob Hayes and Clarence Jaster were the other Windsor scorers. Paul Oliver and Bill Lee counted for the sixth-place Maroons.

Stratford's win over Niagara Falls gave the Indians their eighth victory in nine games. Herve Dejordy was the only two-goal man in the game. Other marksmen for Stratford were Mickey Roth, Ron Ingram and George Aitken. Ron Castelane and Sandy Air counted for Niagara Falls.

Hamilton is at Chatham tonight.

BREAKS WORLD MARK

MELBOURNE (AP)—Herb McKenley of Jamaica, running into a strong head wind, broke an 80-year-old professional world record Tuesday night when he ran a quarter-mile in 47.3 seconds.

The previous record was established in 1874 by Tom Malone of Ireland.

McKenley, who holds the world amateur record at 46 seconds, took the lead a furlong from the finish and won easing up.

Remember When—

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Jack Britton, then 37 years old with a record of 19 years in the ring, defended his world welterweight title with a creditable draw against 19-year-old Dave Shade at New York, 32 years ago tonight. A few months later Britton lost the title on a decision to Mickey Walker.

KEEPS CHAMPIONSHIP

LONDON (AP) — Jean Sneyers of Belgium retained his European featherweight boxing title Tuesday night, outpointing British challenger Sammy McCarthy in a 15-round bout. Sneyers weighed 125½ and McCarthy 125¼.

Toronto Couple Win Skating Title

OSLO, Norway (CP) — A half-frozen Toronto couple Tuesday won the world pairs figure-skating championship for Canada with a daring exhibition of jumps and lifts.

Frances Dafoe and Norris Bowden, 24 and 27 respectively, thrilled a small crowd at Oslo's unroofed Jordal Rink with an impressive number of jumps and lifts, climaxed by Bowden tossing his partner up to a sitting position on his right shoulder, then letting her slide headlong down to land on the ice in a mad spin.

The Toronto pair were far in front of the field with 11,014 points. The Swiss team of Michael and Sylvia Grandjean was second with 10.643, followed by Austria's Kurt Oppelt and Sissy Schwartz with 10.486. American duos took fourth and fifth spots.

After their victory the Toronto skaters both commented on the cold. Miss Dafoe said her hands were "frozen stiff" and Bowden said "it was colder than we are used to during competitions."

Their performance, ranging from dancing to serious classics, included some new manoeuvres as well, set off by Miss Dafoe's bright green costume.

After the event, the Canadian winners were presented with a blue and silver brooch on a large silk sash, also in blue and silver, to represent the colors of Oslo's coat-of-arms.

The 114-pound, brown-haired Miss Dafoe, daughter of a Toronto physician, teamed up with Bowden, bespectacled commerce graduate of the University of Toronto, for the fifth season. Last year they were second in the world championships at Davos, Switzerland, and won the Canadian and North American championships. They were fifth in the 1952 Oslo Olympics. Both are members of the Toronto Skating Club.

The Bowden-Dafoe combination was Canada's only pairs entry. In singles competition Charles Snelling of Toronto took seventh place followed by fellow Torontonians Peter Dunfield, eighth, and Douglas Court, 10th.

BRUINS-HAWKS TRADE

BOSTON (AP) — Seeking added experience in their fight for the National Hockey League playoffs, Boston Bruins Tuesday swapped Jerry Toppazzini to Chicago Black Hawks for veteran right winger Gus Bodnar.

Bodnar, 30, will report to the Bruins in New York tonight. He will be used at right wing and as a penalty killer.

Toppazzini, 22, was brought up from Hershey in November after Real Cheyrefils suffered a severe leg fracture in a game at Toronto.

He has been a penalty-killer with the Bruins but in the past has played both forward and defence.

Canadian Rugby Not Suited To Americans—Snyder

HAMILTON (CP)—Bob Snyder, trigger-man in the so-called football war between Canada and the United States, answered his critics this way:

American college players are "damn fools" to play in Canada for money alone; the Canadian game is fine for the Americans past their peak or those who want to make football a stepping stone for a business career in Canada.

Such was the comment Tuesday from Snyder, who returned to Canada for the first time since being accused of inciting discontent between the National Football League and the Canadian clubs.

Snyder, fired as coach of Calgary Stampeders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union last season, said in an interview that it is "common knowledge" players in Canadian football use benzedrine tablets to give them a "lift" during tough schedules.

He admitted being hired by NFL commissioner Bert Bell. But it wasn't for spreading propaganda. He was to tell U.S. college players "the truth" about football conditions in Canada.

"I told them it was okay for a guy in his last legs," Snyder said. "I told them the Canadian league was capitalizing on big names, and secondly, guys that didn't have the ability to play in the NFL. The Canadian league had good opportunities for some but not for college players to bury themselves in. Who would hear about them in the U.S.? They don't even run the scores of Canadian leagues in the U.S."

Snyder charged that Carl Voyles, coach of the Grey Cup champion Hamilton Tiger-Cats, had unjustly maligned him on a couple of occasions.

"Snyder said he saw "some of my players taking pills" during a Calgary-Saskatchewan Roughrider game last year. He said one player later admitted taking "bennys"—benzedrine tablets.

"The next thing I know Voyles is telling everybody that I said that all Canadian players take dope."

Voyles said:

"Snyder's comments are not worth commenting on. He has said that before and it was proven to be a lot of bunk."

"Snyder is the NFL's propagandist. That's okay. But he's only helping Canadian football with all this publicity."

Commented Frank Clair, coach of Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four League:

"It's all nonsense. This business of players taking benzedrine is nuts. Snyder may have a point on the fact that we get some American players who are past their peak. But that doesn't mean they're on their last legs. What about boys like Buddy Tinsley and Dick Huffman of Winnipeg, Tex Coulter of Montreal? They could still make an NFL club."

Ken Montgomery, president of Edmonton Eskimos of the WIFU, said Snyder's case is one of "sour grapes."

He was fired by Calgary because he "proved himself the worst coach in the eight major Canadian football teams last season," Montgomery added.

Snyder was here to testify at a court hearing in which quarterback Stan Heath, who once played for Stampeders, was suing the Tiger-Cat football club for $10,000 in back pay because they cut him from the team last season. The case was settled out of court.

RELIEF PROMISED
For Arthritic and Rheumatic Pain
New relief without pills by greaseless, odourless, stainless cream.

Toronto, Ont. (Special)— Discovery of an entirely new method of relieving pain has been announced here. Science has now developed a cream that acts in a new way to bring relief from arthritic, rheumatic and muscular aches and pains. Sold under the brand name "InfraRUB", this new odourless and greaseless cream relieves these pains without the need of pills and other internal medicines.

InfraRUB does not merely set up a surface irritation but penetrates deep down into sore muscles and joints. This permits fresh oxygen-rich blood to flow freely through afflicted areas and actually helps drive away the pain-causing congestion and pressure.

Another feature of InfraRUB that appeals to so many people is its ease of application. No long and painful rubbing is necessary as InfraRUB penetrates in a few seconds and vanishes with a moment's light massage.

InfraRUB leaves no oily film or pungent objectionable odour on the skin. Users find they are able to put on clothing in complete safety immediately after application.

Written medical reports on the success of this new help for patients suffering from rheumatic and arthritic pains and general muscular aches and pains have been prepared, based on hundreds of cases in British and French hospitals. InfraRUB users claim almost immediate relief from rheumatic and arthritic pains, sore muscles and joints.

Now for the first time, InfraRUB can be obtained without a prescription from your local drug store for only $1.39. InfraRUB is guaranteed to give hours and hours of comforting relief from arthritic, rheumatic and muscular aches and pains or your money will be refunded in full.

Scientists Carefully Study Reactor's Radio-Active Heart

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHALK RIVER, Ont. (CP)—The deadly radioactive heart of what once was known as the world's best atomic energy reactor is being exhumed, bit by bit, for atomic power research.

Pieces of the 2½-ton aluminum tank called the calandria are being hacked off by scientists for close examination at this atomic energy project on the banks of the Ottawa river, 125 miles northwest of the capital.

The calandria, which held the energy-producing insides of the NRX nuclear reactor, was removed early last summer, six months after the atomic pile was damaged by a leak Dec. 12, 1952. Probably the biggest radioactive object ever handled by man, it was buried in a secluded disposal area surrounded by a fence.

IMPORTANT EXAMINATION

Scientists want to know what the flying atomic particles in the reactor did to the calandria's metal during the five years the pile operated before the breakdown. That is important in any research bearing on power from atomic energy, because one problem in this field is to find suitable metals for construction.

A new eight-by-10-foot aluminum calandria has been installed with other secret equipment in the NRX reactor now being rebuilt. The starting date of the pile is not far off, and will depend mostly on time required for testing.

Dr. W. B. Lewis, vice-president in charge of research and development for Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., the crown company which operates the Chalk River project, told this reporter during a tour of the plant that calandria's grave is not permanent.

"The calandria will be a valuable object of research for some time," he said.

STUDY METAL SAMPLES

During the burial one end of the can-shaped calandria was left accessible for scientific studies. Scientists now have started to chip samples of aluminum and stainless steel from the tank for study.

Dr. Lewis said scientists want to learn everything possible about the metals in the calandria. Their properties underwent many changes during the five years before the accident.

Burial of the calandria and its steel shield was only one of the problems that confronted scientists when NRX broke down. Even now, more than a year later, minor pockets of unseen radioactivity in the NRX building pose an unwelcome though not dangerous health hazard for Chalk River workers.

The ticklish task of decontamination started immediately after atomic particles, including cell-destroying gamma rays, escaped from the damaged pile. The job now is nearly complete but officials say it has been impossible to clear all radioactive pockets.

Project engineers and scientists could go to no one for help because there had never been a similar breakdown of a high-power reactor in the United States or the United Kingdom, Canada's partners in atomic energy research.

PROTECTIVE MEASURES

Protective clothing and gas masks were designed. Men working in contaminated areas were watched closely to prevent them being overcome by radioactivity. Some workers could remain only a few minutes in a radiation field; others only a few seconds. Nobody was harmed by over-exposure.

Remote control dismantling equipment was built for use in high radioactivity areas. Engineers stationed out of range of dangerous radiation operated the equipment by looking into specially-designed optical devices.

After the breakdown about 1,000,000 gallons of cooling water was kept running through the reactor to prevent the possibility of a uranium fire inside the pile. The water poured into the basement and later was pumped to a large burial pit.

Hot water and detergent removed radioactive minerals from smooth surfaces. Floors, walls and other rough surfaces were sand-blasted or chipped. Where this didn't work, the surface was treated with paint or covered with a layer of lead.

PROTECTIVE CLOTHING—Plastic suits and respirators are used to protect workers at Canada's Chalk River, Ont., atomic plant from deadly radioactivity. Here are two workers wearing the protective clothing after the big reactor sprang a leak 15 months ago. They had to dismantle the reactor and decontaminate the building of radioactive particles. —(CP Photo).

Says Premier Created Unemployment In 1929

OTTAWA (CP)—A veteran Liberal said Tuesday that the late prime minister R. B. Bennett "created unemployment" in 1929 to earn the money that helped put the Conservative party in power in 1930.

Jean Francois Pouliot, member for Temiscouata since 1924, recalled the unemployment conditions of 1929 during a Commons debate on present-day unemployment.

Before Mr. Bennett became prime minister in 1930, Mr. Pouliot said, "he himself created unemployment and for a good reason."

"He and his chief organizer in 1929. . . each subscribed $350,000 to the electoral funds and they invested that money in brokers' offices."

CHIEF ORGANIZER

(The chief organizer was Maj.-Gen. A. D. McRae of Vancouver, later appointed to the Senate. The Conservative government was defeated in 1935 and Mr. Bennett went to the United Kingdom where he was made a viscount.)

Mr. Pouliot said:

"The leader of the Conservative party . . . used to say: 'Conditions are bad; we have unemployment, but I will cure that.'

"Every time he spoke of unemployment and said that conditions were bad in this country, the stocks were getting lower and lower and he was making more money because he was speculating on the fall in price.

"Finally, when he had realized an amount which was as much as his investment, he succeeded. He used that money to win the election. Afterwards he had to face the unemployment matter and he was not then able to cure it. It was worse than ever."

Tarzan Barker Trying Boots, Saddle

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Lex (Tarzan) Barker is turning in his loincloth for boots and saddles.

The handsome actor will no longer be flexing his muscles in the jungle. From now on, his dialogue will be "Head 'em off at the crossroads," instead of "Me Tarzan, you Jane."

"That's the kind of picture I want to do," he remarked. "I like working outdoors. Besides, I think a big man looks silly in indoor pictures."

Barker was the 10th of the Tarzans. The actor explained the reason for the split:

"I figured at this point in my career I ought to be able to enjoy a little more profit from doing the pictures. Mr. (producer Sol) Lesser didn't see it that way.

GRATEFUL TO PRODUCER

"But I am grateful to him for exposing me to the public—and I do mean exposing. I readily admit that the series was a great thing for me. Travelling to Europe and Mexico made me realize how tremendously popular Tarzan is."

So much so that the foreigners passed up his bride, a girl named Lana Turner, in order to get his autograph. That was partly due to her new brunette hair shade, which makes her look unlike the Lana film audiences know.

Red Leaders Found Guilty

DETROIT (AP)—A federal jury Tuesday found six Michigan Communist leaders guilty of Smith act violations after six hours of deliberation on four months of prosecution and defence evidence.

The defendants, Saul Wellman, Nat Ganley, Mrs. Helen A. Winter, Thomas D. Dennis, Jr., William Allan, and Philip Schatz face maximum prison sentences of five years.

Judge Frank A. Picard set Friday as the date for their sentencing.

The Michigan party leaders join 35 other American Communists convicted in previous Smith act trials in New York, Seattle, Pittsburgh, and Honolulu.

Only two American Communists, indicted under the Smith act, have been acquitted—both by judicial direction.

The Michigan Communists, specifically were charged with violating two sections of the Smith act by conspiring to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the United States government.

Parks Commission Has $566,495 Profit

TORONTO (CP) — The Niagara parks commission had a profit of $566,494 in 1943, the annual report shows. This compared with a $351,538 profit last year.

The report, tabled in the legislature by Labor Minister Daley Tuesday, also showed that 1,945,273 cars entered the park up to the end of October last, as against 1,445,756 for 1952.

The report said the park debt was reduced from $3,798,546 to $1,700,000. Only golf course profits were down, by nearly $2,000 from about $11,000.

Dentist Dies

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Wallace L. MacLaren, 54, dental surgeon in Ontario for more than 30 years, died Monday. Born in Belleville, he practised in suburban New Toronto from 1923 to 1930, was company dentist for Spruce Falls Power and Paper Company at Kapuskasing from 1930 to 1943 and for the last 11 years practised in Leaside.

Omemee Scouts Hike To Island Camp

OMEMEE (ENS). — The group committee of the First Omemee Scout troop met at Christ church with the chairman, E. A. Cornell, presiding.

Main item of business was the financial drive. Tre scoutmaster told of the need for camping equipment such as tents and cooking utensils, and the committee set a minimum objective of $200.

Sunday afternoon saw the First Omemee Scout troop hiking to Camp Keego on Tim's island. Here the Beavers, Seals and Night Hawks started to lay out their patrol campsites, clearing brush and dead trees. Later in the afternoon Clifford Black was invested as a scout, the first to be invested on the new camp grounds.

At the regular Scout meeting acting patrol leader Charlie Evans was presented with his artist badge. Scouts Herbert Robertson, Alvin Robertson, Jerry Nelson received their second year service stars.

The scouts and cubs paraded to Trinity United church on Sunday morning. The color parties were: For the cubs, Howard Robertson, Don Smith, Stanley Nelson; for the scouts, Charlie Evans, Grant Hart.

Next Sunday, the 21st, the cubs and scouts will parade to Christ church (Anglican). The Venerable W. P. Robertson of Peterborough will be the guest preacher.

Apsley United Church Holds Annual Meeting

APSLEY (ENS) — The annual congregational meeting of Trinity United Church was held Sunday evening following the regular church service. Cleveland Robb was chairman.

Herbert Tucker gave the treasurer's report showing receipts of $1,149.68 and expenditures of $693.71, leaving a balance on hand Dec. 31 of $455.97.

Missionary and maintenance report was read by Mrs. Herb Tucker. It shower receipts of $156.74 and expenditures of $156.74.

The Sunday School report, given by superintendent Mrs. Hector Montgomery. Sunday School teachers are Misses Joan Wagner, Holly Tucker, Elaine Brown, Mary Jean Wilson, Mrs. Keith Watson, Mrs. Post, Mr. John Stegenga, Mrs. Gerald Watson, secretary. Total enrolment is 51 in the Sunday School with 12 on the cradle roll. Superintendent of the cradle roll is Mrs. M. C. Tucker.

During year these special services were held: White elephant sale, supper for Sunday School children and Christmas tree.

Financial statement of the Sunday School was read by Mrs. Gerald Watson. Receipts $187.76, expenditures $138.38. Balance on hand $49.38.

Report of CGIT given by Joan McCauley. Officers are: President, Holly Tucker; first vice president, Elaine Brown; secretary, Joan McCauley; treasurer, Mary Jean Wilson; leaders: Miss W. Robinson, Mrs. Mitz, Mrs. Hogarth. This new organization had many activities. Receipts were $19.45 and expenditures $11.18, leaving a balance on hand of $8.27.

Miss W. A. Robinson, secretary of Woman's Association gave the report showing it a very active organization.

WA sponsored the CGIT, helped pay expenses of one girl to camp and contributed $30 to United Church training school building fund and held a community reception after evening service on our church's 50th anniversary. Representatives attended presbytery annual meeting, visited sick and shutins, arranged transfer of parsonage furniture.

The financial statement of the WA shows receipts of $242.65 and expenses of $168.61 leaving a balance on hand of $74.04.

Mrs. N. Wilson reported good progress with the parsonage building and asked the co-operation of all concerned to bring this project to completion.

Board of elders named were: Norman Wilson, Jos. Tucker, Wellington Lean and M. C. Tucker for four-year term ending 1958.

Mrs. Hector Montgomery was made Sunday School superintendent to succeed Mrs. Stewart Brown who had given faithful service in the past and whose resignation was accepted with regret.

Mrs. Herb Tucker tendered her resignation as convener of missionary and maintenance fund and Mrs. Keith Watson was appointed in her pace. The appointing of an organist was given much discussion and left in the hands of the board.

Detective Resigns After Ritchie Escape

DETROIT (CP) — A Detroit detective found guilty of neglect of duty in the Jan. 8 escape of Donald Ritchie, Tuesday resigned from the force.

Ritchie escaped after giving a statement to Detroit police about persons involved in the 1948 shooting of Walter Reuther, UAW and CIO president. He was being held in a Detroit hotel by Wayne Glisman, a detective, and Patrolman William Krupka.

A police trial board found both guilty and Glisman quit in disgust. He said he was forced to suffer the role of "scapegoat." The board penalized the men a 30-day suspension without pay.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

By CHARLES H. SPEARIN

SALVATION ARMY SCOUTS

The past week proved to be an eventful one for our troop. On Wednesday night at our weekly meeting, Neil Cox and Hugh Smith were presented with their swimmers' proficiency badges while Jack Parsons and Bob Smith received their artists' proficiency badges.

At an investiture ceremony, Bob Wicks and Don Sargent entered the brotherhood of Scouting.

On Thursday night, a few of the Scouts assisted in serving coffee and holding back the crowd during the Loblaw fire.

As we are a new troop in the city, we would like to take this opportunity to say that we are happy to join the other Scout troops of the city.

Jack Parsons and Admiral Lowes visited St. John's Troop on January 29 to get more acquainted with other troops.

ST. ANDREW'S SCOUTS

The 8th Peterborough Boy Scout Troop held their weekly meeting in St. Andrew's church hall Monday evening. Following the opening flag break, some time was spent in preparing stunts for the Father and Son banquet.

The boys went all out on tests for the evening, passing a total of 17. In the current point competition, the Wolf patrol, who trailed the Fox by 23 points last week, narrowed the gap to eight points.

St. Andrew's plans to send at least two boys to the World Scout Jamboree to be held in Canada for the first time in 1955.

5TH PETERBOROUGH

Bobbie Wagar was invested into the Cub Pack. On hand at the time were his parents.

On Thursday night, at the Scout meeting, a new patrol was incorporated. It will be known as the Fox Patrol, under the leadership of PL Jerry Foy and APL Gord Curwin.

Ask Agreements From Hockey Circuits

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — The American Hockey League Tuesday called for a meeting of the three minor professional hockey circuits to work toward uniform agreements.

The AHL board of governors, meeting here to fix the 1954 Calder Cup playoff schedule, voted to invite the Quebec League and the Western Hockey League to a joint session in Montreal early in June.

At the same time the board fixed Tuesday, March 23, two days after the end of the regular season, for the beginning of the playoffs.

John B. Sollenberger, Hershey club and AHL president, said the main purpose of the session would be to bring about "an exchange of ideas." He indicated the meeting would consider the entire picture of the future of minor league hockey.

TRANSFER OF PLAYERS

An AHL spokesman said the meeting would take up such problems as the transfer of players, waivers and try for "mutual agreement on hockey rules and regulations."

The AHL decided to repeat the same three-series playoff system used last year with the regular season victor playing the third place team and the second place club opposing the fourth place team. The preliminary series will be best of five games and the final series between the two winners will be a best of seven set.

DISCUSSING THE DRAW—Mrs. Dorothy Bearne, chairman of the Warne bonspiel, discuss the ladies' 'spiel which started today at the Peterborough Curling Club with committee members, Mrs. V. Selkirk (sitting, right) and Mrs. John Wocker and Mrs. Doug Norman (left to right, back). A few curlers from distant places were late arriving due to snowy conditions on the highways, but the first draw started shortly after 9:30 a.m. The winner will probably be known late Thursday afternoon. Snapshots Still The Same

The family album of the antimacassar and horse-hair sofa period has not vanished from the domestic scene. It survives with only incidental change of appearance in the snap-shot album of the present generation, Morris Duke told the girls section of the Junior Farmers meeting Tuesday night at Teachers College.

Richard Batten was the speaker to the young men's group. His subject was: legal problems in the home and around the farm. Both subjects were presented with appeal to the interest of the Juniors.

Mr. Duke told the girls they were no different from their great grandmothers in their desire to keep picture records of themselves and their friends for the future. Their clothes were of different fashion and their hair was probably arranged without benefit of beauty salon. Mr. Duke said he wasn't quite certain about that detail, but they must have been fine women, judging by their granddaughters, he told the girls who came out in the storm to hear his talk on photography.

Attendance was 32, and on a rough night.

TeePees Increase Points Lead In OHA Series With Easy Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Six was the magic number in Ontario's junior hockey action Tuesday night. Six teams played and six goals divided the winning teams from the losers in each game.

Barrie Flyers, in sixth place in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, were defeated 9-3 on home ice by Trois-Rivieres Reds of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association Junior league in an interlocking game.

St. Catharines TeePees increased their first-place lead in the OHA to eight points by trouncing the Black Hawks 8-2 in Galt while the second-place Toronto Marlboros were walloped 9-3 by the third-place Toronto St. Michael's College Majors in Toronto. Galt's loss was the sixth in a row.

Gilles Matteau scored three goals to lead Trois-Rivieres against the Flyers. He also picked up three assists. Jean Cossette and Harvey Lalonde, each scored two with Gilles Lambert and Guy Gendron notching singles. Tommy Wilson, Danny Poliziani and Cleland Mortson were the Barrie snipers.

GETS HAT TRICK

Brian Cullen, the leading scorer in the OHA Junior A league, sparked St. Catharines with three goals. Hank Ciesia and Pete Koval each counted twice and Wimpy Roberts scored one. Ron Halstead and Carl Hatt scored for the Hawks.

Netminder Gerry McNamara again shone for St. Michael's to help the Collegians to their third victory in their five meetings with Marlboros.

Centre Jack Caffery, with three goals and two assists, was the sparkplug for St. Michael's. Dick Duff aded two goals and Paul Knox, Noel Price, Les Duff, Ken Gribbons and Ken Linseman rounded out the total. Mike Elik, Jack Bionda and Wally Maxwell scored for Marlboros. The victory pulled St. Michael's to within four points of the second-place Marlboros.

Kitchener Greenshirts are at Jonquiere for an interlocking game with the Marquis tonight. Other games will have St. Michael's playing the Cubs in Hamilton and Trois-Rivieres at Guelph.

Arrears On Loans

TORONTO (CP)—A total of $128,994 in principal and interest is in arrears on $6,612,917 Ontario government agricultural loans.

In a report tabled Tuesday in the legislature by Provincial Secretary Welsh, it was shown that as of March 31, 1953, 4,322 loans were outstanding. Of these, 779 were in arrears.

Norwegian Wins World Ski Jump

FALUN, Sweden (AP) — Sverre Stenersen of Norway Tuesday won the ski jumping competition of the world's Nordic combined ski championships.

Hours after the jumping on skeleton-like Kallviksbacken hill ended officials reassessed all points, causing 15 changes in positions from figures originally announced, but Stenersen still topped the list of 31 jumpers from 10 countries.

A Denver University student, Marvin Crawford, finished best of the non-Scandinavians and non-Finns, but had to be content with 13th place. Another American, Crosby Perry-Smith of Leadville, Colo., placed 16th. Canada's only entrant, Clarence Servold of Camrose, Alta., withdrew before the event started.

LOPAT, McDOUGALD SIGN

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Yankees cut their list of unsigned players to 18 Tuesday by reaching contract terms with Ed Lopat, veteran lefthanded pitcher, and infielder Gil McDougald.

Lopat, winner of 16 games last year and American League earned run average leader with 2.43, signed for approximately $25,000.

McDougald came into the fold for a reported $18,000. The club declined to announce salary figures. They were the 23rd and 24th Yankees signed.

Concentrated Beer For Army

LONDON (CP) — British scientists, busy perfecting weapons for Britain's far-flung armies, are also taking care of the servicemen's thirst.

The idea of a concentrated beer, to which water and carbon dioxide would be added before drinking, comes from the brewing industry research foundation.

An official says two methods of preparation have been successfully tested—evaporation and freezing. Through evaporation, a fairly heavy beer can be reduced to one-quarter its volume and still retain a full and satisfying flavor.

The same reduction is possible with freezing. Under this method the beer is frozen and the ice removed, leaving the strong concentrate.

The official said the concentrates produced both by freezing and evaporation have been successfully stored for more than six months.

He added that the beer concentrate makes a fine liqueur, similar to that popular in the court of Peter the Great of Russia.

Church Givings Up

TORONTO (CP) — The United Church of Canada's missionary and maintenance fund has exceeded its goal for the 13th year. Rev. D. G. Ridout, chairman, announced Tuesday a total of $3,854,825 was contributed by the end of the church year Monday, an increase of $359,770 over last year.

Two Dozen Rinks Entered In Women's Bonspiel

Two dozen rinks from 14 Ontario curling clubs began play here today in the ladies' annual open bonspiel for the Warne Trophy. Last year's winner, Mrs. Elwood Northey of Peterborough went in the opening draw against Mrs. C. Parliament's rink of Oakwood.

The bonspiel is run on the straight elimination system. All rinks are entered in the main event and, those losing there, drop to the second rink, further losses resulting in the consolation round. Finals in all three rounds will commence Thursday afternoon and finish by early evening.

Club president Mrs. Vern Selkirk welcomed visiting curlers this morning to "our snow belt" in a brief speech, and Mrs. Len Bearne, bonspiel convener, outlined the rules before play started. Results of the first draw:

4 Children Baptized In Westwood Church

WESTWOOD (ENS)—The sacraments of baptism and communion were celebrated at St. Michael's, Westwood, on Sunday, with the Rev. H. E. Peasgood of St. Alban's parish, Peterborough, officiating. Christened were: Richard Paul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Pulfer; Robert George and Donald Edward, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Willmart Covert, and Kathryn Marion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Elmhurst. Mr. David Peasgood was visiting organist.

The congregation was very glad to welcome back their former rector.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Pulfer entertained at dinner on Sunday in honor of their infant son, Richard Paul, who was christened that afternoon. Guests were: his godfather and godmother Mr. and Mrs. W. Graham, his great-grandmother Mrs. Annie Cook, his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. C. Hoard, and Mr. Wm. Pulfer; Mr. and Mrs. Ed. MacDonald and the Rev. and Mrs. H. E. Peasgood and David.

One-Way Traffic On Yonge Street

TORONTO (CP)—One-way traffic on Yonge street, south in the morning and north at night, was proposed Tuesday as a means of easing rush-hour troubles.

Alderman William Allen introduced a motion in metropolitan council to apply the restrictions to the city's main thoroughfare after the subway starts operation March 30.

Mayor Allan Lamport indicated he will support the idea but he thought it should have been dealt with by city council first.

23 English Athletes Prepared To Visit Games

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP)—All but four of 27 athletes tentatively considered to represent England in track and field events at the British Empire Games in Vancouver will go if they get the nod, a survey shows.

One possible performer gave a definite refusal and three were uncertain because of "family reasons." The 23 who are willing and able to go if chosen include such standouts as Roger Bannister, Chris Chataway and marathoner Jim Peters.

The four who gave negative or uncertain answers were not named but presumably the one refusal came from Gordon (Puff Puff) Pirie, who has said he will pass up the Empire Games in favor of the European championships at Bern, Switzerland, late in August. The Empire Games are July 30 to Aug. 7.

Pirie, rated Britain's top runner on 1953 performances, is believed to have his heart set on a race at Bern against Czechoslovakia's Emil Zatopek, star of the 1952 Olympic Games at Helsinki.

The advance word on plans for the summer games was given by L. R. Truelove, honorary team manager of the Amateur Athletic Association. His announcement was based on results of a questionnaire sent to a "probable list" of 27 athletes.

Although noting that final selections will not be made until June 21, two days after England's AAA championships. Truelove said:

"I feel sure that this will be by far the strongest team ever to represent England at the Empire Games, and I anticipate outstandingly high performances."

The probables listed by Truelove, apart from Bannister, Chataway and Peters, are John Savidge (shot put), Mark Pharoak (Discus), Geoffrey Elliott (pole vault), P. G. Fryer (400 yards) K. S. D. New Computer For Paratroops

MONTREAL (CP)—Military authorities said Tuesday a new computer, developed by a Canadian airman for the pinpoint dropping of paratroops, will be tried under actual combat conditions for the first time this week.

The computer, devised by Flt. Lt. James Riva of the RCAF, has been tried before in test drops but Operation Loup Garou will mark the first time it has been used in manoeuvres.

The device developed by Riva eliminates the need for dropping markers prior to a paratroop drop run. The markers to some extent offset the element of surprise in paratroop attacks.

Some 2,000 troops will be involved in the Loup Garou operation during which paratroops will attack an air field at Sept Iles, Que.

CCF Opposes Parliamentary Pay Increase

OTTAWA (CP)—The 23-member CCF party has boycotted a ceremony in which royal assent was given to legislation increasing parliamentary pay to $10,000 from $6,000.

Fourteen CCF members Tuesday night stayed behind while the rest of the House went to the Senate to hear royal assent given to 144 bills, including the pay increase measure.

Earlier, a CCF member made a final attempt to delay passage of the bill opposed at every stage in passage through the Commons.

Stanley Knowles (CCF — Winnipeg North Centre) asked that royal assent be postponed. He said it was "inappropriate and unfair" to interrupt a Commons debate on unemployment while members went to the Senate. Speaker Rene Beaudoin ruled him out of order.

CCF members who made the last protest against the pay increase included two who voted for the measure on third Commons reading: Thomas Barnett (Comox-Alberni) and Harold E. Winch (Vancouver East).

IMPROMPTU SPEECHES

While Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret, deputy governor-general, was proclaiming royal assent in the Senate, Mr. Knowles sat for a while at the desk of Acting Prime Minister Howe and other CCF members made impromptu speeches. The speeches didn't count because the speaker's chair was vacant.

The controversial pay raise issue took up several days of the Commons' time, but was passed by the Senate in little more than 30 minutes.

At its final passage in the Commons, four Progressive Conservatives and four CCF members sided with the Liberal and Social Credit members to give it third and final reading.

It was opposed by 28 Progressive Conservatives and 18 CCF members.

The PC party wanted a royal commission or parliamentary committee study of the question. The CCF was divided, some opposing any increase and some urging a smaller increase of $2,000.

The bill, which now is law and retroactive to last Nov. 12, start of the session, doubles the former $4,000 indemnity and continues a $2,000 annual expense allowance.

It also provides salary increases for the speakers of the Senate and Commons to $9,000 from $6,000; leader of the Commons opposition to $15,000 from $10,000; deputy Commons speaker to $6,000 from $4,000; government leader in the Senate to $10,000 from $7,000, and opposition leader in the Senate to $6,000 from $4,000.

FEWER HOGS TODAY

Heavy snow in lanes and on rural roads reduced the run of hogs at Canada Packers this morning.

MADE ACTING CHIEF

The police commission at its meeting Tuesday decided that deputy chief John Naples would act as chief constable while chief John Thompson is away ill. Chief Thompson is expected to be away from his duties for some weeks. Sergeant Gordon Puffer will be acting deputy chief.

NEW ROAD

The sanitation department of the city have completed the road to the new landfill project area on the former Archie Patterson property adjacent to the present project. An agreement has been signed with the CPR for a crossing over their tracks. The new area is not yet in use.

HALTED BY SNOW

Jack Matchett of Otonabee didn't make home Tuesday night on his return from the Junior Farmers meeting at Teachers College. The road was so heavy he turned back to his sister's home in the city, and this morning trailed the snow plow. He mentioned several cars stranded over night.

FIRE PROTECTION

A meeting has been scheduled for next Monday at city hall between the fire, water and light committee of city council and representatives of North Monaghan township council to discuss the possibility of the city fire department providing fire protection for the township. North Monaghan is the second township to seek such protection. A meeting has already been held with Otonabee council but no final agreement has been reached.

CHEMONG ROAD

A victory for historic sentiment was celebrated in a letter from Mrs. Gladys Groombridge to city council, expressing the appreciation of her neighbors in the north end for council's decision to change the name of Stewart St., north of Parkhill Rd. to the city's boundary to Chemong road. Council's decision was the result of Mrs. Groombridge's eloquent appeal a few weeks ago to retain the more familiar name.

Wheat Prices Drop 7 Cents

Western wheat in storage at Fort William, Vancouver and Port Arthur, dropped seven cents a bushel Tuesday, and is now down to $1.78⅞ from $2.05.

Ontario's winter wheat, presumably affected by the declining support in the bread-flour variety, was down five cents to $1.50.

The drop in the grain prices, including Nos. 1 to 4 Northern wheat was confirmed today at Quaker Oats. Apparently weakness shows in the present surplus stocks in Canada and the United States, and with improved production indications in the Argentine.

Initial payment to the western farmer is $1.40 a bushel with subsequent supplements as markets proceed.

Railway Bill Approved In Principle

Expect To Finish Line To Nephton In Nine Months

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons Tuesday approved the principle of a bill providing for a Canadian Pacific Railway line between Havelock and Nephton.

George McIlraith (L — Ottawa West) said the 15-mile line will be financed jointly by CPR and American Nepheline Limited, a subsidiary of Ventures Limited which mines nepheline syenite, a granite-like mineral used in the manufacture of glass and pottery.

He said 22 per cent of the firm's production is sold in Canada; the rest exported. At present the firm trucks ore over a secondary road from the mine site to Lakefield, 24 miles away.

George S. White (PC—Hastings-Frontenac) said he understands the company plans to build a mill on the mine site as soon as the line is completed.

Mr. McIlraith said construction is expected to start this spring and the line completed in nine months.

The bill, given second reading, was referred to the Commons committee on railways.

Recreation Com. Asks For Increase In 1954 Budget

The recreation commission completed its budget estimate for 1954 at the February meeting Tuesday, and is asking city council to increase the municipal grant $1,368.82. This increase, however, is only about $400 more than the 1953 budget estimate, and exactly the amount of the director's salary increase.

Some of the larger items include an increase of $557 to be allotted to the Citizens' Band for the renewal and maintenance of instruments.

During 1953 the estimated cost was $2,500 and the actual amount granted was $2,500. This year the commission is asking for $3,057.

Another item of $585 allowance for swimming school instructors, actually entails an increase of only $160. In the 1953 estimate playground leaders and swimming instructors were included under the same heading.

The sum of $100 has been allotted to public relations and Ken Robinson, recreational director, points out that this sum will be used to bring top speakers in the field to the city and also to finance small surveys to determine what the people want in the line of recreation. Cuts have been made in advertising and travelling expenses to help offset this increase.

Other increases in the 1954 estimate include $225 for leadership training, $300 for the ski school, $200 for new projects, $87.24 for playground supplies, $145.17 for crafts, and $140.43 for adult education.

Cuts have been made elsewhere to partly compensate for the increases. Property estimates including maintenance of Ashburnham Hall, Dixon House, and Burnham Pt., have been lowered by $331.25. The ORA conference to be held in Peterborough this year offers a grant of $300.

The estimated grant expected by the commission from the city for 1954 is $18,868.82, as compared with the actual amount received in 1953 of $17,500, and in 1952 of $16,093.75. Should the estimate be approved, and the provincial grants and property revenues meet the estimate, the commission will have $24,970 with which to operate. This figure includes a bank balance of $1,211.18.

THE CHAMBERLAIN ST. RIVER—Since the weekend Chamberlain St. West has been a small river. Water, from melting snow in the Green Hill neighborhood, has drained down a small creek flowing into the city near Chamberlain and Western Ave. Residents on the south side, between High and Western Ave., have to slop through 14 inches of water whenever they leave their homes. The heavy snow Tuesday didn't help matters, completely blocking off an escape for the water. Around noon today city workers began making canals for the water in an attempt to drain the area which is flooded annually in the spring.

Last ? Kick Of Winter Sends City Sprawling In Snow Drifts

Old Man Winter is a sly one. He turned down the cold screws to 18 degrees below zero last Friday morning, let up on the pressure Saturday, and created a false spring on Sunday and Monday. Tuesday was mild, too, but a driving east wind brought wet snow with it, starting about 6:30 in the morning, which, blasting across the district for the next 12 hours, created this winter's heaviest snow storm. The total fall until Tuesday evening was 9¼ inches. The strong wind, veering into the northeast, pile ! sticky drifts from four to six feet high.

It bogged down parked cars, filled in driveways, highways, streets and side roads and slowed traffic to a crawl.

Heavy nepheline ore trucks were pulled off the roads from Blue Mountain to Lakefield at noon on Tuesday and Department of Highways graders worked on main traffic arteries through the night. On Highway 28 south from Bailieboro to Port Hope maintenance engineer F. J. Allen reports the pavement is bare but wet with a light covering of slush. He said that the highway section from Peterborough to Bailieboro would be cleared to the same surface conditions by today noon.

City hall employees were taking no chances on rush-hour driving conditions on Tuesday evening. Most of those with cars left them overnight in the civic parking lot and went home by bus and foot.

STUDENTS LEAVE EARLY

Students at various district high schools were sent home early At Lakefield, those from Rockcroft, Lakehurst and Apsley started back to their homes by buses at noon. Nephton pupils left on the regular bus schedule at 3.30 p.m. In Norwood high school principal J. H. Caskey said that pupils in remote areas left for home at 3 p.m. and that buses driving into Dummer, Westwood and Birdsall's bucked four-feet mounds in some badly drifted places.

Buses were no more than an hour late, those to and from Ottawa and Toronto. Local runs were carried out on time, Colonial Coach officials say though district bus drivers reported all highways heavy and rough until today.

Rural students attending PCVS, about 75 of them in all, were only about five minutes late today but one teacher who lives about four miles out of the city on R. R. 3, phoned in to say he didn't think he could make classes at all.

The board of work department had windrows of piled snow and the mechanical loader busy on the main through streets early in the morning while fleets of trucks were busy carting snow to the dump at the end of Simcoe St.

The snow did nothing to hinder the normal movements of trains in or out of Peterborough. Both railroads report trains were on time, and, in one or two cases, running five minutes ahead of schedule.

Quartet, Pianist Provide Memorable Musical Evening

By ROBERTSON DAVIES

The most musically satisfying concert that the Community Concert Association has offered in some time was given on Tuesday evening by the Spivak Quartet, assisted by the pianist Boris Roubakine. It was not a display of personality, or of prodigious technique; the music was all-important and the artists plainly regarded themselves as its accomplished but self-effacing servants.

The program began with the Mozart B-flat Major quartet, which was sensitively and cleanly played. As well as the leader, Elie Spivak, the Quartet includes Francesco Fusco playing the second violin, Jack Neilson playing the viola, and Marcus Adeney, who takes the 'cello part during the illness of Philip Spivak. The Quartet has a warm, fine tone which, without the rather plummy opulence which some quartets affect, is always grateful to the ear; it plays sweetly, but never sentimentally, and when a more incisive tone is wanted (as in the Scherzo from the Jacob quartet) these players can provide it.

The Quartet played an arrangement of the Negro spiritual, 'Deep River,' the Scherzo already mentioned, and two of Ernest MacMillan's beautiful sketches based on French-Canadian folk songs, as its second group of pieces.

With the Quartet was Boris Roubakine, who played a group of short piano compositions in a fashion which gladdened the heart. We have heard many admirable pianists during the past few years in Peterborough, who have displayed magnificent technique, but who have lacked poetic understanding of the music they played, and whose concerts, in consequence, were almost as exhausting for their hearers as for themselves. Mr. Roubakine has a fine technique, too, but one never notices it, for he plays so enchantingly, so revealingly and with such tender regard for the poetic meaning of the composer that the hearer is unconscious of anything except his own keen musical pleasure. What Mr. Roubakine brings to the piano cannot be learned by endless hours of practise; these are the gifts of the intellect and the heart, and they are granted only to those who know where to seek them. This was pianoforte-playing as we have not heard it for a long, long time, and we have never heard it from players of the new, ultra-dynamic school.

The triumph of the concert was the performance of the Schumann Quintet. This noble work is one of the treasures of chamber music literature, and the performance on Tuesday night was memorably beautiful. Responding to the enthusiasm of the audience, the Scherzo from this work was played as an encore; it had been omitted, as the concert management in New York feared that the full work might be more than such an audience as ours could take.

The New York management need have no fear. Audiences like the one in Peterborough are quite ready for the finest music they can send us, and such audiences may be found all over Canada. We are glad that it was a group of Canadian artists who gave us this fine evening of music — an evening which will long be cherished in the memory of those who were lucky enough to hear it.

Tenders Close On Addition To Grove School

Acceptance of the Eastwood Construction tender for the addition to the Grove public school was recommended to the Board of Education by its accommodation committee on Tuesday night. Eastwood tender, lowest of six was for $74,361 with an additional $336 for changing some of the water pipes in the old building.

Only $184 separated the tender received from Walter H. Mortlock and the Eastwood Construction. Between the lowest and highest tenders there was a difference of $5,131.

Three Peterborough firms and three outside contractors put in prices. The addition of four rooms is to be put to the southend of the present building and will be needed when school opens in September.

The other four firms bidding were: Bradford-Hoshal Associates, Port Hope; E. and R. Construction Ltd., Toronto; Gray and Banks, Bailieboro and Arnold Steele, Peterborough.

The committee also recomended that the city council be asked to provide $85,000 to pay for building and furnishing the school.

Writing Expert Says Signature Not A Forgery

An expert handwriting analyst said today that in his opinion the signature, Thomas M. Quinn, written on a CGE checkoff card, was Quinn's signature, not a forgery.

The expert, Arthur B. Farmer of Toronto, was testifying at the Peterborough Assizes in a libel action brought against Quinn and three top officials of the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (CIO-CCL) by Art Hunter, business agent for Local 524, United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (Indep.).

In his statement of claim Hunter asked $10,000 damages for an alleged libel appearing April 17, 1953, in a leaflet which he claimed was issued by the IUE-CIO CGE organizing committee, and which contained a statement by Quinn.

The leaflet, bearing the heading "Here Is Proof!", was issued during the bitter union battle last April between the UE and the IUE. UE held the collecting bargaining agreement with the CGE and the IUE were trying to get a vote at the plant, with an eye to eventual certification. More than 3,000 production workers were targets for the flood of leaflets and rival propaganda.

STARTED ACTION

This legal action arose after the "Here Is The Proof" leaflet had been circulated. The leaflet said that Quinn at no time signed a 50-cent check-off card for the UE and the signature on the card was a forgery.

Quinn himself was quoted in a statement on the leaflet. He said:

"I hereby state categorically and under oath that I never joined the union at 50 cents a week, and that the checkoff card bearing my name for such checkoff is a forgery.

TUESDAY'S STORM PATTERN was perhaps most noticeable on parked cars on city streets as snow wove grotesque patterns on body and fender surfaces. Car bearing 1953 license plate 9354P was a subject of hourly observation by Examiner reporters as snow piled inch on inch. When the owner arrived at 5 p.m. to drive away home the drift over the sun visor and on top of the hood had just about closed in. Tuesday's total snowfall for 12 hours was 9¼ inches.

No Rent Controls For City Council Decides At Special Meeting

Complaints of Excessive Rents Charged After Control Dropped
Council May Set Up Committee For Hearings

City council at a special meeting Tuesday afternoon decided unanimously not to assume rent controls when they are dropped by the province March 2. Mayor Norman Graham, who chaired the meeting, said today that if, during the early stages of decontrol, there were complaints of unreasonably excessive rents from tenants, council would consider setting up a three-man committee of council members to hear both parties to the complaints.

While this committee would not have the equivalent powers of a rent tribunal, His Worship explained, if the members thought the rents were excessive in the specific cases heard, health department and building inspectors would be instructed to look over the property to make sure conditions were up to the standards of the rent charged.

Mayor Graham said that since the time early last month when he had suggested that council should consider taking over rent controls, there had been letters in the press and he had received several calls and letters at his office in city hall.

MOST FROM LANDLORDS

Of all these expressions of opinion, about 50 were from landlords and only about five from tenants. As a consequence, it was felt that landlords were handicapped by rent controls to a greater extent than tenants.

The cost of setting up municipal controls would have been between $30,000 and $35,000, it was estimated, and the results would not have justified this expenditure, His Worship said.

In other cities where controls were lifted earlier, rents had levelled off in five or six months, the mayor observed. The fact that a co-operative housing scheme would get under way in Peterborough this year would help in easing the housing situation, he said.

Clubs Object To Being Classed As Businesses

Is a club a commercial enterprise?

The obvious answer would seem to be that it is not. Unfortunately, the Assessment Act is not specific on the point.

Tuesday night, representatives of the Peterborough Club, the Curling Club and the Lawn Bowling Club appealed their assessments to the court of revision on the grounds that since they were not profit-making organizations, their properties should not be assessed as commercial enterprises.

Assessment Commissioner J. E. Davis explained today that although the Assessment Act contains special provisions for a number of organizations such as the Boy Scouts and churches, it says nothing about clubs.

"Admittedly these clubs are doing a wonderful job for Peterborough," Mr. Davis said. "But there's nothing I can do about it. I could scarcely assess them as residential properties. It's up to the court of revision to decide."

The court adjourned their decision on the appeals until a later date.

W. B. Gordon represented the Curling Club, along with members of the executive of the club. Frank Buckland represented the Peterborough Club, while executive members, led by Past President Harold Freeman spoke for the Lawn Bowling Club.

Allow City Taxis To Install Meters, Not Compulsory

The Peterborough police commission has decided that taxi proprietors in the city will not be required to install meters for fare charging. However, it appears that only three owners, out of the 38 taxis, are at all willing to have meters.

These three, represented by Hugh Davis, were told by the commission at its meeting Tuesday that they can apply to install meters if they wish. The supposition is that they will be permitted to go ahead with the scheme. Remaining taxis will run on the present basis of mileage charging from speedometer readings.

A month ago 35 owners petitioned the commission to make bylaw changes to increase present rates. It was considered present rates do not offer economic stability.

The matter was held over until Tuesday while other centres of similar size were asked for information regarding charges and bydaw stipulations. Only one city, Kitchener, reported having metered cabs. Kingston is considering installing the system. However, that city considers it an expensive change, and no decision has been reached as yet.

Chairman Judge de N. Kennedy told Claire Donnelly, representing petitioning taxis, that the commission would not give the matter of a fare increase consideration until an almost absolute majority of owners had agreed on what they wanted.

Mr. Donnelly replied that 35 out of the 38 owners were agreed upon the proposal, and that was as big a majority as they would ever get. The judge agreed, saying he had not been aware that 35 owners were in accord.

In that case, continued the judge, the commission would have to consider the matter. He advised Mr. Donnelly that the commission would study the proposal and give a decision at a later date.

NEED APPLICATION

He told Mr. Davis to forward an application for meters in his taxis with full details as to proposed charges. He could see no reason why the three owners should not install meters if they wished and advertise as metered taxi proprietors.

City clerk E. A. Outram said that in the event of meters being allowed in some taxis the governing bylaw would have to be amended to make the operation fair to all parties.

The application will be considered again at the next meeting.

The commission also discussed the 24-hour service supposed to be supplied by taxis and the fact that drivers should operate from off-street offices.

"Is it desirable to enforce this 24-hour service?" asked Judge Kennedy.

"Well, it is a condition of taxi licences, and does ensure adequate service to the public," replied Mr. Outram.

Three Provinces Discuss Taxation

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Taxation was a topic Tuesday in three provincial legislatures but only members heard mention of tax cuts.

The throne speech at the opening of the British Columbia legislature foreeast reduction of the 17½-per-cent amusement tax, highest in Canada, exemption of children's clothes, boots and shoes from the three-per-cent sales tax, abolition of the 10-per-cent tax on liquor by the glass and "substantial" reductions in automobile and truck licence fees.

Members talked taxes in the Ontario and Quebec legislatures.

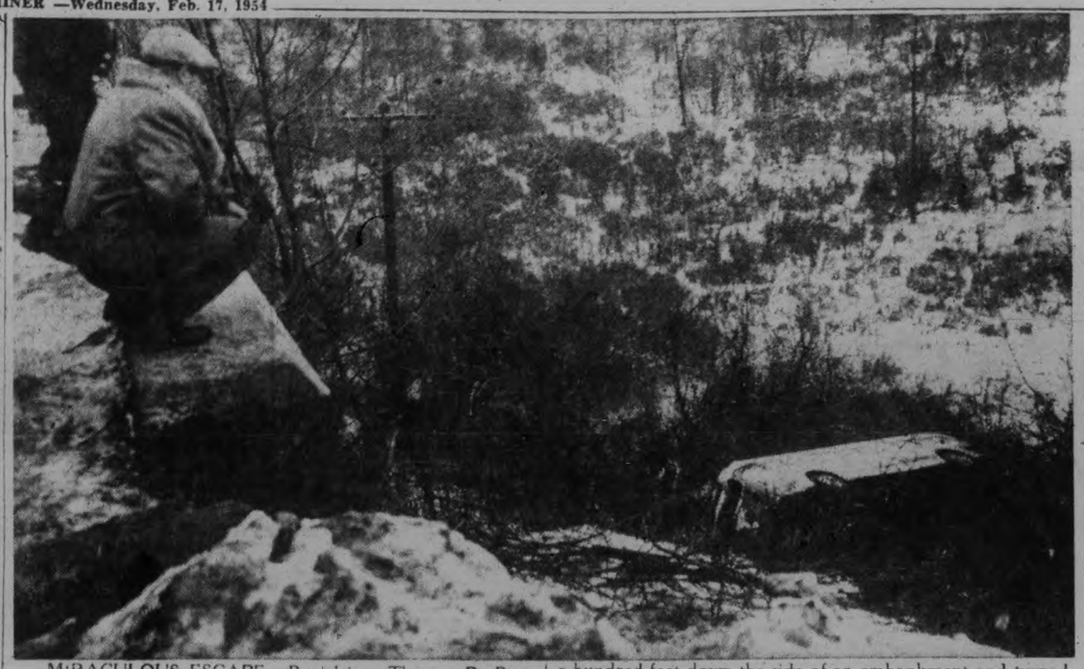
Trade Minister Paul Beaulieu denied opposition charges that Quebec is Canada's most heavily-taxed province. He said per capita taxation in Quebec is $68.8, compared with $88.89 in Ontario.

Mr. Beaulieu said Quebec budgets compare with those of Ontario Canada's most industrialized and most highly developed province. Quebec was steadily forging ahead and was about to step into the lead.

Premier Duplessis announced his government will make grants to Quebec's universities that will make up for loss of federal aid to education. Federal aid to universities, accepted in all provinces except Quebec, was cut off in Quebec on the grounds it encroached on provincial rights.

In the Saskatchewan legislature, opposition leader Asmundur Loptson said there seems to be truth in reports the CCF and Social Credit joined forces to re-elect the CCF government in the 1948 provincial election by splitting the anti-socialist vote. Premier Douglas in an interview denied the statements.

The Manitoba house debated second reading of a bill which would permit manufacture of oleomargarine with 6.5 per cent of coloring instead of the present 1.5-per-cent limit.



MIRACULOUS ESCAPE—Bus driver Thomas R. Butson stepped unhurt from the bus he was driving after it had swerved off the road to avoid a collision and ploughed a hundred feet down the side of an embankment and turned over on its side. The bus lying on its side is seen 100 feet below the ravine. There were no passengers aboard. (Federal Newsphoto)

Snakes Follow Floods

BRISBANE, Australia (Reuters) Hundreds of snakes slithered through the streets and homes of Rockhampton, 300 miles north of here, after flood waters washed through the city today. At least 400 persons were forced to leave their homes and more than 6,000 houses were isolated when the nearby Fitzroy river overflowed its banks.

Trade Pact Signed

BONN (AP)—West Germany and India Tuesday signed a trade agreement which is expected to increase the flow of goods between the two countries.

Nearly 100 Attend Missionary Service

sionary service on Sunday, with a record attendance of almost 100.

Al. Stevens of Peterborough was special speaker. Frank Cunningham of Peterborough led the singing of hymns and choruses on his piano-accordion. The choruses were conducted by Miss Margaret Neville. Walter Walker of Lakefield contributed a solo. Mr. Stevens and Mr. Cunningham sang a duet.

Ralph Hamilton, superintendent of the Sunday school, expressed the appreciation of those present. Mrs. Stevens and Mrs. Walker accompanied their husbands.

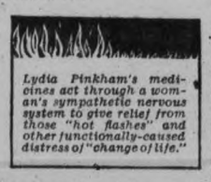
SO UPSET BY "CHANGE OF LIFE"

"I SCREAMED AT MY HUSBAND!"

Read Mrs. A. W.'s experience.

"Now I don't suffer from 'hot flashes' and nervousness . . . I feel just fine!"

● Are you going through the "change of life" . . . suffering the "hot flashes," nervous tension, irritability, weakness and other types of functionally-caused distress of this very difficult time of life?



Lydia Pinkham's medicines act through a woman's sympathetic nervous system to give relief from those "hot flashes" and other functionally-caused distress of "change of life."

What Our Doctors' Tests Showed!

Then . . . here is interesting news for you! In tests by our eminent doctors, Lydia Pinkham's Compound and Tablets stopped or gave striking relief from such distress . . . in literally case after case!

Surely you know that Lydia Pinkham's is entirely modern in action. You know what it has done for others!

But do you know what it will do for you? Not if you haven't experienced the relief of tension, "flashes" and irritability it so often brings at such times!

Before another day has passed, try Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound or new, improved Tablets with added iron... and discover how much easier your "change of life" may be!

Younger women and girls—suffering from functional cramps and distress of menstruation—know that Lydia Pinkham's is grand too! It quiets the uterine contractions that may cause the pain.

Icebound Crew Rescued

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The Argentine Navy Tuesday announced the successful evacuation of an icebound detachment of 20 men at San Martin base in Marguerite bay by two helicopters working with the Argentine Antarctic expedition. The crew had been icebound for two years as naval vessels had been unable to penetrate the bay. They were replaced by a new detachment.

Ancient Vases Found

GENOA, Italy (AP) — Well-preserved Greek vases which experts said were made in the fifth century B. C. were picked up by nets of a fishing boat Tuesday at Imperia, near here. Previous findings have led experts to believe an ancient Greek trading ship is on the sea bed there.

Antidote For Nerve Gas Now Made Synthetically

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP)—The life-saving antidote for frightening nerve-gas war now can be made artificullay, and there is already enough to treat 400,000,000 persons, it was disclosed today.

The drug is atropine, until now obtained only from plants grown mostly in countries controlled by Russia.

The synthetic drug, made with chemicals from petroleum, frees the United States from dependence upon foreign supplies.

Synthetic production of atropine is announced by Winthrop-Stearns, Inc., of New York city and Rensselaer, N.Y.

Nerve gas blocks or paralyzes nerves, causing death unless quickly counteracted. Atropine is the best known antidote, for it neutralizes the paralyzing chemical in nerve gas.

A life-saving dose is only 1-150th of a grain of atropine sulphate. The drug can be stockpiled, in ampules ready for injection, at strategic locations for military or civilian use.

Atropine is obtained naturally from atropa belladona and datura stramonium. The biggest producers of these plants are Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Bulgaria, Romania and Yugoslavia, with some now beginning to be grown in Australia.

BRITISH METHOD

"There is evidence that large quantities of natural atropine have been disappearing recently behind the iron curtain," said Dr. Theodore G. Klumpp, president of Winthrop-Stearns.

About 1,000 pounds of atropine are used annually in the U. S., mostly as an anti-spasmodic to relax muscles in treating gastro-intestinal disorders, and for eye drops in eye examinations.

Synthesis of the drug was achieved by research teams of Sterling-Winthrop Research Institute at Rensselaer, and Winthrop-Stearns, building on developments of other scientists.

Sir Robert Robinson, British Nobel prize winner, first developed a laboratory method of making it, but the cost was prohibitive.

Then oil entered the picture, with newer chemistry yielding basic chemicals to make various drugs. One such chemical was made available by Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Corp. Dr. F. F. Blicke, University of Michigan school of Pharmacy, devised a method of using it to synthesize tropic acid; which in turn yields atropine.

These supplied the keyes to turn the British method into a commercial, reasonably-priced pathway to atropine.

WIDE RANGE

The iguana, a tropical lizard, has been found as far north as British Columbia.

Guides Given Examination

LONDON (CP)—Candidates for London's elite corps of government-registered guides must combine the talents of historian, architect, geographer and diplomat.

Here are a few examples from the 32-question examination paper which candidates must answer following a three-month training course:

"Which is the deepest London underground station?

"Who was buried in Westminster Abbey in an upright position?

"Where in London can you find a statue of George Washington?

"Which London church has a statue of a British king on its steeple?

"Where in London is the rule of the road 'Keep to the right?' "

Seventeen men and nine women now are awaiting the results of the examination which will determine whether they may wear the coveted "registered guide" badge issued by the British Travel and Holiday Association.

The association does not employ guides but keeps a list of qualified guides for tourists wishing them.

The answers to the questions: Hampstead station, 181 feet; Ben Jonson; Trafalgar square; St. George's, Bloomsbury Savoy Courts.

Dies At Hockey Game

TORONTO (CP)—Roy Shephard, 65, of Toronto, a spectator at Tuesday night's Ontario Hockey Association Junior A game between Toronto Marlboros and Toronto St. Michael's, died of a heart ailment during the game.

MILITARY STUDENTS in the far north have learned much more from the Eskimo than they have taught him. Students soon learn that their ability to build an igloo as a protection against extreme temperatures and petrifying winds may mean the difference between life and death. They learn, too, that even in the most pressing times, the Eskimo has long since known that to perspire may result in slow death by freezing.

Funeral For Editor To Be Held Friday

BRANTFORD (CP)—The funeral of A. T. Whitaker, Brantford Expositor news editor who died Tuesday at 63, will be held Friday.

The service will be at 2:30 p.m. at Thorpe Brothers funeral home, with burial in the Farringdon burial ground.

Mr. Whitaker, a newspaper man 48 years, served as news editor of the Expositor since 1915.

Set Up Rent Control

PARIS (CP) — Town council Tuesday night passed a rent-control by-law setting up a four-man board to hear appeals. The law will be in force until Dec. 31. Houses which now are decontrolled will not be covered by the by-law.

Army Officers Given Choice Of Regiments

OTTAWA (CP)—The unheard-of has happened in Canada's armed forces.

The army announced Tuesday that 200 officers have a choice of which among eight regiments they want to join. It happened this way:

When the Canadian Army active force was formed in October, 1946, a number of officers of the Royal Canadian Armored Corps and Royal Canadian Infantry Corps were taken on strength. During the Second World War, these officers had served in various units not now included in the active force.

These officers continued to wear the badges and uniforms of the units with which they were associated during the war when they took up staff appointments or specialist duties in the post-war army.

Now, all active force officers are to wear the badges and uniforms of active force regiments or corps. Some 50 armored corps and 150 infantry corps officers are affected.

They will be asked to express a preference for a regiment and, under normal circumstances, will continue their connection with that regiment throughout their service careers.

Armored corps officers will be appointed to either the Lord Strathcona's Horse or Royal Canadian Dragoons; infantry officers to the Regiment of Canadian Guards, Royal Canadian Regiment, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, Royal 22nd Regiment, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada or the Royal Highland Regiment of Canada (Black Watch).

BABY'S CRY IS NOT ALWAYS TEMPER

DISTINGUISH between your baby's cry of pain and cry of temper. The "pain cry" should have instant attention. If it is caused by the distress due to gas on the stomach or bowels, or those common digestive upsets, try Baby's Own Tablets.

As one Ontario mother reports,—"It used to be a worry what to use when my baby had an upset spell, needed a regulator. Well that problem was solved when my sister said, 'Give Baby's Own Tablets.' And during teething time—when babies are feverish, restless due to irregularity or have an upset tummy—Baby's Own Tablets not only relieve efficiently, but do it quickly. I wouldn't be without them."

Equally effective for constipation, digestive upsets, and other minor infant troubles. No "sleepy" stuff—no dulling effect. Get a package today at your druggist.

Mailing Privileges Cost $68,000 Not Millions Of Dollars Yearly

OTTAWA (CP)—An Ontario senator Tuesday night suggested that free mailing privileges for parliamentarians cost $68,000 yearly and not the millions mentioned by some newspapers in criticizing franking.

However, Senator Joseph Bradette's suggestion during a Senate debate of plans to increase postal rates was criticized by a fellow-Liberal, Senator W. D. Euler, who described the figures used in calculating the cost as "tremendously exaggerated."

Debate on the government's plan for an increase of one cent on first-class postage was adjourned after a suggestion by Senator J. J. Kinley (L—Nova Scotia) that a parliamentary committee investigate the "abuses" in free use of the mails by government departments.

Senator Kinley said he does not suggest abolishing the frank. But he knew it was being used by some persons who had no right to do so and it was being used for purposes for which it was not intended. Total cost of the frank was estimated by postal authorities at $4,100,000 yearly.

Senator Bradette said newspapers sometimes are not fair when it comes to articles on parliamentary affairs. Some had attacked the parliamentarians use of the frank with estimates ranging up to $4,000,000 as the cost for free mailing by members of Parliament.

30 LETTERS DAILY

Based on an estimate that each commoner and senator sends 30 letters a day free, six days a week, the total cost during the 26-week session was $49,608 for commoners and $19,000 for senators, a total of about $68,000.

He recalled that Senator W. Rupert Davies (L—Ontario) last week described the second-class mailing rates for newspapers as a subsidy for the newspaper subscriber and not the newspaper.

He said he has no quarrel with that description but the newspapers should try to realize what the situation really is and not try to insinuate that the frank is costing millions.

When the newspapers carried articles concerning Parliament many seemed able to be "very biased" although many also were "favorable."

Senator Euler said Senator Bradette's estimate of 30 letters sent free a day was unjustified and would likely bring more of the kind of criticism given to the passage of parliamentary pay raises.

Maritimes Undergoing Recession Says Co-Operative Leader

AMHERST, N.S. (CP) — Msgr. M. M. Coady, one of the leaders in the co-operative movement, said today the Maritimes is in the midst of a recession which amounts almost to a depression.

Speaking to the annual convention of the United Maritime Fishermen, the former director of St. Francis Xavier University's extension department said:

"All the rest of Canada is experiencing the greatest boom in its history. . . but our present recession in the Maritime provinces . . . is embarrassing and saddening."

The solution to the problem, he said, is in indirect action—those financial and industrial changes which don't necessarily give quick results but pay off great dividends in the long run.

There were three main problems: Provision of cheap power, improved transportation and education and organization of the people, Msgr. Coady added.

"The fact is that we have not cheap power and as a consequence we have not progress. There is an intimate connection between them, as everybody knows."

EDUCATION NEEDED

Transportation also had to be improved and changes were already taking place, Msgr. Coady mentioned trucking specifically as providing quick transportation of fish to markets in central Canada and the United States.

Education and organization also was necessary although thousands of people don't approve it because "in some way or another it is a blow at their pride."

"They don't understand that in the last analysis the solution of their problems, and of the world for that matter, is the improvement of the quality of human beings. Temper their mettle and we have the tools fit for the job of social reconstruction."

But some people still preferred to trust in "horse sense," Msgr. Coady said.

"I am afraid we shall have to admit that in the long history of our own Maritimes we have contributed a sizable quota to this great army of miserable human beings."

Undecided On Controls

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — Faced with a rough estimate that it would cost the city $30,000 a year to set up its own rent control system, civic finance committee Monday night voted to investigate further before making a decision. Rent controls governed by the province will be dropped March 2.

Hints Collected by Mrs. Dan Gerber (Mother of 5)

An enterprising mother we've heard of tried this simple trick to get baby used to spoon feeding. She placed a bit of food on the spoon and turned it upside down before putting it in baby's mouth. Since the food touched the tongue instead of the roof of the mouth, baby soon learned to swallow without difficulty.

• • •

Spoon feeding is often made simpler if you start baby off on solid foods with tastes and textures designed just to please his tender tongue. Like Gerber's Cereals. Little beginners will go for their smooth, good-feeling texture and bland flavors. Important, too—Gerber's Cereals are enriched with vitamins and minerals so essential to growing tots. For taste variety, rotate all five: Mixed, Rice, Barley, Oatmeal and Wheat Cereals.

P.S. Gerber's Cereals are easy for mother, too—all are precooked and ready-to-serve. Just add milk or formula.

• • •

Reflected glory. A mirror hung behind baby's dressing table works wonders in cutting down the wiggles. Baby will glory in studying his reflection and yours, probably kick up far less fuss during diapering.

• • •

Love at first sip. Baby's first food after milk may well be orange juice! And wee ones almost always love Gerber's Strained Orange Juice from the first sip on. Made from tree-ripened oranges, it has the nice natural color, the mild natural flavor that appeals to babies. Carefully pasteurized for baby's protection and uniformly high in the Vitamin C so necessary to all infants.

• • •

These chilly days may indicate that overalls are the best all-round costume even for a small baby. You can make awfully cute ones for a tiny girl or boy out of striped mattress ticking.

Marmora CWL Holds Grandmothers' Night

MARMORA (ENS) — The Catholic Women's League met in Sacred Heart parish hall. Mrs. Donald Shannon presided.

The Rev. W. P. Healey opened the meeting with prayer. Mrs. H. J. Trudeau, newly arrived in the district, was welcomed. The treasurer, Mrs. J. H. English, reported a balance on hand.

For social welfare, Mrs. K. Donaldson reported the giving out of one basket and one baby gift at Deloro and Mrs. M. Barlow reported one baby gift being given out in Marmora. Mesdames G. Forestell and J. Clairmont, visiting committee for the past month, reported four visits made. Appointed to the same duties for the current month were Mrs. L. A. Stephens and Miss Gladys Gehan.

Groups 5 and 6 were selected to attend the Holy Communion on the first Saturday in March. Group 4 was appointed to provide the program for the March meeting. Arrangements were made to cater for the IODE banquet in Sacred Heart parish hall February 24. Plans for the play on March 17 were discussed.

The program was in keeping with "Grandmother's Night." It opened with a reading by Mrs. Clarence Shannon. This was followed by a piano selection by Mrs. C. McCoy. A dialogue was presented by Mrs. Arthur Sheridan and Miss Mary Hughes.

All grandmothers present were called to the stage to receive a valentine and gift. On their behalf, Mrs. Donald Shannon thanked the league for the gifts.

Lunch was served by group 4.

WA Makes Donation To Orange Lodge

HALL'S GLEN (ENS) — Mrs. Henry Little entertained the WA of Zion church with Mrs. William Crowe presiding.

Mrs. Lorne Morrison read the scripture lesson. The secretary, Mrs. Little read letters of thanks from shut-ins. It was agreed to give a donation to the Orange Lodge towards getting venetian blinds for the hall. They also bought a supply of new kitchenware for the hall.

A hymn and prayer brought the meeting to a close. Mrs. Allan Olver was in charge of the program and Mrs. Little's group served lunch.

SURPRISE WINNERS—Donald O'Connor (right) and Eve Arden both won the coveted Emmy award by being named the best male and female stars of television. A crowd of 1,300 people was on hand at the Palladium Theatre in Hollywood where the awards were made.

Ritchie Hearing Opened Tuesday At Windsor

WINDSOR (CP)—The extradition hearing of Donald Ritchie, controversial witness in the 1948 attempted murder of Walter Reuther opened Tuesday with a legal wrangle over the admissability of certain statements which Detroit police said Ritchie made to them.

Mr. Reuther was seriously wounded by shotgun fire through his kitchen window. Ritchie named four men as involved in the shooting including himself and Clarence Jacobs of Windsor, his uncle. All five are charged with attempted murder.

Crown Attorney Bruce J. S. Macdonald said the case of Michigan authorities lies largely on the admissibility of statements which police said Ritchie made in a Detroit hotel Dec. 31 and Jan. 2.

Angelo A. Pentolino, a court stenographer for the office of Gerald K. O'Brien, Wayne county (Mich.) prosecutor, told the court Ritchie was the man whose statements he took down and transcribed on those dates. He said the statements were voluntary and "to me, he seemed sober."

Bernard Cohn, constantly checking testimony and objecting on points of law, tried to point out inconsistencies on behalf of his client. By reference to the statement defence counsel Cohn suggested Ritchie was questioned all night and until after noon Dec. 31.

"I am all fogged up now. You got me at the wrong time," he quoted Ritchie as saying in the statement.

On a back bench of the court was Clarence Jacobs, the man held after Ritchie named him trigger man in the shooting. With Jacobs was Ritchie's brother Gordon. The woman who lived with Ritchie, Betty White of Windsor, was out in the hall. She waved greetings to Ritchie at every opportunity.

Jacobs was due for extradition hearing today but Mr. Macdonald said it would likely be postponed for at least a week.

Dies After Accident

HAMILTON (CP)—William Bourdon, 57, died Tuesday night of injuries suffered four hours earlier in an industrial accident at the Steel Company of Canada. Plant officials said Bourdon, working at an open-hearth furnace, was pinned between a crane and furnace.

Nothing like this ever happened to meat loaf before

Cheeseburger Loaf

"FROM CONTENTED COWS"

IT TAKES CARNATION MILK... NO OTHER FORM OF MILK WILL DO

It's New! A wonderfully rich-flavored loaf of beef and cheese . . . made extra juicy and delicious by Carnation Milk.

NEVER have you made meat loaf so tender and moist, through and through. That's because Carnation is concentrated to double richness . . . has the thick consistency of heavy cream.

AND NEVER have you made meat loaf so tasty. For Carnation is one milk that's specially heat-refined to blend better with other recipe ingredients and bring out more of their flavor.

IN ALL YOUR RECIPES Carnation's double-rich and heat-refined advantages make it far superior to any other form of milk. Proof of this is as near as your grocer's — in the cans with the red and white Carnations on the label.

Rich, Moist, Delicious
CHEESEBURGER LOAF
(Makes 6 servings)

½ cup undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk
1 egg
1 cup cracker crumbs
1½ pounds ground beef
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon catsup
1 cup grated cheddar cheese

Blend all ingredients except cheese until thoroughly mixed. Line loaf pan with heavy waxed paper. Place ½ cup cheese in bottom of pan, spread evenly. Cover with half of meat loaf mixture. Repeat with remaining cheese and meat layers. Bake in moderate oven (350°) about 1 hour. Allow loaf to stand about 10 minutes before turning out on platter. Remove paper; slice for serving.

Miss J. Burnham Hostess To Mission Circle

MILLBROOK — (ENS) — The Golden Links Mission circle of St. Andrew's United church met on Monday evening at the home of Miss Jean Burnham with 30 members present. Mrs. M. E. Hobbs, the president, was in the chair. The worship service which had as its theme, "The church of the Open Book," was conducted by Miss Mary L. Widdis. Mrs. Walter Challice gave the scripture reading. A vocal solo "Shine Down Upon Us, Lord" was sung by Mrs. William Buckham.

In her stewardship report Mrs. Arnold Fallis said that this was the time of year for stock-taking. What was the average contribution? How was this amount arrived at? Was it determined by what one's neighbors gave or by how God had prospered that individual? She quoted Dr. Frank Laubach as saying that "if we do not supply food and books to the needy, the Communists will." These people want to know how to help themselves. Stewardship remains as the relationship between God, ourselves and others.

Mrs. Hobbs reported on the highlights of the presbyterial meeting held in Peterborough and Mrs. Bruce Ingham gave a resume of the address given by Miss Dorothy Young, home organization secretary. Miss Jean Burnham told of the address of Mrs. Michael Comay, wife of the Israeli ambassador to Canada, who she had heard in Peterborough earlier in the month.

The chapters of the study book on Thailand and China were given by Mrs. Homer Ouellette.

Attention was called to the fact that four times Christianity had been brough to China, the earliest in 635 A.D., and each time it had been driven out.

A letter was read from Miss Jean Stewart, formerly a missionary to China. Miss Stewart, who has for many years been the Circle's special missionary for prayer, told of the work she is now doing among the Japanese in Hamilton.

Supper hostesses were Mrs. Alex Gilbert, Mrs. Homer Ouellette, Mrs. Bruce Ingham.

Mrs. Chas. Roberts Hostess To WMS

HAVELOCK — (ENS) — Mrs. Charles Roberts entertained the Woman's Missionary Society of Havelock United Church for their February meeting. The president, Mrs. R. G. Newman, presided.

The date for the Easter thankoffering service was set for Sunday evening, April 11, and it was left to Mrs. Newman to arrange for a special speaker.

It was announced that the World Day of Prayer service would be held in Knox Presbyterian Church March 5.

Mrs. A. Anderson conducted the worship service and Mrs. Newman gave the Presbyterial report.

Mrs. H. R. Haacke was in charge of the study, taken from the study book, "Where'er the Sun". She was assistd by Mrs. A. Anderson, Mrs. H. Thompson, Mrs. H. Agnew.

The March meeting will be held in the Sunday school room of the church.

Mrs. Anderson closed the meeting with prayer. Lunch was served by the hostess.

SACRED HEART SCHOOL

Speaker at the meeting of Sacred Heart Parent-Teacher Association on Tuesday evening was Mr. George O'Brien whose topic was Credit Unions.

"Credit Union is a bank operated by people with a common bond of the association to encourage thrift and provide money when needed" he defined the organization.

Reviewing the origin and early history of credit unions, he stated they were first formed in the Rhine Province in Germany in 1948. Now there are 18,000 credit unions in North America. "Although credit unions receive their charter from the government, they are non-profit-making" he added.

Mr O'Brien was introduced by Mr. Ed Johnston and thanked by Mr. D. Hatton.

To display the new parish school movie projector, the Rev. G. Sullivan showed two short films.

President Mr. Fred Whaley presided for business. The attendance prize was won by grade 8 and the door prize by Mrs. M. McDougall. Mr. Whaley and Mr. Leo Martyn were appointed to attend the Provincial P-TA meeting in Toronto in April.

Congratulations were extended to the school hockey team for winning in the separate school inter-scholastic schedule. Goal pads have been donated by Mr Vincent Marino.

A St. Patrick's tea was planned for Sunday afternoon, March 14th, in the new hall. Mrs. B. Flynn will convene.

As this was "father's night", the men proved themselves very capable hosts for the social period.

Choose WI Theme For "Ex" Plan Oratorical

"Let's have a bazaar" was chosen as theme for the exhibits to be prepared in coming months by Women's institute branches for the Peterborough Exhibition in August. A district meeting of the WI was held Tuesday, at the Department of Agriculture rooms in Peterborough, with president Mrs. Joseph Moore of Warsaw presiding.

Secretary-treasurer, Mrs. H. G. Digweed, also of Warsaw, will advise each branch of the details, since some were not represented owing to the condition of country roads. It is expected the prize money will remain much the same as last year.

An appeal for material suitable for use by the brances in making cancer dressings was made to the district.

Plans for the annual oratorical contest were made at the afternoon session. Teachers in Peterborough County are to be contacted regarding this. Pupils chose their own topics for the 5-7 minute speeches.

Elimination contests will be held in the early fall and the finals will be at Brighton in November. Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Digweed, Mrs. F. E. Birdsall and Mrs. K. O. Birkin, school inspector, form the committee in charge of the contest.

Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Digweed were appointed to represent Peterborough County district on the oratorical board of Northumberland County at the fall contest to be held in Campbellford.

School Children Spend $70 Millions A Week In U.S.

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP)—Never underestimate the importance of a "teen-ager."

This is the period which has been defined as "the age hen daughter knows best," when parents are mere old fogies, and when the world is a big, beautiful show window of lipstick, bebop records, shirts, skirts and dance dresses.

The present era also might be known as the golden age of teens, who, with their younger sisters and brothers, now constitute one of the most important consumergroups. Since big business discovered the staggering total of school children's spending, these junior tycoons have been the object of advertising campaigns, special departments in stores, vast publishing ventures and concentrated merchandising plans designed to extract the pennies from their piggy banks.

School children in the United States are spending about $70,000,000 a week, estimates Lester Rand, president of the Youth Research Institute. The agency specializes in surveying tastes, opinions and resources of young people.

These figures represent only the money spent by the youngsters themselves, and do not include expenditures for clothing and food, usually purchased by the parents. But any parent knows that the young fry of the family also exercise a strong voice in the selection of these basic items. Few mothers would dare pick out a new dress for a teen-age daughter without taking the young lady along.

My own teen-age daughter is, I think, typical of her age group. Thanks to baby-sitting jobs and paid household chores around her own home, she is seldom without folding money.

She collects blouses and skirts like another generation used to collect seashells and butterflies. Her record collection overflows into every room of the house. She also collects miniature animals (porcelain, wood or stuffed) and college pennants. Most of this impedimenta she buys with her own money. And her total expenditure for a year probably would surprise even her long-suffering parents.

Over-All Fashion Forecast For Spring

The big inspiration for 1954 spring fashions is the "weather". Strong as the impact of the new shorter narrow silhouette appears to be, the real blueprint of fashion this spring points to the character of fabrics, of types of clothes and their detailing, specifically chosen to bridge the long season between winter and fall, now recognized as one prolonged period of mild weather.

This conclusion is uppermost following the review of some 140 New York collections. Coats, suits, dresses, contribute alike to this interpretation of fashion with this new and realistic concern of the weather, rather than the calendar.

"SPAN-SEASON" SILKS AND COTTONS

In concrete terms, silks and cottons come through this spring as the very essence of this necessary span-season factor. The cotton suit should achieve new popularity in 1954 and this year, the cotton coat is added. Silk coats and suits are even stronger, actually a key to 1954 fashions.

In the same way woollens are amazingly lightweight. Chiffon tweeds personify suitings, and fleeces are puff-light for coats, not to mention lightweight worsteds. These are easily visualized for wear as soon as the winter coat comes off, right up to sizzling midsummer, and on again in late August up to the arrival of below 60-degree weather.

SILHOUETTE SHORT AND STRAIGHT

Weather or no, unquestionably the short narrow skirt is the fashion silhouette. It dominates dresses and suits; coats, if not straight themselves, are built around the narrow dress or suit. "Shorter" this season means midcalf, but many manufacturers have shown them even shorter by way of making the newness of the short look penetrate. So "shorter" and "straight" introduce a silhouette that has not been seen in a decade.

The modest and simple look of the new fashions is new, adding to the basically youthful character of the silhouette. The use of softer fabrics has a restraining influence and color is similarly quited down.

NARROW-SKIRTED DRESSES STAGE COMEBACK

Dresses have a prospect of a new lease on life. The narrow-skirted silhouette in a one-piece line from neck to hemline gives dresses, en masse, an advantage they have not had since the last time narrow-skirted silhouette was universal. In spring collections, 75 per cent of daytime dresses are narrow; but for after-five dresses, narrow skirts give over to width of the flared petticoated type. Not to be overlooked by any means in the daytime silhouette are the pleated skirts that have straight fulness, but no flare, from a hipline seam; the flared princess; and back-fulled skirts.

Fashion writers find that the introduction of softer fabrics, like crepes and silks that are de-crispened, is developing an all-day dress of a type that has been missing for several years. In this grouping are the coat dress and shirtwaist dress, both looking new since they have thrown off flares. But there are many other pretty dresses with bateau-derived necklines, high fitted midriffs worn with and without belts. If not the bateau, look for the white collar—either a schoolgirl peter pan or a large almost shoulder-embracing collar.

VARIETY OF FABRICS IN COATS

This spring while the fitted coat is a strong consideration, many other alternatives take the place of the loose flare of past seasons. Loose, straight on the lines of the modified cupola (stiffened though not rigid) is the newest, in the new high-bloom fleeces or softly nubbed tweeds as well as fancies in silk or cotton. Also on hand is the straighter, rounding tapered coat, full length, three-quarters or two-thirds.

The fitted princess coat gets its personality from the crisp silk or alpaca fabrics (black, navy or grey) in which they are made, not to mention the fancy brocade-like cottons and silks These are intended for wear early as coat dresses, and later as ensemble coats with print or slim black or navy dresses.

Changing the coat look this spring are the low-cut neckline, collared or otherwise, and the low-seamed rounded shoulder, with rounded cylindrical sleeves, bracelet or elbow length.

SILK SUITS TAKE OVER

Suitmakers have come up with suit types this season which have rarely appeared before. For instance, the preponderance of silk suits (thanks to the new silk and worsted mixtures which lend themselves so splendidly to tailoring); the rise of the costume; and the flexibility of style detail.

In a story by itself is the variety of jacket styles and jacket lengths. Easy-fitting in 23-24-inch length is first, but though this establishes a short jacket, the crop is more cropped than that. Some stop at the waistline, over high-rising skirts.

Box jackets and semi-box jackets are in good shape, literally and numerically. The regulation box jacket is linked with the topper suit, usually with fabric of coating weight for jacket, and lighter-weight skirt or dress beneath.

The low-necked collar labels the spring, 1954, suit, as do the crescent-shaped sleeves, done with moderation. The Empire influence is mostly discernible in under-bust seaming or detail.

SEPARATES IN SPORTSWEAR

The most significant think about sportswear for the coming spring is the new category of street separates, a type that lies somewhere between the familiar ranks of dressy separates and spectator sportswear. In wools with fresh new faces (the wools over-dyed with floral prints, for example), and in synthetics such as dacrons, and in flannels, these new separates can be assembled in a smart street costume suitable for church-going Easter morning.

The silhouette takes three directions. The waist-length fitted jacket with either full or slim skirt is first. The boxy jacket costume with perky printed cotton blouse and lining-to-match is another. The straight full length coat in an arresting fabric is the third.

Navy blue is the leading color in sportswear for spring. Hand detailed blouses that are dainty and feminine are being shown to go with the navy costume.

BRIMS IN MILLINERY

Feminine flattery registers as the major theme in spring millinery. Shallowness in crowns is developed, always with an eye toward maximum coiffure display. The continuing popularity of the short hairdo, mainly the Italian coiffure and its many variations, has influenced these developments.

Brims appear on almost all hats. They vary from the merest hint on a pillbox to large brims on cartwheels, plateaus and brefons.

Watteau shapes are also major contenders for fashion honors. These forward-posed, flower-trimmed hats express ladylike charm. Watteau styles vary from the tiniest shapes to larger plateau types, all kept comfortably in place by decorative wired grippers.

Profiles have a new look for spring, 1954, characterized by shallow crowns, back of head pose and deep draped sides. Oval shapes with profile angles highlight brims, smaller on one side and larger on the other for new effects. This is believed to be the important incoming look for spring.

Pert, young sailors form one of the most important categories. New ways with sailors are expressed in peaked brims, square or rippled effects, new front lifts or turnbacks, and triangular-shaped brims.

Plan Cent-A-Day From WA Members

MILLBROOK (ENS) — The St. Thomas' Women's Auxiliary met on Monday evening at the rectory with a large attendance.

Mrs. Reginald Fallis, the president, conducted the opening devotions. The Bible lesson was read by Mrs. Les. Bristow. Mrs. W. E. Massey-Cooke gave the annual report of the "Little Helpers." The letter written by Miss E. Whelpley, prayer partner, which is received once each year, was read by Mrs. T. A. Campbell.

It was decided to collect the cent-a-day fund from each member monthly. The Rev. L. R. Pocock told of the Lenten services in which all the churches of the village are uniting. The first one is to be held on March 3 in St. Thomas' Anglican.

The chapter of the study book "Africa Steps Out" was taken by Mrs. Turner.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. L. R. Pocock.

DOROTHY DIX

High School Girl Warned Against Back-Stoop Line

DEAR MISS DIX: My girl friend and I went for a walk one evening (we're both high-school sophomores) and met some boys from our school. We had never spoken to them before, but they followed us for a while, and finally we spoke to them. We talked and walked for a while, then one boy singled me out, took me home and we sat on the stoop for a while. He kissed me a few times, then left. The following day I saw him in school and he didn't even say "Hi" to me. A few nights later, the walking episode was repeated. After we got back to my house, I refused his kisses for a while, but since I was beginning to like him, I guess I wan't too emphatic. Again, the following day in school he ignored me completely. Now do you think he likes me, or not?

BETSY C.

ARTFUL YOUTHS

ANSWER: A young man can be most convincing when he's trying to persuade a young girl that he wants to kiss her because he really likes her. And a young girl can be most gullible when she falls for that line. The boy, in your case, certainly indicated quite clearly how he felt about you when he pointedly and discourteously ignored you at school. That should have been clue enough that his liking for you was strictly of the back-stoop variety. Repetition of the entire episode should have removed any lingering, and hopeful, doubt that there was any sincerity in his feelings.

You won't get the boy, but perhaps you will get the lesson. Promiscuity never pays. Don't get the reputation of being an easy mark, or your entire high-school social career will be ruined. News travels fast, and none is so fleet as unsavory tidbits. Be sure, if you let this boy, or any other, kiss you indiscriminately, every lad in the school will know about it, and you'll be tabu with the nice boys. Just be more cautious, Betsy; a tarnished name is very difficult to re-silver.

DEAR MISS DIX: A problem has plagued me for the last two years. We have a mountain cottage and frequently take couples up for the weekend. There is one couple in particular whom my husband likes very much, and whom I dislike intensely. This disagreement has led to many quarrels in the past, and I can see it coming up again as a source of trouble. I'm 34 and showing my age; while the other wife is about my age but much more attractive. You might think jealousy was the root of the trouble; it is, partly, I admit, but there are other factors. These people are heavy drinkers, and their conversation consists largely of off-color stories. I just don't like that sort of company.

PEGGY G.

ANSWER: By constantly arguing over the matter with your husband, you're making him much more conscious of the lady than he might be otherwise. Try ignoring the subject for a while. Don't make it an "if-or" proposition either. He'll just call your bluff and leave you biting your fingernails. Express your objection to these people being included in your weekends less often, or make it your business to have other couples invited so frequently that free time is at a premium. This looks like the sort of thing of which your husband himself will get tired. Be as congenial as you can, don't let your jealousy show, and don't let them go away without you. Try a counterattack of monopolizing the other husband for awhile.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a widow of 39, and have been going with Fred for six years. He tells me he loves me, but not well enough to get married. He is kind and considerate, but I wonder if he's worth waiting for.

MILLY.

ANSWER: If marriage is what you want, and the man is adamant in his determination to avoid same, obviously there's not much in the friendship for you. If you're willing to settle for companionship only, hang on to him.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Discoloration Of Potatoes

On Friday February 5 I answered a letter from "Starved" who was asking how potatoes could be cooked to prevent darkening.

At that time I searched all available data on potato varieties and cooking methods relevant to potatoes grown in "Starved"'s area. Since then more information has reached me and it is encouraging.

Before going any further I would be glad if "Starved" would mail or express to me (I will pay the cost) four medium-sized uniform potatoes grown in his area and give me the name of the variety. I will do four simple tests with them, and report my findings later.

Potatoes which darken on cooking may be treated this way to lessen or eliminate darkening or discoloration:

To each pound of peeled potatoes to be cooked add 1½ cups boiling hot tap water. (NOTE: if very heavy aluminum wear is used this amount of water may be reduced to 1¼ cups). Bring to boil covered. After boiling exactly 15 minutes add ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar and finish cooking until tender.

NOTE: If potatoes are to be mashed ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar (to each 1 pound of peeled potatoes) may be added after they are tender and when they are drained—that is when you add the salt and pepper and butter and milk usually used in mashing potatoes. This is not additional cream of tartar, it is in place of adding it at the 15-minute mark.

NOTE: Those who are most interested in this subject of preventing potatoes darkening should keep an eye on this space, for I will report my conclusions on the tests I make after "Starved" sends me potatoes grown in his area.

QUESTION: (Second instalment of D.B.'s letter): . . . while I am writing would you also tell me how long quart jars of tomatoes should be processed in the oven when canning? I know how long pint jars of tomatoes take . . . would you also tell me the best way to wash white nylon curtains and blouses to keep them white. Should they be washed with detergents or pure soap flakes . . . we have a daughter and son too, like you and enjoy your remarks about them as they seem so like our two . . . I make those Hermits the recipe for which you had in your column one day. They are now my husband's favorite cookie and I put them in his lunch box. . . D. B.

ANSWER: That's fine D.B. and thank you.

When tomatoes are cold packed and oven processed quarts require 45 minutes. When they are hot packed and oven processed quarts require 20 minutes—oven temperature 275 deg. Fahr. in both cases.

In our house we wash our nylon blouses in detergent. We never allow our blouses to become very soiled at all. However there is a bleach especially for nylon on the market, which, if used exactly as directed, does them no harm and does keep them pure white.

LETTER: . . . marble cake (Jan. 15) had two mistakes . . . it probably must say 30 g. of cocoa powder, instead of 3 oz. . . the baking powder would not have the powetr to raise the part of the cake containing the cocoa and would remain hard . . . you are saying that 250 g. of butter is about ½ lb. The recipe calls for the same amount of sugar but 500 g. flour, but you give ½ lb. for each of these three ingredients. I figure 1 European lb. equals 1 lb. 2 oz. in our weight, so 250 g. would be ½ lb. and 1 oz. One oz. is about 25 g. you say but I think that this is just 1 tablespoon of sugar and not 2. The baking powder and rum flavoring are correct. There is no topping. The ingredients all go into the cake. Take about 1-3 of your pastry dough in a separate dish and mix with the cocoa, alternating the white parts with the one containing the coca . . . have the baking dish thoroughly greased . . . and baked at 375 deg. F. for about 1 hour . . . dust with icing sugar while still hot, and once again when cold. Serve with tea, coffee or cocoa. I hope this is of help to Mrs. Linda J.—Mrs. Hugo P.

ANSWER: Thank you for this authoritative interpretation.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Houle and baby Billie visited in Desoronto over the week end.

Mrs. A. Daniels and Wayne of Peterborough are visiting Mrs. R. Hales.

TREAT BEFORE WASHING

Treat a fruit stain on a good tablecloth before you wash the cloth. Pour boiling water through the stain from a height of three or four feet; do not use soap. For old stains, rub well with glycerin or soapless shampoo. Let the cloth stand for several hours, then treat with boiling water.

USE A PLASTIC BAG

If you're interrupted when you're ironing, or haven't time to finish it all up at once, place the bundle of damp clothes in a plastic bag and store them in the refrigerator until you have more time. They'll be safe from mildew for a week to 10 days.

7—Card of Thanks

We would like to express our sincere thanks to the Lane Funeral Home and Dr. Grant of St. John the Baptist Church, for kindnesses shown, also to friends, relatives and neighbors for flowers and spiritual tokens during the recent bereavement of a dear sister, Mrs. Martha Tool. — Mr. and Mrs. A. Le Vasseur and Mr. and Mrs. George Self.

We wish to thank all our relatives, kind friends and neighbors for flowers, cards, and kind messages of sympathy, also the Rev. Mr. Pocock and those who helped in any way at the time of our sad bereavement in the loss of a loving wife and mother, Mrs. Charlotte Perrin. — John Perrin, Lottie and Effie.

OBITUARIES

MRS. MICHAEL S. DONOGHUE

Mrs. Michael S. Donoghue of 352 McDonnel St., died today at her home following a prolonged illness.

She was born in Ennismore township, 81 years ago, Mary Louise, daughter of the late David Guiry and Honora Curtin and before moving to Peterborough 50 years ago lived in Ennismore township.

Besides her husband she leaves two daughters at home, the Misses Mary and Jane Donoghue, and three sons; Kenneth of Toronto; Casimer (Cass) of Kansas City, Mo., and Arthur of Los Angeles. There are four sisters, Mrs. J. F. Sullivan of London, Mrs. W. B. Crough of Ottawa, the Reverend Sisters M. Ethelreda and Anna Marie, both of Peterborough. A brother, James Guiry, also lives in this city. There are six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Donoghue was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral, of its Catholic Women's League, Altar Society and St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary.

The body is resting at the Lane Funeral Home. Requiem mass will be said at St. Peter's Cathedral on Saturday morning at 11. Burial will be at St. Peter's cemetery.

HAROLD J. HARRISON

The death occurred today of Harold J. Harrison, 57, of RR 1, Omemee.

Born in Ennismore, son of William Harrison and Harriett Northey, Mr. Harrison had farmed in that area all his life. He was predeceased by his wife, the former Florence Mills. He is survived by two sons, Kenneth and Harold, of Omemee; sisters, Mrs. Elwood Faulkner, of Omemee and Mrs. Gratton Telford, of Peterborough; and brothers Wilbert, of Peterborough and Elwood of Bridgenorth.

Mr. Harrison was a member of the Bethel United church, of which he was an elder, and of LOL 294, Emily. He was active in the First World War with the 93rd battalion.

Funeral service will be on Friday at 2:00 p.m. from the Comstock funeral home for burial in Emily cemetery. The Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt will officiate.

Writing Expert

"Furthermore, I told Art Hunter, business agent, that it is a forgery and he knows it. According to my records I have approximately $6 in back checkoff money owing me from UE.

"If UE issues any so-called photostatic copies of my signature, etc., please compare them with my real signature below and you will see as I did that the signature is a forgery. That signature on the 50-cent checkoff cards is written by some right-handed person and I write left-handed. (A signature Thomas M. Quinn was then written below the statement.)

Mr. Farmer checked the disputed signature on the checkoff card with another signature (admitted genuine) on a previous checkoff form; also with a signature on CGE waived pension form, and eight cancelled paychecks.

"It is my opinion that they were all written by the same person," said Mr. Farmer.

"Was there anything to indicate that the writer was left or right handed?" asked Mr. Fair.

"No," said Mr. Farmer.

In cross-examination, Mr. Farmer agreed with Mr. Osler that his identification would be more sure if he had more samples of writing to base his findings on.

DEFENDANTS

Defendants, along with Quinn, are Joe Wirtz, IUE Canadian co-ordinator; Ray Hansen, in charge of publicity during the IUE campaign; and Minor J. Shaw, IUE international representative.

W. J. Arthur Fair, QC, is counsel for the plaintiff, Hunter; and John H. Osler of Toronto, is counsel for the defendants. Mr. Fair is being assisted by John Corkery.

Mr. Farmer has been examining dispute documents for 23 years and has been analyzing handwriting since 1906. But, despite his degree of expertness, he was stopped several times by Mr. Justice R. I. Ferguson who reminded him that it was not his duty to instruct the jury on what they should find. His expert conclusions and how he arrived at them were all that was wanted by the court.

Art Hunter, the plaintiff in the action, was the first of five witnesses to be heard Tuesday.

Hunter said he became business agent of Local 524 on Oct. 15, 1951, the same night that it was decided at a membership meeting to start a campaign among the CGE production workers to get them to sign cards authorizing 50 cents checkoff every week. Previously the workers' checkoff had been deducted monthly by the company.

After the six-months campaign about 2,500 of 3,000 eligible workers had signed the cards, he said. Probably several hundred people were involved in the process of passing out blank cards to the workers and then bringing the signed cards to the UE office on Reid St.

FORWARDED TO COMPANY

At the union office a list was made of the signees and then the cards were forwarded to the company who kept them.

"Did you make a personal examination of each card when it came in"? asked John H. Osler of Toronto, counsel for Quinn and the other defendants.

"No," said Hunter.

As far as he knew Quinn, the defendant, was on the checkoff. He had never seen the checkoff card and he had never offered Quinn a card to sign.

Hunter testified that he had never seen Quinn until the noon of April 14, 1953, when he drove down to the Park St. gate of the CGE company to speak to him. He had heard that an issue had arisen over whether or not Quinn had signed the 50-cent checkoff card, so he arranged with the company to get four photostatic copies of Quinn's signature, including the signature on the checkoff card in dispute.

At the time the rival IUE had applied for certification at the plant and there was a good deal of interest aroused among the CGE workers. Earlier, on April 14 the IUE had distributed a copy of the IUE-CIO Magnet, charging "forgery".

An overline heading on the Magnet said: "Caught Red-Handed", and the banner line anounced, "UE Caught Forging Checkoff Cards".

TALKED IN CAR

As Quinn was coming out of the plant gate at noon William Walker, a UE member, persuaded Quinn to get into Hunter's car which was parked across the street and have a chat. Others in the car were Carl Signorotti, then vice-president, and Albert White, another UE member.

The photostatic copies, obtained from the company were (a) an authorization for checkoff dated August 15, 1950; (b) the 50-cent checkoff card, dated Oct. 17, 1951 (the one whose validity is in dispute; (c) a cancelled cheque dated April 2, 1953; and (d) a tax deduction declaration, dated August 17, 1950.

Hunter said: "I had a conversation with Mr. Quinn. I had photostatic copies of his signature with me which I showed him. And I told him that it was because of a leaflet put out that morning (i.e. the IUE-CIO Magnet) that I was talking to him."

"Quinn said he was going up and 'raise hell' with the IUE over the leaflet put out that morning.

"I questioned him if he had signed the 50-cent checkoff card or not. he said no . . . he said what was on the checkoff card was not his signature.

"I told him, as far as I was concerned, all I could do was put four signatures on another document and put them out to the CGE workers for them to decide who was right and who was wrong.

Quinn said he didn't want any publicity, but after I told him I was going to put it out he said 'OK'."

Hunter also testified that Quinn said he could remember signing a card about a year before, but it wasn't for 50 cents.

In cross-examination Mr. Osler asked: "Did Mr. Quinn say anything about 'if you put that out I'l have to publish my story'?"

"No," said Hunter.

FORGERY MENTIONED

"In your conversation did either of you say forge or forgery or anything like that?" asked Mr. Osler.

"No."

"I suggest you said it was a forgery."

"I never said no such words."

Hunter estimated the conversation lasted from five to 10 minutes.

Carl Signorotti, mainly corroborated Hunter's testimony.

He quoted Quinn as saying: "I don't think I signed the 50-cent checkoff." He had signed a card about a year before but it wasn't for checkoff.

"Mr. Quinn seemed perturbed that the IUE had given him such publicity and he said he was going back to their office.

"One of us said we'd put the evidence in documentary form and wouldn't give him bad publicity."

George Hill, a UE steward, said that about the beginning of April, 1953, he had heard rumors about Quinn denying his signature, so he went to see Quinn.

"I asked him 'did you or didn't you sign a 50-cent checkoff card'?,

"He said he did sign it. I found him to be a member in good standing and everything was fair and above board."

When the tales persisted, Hill visited Quinn a second time while in the factory. This time Quinn said he didn't sign the card.

Hill's reported comment was: "You told me the first time you did sign and now you say you didn't . . . What's the IUE paying you?"

Albert White of Bridgenorth, one of the men who were in Hunter's car, said that Quinn agreed it would be all right to publish the photostatic copies of signature to be distributed to the membership.

Most of the morning session today was taken up by Mr. Farmer's expert evidence. He was the last witness for the plaintiff. Later today the defendants' case will be heard.

Arson Charge Dismissed Against Neill

Clarence A. Neill was acquitted today of an arson charge arising out of a woodshed fire at 127 Sophia St. on January 23.

Neill pleaded guilty to charges of assaulting Fire Captain George Gimblett Jr. and resisting arrest. A charge of assault, laid by Mrs. Velma Gilbert of 122 Sophia was withdrawn.

"I would hate to think any man could be convicted on the evidence we have heard this morning," said Crown Attorney Bradshaw replying to defence counsel W. C. Grant's motion for dismissal of the arson charge.

The evidence again Neill, said Mr. Grant, was largely circumstantial. He said that "a lot of people were around" when the fire started. He pointed out that there was a 45-minute time lag the night of the fire when anything might have happened. Earlier testimony was heard that Neill left the Gilbert house by taxi at 7:25 and the fire alarm was not received until 8:17.

Mrs. Elva Morgan, a friend of Gilbert's testified that she had been in the kitchen and had seen Neill emerge from the woodshed. This was shortly after she, Neill, Mrs. Gilbert and Clifford McGillis returned from the McGillis hotel where an argument had taken place between Neill and Mrs. Gilbert.

Rolihe Gilbert, 16-year-old daughter of the estranged Gilberts, testified that she was at the front of the house waiting to drive to her father with Mrs. Morgan and Mrs. Gilbert when Neill emerged from the house. According to Miss Gilbert, Neill said: "I'm going to kill her (Mrs. Gilbert.)" Then, she testified, he struck the girl on the face when she tried to bar his entrance to the car.

Although Miss Gilbert testified that Mrs. Morgan was at the car when Neill came from the house, Mrs. Morgan said that she was in the kitchen and saw Neill leave the woodshed. She said that she left the house with Neill following after.

"Is this woodshed story just a tale cooked up by you and Mrs. Morgan," defence attorney Grant asked Miss Gilbert. The witness replied no.

Mrs. Morgan was unsure what anyone had done in the house or in the car at anytime after group returned from the hotel. The only thing she could remember with certainty was that "I saw Neill leave the woodshed." She did not, however, see him enter.

To Build Bridge Across Mackinac Straits

NEW YORK (AP) — A cheque for $96,400,033.33 to finance a five-mile bridge across the straits of Mackinac was delivered today to the state of Michigan Mackinac bridge authority.

The cheque represented funds from sale of revenue bonds issued to finance the ambitious project to link Michigan's two peninsulas which form the northern boundaries of Lake Michigan. It is scheduled for completion Nov. 1, 1957, and will replace the present ferry service.

In a letter, Governor Mennen Williams congratulated the authority on the successful financing venture. He said:

ANOTHER MILESTONE

"This is another milestone in the long and sometimes weary road of giving the people of Michigan a connection between their two great peninsulas, and giving the United States and Canada a transcontinental highway between the industrial east and the Pacific northwest."

The bridge will be 26,444 feet long, including approaches, and will have a roadway 48 feet wide. Its central span of 3,800 feet will rank second only to San Francisco's Golden Gate bridge with a span of 4,200.

The centre of the span will have a minimum clearance of 148 feet, enough to allow passage of the largest Great Lakes vessels.

Will Not Assume Supervision Of City Rinks

The recreation commission will not undertake the supervision of city rinks, now the responsibility of the parks department. At a meeting Tuesday, G. B. (Bev) Goulding moved that the commission not undertake the supervision of the rinks, but that it be willing to attempt a certain amount of programming on them next season.

Alderman Gordon Powell, parks representative, suggested that the recreation commission would be more capable of presenting a broader and more active program to the rinks. Alderman Harold Rehill agreed, as did the rest of the commission, but pointed out that there was a difference between programing the rinks and policing them.

It would not be practical to combine policing and programing, continued Ald Rehill. Whereas a program director would only be in demand for a few hours a week, a supervisor would have to be at the rink at least from 4.00 p.m. until closing time, usually well after 10.00 p.m. Where to get qualified people to do this work was another problem, he said.

George Murray stated that the policing of the rinks was certainly not the responsbility of the recreation commission. He suggested that 14 responsible men in each rink area take over the supervision of the rinks. Two men could work each night of the week, one maintaining order in the dressing room, and the other keeping order on the rink.

SHIFTING RESPONSIBILITY

Alderman Rehill suggested that the parks department was not essentially interested in the programing of the rinks, but wanted to shift the responsibility of supervising them. Alderman Powell said he did not think this was true—that Alderman Stan McBride and others were "deeply interested" in setting up a program on the rinks.

Mr. Goulding said that the whole idea seemed impractical to him. "We (the recreation commission) could possibly sponsor periodic programs on the rinks, but we could not undertake the supervision of the rinks each night they are open".

The commission also decided to set a fee of $10 for the use of Ashburnham Hall by any unaffiliated group should these groups charge an admission fee. This decision arose from the knowledge that certain groups were sponsoring bingo games in the hall, charging an admission fee and a card fee as well. They were paying $3.50 for the use of the hall, said chairman Wilf Langan, not enough to pay for the cost of heating and lighting. Ald. Rehill moved that the $10 fee be established.

Conservation Takes To The Air

Over the Oshawa radio station, Thursday at 9 p.m., Campbell Rowat will interview John Bell, zone forester at Lakefield, and Ken Best, assistant agricultural representative here. They have half an hour period to talk about trees and ponds, reforestation and conservation.

It is likely that the Nassau plantation of pines will find a place in their discussion.

Mr. Rowat's date book has three engagements in the near future: a talk on conservation at a father and son meeting Friday night at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church; Friday March 5—an address to the fathers and sons and Boy Scouts at Mark St. United church; and Sunday afternoon Feb. 21, Mr. Rowat will be with the conservation group of the Trent Valley Rod and Gun Club at Trenton. He attended the convention of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters at Windsor last weekend.

Unknown Caves Reached By Study Expedition

CRYSTAL CAVE, Ky. (AP)—Unknown canyons deep beneath the rolling hills of southern Kentucky have been reached by a tired band of cave explorers.

Great underground rooms, decorated with spider-like stone formations, were found by three male members of the National Speleological (cave study) Society expedition.

After three hours of tortuous crawling and climbing Tuesday, they broke into "the beyond"—the explorers' term for the dark world of rough virgin passages 300 feet below the scenic landscape of the Mammoth Cave national park area.

The zig-zagging passages opened into larger cave rooms where the strangely contorted stone projections called helictites, rarest of all cave formations, dangled from the ceilings.

The explorers—John Lehrberger of Lousville, Ky., Russell H. Curnee of Tenafly, N.J., and Albert C. Mueller of Scotch Plains, N.J.,—listened to their words bounce back from cave walls that never before had echoed the voices of men.

LIKE SPAGHETTI

At the expedition's advance camp three miles inside the cave, Phil Harsham, Louisville Courier-Journal reporter with the expedition, said the three explorers pushed beyond "bogardus waterfalls."

Striking out from the falls, discovered in 1949, said Lehrberger, was "like diving into a bowl of spaghetti—passages ran in every direction."

The expedition's 60 men and women members make it the largest venture of its type ever attempted in North America.

They have yet to pass all guide marks left by Crystal cave's discoverer, Floyd Collins, who died when a sliding rock pinned him in a hollow of nearby sand cave in 1925.

Results of the all-week exploration, now just three days old, will be assembled in maps and scientific information on what is to be found in the cave.

$10 A Month For Firemen Of North End

Peterborough's volunteer firemen at the Bethune St. substation have been granted a retainer of $10 a month by city council.

They will also receive $2.50 for each practice session they attend. It is planned to have two practices a month. These will include drills and lectures.

As in the past, the volunteers will receive $5 for the first hour for serving at a fire and $2.50 for each subsequent hour.

The new schedule will be retroactive to January 1. The volunteers previously received $2 an hour for practice sessions and no retainer. Volunteer Chief L. H. Longhurst's salary of $100 a month has not been changed.

ASKED INCREASE

The request for the increases came from the volunteers who met the fire, water and light committee of city council at a special meeting. They said that interest in the volunteer brigade had tended to lag and they were anxious to continue their work.

City Fire Chief Bill Sorrie backed up the request.

"It's not that they are just out to get more money," the chief said. "I'm sure they are really interested in fire fighting. They are trying to revive interest in their work."

"They are doing a good job", Mayor Norman Graham agreed. "They have helped us out at several fires."

The volunteers, with their equipment, including a modern pumper, joined the city's fire-fighting facilities by a special arrangement when part of Smith township was annexed to the city last year.

Ocean Liner Launched For Canadian Service

GLASGOW (CP) — Britain's newest ocean liner, the 22,000-ton Saxonia, was launched at a Clydebank shipyard today by Lady Churchill.

The 20-knot, 1,000-passenger liner is the first of three sister ships designed to sail nearly 1,000 miles up the St. Lawrence river to Montreal. The Cunard Steamship Company will spend £15,000,000 for the ships, the last of which is due to enter service within two years.

The new liners are expected to help carry the flow of British emigrants to Canada and return with Canadian visitors to Britain. The Saxonia's decorations include a huge may of Canada with the names of hundreds of towns so the settlers can identify their new homes.

Norman Robertson, Canada's high commissioner in Britain, and Canadian immigration officials were among those attending the launching ceremony.

The Saxonia will accommodate some 800 tourist-class and 125 first-class passengers in cabins decorated with Canadian symbols such as the maple leaf and beaver. Cunard officials say she will be in service before the end of the summer.

The kelp of the second new Cunarder, the Ivernia, has been laid and it is hoped it will be launched by Mrs. St. Lairent, wife of the Canadian prime minister.

The launching of the Saxonia marks a stage in a determined drive by ship companies for a share in the growing north Atlantic passenger trade. An estimated 50,000 Canadians are expected to cross to Britain this year, mostly by ship, and the companies expect an increased traffic of immigrants to Canada in the years to come.

Well-Known Poet Dies

MONTREAL (CP) — Lady Amy Redpath Roddick, well-known Canadian poet, died Tuesday in her 86th year.

A native of Montreal, she was the widow of Sir Thomas Goerge Roddick, dean of the faculty of medicine at McGill University.

Sir Thomas also was the first overseas president of the British Medical Association and one of the founders of the Canadian Medical Council.

Says Regulation Just A Farce

TORONTO (CP) — J. P. Bickell, motor vehicles branch registrar, said today he doubted the claims of two Port Arthur aldermen who said at a Lakehead council meeting last night that government half-load regulations to prevent break-ups in the spring are a farce.

Ald. Roy Greenan and Ald. George Neill claimed that all a driver has to do to avoid half-loading restrictions is to obtain a licence to carry twice his truck's capacity.

Mr. Bickell said a truck's loading restrictions are based on the size of tire and width of the axle. "I won't dispute their claims," Mr. Bickell said, "somebody may have come up with some way to beat the regulations."

Church Guild Holds Home Baking Sale

MILLBROOK (ENS) — The Women's Guild of St. Thomas' Anglican church cleared $50 from a sale of home baking and home-made candy held in the waiting-room on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. D. R. Fowler and Mrs. E. Penney were in charge of the candy table, and Mrs. Douglas Sheppard, Mrs. Howard Lancashire, Mrs. Percy Hamilton, Miss Ellen Kent, Miss Anna Fair and Miss Jean Smith of the baking table.

Mrs. Martha Tool —

Funeral service for the late Mrs. Martha Tool, 80, of 428 Cameron St. was held on Tuesday from the Lane Funeral Home to St. John the Baptist church where requiem mass was said by Dr. F. M. Grant.

Pallbearers were Fred Elliott, John Rose, Ray and Sam Freeman, William Jobe and Albert LeVasseur. Dr. C. S. O'Donoghue said graveside prayers and burial was at St. Peter's cemetery.

Soccer Tour

GLASGOW (CP)—Glasgow Rangers of the Scottish soccer league will tour Canada in May and June this year after all, a club spokesman said today.

He said the decision was confirmed at a board meeting Tuesday night, reversing one to postpone a Canadian tour until next year because of the possibility that one or two players might have to stay in Scotland to train with the national team.

DOES ANYONE KNOW THIS WOMAN?

Last seen coming out of a woman's retail store, she is by now the most comfortable woman in town.

That's because she is the owner of the most excitingly fashionable, most comfortable bra made.

It's the MERRY-GO-ROUND bra with the revolutionary new CAN'T CURL BAND and CHIFLEY EMBROIDERED CUPS.

The Can't Curl Band is an exclusive Merry-Go-Round feature that prevents the bra from curling or pushing up and provides firmer support. It's made of Duraform with Cotton Lawn backing, and is stitched into the bra under each cup.

The Chifley embroidered cups add an extra touch of femininity to an already highly popular bra.

Merry-Go-Round bras featuring Can't Curl Band and Chifley embroidered cups are now available in limited quantities at better stores across Canada. We predict that Canadian women will insist on this band when they discover what comfort really means.

The Merry-Go-Round Company of Canada are makers of Merry-Go-Round Custom, Inner Circle and Hidden Treasure bras.

Do Your Teeth add years to your Face?

Your own mirror can tell you. See if old-looking teeth are robbing you of your youth each time you smile.

GET WHITER, YOUNGER-LOOKING TEETH IN JUST 3 WEEKS WITH PEPSODENT

Your dentist will tell you that teeth lose their youthful whiteness as they grow older. Far too often however people allow their teeth to become dull and dingy before they should, adding years to the appearance of their faces. If your mirror tells you your teeth aren't as white as they should be, try Pepsodent Dental Cream — Impartial laboratory tests prove that Pepsodent Dental Cream gives you whitest teeth — whiter than other leading toothpastes. Brush your teeth regularly with Pepsodent and in just 3 weeks, see the whiter, younger looking appearance of your teeth. And remember — white teeth are clean teeth and clean teeth help prevent harmful tooth decay.

ASK YOUR DENTIST — Every dentist has a tooth shade detector — it clearly shows that as teeth grow older they grow duller, losing their youthful whiteness. But, you can keep your teeth whiter, younger-looking by regular brushing with Pepsodent. Get Pepsodent today and in just 3 weeks see the improvement for yourself.

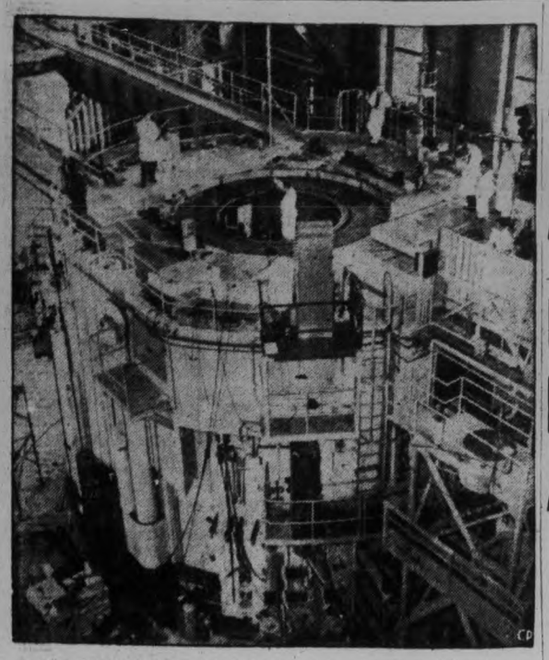
Big Four Agree To Meeting Red China At Korean Parley



REACTIVATED—The NRX reactor at Canada's atomic plant at Chalk River, Ont., has been reactivated, a little more than a year after it broke down. This picture shows an aluminum tube containing a rod of natural uranium being lowered into the reactor, one of the last steps in preparing for a start-up. There are 176 such uranium rods in the reactor. —(CP Photo)

Operate New Atom Reactor, Chalk River Scientists Find It Has More Power

CHALK RIVER, Ont. (CP)—Canada is on the threshold of a new era in atomic energy research. Scientists at the Chalk River atomic energy plant Wednesday began using a new and more powerful tool to probe the secrets of the atom —the reactivated NRX nuclear reactor. The rebuilt reactor, damaged by a leak Dec. 12, 1952, went back into operation with increased power and improved techniques for conducting atomic energy research.

However, reconstruction of the reactor is only part of Canada's increasing efforts to harness the atom for peacetime purposes. Another atomic reactor, known as NRU, is under construction a short distance away from the NRX building, and scientists are studying the design of still another reactor to produce power for industrial uses.

NRU, which will cost more than $30,000,000, is expected to be in operation in 1955. It has been designed to enable a variety of tests, many of which will apply to power reactors, one of Canada's immediate goals in atomic research.

JOINT STUDY CONDUCTED

Study of power reactors is being conducted jointly by Atomic Energy of Canada and the Ontario hydro commission. These studies will cost about $200,000 and provision has been made to conduct them for two years if necessary.

The restarting of NRX puts Canada back in the business of producing the by-products of atomic energy piles. The most important of these are isotopes now widely used in industry and medicine.

The breakdown of NRX 14 months ago stopped a considerable amount of atomic research at the Chalk River plant, operated by Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., a crown company. It also ended the production of isotopes and Canada was forced to import them from the United States.

Pays Homage To Pakistan

KARACHI (AP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent today started paying homage to the late leaders of Pakistan and motored to place wreaths at the graves of founder Mohammad Ali Jinnah and first prime minister Liaquat Ali Khan, who lie buried side by side.

Later he had discussions separately with Prime Minister Mohammed Ali and Foreign Minister Zafarullah.

It is believed their talks centred on problems facing Pakistan, including proposed United States military aid.

Governor-General Ghulam Mohammed tonight held at Government House a state banquet to honor the Canadian prime minister. Earlier Prime Minister Ali held a reception at his residence.

The Canadian leader also had talks with Finance Minister Chaudhri Mohammed Ali and Law Minister A. K. Brohi, who explained the progress made by Pakistan toward framing a new constitution. This is likely to be completed by the end of the year.

Changes Mind Pays Union Dues

TORONTO (CP) — Ernest E. Stewart, 63, of Niagara Falls, Ont., who was released from service with the Ontario hydro commission three weeks ago because he refused to pay $1.50 monthly dues to the Hydro Employees' Association, has agreed to pay the dues and will return to work today.

Mr. Stewart notified hydro officials that he wanted to go back to work. He went to the Niagara regional office, returned his uncashed pension and insurance cheques and signed the association's deduction card authorizing monthly deductions from his pay.

A. S. Robertson, Ontario Hydro's Niagara regional manager, said that by this action Mr. Stewart now has been reinstated in his job in the electrical maintenance department.

Invite Queen Mother To Visit Canada

OTTAWA — (CP) — Canada has formally invited Queen Mother Elizabeth to make her first visit to this country in 15 years.

The invitation was sent by Governor-General Massey a few days ago, acting Prime Minister Howe announced Wednesday night.

The governor-general suggested the 53-year-old Queen Mother, who toured Canada with the late King George VI in 1939, spend a few days in Canada after her visit to the United States next November.

The Queen Mother has not yet replied to the invitation.

U.K. Forces Receive A-Weapons

Plan To Concentrate On Strengthening RAF Bomber Force

LONDON (Reuters)— Britain announced today that atomic weapons are being delivered to her armed forces—whose strength this year will be cut by 11,000 men.

The government defence report said a streamlined program for 1954 will concentrate on strengthening the RAF "because of the need to build up the strategic bomber force and because of the importance of guided missiles in air defence."

The total defence budget for the year will be £1,639,900,000 ($4,590,720,000). This compares with £1,636,760,000 ($4,585,728,000) for 1953-54.

The present active strength of the armed forces—844,300 men—will be cut by a little more than 11,000 men in the new year, the annual defence statement said.

MADE IN BRITAIN

"Atomic weapons are in production in this country and delivery to the forces has begun," the report said.

"Guided missiles have reached an advance stage of development. An air-to-air weapon will be the first to come into service, and surface-to-air weapons will follow."

The government said Britain will carry out this general policy for her three services:

1. The air force will concentrate on modernizing and expanding in Britain and in Western Europe. Jet bomber squadrons will be built up as fast as production allows.

2. The army will cut down front-line formations somewhat, within limits imposed by Atlantic pact and Commonwealth commitments and those in the colonies.

3. The navy will concentrate on building up and modernizing anti-submarine and anti-mine forces, and completing angled-deck aircraft carriers now under construction.

Massacre 20 Of Viet Namese

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—Vietminh commando troops, disguised as peasants, have entered a busy market place in a Roman Catholic village in the southeastern part of the Red river delta, and killed at least 20 of the Viet Namese residents.

Firing rifles and pistols and hurling grenades into defenceless crowds, the Communist-led Vietminh forced nearly 2,000 Viet Namese to flee screaming from the village to seek hiding places in the adjoining ricefields.

The commandos attacked between 9 a. m. and noon Feb. 12. Five hundred persons are reported missing and many of them are feared to be dead. But spot investigators said today there was no way of telling how many of these would eventually return to the village of Than Thong.

The rest of the population has returned and the village is now under the protection of French mobile units and Viet Namese soldiers. It had been protected only by Catholic militiamen in company strength, perhaps at bit more.

Churchill, 2 Cabinet Ministers Smashed To Smithereens By Wax Works Visitor

LONDON (AP)—The wax figures of Prime Minister Churchill and two members of his cabinet were smashed to smithereens by a man with a hammer at the famed Mme. Tussaud's museum today.

While a party of school girls looked on in horror, museum attendants grappled with the attacker and pinned him down until police arrived to arrest him. The man was not immediately identified.

"He was the first visitor of the day," a museum official said. "He went straight up to our cabinet group, took the hammer out of the black briefcase he was carrying and set about our models.

"First of all, he went for Sir Winston Churchill and smashed that model completely. Then he went for Sir David Maxwell Fyfe and smashed that. Next he pushed Mr. Peter Thorneycroft over and that smashed, too.

"He was just setting about Lord Leathers when attendants interfered."

Motive for the smash-up was not apparent, but the swiftly executed attack obviously was predemitated.

Reginald Edds, an official of the museum, estimated the damage at £1,000 and said it would take two months to replace the models.

Atomic Cannon Tested At Fort Churchill For Some Time—Officials

FORT CHURCILL, Man. (CP)—Canadian Army officials say an atomic cannon has been tested under Arctic conditions "for some time". The army announced in a statement Wednesday that a 280-millimetre atomic cannon, the only one reported to be in Canada, has fired conventional type shells, including at least one 600-pounder, near this military base. Fort Churchill is near the Hudson Bay port of Churchill. The presence of the cannon became known after a tour of Fort Churchill by 26 military attaches and advisers, representing 18 countries.

Although tests have not involved firing of atomic warheads, due to danger and costs, it is known that shells of the conventional type have been fired and from data gathered, the actual range of an atomic shell is known. One army spokesman, who declined use of his name, said the only difference between an atomic and conventional shell would be the size of the explosion.

Another army official, who also could not be named, expressed an opinion that the United States might have a similar cannon in Alaska, testing it under "damp cold" conditions, while Churchill is known to have "dry cold"

RESULTS SECRET

Results of the tests were not divulged. However it is known the tests would involve how lubricants, projectiles and powder charges work in arctic temperatures. U.S. authorities are conducting the tests.

In recent years, the base here, has been used by U.S. and Canadian military men for testing military equipment, types of clothing and foods.

The attaches and advisers also saw a tractor train and a demonstration of vehicles. The group was given a demonstration of igloo building by Fort Churchill instructors.

They will tour military and industrial centres in western Canada, before returning to Ottawa Feb. 27.

Kingston Prisoner Wins Grand Prize

TORONTO (CP)—Howard Urquhart, 26, of Toronto, now serving 27 years in Kingston penitentiary, has won the grand prize in the woodworking contest at the International Hobby and Homecraft Show.

Urquhart made two tables and a cedar chest in his Kingston cell. He gave one of the entries, an inlaid table, to Norman Borins, his lawyer.

The prisoner was sentenced to 15 years for manslaughter in 1946 after the death of Meyer Tobias, a Toronto merchant. The sentence was raised to 20 years on appeal and Urquhart received an additional seven years later for escaping from Kingston with Austin Craft, who was hanged for shooting John D. Kennedy, a penitentiary guard.

Urquhart's prize, which was for the best group of three articles in the adult section, was a woodworking lathe valued at $65.

A hobby show official said Urquhart was uncertain whether prison officials will let him take the lathe inside the building and set it up. Urquhart has been sent a catalogue from which he will be able to choose other articles of $65 value if he so desires.

May Cut Off Water

TORONTO (CP)—The possibility that the water supply for 1,250,000 persons in the greater Toronto area may be shut off loomed when civic stationary engineers decided Wednesday night to hold a strike vote.

Date of the strike vote on the question of union recognition was not announced.

Bride 17, Shot; Police Hold Husband

NEWMARKET (CP) — Police here said today they are holding Bruce Chapman, 23, of Queensville on a charge of attempted murder in connection with the shooting of his 17-year-old blonde bride.

Chapman appeared in court and was remanded for hearing later.

Marion Chapman, the daughter of German parents recently arrived in Canada, was shot Wednesday while she was polishing the kitchen floor. A .22-calibre bullet grazed her right arm and embedded itself in her right breast.

She was taken to Newmarket hospital where her condition is reported "good" today.

Police said they are holding the husband because he was the only person in the vicinity at the time of the shooting. The Chapmans, who were married seven months ago, are living on the farm of the husband's parents who are in Florida.

Mrs. Chapman, who is expecting a baby this summer, said she was in the kitchen as her husband was about to leave for Newmarket with a load of turnips when she heard "a loud crash followed by a prickly feeling in my arm." Bruce was then leaving the yard in the truck.

She said that after she saw the blood and realized what had happened she walked a quarter of a mile to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Busse, farmhands on the Chapman farm.

Chief J. E. Jardine of Newmarket quoted Mrs. Chapman as saying that her husband had spoken "barely a word" to her since Christmas and that a "smouldering silence" had engulfed the household.

Queensville is 32 miles north of Toronto.

Munich Refugees Clash With Police

MUNICH (AP)—Refugees from a nearby camp clashed with police today in the second demonstration in 24 hours in this south German metropolis.

Club-swinging policemen broke up a crowd of about 400 persons who milled about the headquarters of the American joint distribution committee which provides relief for Jews.

A similar demonstration was broken up by police Wednesday night.

The refugees, mostly Jews from nearby Camp Foehrenwald, demand that they either be allowed to emigrate to the United States or be given homes in West Germany.

Peterborough, Lindsay Rinks Win Games

TORONTO (CP) — The morning draw at the Ontario bonspiel today saw action in third-round North American Life and first-round Parker Pen playoffs.

Rinks from Oshawa, Peterborough and Lindsay won three of the four games in the North American Life event—fourth prize in the bonspiel.

Visiting quartettes took 13 of the 21 games played this morning. That event represents sixth prize.

Doesn't Mean Recognition West Says

Agree To Pursue Search For Plan On Arms Reduction

BERLIN (AP)—State Secretary John Foster Dulles, in a closing speech to the Berlin conference, said tonight the Big Four has reached an agreement for a Korean political conference and, if Communist China wants it, a chance of restoring peace in Indo-China.

He also disclosed that "we have agreed to pursue the four-power search for agreement on reduction of armaments as recommended by the United Nations."

He expressed confidence that if and when the Soviet Union realizes "that freedom is not so greatly to be feared" it will become possible also to unify Germany and achieve the independence of Austria.

Western diplomats said the foreign ministers had agreed to a Korean peace conference to be held in Geneva April 26. An earlier ward the end of April." An earlier date, April 15, apparently was discarded during today's final talks.

LEARNED MUCH

Apart from the accomplishments and failures to agree, Dulles said in his windup speech that the Big Four have learned much from their meeting here and declared this has been of special value.

"It makes it less likely that any of us should by inadvertence and miscalculation do what would risk another war," he said.

The conference adjourned at 7 p. m. (1 p. m. EST) after 23 working days and almost 100 hours of debate on Germany, Austria and the Far East.

The Korean action came after a new debate on methods of easing the complexities of life in divided Germany and after Russia refused to make any concession on Austria's continued occupation.

British officials said details of the Korean accord would be made public later tonight.

NOT RECOGNITION

Earlier American authorities said the Big Four had approached agreement on the Geneva parley, awaiting only Molotov's concurrence in a clause spelling out that the meeting itself would not con-

Storm Strands 2,000 Cars

CORNWALL (CP) — Two thousand cars and 600 transports are stranded today on an 80-mile stretch of Highway 2 between here and Gananoque after a two-day storm that dumped 18 inches of snow on the area.

Every hotel and rooming house along the highway was reported jammed Wednesday night with stranded travellers. Many hotels had persons sleeping in the halls.

Transports, auto carriers and cars were in ditches along every mile of the 55-mile stretch of highway between Brockville and Cornwall.

Snow plows of the Ontario department of highways are unable to get by big trucks that stalled on hills. Police ordered the trucks pushed into fields.

Police expected 40-degree temperatures today would melt some of the snow and help highways crews clear the road.

Protestant Immigrants Needed In Canada

LONDON (CP)—Dr. R. T. Howard, provost of Coventry, today told the Church of England Assembly that Canada needs more British Protestant immigrants, particularly adherents of the Church of England.

Dr. Howard contended that only 15 per cent of the population of Canada belongs to the Church of England. If nothing is done Canada "will become more than half a Roman Catholic country."

Rev. D. F. Horsefield said more British persons are needed in northern Ontario. Most workers in the mining and smelting towns there were Poles, Czechs and others from continental Europe.

The Bishop of Chichester, Dr. George Bell, appealed to the meeting to encourage the migration to Commonwealth countries of people of religious upbringing.

87 Hurt In Wreck; 2 Pinned Behind Beam 6 Hrs.

MONTREAL (CP)—Weary survivors of a two-train collision as St. Clet, Que., rested here today and told of how two Toronto men spent six hours pinned behind a steel beam while doctors administered sedatives intravenously to lessen the shock. One man was killed and 87 injured when the second section of a Canadian Pacific Railway train bound from Toronto to Montreal plowed into the first section at the tiny farming community 35 miles west of here during a blinding snow storm early Wednesday. Ten of the injured were still in hospital today but none was in critical condition.

The victim, W. B. Casselman of Toronto, was believed to have died instantly when a steel beam sliced through a washroom at the rear of a sleeper in the first section. Charles Martin and M. A. Dean also were in the combination washroom-smoker with Casselman and were pinned behind the beam.

BLED PROFUSELY

Both men bled profusely from head wounds for 2½ hours until a relief train reached the scene and then for some four more hours while rescue workers toiled frantically to chisel them out. Doctors, fearing they might succumb from the bleeding and lack of food, gave them sedatives intravenously.

Dean had both legs broken in the crash and suffered head injuries. Martin had head injuries only. Hospital officials said their condition was "satisfactory" early today.

Some of the passengers were stranded at the accident scene for 10 hours but, with he temperature

150,000 Reds Stage Anti-West March

BERLIN (AP)—One hundred and fifty thousand East Berlin workers marched under orders of their communist bosses today in a monster anti-West demonstration. A rival "silent march" of protest against Russian tactics in the Big Four conference is due to start a little later.

The East zone marchers carried banners proclaiming support of Soviet Russia's proposals at the Big Four conference table and defiance of the Western stand, notably the American position.

The mammoth parade and rally on snow-covered Unter Den Linden got under way an hour after the foreign ministers of Britain, France Russia and the United States sat down to their final session.

Transport Board Interfering Hall Charges

OTTAWA (CP)—Frank H. Hall, chairman of the negotiating committee for 150,000 workers engaged in a contract dispute with the railways, said today the board of transport commissioners appears to be trying to "interfere unwarrantedly" in the dispute.

The Montreal labor leader in a statement here criticized the board's reference to rail labor costs in a decision Monday in which that body turned down a railway application for higher freight rates.

The board suggested management and labor take a "realistic" view of the current decline in railway traffic. It attributed this partly to increasing freight rates based on higher operating costs, and it said added labor costs are the largest single factor in these.

"I consider the board's statement as being gratuitous and in bad taste," Mr. Hall said. "Considering the fact that the 'fringe benefits' dispute is presently under consideration by a conciliation board headed by Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock, of the Supreme Court of Canada.

NOT THEIR FUNCTION

"This appears to be an attempt to interfere unwarrantedly with the conciliation board. It is not the function of the board of transport commissioners to pass on the merits of union claims.

"The non-operating unions are not asking a wage increase. The alleged cost of the requested fringe - benefits—$60,000,000 attributed to railway spokesmen—is a gross exaggeration, and a more nearly correct estimate would be a quarter of that amount."

(The unions are seeking concessions on such matters as paid holidays, sickness pay and overtime pay. At the time the demands were made several weeks ago railway spokesmen said the cost could run to possibly $60,000,000 a year).

A MERE PELLET in poultry production is the miniature egg laid as an after-thought by a hybrid Barred Rock-Red Sussex hen for Max Meharry who lives on a Norwood rural route and works in the city. Not that he was complaining about this lapse from grading standards. There were other full sized eggs in the nest on his round of collection. For effect of contrast, the photograph was taken at the E. C. Braund hatchery, and a spring chick wandered in on the act. The minimal egg, about the size of a blackbird's, weighed close to one-quarter of an ounce on the scale at the post office. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Ex-Cabinet Minister Believes:

Can't Have Efficient Gov't Administration

OTTAWA (CP)—A former cabinet minister who held several portfolios at various times Wednesday said there isn't such a thing as efficient government administration—federally or provincially.

Senator Thomas Crerar, former agriculture minister, mines minister and immigration minister, said in the Senate he gives that opinion of government efficiency based on his years of experience.

Senator Crerar, a Liberal, spoke during debate on a government bill to increase first-class postage rates one cent an ounce. The bill was given approval in principle and referred to a Senate committee for further study.

He recalled that Senators Joseph Bradette (L—Ontario) and Thomas Reid (L—British Columbia) paid tribute to post office efficiency earlier in the debate.

"I submit there is not a single member in Parliament who knows whether the post office is efficient or not. The mere fact that you are treated with courtesy when you go to collect your mail, the mere fact that the postman leaves your letters at your door or in your mail box is no evidence of efficiency, not the slightest.

"I would offer the opinion after somewhat extensive experience and in my declining years that there is no efficiency anywhere in government administration.

"I would say that that applies to provincial legislators as well as those in the federal field."

INCREASE COSTS

He said that if the government abolished free mailing privileges for its departments and put them on "postage budgets," it would cut costs "enormously." The cut would result from less material being printed and mailed to senators, commoners and others.

He urged that second-class mail rates be increased to pay for that part of post office operations. The added costs need not be carried by newspapers and periodicals or by their subscribers, but by the advertisers.

Senator Salter Hayden (L—Ontario) said the best reason for higher postage rates is that the post office department must pay its own way. The increases would allow it to balance its books by meeting the higher costs of pay boosts and establishing the five-day week.

It was "too late" to become disturbed about the five-day week. It was in effect in so many industries that the government was only following a pattern.

Senator Hayden said he does not think governments or their departments are inefficient. Some inefficiency was bound to be found because they were "human agencies."

Ask Increase For Leader Of Opposition

TORONTO (CP)—Demands for a salary increase for the leader of the opposition and an increase in office staff were made in the legislature Wednesday.

Albert Wren (Lib.-Lab.—Kenora) said the salary and status of the opposition leader should be in proportion to that of the opposition leader in Ottawa.

Farquhar Oliver, Liberal opposition leader, is granted an allowance of $3,000 a year, plus a tax-free expense allowance of $2,000 in addition to the sessional indemnity of $2,000.

The argument arose when Provincial Secretary Welsh answered remarks made in a free-time radio address over a CBC provincial network Monday night by Mr. Wren, who claimed the opposition offices were understaffed and the leader underpaid.

Mr. Welsh said the government allows two office assistants and two secretaries for the opposition office, as well as a full-time secretary for the two CCF members and a part-time secretary for the Communist Labor-Progressive representative.

In comparison, he said, the 80 members of the government party are granted 65 secretaries.

NEED RESEARCH

Mr. Wren termed the comparison "quite ridiculous."

"The government benches have an unlimited staff and money," he said. "It is the duty of the opposition to examine the activities of various government departments. This is impossible with the limited staff. Government members, with their multitudinous staff, do not have to do the research work."

Premier Frost said the salary and expenses paid the opposition leader were agreed on by a select committee and accepted by the house.

"However, I am perfectly prepared to appoint a select committee to deal with the problem if my friend, the leader of the opposition, so wishes."

RECORD DIVE — The French Navy Bathyscaphe FNRS3 leaves the West African port of Dakar for a dive into the unknown waters of the Atlantic Ocean. Under the guiding hand of French Navy Lt. Cmdr. Georges Houot, lower, and an engineer's mate, the craft descended 13,288 feet (more than 2½ miles), earlier this week, to shatter the old record set by Prof. Auguste Piccard and his son Jacques at 10,339 feet.

Canadian Farmers To Confer In U.S.

OTTAWA (CP)—A 16-man delegation of Canadian farm leaders will leave for Washington Saturday to confer with American leaders on problems of trade and agricultural surpluses.

Heading the Canadian group will be H. H. Hannam, president of the 400,000-member Canadian Federation of Agriculture. Canadian dairy, wheat and other farm producers will be represented at the two-day meeting opening Feb. 23.

The meeting was called by the Washington office of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers to plan development of a North American regional committee composed of farm leaders from Canada, the U.S. and Mexico.

However, the Canadian delegation plan to concentrate on discussions with organized American farm groups on means of lessening American restrictions on Canadian products.

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9:30 a.m.

Synopsis:

A large high-pressure area moving eastward over the Great Lakes brought clear skies to all of southern Ontario Wednesday night. Present indications are that the current mild spell will last at least another two days. Today will be another pleasant sunny day, but by Friday strong southerly winds from the Gulf of Mexico will bring moist air with considerable cloudiness to most regions. Some showers are expected in southwestern Ontario Friday evening.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Friday:

Georgian bay, northern Lake Huron, Niagara, Lake Ontario and Haliburton regions; Hamilton, Toronto, North Bay and Sudbury: Sunny today, cloudy with a few clear intervals tonight and Friday—continuing very mild; winds light, becoming west 15 this afternoon, south 15 tonight and south 20 by Friday afternoon, low tonight and high Friday at Wingham, Trenton and Muskoka 35 and 50, Toronto, Hamilton and St. Catharines 40 and 55, Killaloe 30 and 50, Sudbury and North Bay 25 and 50. Summary for Friday: Cloudy and very mild.

Labor Calls Demonstrations

ROME (AP) — Italy's Communist labor bosses called today for demonstrations Friday at a moment when the fate of Mario Scelba's government will be before parliament.

The Red-led General Confederation of Labor acted in the wake of a series of municipal general strikes and demonstrations that have taken five lives and left 26 injured in clashes with Scelba's tough riot police. Officially the strikes are bids for wage increases but their major purpose has been to embarrass the government.

The two-fisted, 52-year-old Scelba faced an aroused parliament today for the first time as premier. Bitter debate over his government and program is expected to start in both houses Friday. He must win confidence votes to stay in office.

hovering around the freezing mark no cases of exposure were reported. Snow fell continually throughout the day, piling drifts against the sides of the wrecked cars and blowing through broken windows.

The snow also delayed rescue groups heading to the scene. The district was unreachable by car and all help had to be sent on relief trains.

TAKEN BY SURPRISE

The crash took all the passengers by surprise as they prepared for their scheduled arrival in Montreal an hour later. The first section of the train had stopped at St. Clet to allow a freight train to pull over on a siding. Then the second section rammed into the rear.

"I thought a bomb had hit us," Natalie Sobel of Montreal, a passenger in a day coach located about mid-way through the first train, said.

"People were thrown all over the car and many of them just lay there stunned for a few minutes," she said. "There was a lot of screaming when the glass from the windows started to fly through the air."

Most of the injured complained of bruises or cuts from flying glass. Many needed only first-aid treatment.

CPR officials began an investigation immediately to determine the cause of the crash.

KITCHENER (CP)—A total of $55,743 was collected from Kitchener's 725 parking meters during 1953, the city council traffic committee was told Wednesday.

Foreign Competition Threatens Canada

TORONTO (CP)—Foreign competition threatens Canadian employment, wages and living standards, H. H. Rogge, president of Canadian Westinghouse Co., Ltd., said today.

To meet the threat, he declared in an address prepared for delivery to the Empire Club, Canadian trade policies, including tariffs, should be revised so as to provide "equalization of opportunity" for Canadian industry.

Canada's manufacturers are caught between American mass production and low unit costs on hand, and low-wage production abroad, he said.

"I am not for building a tariff barrier around Canada, but I think industry must be afforded necessary protection," he said.

stitute U. S. recognition of the Peiping government.

The Geneva meeting would be the one major dividend from the otherwise fruitless Berlin conference.

The proposed Geneva conference would embrace about 20 countries —16, including the U. S., Britain and France, which fought on the United Nations side in Korea—South Korea, Russia, Red China and North Korea.

Today, last day of the Berlin talks, Dulles and foreign ministers Eden, Bidault and Molotov held their sixth restricted session on sponsoring the new conference. They met for an hour and 10 minutes, then broke up to reassemble later in a bigger regular meeting

Against the background of failure on European problems, Dulles declared the Western powers will continue to guard Berlin as the first frontier of their freedom, and any attack against the city will be treated as an attack against the United States, Britain and France.

Addressing U.S. troops stationed in Berlin, Dulles said the West will persevere in its efforts to unify Germany.

On each side of the grim line dividing Berlin, Germans prepared to express their resentment in demonstrations tonight over the deadlock barring reunification.

In West Berlin, Molotov gets the blame. In the Communist East, the Western ministers are accused because they insisted free elections must be the base for Germany's reunification.

Molotov stole the show from the Allies with some concrete German proposals on the eve of the conference's adjournment.

He suggested Wednesday night a Big Four agreement on the strength and armament of all police in Germany and the creation of all-German committees to promote relations between the East and West governments in economics, culture, science and sports.

Dulles termed these a "rather feeble substitute" for the West's plan of unifying Germany through free elections, but agreed with Eden and Bidault to discuss the proposals today.

The Soviet plan seemed assured of a favorable impact on German opinion in both East and West Molotov got it in ahead of the Allies' own "little solution." They were ready to suggest instructing the four high commissioners to confer on easing traffic and police restrictions between the Soviet and Western zones, but had not got around to presenting it formally.

Oliver Questions Road Contracts In N. Ontario

TORONTO (CP)—Road contracts in northern Ontario were questioned in a number of enquiries placed on the legislature order paper today by Liberal Opposition leader Farquhar Oliver.

Mr. Oliver asked what mining road contracts have been granted to Rockland Contractors Ltd., of Cochrane, and what road contracts have been awarded to the Mantane Contracting Co. Ltd., of Thessalon by any department of the government since June 8, 1949.

The Opposition leader asked the date each contract to Mantane was awarded, the nature of the work, whether any contract was on a cost - plus basis and the amount of each contract.

MORE DETAILS REQUESTED

Of Rockland, Mr. Oliver asked on what dates any contracts were granted, the names of other contracting firms making bids and if any highway contracts had been awarded to Rockland Contractors Ltd.

He also asked for the names of all bidders on three contracts for crushed gravel in the Blind River, Fort William and Kenora divisions of the highways department.

Another enquiry was for the names of the companies which tendered a bid for aerial photography and mapping of approximately 22,000 square miles of country in northern Ontario near the Manitoba border.

Leaves 2 Million In Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Herman F. Albrecht, Detroit physician who authorities say poisoned himself and whose international financial dealings are being investigated by U. S. internal revenue agents, left $2,828,275 in Ontario alone.

The amount was disclosed in letters of administration granted to Francis L. O'Donnell, solicitor for Esther M. Albrecht, in Surrogate Court here today. She is Dr. Albrecht's widow and sole beneficiary.

The doctor left an estate expected to total more than $5,000,000 in safety deposit boxes in Canada, the U. S. and Mexico. He died Feb. 4, 1953. His will was dated Feb. 4, 1950.

Three of his deposits, a total of $90,000, were located by U. S. revenue agents in Toronto last week. Others have been discovered in Hamilton, Ont., San Antonio, Texas and Mexico City.

So far only $590,000 has been located in Ontario.

Obituary

ROBERT WALTER PRICE

BETHANY (ENS) — A well known sportsman and storekeeper, Robert Walter Price, 68, died at his home in Bethany, Wednesday.

Born in Bethany, son of the late George Price and Martha Cunning, Mr. Price was educated and lived in the village practically all his life.

He began working as a clerk in a Bethany general store and a few years later opened his own grocery and meat store which he operated until 1946.

Mr. Price had been very active in sports, playing football, hockey and baseball in his younger years. He organized the first Bethany girls' softball team, and was coach and manager of the team each year until 1951. He was also a charter member of the Bethany Athletic Association.

He belonged to LOL 1022, the Independent Order of Foresters, and the Masons.

Funeral services will be on Friday, at 2:00 p.m. from the Bethany United church for burial in St. Mary's cemetery. The Rev. L. Norman and the Rev. T. S. Gault will officiate.

Transport Board

NOT APPRECIATIVE

Mr. Hall said it is apparent the transport board is "not appreciative of the restraint and moderation of the union's demands."

"This attitude," he said, "encourages those who hold that unions should demand the ultimate as the basis for consequent collective bargaining."

If the railways were going to continue as fine public utilities, conditions of work and wages must be such as to retain high calibre workers. Public interests and safety demanded this.

"The current demands of the unions on fringe benefits," Mr. Hall said, "are calculated to put railway workers on the same basis as those in many other industries."

Pakistan Bagpipes

KITCHENER—(CP)—The Kitchener branch of the Canadian Legion is going to get bagpipes for a 14-piece band — but they're coming from Pakistan, not Scotland. Legion investigations showed pipes from Pakistan are cheaper than those made in Scotland. Those from Pakistan will cost about $2,500, compared with $5,000 for Scottish-made pipes. The pipes are expected to arrive in about three months.

Two Austrian Plans Rejected

BERLIN (AP)—Austria offered today to extend the occupation rights of the Big Four powers to June 30, 1955, if they grant her independence at once—but Russia refused.

In a last-minute attempt to gain independence for his little nation, Austrian Foreign Minister Leopold Figl made two separate proposals: Each time Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov said no.

The first would have extended the time for occupation troops to withdraw to mid-1955.

The second would have given chiefs of the British, American, French and Soviet diplomatic missions in Vienna control functions for an indefinite period after the independence treaty was signed and military evacuation was carried out.

Madoc Woman Dies In Trailer Fire

BELLEVILLE (CP)—Mrs. Marjorie Elizabeth Sauley, 26, of Madoc was asphyxiated in her trailer home Wednesday, and she attempted to light a small wood stove with coal oil.

The trailer caught fire and her escape through the trailer's only door was cut off by the flames.

There will be no inquest.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 3 13-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. Wednesday's noon rate was 96 19-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.71 13-16, against $2.71⅞.

Jail 3 Picton Men On Breaking Charges

BELLEVILLE (CP) — Rollie Miles, 43, and Wilfred Thibeault, 38, of Picton today were sentenced to a year in jail on charges of breaking and entering a garage at Sydenham in the Kingston district and stealing acetylene tanks.

Russell Weldon, 24, of Picton got six months in jail on the same charge.

Calcutta Tense After Rioting

CALCUTTA (CP) — This major Indian city was still tense today and police were on the alert for any recurrence of rioting which has brought death to at least five persons and injured scores since Tuesday.

Police opened fire Wednesday on surging, bomb-throwing crowds protesting the arrests of 244 striking school teachers, and the mob replied with brickbats and homemade explosives. The crowd had gathered in defiance of a government order.

Troops with fixed bayonets finally broke up the mob after the police had opened fire with rifles and gas grenades.

The strike which led to the disturbances began eight days ago, and Tuesday 244 were arrested for sitting outside the Bengal Government House to bring their wage demands to government attention.

In Tuesday's rioting the United States information agency had its windows smashed, and street cars were delayed.

Snow, Floods Tie Up Traffic Across Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — Sections of Ontario still are coping with floods and snowdrifts although the storm that caused the troubles has moved eastward through Montreal and on to the Atlantic provinces.

The storm left 16 inches of snow at Cornwall and more than 15 inches at Montreal.

The Cornwall snowfall brought nearly all normal activities to a halt, stalled traffic, forced school closings and depleted industrial staffs. About 150 vehicles, including cars, trucks and buses, were stranded at Farran's Point, 17 miles west of Cornwall on Highway 2.

Traffic in Montreal was snarled by the snow, which blocked country roads and some highways and disrupted bus and airline schedules. Banks of snow pushed up by snowplows towered over the heads of pedestrians and the tops of cars.

RAIL TRAGEDY

In the blinding snowstorm, a collision of two passenger trains 35 miles west of Montreal killed W. B. Casselman of Toronto and injured 87 other passengers, most of them from Toronto and Montreal.

The storm figured in other deaths Wednesday. Harry C. Warner, 64, of Ottawa, collapsed and died while shovelling snow, while a few miles away at Aylmer, Que., Lawrence M. O'Malley, 62, was stricken as he tried to free his car from a drift. John J. Carmody, 76, died after shovelling snow from his front walk at Uxbridge. Traffic accidents on icy roads killed Cpl. Harry Gilchrist of the Ontario Provincial Police near St. Thomas and Frances Auld, 18, at Sarnia.

The snowstorm tended to overshadow the flood difficulties, which eased in most areas as rivers ebbed back to their normal levels.

Fourteen of the families evacuated from their homes at Churchville, 20 miles northwest of Toronto, still were unable to return, although the Credit river was receding. London cleaned up after the Thames river flooded some low-lying sections. The Thames, the Ausable and the Grand river and many smaller streams still ran high in places but generally the flood danger appeared virtually over.

IN FRONT OF HIS OWN HOME Norman Beach met in collision with a truck driven by John F. Dutrizac, 525 Monaghan Rd. A setting sun and icy pavement were partly blamed for the accident. Beach's wife was injured and Dutrizac (shown right), received a cut ear. Beach was turning into his home, five and a half miles west of Peterborough (shown above), when the collision occurred. Neighbors are shown looking at the damaged Beach car.

Union Backs Trailer-Ships

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Dave Beck, president of the AFL Teamsters Union, said Wednesday the union would approve water transport of loaded truck-trailers on the Great Lakes or anywhere else where the union is convinced it will increase trucking industry business and create more union jobs.

Beck gave the union's endorsement of plans to inaugurate such trailer-ship service on a large scale between Carolina ports and New York and Providence, R. I.

The McLean Shipping Co. announced plans to build four 20-knot, twin-deck ships to ferry loaded truck-trailers as a transportation cost cutting plan, avoiding state road taxes on trucks.

Beck said similar plans could be adopted on other coasts and interior waterways, and he expected they eventually will materialize.

MENDOZA, Argentina (AP)—Two Roman Catholic priests, Rev. Jose Veiga Blano and Rev. Antonio Fantini, today said they will attempt to scale 23,081-foot Mount Aconcagua in the Andes, highest mountain in the western hemisphere.

Icy Highway, Setting Sun Blamed For Crash, Two Hurt

An icy highway and the glare of the setting sun were contributing factors to an accident late Wednesday afternoon in which two people were injured.

The accident occurred on the easterly slope of a hill on Highway No. 7, five and a half miles west of Peterborough at 5:45 p.m. A Bell Telephone truck and a car that was making a left turn into the owner's driveway were in collision.

Mrs. Aileen Beach, 27, of RR 2, Peterborough, was a front-seat passenger in her husband's 1941-model coupe that was making the turn into their home. The impact threw her forward against the dashboard and she was taken to Civic Hospital by Nisbett ambulance.

She received facial cuts and swelling on the right forehead, but no broken bones. Her condition today is satisfactory.

CUT EAR

The driver of the Bell Telephone truck, 35-year-old John F. Dutrizac of 525 Monaghan Rd., got a cut right ear and an injured left shoulder. However, he did not require medical attention.

Two Beach children—Charles, age two, and Carole Anne, age four—were passengers in their parents' car but they were not hurt.

Dutrizac later told OPP Constable Bruce Tillson that he was driving east along the highway. He saw the car and thought that Norman Beach, who was slowing for a left turn, has seen him also. However, Beach was blinded by the glare from the setting sun and didn't see him.

Dutrizac was unable to stop in time on the icy highway and the two vehicles collided. The truck toppled over on its left side. Total damage is estimated at $1,000—$500 to each.

Town Workers Reject Offer

COBOURG (ENS) — Cobourg town workers, members of the National Union of Civic Employees, turned down an offer Wednesday from the town of a two-cent increase in wages.

The workers are seeking a 25-cent an hour increase. The union and the town are nearing agreement on other considerations in a new contract for 1954. It is now up to the town council to decide what to do in the face of the union's stand on the wage offer.

Safety Experts Of Cobourg Hold Rally

COBOURG (ENS)—Some 160 men interested in industrial safety attended a safety rally in Cobourg Wednesday night sponsored by the Cobourg-Port Hope division of the Central Ontario Industrial Accident Prevention Association.

Harry Madsen, chief inspector of the IAPA guest speaker brought a number of exhibits with him to show what had gone wrong with the equipment and what had resulted. He traced several actual accidents through telling how the accidents had occurred and how they could have been prevented.

He was introduced by John Morgan, chairman of the Central Ontario division of the IAPA. Also present were Howard Herschell, resident inspector in Peterborough of the department of labor. Another inspector of the accident association attending was John Morris.

Sam Bradley, Port Hope, member of the St. John Ambulance Corps demonstrated the Holgar-Neilson method of artificial respiration.

The safety experts were welcomed to Cobourg by mayor John D. Burnet. Entertainment was provided by Billy Meek of Toronto and Mrs. Olive Searles of Peterborough.

One Out of 2 Drivers In Toronto Drinker

TORONTO (CP)—The Rev. Dr. J. R. Mutchmor claims that one of every two automobile drivers on Toronto streets after midnight has been drinking.

"After midnight from Monday to Thursday every other person driving a car has consumed alcohol," the secretary of the evangelism and social service department of the United Church of Canada told the Toronto Centre presbytery. "Fridays and Saturdays the same condition exists from 10:30 p. m. on."

He said of the 1,100 traffic fatalities last year in Ontario, 45 per cent were due to drinking.

Practise Evacuation

DETROIT (AP)—The 1,600 workers in General Motors' Fisher body plant practised air-raid evacuation Wednesday. They cleared the two-block, six-storey building in 10 minutes. It can be done in five minutes if necessary, management said.

Memorial Centre Plans

Mayor Graham and the Council are to be commended on their initiative in planning a re-organization of the Memorial Community Centre committee. After the passing of nine years, the committee needs to have new life put into it. Hopes are general that the Centre will begin to take form and not continue to lie in bonds and bank balances and on the yellowed pages of a brochure soliciting subscriptions. Mayoral and aldermanic candidates at the last civic election recognized the public demand for action by promising it during their campaigns. We hope that Saturday afternoon's public meeting called by the Mayor will be well and representatively attended.

* * *

The matter of representation is important, on two major counts. First, the money involved: some $350,000 is now available. A part of it (not the biggest) was contributed by citizens during the campaign. Some of them contributed because they wanted a hockey rink. A heavy contribution was made by industries patriotically interested in a memorial being created to the men and women who had served in the armed forces, and civically ready to assist in providing recreation facilities for the people. The rest of the fund is made up of city money, provided by taxpayers. All these groups should be adequately represented at Saturday's meeting, and on the committee that will be formed.

* * *

Another reason that proper representation is important is this. The foregoing indicates the varied interests there are in what the Memorial Community Centre will be. It was, be it remembered, planned as, first, a memorial, and second as a community centre. It must therefore be constructed as a fitting memorial in design, appearance and nature. And as a community centre it should cater to the wants and needs of the community. These are not all to be encompassed within the boards of a hockey rink. Not all the men and women who served, and sacrificed during the war, would have been interested in a hockey rink. Some had no interest in hockey. Some were interested in music, in theatre, in dominoes and dice, in boxing and dancing. Others had a lively regard for gardens, trees, fine buildings. Would a hockey rink be a sufficient memorial to them? As a Community centre, let the planners consider the varied interests of the whole community, and not the special interest of one minor section of it, the hockey enthusiasts.

Expanding Problem Of Indo-China

The rapidly increasing gravity of the situation in Indo-China has aroused deep concern in the capitals of some Western democracies, deeper perhaps in Washington than in any. A dispatch from that city last week reported an incident emphasizing the critical position of French and Vietnamese forces in their struggle against Communist forces—the landing of 250 U.S. Air Force technicians. This group was said to be the vanguard of a major effort to be made by the U.S. to prevent the conquest of Indo-China by the Communists. Later dispatches from Washington, Paris and Indo-China have contained supporting evidence that French and allied forces are losing ground to Communists at a dangerous rate.

There was little advance indication of this development. A Communist advance had been reported last December, but until last week the news had reported no serious setbacks and was even faintly optimistic at times. The reasons now offered for the sudden approach to crisis are that the French are weary of the conflict and unwilling or unable to exert themselves further, and that aid for the Communists, from China backed by Russia, has been substantially increased. Officials in Washington criticize severely the French failure to use U.S. supplies and good weather conditions to launch an offensive, but more impartial critics point to the long and wasting war the French have fought in Indo-China with no outside assistance.

The reasons for the development are perhaps of less importance than finding a solution of the problem. The Joint Chiefs of Staff at Washington have an answer, and it appears to be a good one—from the military viewpoint. They would install a U.S. commander, support him with American air power and a naval blockade of the Chinese coast, and give him money and men to develop independent native armies. This was the pattern followed by General James Van Fleet in Greece and Korea, and General Van Fleet has expressed the opinion that all of free Asia may easily be saved if training schools were provided, partially operated and financed by the United States.

There are arguments against the military solution. 'In an election year, Republican politicians shy away from the idea of another war in Asia. The expense involved would practically wreck the budget-balancing plans of the Eisenhower Administration. And there is some worry about the reaction of European allies of the United States to direct intervention in Indo-China. For the present, probably U.S. policy will be to limit assistance to technical aid, supplies and equipment. The ultimate decision may be for direct intervention, but it will likely be postponed.

To Improve P.C.V.S. Auditorium

It is good news that the Board of Education has commissioned plans which will improve the ventilation of the P.C.V.S. auditorium. This hall is used a great deal by many Peterborough groups, and because the city has grown so much during the past few years it is often filled to capacity. We do not need to enlarge on the discomfort which this creates, for every Peterborough citizen knows about it. The hall quickly becomes stuffy, and whatever may be done to control the heat from the boiler-room, the natural heat of the audience makes it almost unbearable. We shall look forward to the improvements which will make it possible to keep the air in the auditorium cooled and in constant circulation.

While they are about it, we wish that the Board could be persuaded to incur an additional expense which, while not great, would greatly improve the auditorium as a concert-hall. Its doors are glass, and they do not deaden sound from the corridors. It is unreasonable to expect that all the other people who are in the building on a concert night should creep about on tiptoe, and converse in whispers. Could these doors be re-built, or replaced, with acoustic doors, so that sound from the corridors would be muffled, or perhaps eliminated entirely?

St. Peter's auditorium, which is not enclosed in the school itself, enjoys a great advantage in this respect. But the P.C.V.S. auditorium is in full use, and will continue to be so, for Peterborough has now an increasing need for all the large halls it possesses. The Board of Education, as custodian of two of the city's most popular halls, has a responsibility to make them as comfortable as possible in all respects, and we do not think that the ratepayers would consider money spent for this purpose an extravagance.

Sun And Thaw

It has been a satisfactory winter. Mild to begin with, big and sharp in the midst, and dulcet and affable now at the end. The end? That is for the gods to say, but we permit ourself to remark on this happy, mild and bright day, that the big fall of snow on Tuesday did have the feel of a 17th of March storm, traditionally winter's last blow. The snow was tacky, spring-like. Yesterday and today have been a sort of confirmation that winter's end has come; anyway, pleased dupes of the sun can think so.

It is not altogether wild fancy that permits one to believe that spring is on the wing. Was it nine years ago that it came early, and we had March as May-like as the cuckoo, and temperatures in the sixties? Things began to grow, worms to turn, and men to shed their shirts. A cuckoo March that was; unfortunately also a completely cuckoo May. Things began to freeze again, snakes to congeal, and men to return to woollens. A cold May and June.

Yes, this winter has been really very good to us. Enough Zero weather to kill the bugs in the air and blow out the pipes, enough snow to make pretty pictures and to give the skiers opportunities denied them these last several winters. Kemps Hill has been busy with youngsters and others who do not migrate to Sun Valley or the Laurentians. The two tows at Bethany have been able to operate more frequently, and the hills have provided good fun. As a matter of fact, the good, hearty winter seems to have caught many skiers with their skis off. After their experience of the last three damp, snow-thin winters, local enthusiasts lost some of their enthusiasm; a kind of pessimism crept in with the slush and stubble of the preceding winters, and the keen skiing weather this year found some Peterborough skiers not as sharp as the weather. Oh, well, every human activity has its ups-and-downs; and none has more than skiing. The trouble may be that skiers in this post-war world have been taking their ups too lazily—on tow.

THE RED DEAN

Henry Ford Social Credit & Rich Ritual

A 'New Statesmap and Nation' (London) Profile of the Rev. Hewlett Johnson

CONTRARY to popular belief, Deans of Canterbury have not always been models of orthodoxy. It is interesting to record that when the present Bishop of Chichester was Dean, he was subject to constant criticism; for it was believed that he was both a pacifist and a Socialist. Dean Bell was followed by the late Dick Sheppard whose militant pacifism did not go down well in East Kent. It is against this background that Ramsay MacDonald's appointment in '31 of Hewlett Johnson must be viewed, MacDonald, in those days, was still thought of as a dangerous revolutionary, and it was rather more because Hewlett Johnson was a friend of the Bolshevik Premier than because of his own still rather uncertain heresies that the Dean's arrival in Canterbury was thought objectionable. He seemed less subversive than Bell or Sheppard.

✧ ✧ ✧

HEWLETT JOHNSON had not, hitherto, been a notorious character. He had begun to earn his living, as he has always loved to tell people, apprenticed, with a tiny wage, as an engineer in his father's cotton mill in Manchester. He had behaved, so far as he could, as a worker himself, but that was not really possible for his father's son. He acquired a sense of guilt towards the working class and never lost his determination to play his part in improving their conditions. He seems always to have assumed the existence of a panacea for all social evil. Later at Manchester University he had acquired a degree in engineering, but had become afflicted with doubts about Christianity. These had been overcome, and he had gone on to take an undistinguished degree in theology at Oxford, where he was known for his fine physique, his oarsmanship, and his indefatigable and controversial conversation. For twenty years he served as a priest in a well-to-do Lancashire parish, attempting to satisfy his sincere and disinterested desire for social change by reading and writing on economic subjects, of which, it must be admitted, he never obtained any really thorough grasp. In the course of his search, he became known as a Socialist, and in 1924 had been elevated by Ramsay MacDonald, this ime to be Dean of Manchester.

HIS FURTHER PROMOTION to Canterbury seven years later gave him both power and security. He at once made his mark by his exuberant introduction of richer ritual and more gorgeous raiment in the Cathedral. At the same time, he publicised widely his belief in the Douglas Credit scheme, the panacea of the period. Like Major Douglas, who was also an engineer by training, he regarded Douglas Credit as a kind of economic engineering, and linked it with his early experiences as an apprentice; never forgetting to remind his audience of the unfair advantage he here personally received as a member of a middle-class Victorian family. For the most part, Canterbury was tolerant of this enthusiasm on the part of the new Dean. Monetary cranks were common enough in those days.

Major Douglas was not the only subject of Hewlett Johnson's admiration; he also held the first Henry Ford in very high esteem. He was fond of saying that Ford was the greatest benefactor mankind had ever known, for he had universalised the use of the internal combustion engine and in so doing he had restricted the use of the horse which, in its turn, meant there was an ever diminishing number of manure heaps which were the main breeding grounds of flies. He went on to argue that the decline in flies had a marked influence on health, and in particular that it had lowered the incidence of infant mortality. Later he was to make the same point truly and effectively about Communist China. It applies also to capitalist Japan, but this may seem to him a less good illustration.

IN the early '30s his public interests were Adult Education, Douglas Credit and World Politics; he showed no interest in Communism and, although he was a supporter of the Labour Party, and gave financial help to many Labour Parties during the 1931 Election, his main interest came from the belief that the economics of Major Douglas would do the trick. Always the burden of his talk with those who worked with him, especially in the field of adult education, was: "It does not matter whether you call yourself a Christian or not. It does not matter whether you pray, and it does not matter whether you go to church. In my judgement the work you are doing is Christ's work and, therefore, whatever you call yourself, you are a Christian." This attitude is part of Hewlett Johnson's being. He really does look at people and organizations in this way.

He has genuinely convinced himself that the Soviet Union is exalting the humble and meek, is caring for the very old, the very young and the sick, and is doing so with a strength of purpose that strives, despite many errors, to produce a kinder society in which concern for one's neighbours really matters. To the extent that he accepts such a simple view, it can be readily understood that his grasp of academic theology is not very great. This can be explained by his upbringing. The church, as his life's work, only became a possibility for him after his work as an engineering apprentice. He felt the horror of working-class existence in Victorian times before he found his vocation in the church.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE KEY to the understanding of this "strange cleric" is that he sees life in terms of simple engineering blue prints. He is often accused of self-dramatisation and publicity seeking. For example, there was a disastrous fire in Canterbury in an area in which the Church owned a great deal of old slummy property. The old mill caught fire and in turn many houses were set alight, which rendered many families homeless. As soon as the Dean got to the scene he gave authority for the homeless families to be installed in empty property in the Cathedral Precincts. This action gave great offence to some middle-class occupants of Cathedral property. The Dean was charged with vandalism, Communism and everything else that could be used as a term of abuse. In truth his action in finding homes for those dispossessed working-class families in empty middle-class houses was a turning point in the Precinct's treatment of him. It never seems to have occurred to his critics that his action was plain practical Christianity.

His grip as a preacher and speaker is derived from the fact that, as he talks to his listeners, he is building up a word picture which is as real to him as a fairy tale can become to a child. Having sketched the same picture often enough, he reaches the point where the magic of his words and poetry of his meaning convinces him completely of the truth of what he is saying. His word pictures become real to him.

THE DEAN'S INTEREST in Communism came about in an interesting way. If one turns to his Socialist Sixth of the World, which, he tells one, has sold more copies in all languages than any book that was ever printed, except the Bible, you will find that he acknowledges the debt he owes to Mr. A. T. D'Eye. Mr. D'Eye was, and indeed, still is, an Oxford Extra-Mural Tutor; he was a Post office worker who went up to Balliol and got an Honours Degree in Modern Greats. It was at a W.E.A. Rally that Hewlett Johnson met D'Eye. D'Eye at this time was a convinced Marxist, albeit a rather romantic one, and his enthusiasms made an impact on Johnson with the result that D'Eye began to stay at the Deanery when he was in Canterbury. Later, these visits became more frequent and a close friendship grew between the two men.

From 1932 onwards the Dean began his visits to the Soviet Union. By 1937 and 1938 he had been almost completely taken over by the Communist Party and its friends, but it seems unlikely that he realized it. With surprising ease he shed his faith in Douglas Credit and substituted an equally simple form of Marxism. This was an entirely unconscious process. He had come to understand something of what was afoot in the Soviet Union. Needless to say, what was happening there was presented to him in the most agreeable form. He was given the opportunity of preaching to large congregations. He was impressed by the apparent freedom of religion. He was presented with a gold cross which was so massive that it might well have been wrought by a blacksmith. He had reached the point where he was convinced that the Kingdom of God had come to earth in the Soviet Union.

HEWLETT JOHNSON has special gifts as an orator. He is something of the poet. He is above all, an instinctive actor. He has no analytic training to save him from natural credulity. He has been immensely useful to the Communists because, once his imagination is alight, he becomes impervious to facts; his vanity reinforces his convictions. Indeed, throughout the Communist world he is the one universally known Englishman. He is proof that Marxists are right in saying that Western Bourgeoisie does consist of reptiles and baboons — with a few rare exceptions. It is an astonishing sight to see the Dean, in his clerical uniform, with his ripe rosy cheeks, and white flowing locks, standing before a vast Communist audience with uplifted hand, explaining in his exquisitely modulated voice that Communism and Christianity are the same thing, and that the word of God is given flesh in Moscow rather than in Canterbury. Though he freely admits that there have been errors and excesses in Russia, it is doubtful whether he is now capable of distinguishing between the genuine achievements of the Communist world and the evils which would certainly distress him if he could ever believe in them. His search for perfection has succeeded; the social panacea has been found. Privately he admits that his inamorata is not without blemish; but he cannot really believe it. Past excesses, such as the liquidation of the Kulaks, did, he agrees, happen, but they were infantile errors, long outlived.

Any doubts upon the truth of the picture he draws must come from ignorance or malice. To doubt the truth as he has seen it, is to attack truth. No hypocrite, he has seen a mystic vision, just as Paul saw the Light of the World at Damascus, or any medieval saint saw the emissary of God in his monkish cell. Indeed, he has the sincerity and naive convictions of a saint, and to his friends, and to those who desire to understand and seek peace with the Soviet Union, he is just as exasperating as mystics always have been to those who have to find the complicated and chequered truth by more prosaic methods.

Quebec And Ontario Finances

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

IN presenting the budget for the Province of Quebec, Hon. Onesime Gagnon, the provincial Minister of Finance, estimates revenues at $295 million and ordinary expenditures at $259 million.

This leaves a surplus on ordinary account of $36 million. The question might well be asked: with a surplus of this size, why are new taxes necessary?

The answer lies in the practice that has been followed for several years — the practice of applying the surplus on ordinary account to meet capital expenditures, instead of borrowing for all such expenditures. . . Quebec's per capita debt is the lowest of any province in Canada, with the single exception of Newfoundland (which is in a special position, since it only recently entered the Canadian Confederation). Despite the growth of the province, the total debt has actually dropped. On March 31, 1945, the net debt amounted to $308 million. On March 31, 1953, it amounted to $273 million. This is a reduction of about $35 million over a nine-year period.

The matter may be regarded another way. How does Quebec compare with the Province of Ontario regard to debt? The net funded debt of Ontario is about double that of Quebec, exclusive of treasury bills. And Ontario's treasury bills amounted on March 31 last to $10½ million, whereas Quebec had no treasury bills outstanding. Moreover, at the same date the contingent liabilities of Ontario were estimated at $726 million, while the corresponding liabilities of Quebec were $364 million.

It would seem, at least from the point of view of debt, that Quebec is in a sound condition. The best proof lies in the fact that this province is able to borrow money at a lower rate than any other province in Canada.

Debt, however, is only one aspect. What about the scope of expenditure? Here Mr. Gagnon compared this province with Ontario. In net capital expenditures Ontario spent $50 million in 1951 to Quebec's $33 million; $67 million in 1952 to Quebec's $60 million; $85 million in 1953 to Quebec's $67 million.

For the three years from 1951 to '53 the excess of expenditures over revenues of the Province of Ontario was almost six times as high as in Quebec. And yet Ontario's revenues for 1953 included the federal grants under its federal-provincial agreement. Compared with Ontario, Quebec does not seem to be either spending or borrowing excessively.

Postcards And The Official Mind

(OTTAWA CITIZEN)

IN itself, the raising of postcard mailing rates by one cent is not likely to upset the national economy. But the way in which the move is being made shows a lack of courtesy on the government's part toward Parliament which is becoming a habit.

If a member had not become curious about the status of postcards to the point of asking a question in the Commons, the Postmaster-General, Mr. Alcide Cote, presumably would have kept mum until the new rate was put into effect.

When Mr. Stanley Knowles asked his question, Mr. Cote gave him the information, and then offered the excuse that he hadn't had a chance to give it before. Considering how long the debate on the government's bill to raise basic postal rates had already been in progress, this is nonsense. The minister could have told the House any time he wished, not because of any obligation to do so, but in order to keep Parliament fully informed on the government's policy.

Technically, everything has been done correctly. Last December, Mr. Abbott spoke of a general increase of one per cent. per ounce over existing rates. In January, Mr. Cole brought in a resolution to increase rates on letters. Perhaps a few members realized that only two rates are fixed by statute — letters, and also newspapers and periodicals. All others may be set by regulation of the Postmaster-General.

Nevertheless, in the absence of information to the contrary, Parliament was justified in believing that the only changes effected were those mentioned in the bill, that is, to raise rates for standard first-class mail to 5 cents and to lower the airmail rate to the same figure.

The incident, unsensational in itself, is one more example of an attitude of mind within the present government. It seems to assume that Parliament is not worth bothering about any more than can be helped.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And when much people were gathered together, and were come to him out of every city, he spake by a parable:

A sower went out to sow his seed: and as he sowed, some fell by the way side: and it was trodden down, and the fowls of the air devoured it.

And some fell upon a rock and as soon as it was sprung up, it withered away, because it lacked moisture.

And some fell among thorns; and the thorns sprang up with it, and choked it.

And others fell on good ground, and sprang up, and bare fruit an hundred-fold. And when he had said these things, he cried, He that hath ears to hear, let him hear.

And his disciples asked him, saying, What might this parable be?

And he said, Unto you it is given to know the mysteries of the kingdom of God: but to others in parables; that they might not see, and hearing they might not understand.

Now the parable is this: The seed is the word of God.

Those by the way side are they that hear; then cometh the devil, and taketh away the word of their hearts, lest they should believe and be saved.

They on the rock are they, which, when they hear, receive the word with joy; and these have no roots, which for a while believe, and in time of temptation fall away.

And that which fell among thorns are they, which when they have heard, go forth, and are choked with cares and riches and pleasures of this life, and bring no fruit to perfection.

But that on the good ground are they which in an honest and good heart, having heard the word, keep it, and bring forth fruit with patience. (Luke 8:4-15.)

A Stupid Strike

(Montreal Star)

The men at Noranda, as they go back to work this week, must be doing some hard thinking about the kind of leadership their union offered them last year. A settlement has been effected which could have been made months ago. That the strike continued as long as it did was due to the stubborn refusal of the men's leaders to realize that the set of demands which led to the strike were ill-based and unreasonable. The same can be said of the whole series of stoppages which paralysed the north country and resulted in a loss of wages which runs into millions.

Intelligent union leadership depends upon a real understanding of the problems of management. What happened at Noranda, as Hollinger and elsewhere was that the union leaders hopelessly misjudged the situation. They chose a moment when the post-war boom was slackening off, when metal prices were falling, when the ultimate effects of inflation were bearing down on costs, to make a series of demands which would have run those costs up beyond any economic level. Management properly rejected them, though a moderate increase in wage rates was never ruled out. This the union interpreted as an attempt to break it. It was never that. It was an attempt only to maintain something like the status quo in a difficult marketing situation.

Judge Commences Study Of Both Roosevelt Claims

By GRAHAM BERRY

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A judge will announce within a few days how much temporary support James Roosevelt, who claims he's worse than broke, will pay his estranged wife, Romelle, who demands $3,500 a month.

A four-day hearing on the matter wound up Wednesday with her lawyers accusing the eldest son of the late president Franklin D. Roosevelt of "making false statements for the purpose of concealing his assets."

Roosevelt's lawyer said Mrs. Roosevelt will have to get along with $30-to-$40 dresses instead of $300 ones.

Judge Kurtz Kauffman took under submission the support demands and the amount to be allowed Mrs. Roosevelt for court costs and legal fees.

The support order will be effective pending trial of their separate-maintenance suits. In hers, Mrs. Roosevelt, 38, accuses her 46-year-old husband of adultery, naming three co-respondents. She also filed letters signed by him stating he admitted infidelities with nine other women.

DENIES CHARGES

Roosevelt, who has denied the charges, already is paying his wife, who has temporary custody of their three small children, $1,073 a month.

Judge Kuaffman said his decision will be based on Roosevelt's ability to pay as shown by his income and disbursements for the last five or six years.

The insurance executive's financial records, introduced in court, show gross annual income ranging from $30,000 to $51,000 over the last few years and yearly disbursements varying from $40,000 to $79,000.

Plan Law To Aid Vets' House Building

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is planning legislation which would permit veterans to build on city lots and still qualify for a measure of assistance under the Veterans' Land Act.

The new plan would benefit veterans who want to build their own homes and are prepared to put their own time and labor into construction. On a rough estimate, a veteran would be able to build a $10,000 home for about $8,000 or less.

Officials of the veterans affairs department are drafting the new scheme but it may be a month at least before it is ready for presentation to Parliament. There are still kinks to be ironed out.

To qualify now for aid under VLA, a veteran has to build on two- or three-acre lots outside the city. This is designed to promote rural development but veterans say it now is difficult to find suitable small holdings within commuting distance of regular employment.

Since the Second World War, the government has spent nearly $100,000,000 in direct grants to enable some 60,000 veterans to settle on farms, small holdings outside cities or to take up commercial fishing. Maximum grants under VLA are $2,320 and loans are repayable at 3½ per cent over a maximum period of 25 years.

REVOLVING LOAN

Under the new scheme being drafted, veterans won't be able to obtain grants to build on city lots or the low interest rate on amounts borrowed.

However, a revolving fund may be set up under VLA, which would make loans available when house construction had started so the veteran could pay the sub-contractor or supplier of material.

In 1949, VLA launched its "build your own home" program for veterans. More than 6,000 houses have been built on small holdings under this scheme. One such project is just outside Ottawa, where veterans with annual incomes in the neighborhood of $3,000 have put up their own homes at a cost of some $7,000 each. These homes now are worth $12,000 to $15,000.

CONSTRUCTION COURSES

Basically, this plan involves construction courses given during the winter, close supervision of construction by VLA authorities, the veteran's participation in the work and free legal advice. The big money saving—at least $2,000 a home—is made by the veteran assisting in actual construction.

Veterans officials are working along the general lines suggested last November by the Canadian Legion in a submission to the cabinet.

The Legion proposed that the "build your own home" program be extended to construction on city lots.

Zahedi Presents Plan

TEHRAN (AP) — Premier Fazollah Zahedi Wednesday marked the end of his first half-year in power with a radio address urging Iranians to "work—not talk." He also threatened a crackdown on internal enemies. Zahedi, who pushed out ex-dictator Mohammed Mossadegh last August in a one-day coup, presented a 19-point program for economic development. His plan includes quick re-establishment of Iran as an international oil producer.

Find Industry Catching Up To Agriculture

EDMONTON (CP) — Alberta's manufacturing industry is gradually edging up to agriculture, the province's main activity which also serves as a basis for manufactured output.

The manufacturing industry now produces more than $500,000,000 worth of goods and materials a year compared with production valued at $5,000,000 in 1906.

In the 48 years since manufacturing became recognized as a contributor to Alberta's economy the number of plants has grown from 97 to almost 2,000. There are 27,000 persons employed by manufacturing industries and their wages approach $60,000,000 a year. New plants are under construction.

Vegetables and animal products are still the largest section of the manufacturing industry, providing about 67 per cent of the total value of production.

Flour and meal, breakfast foods, barley, stock and poultry feeds, bran and other grain products are produced in about 120 flour and feed mills.

The packing of meat products is another important part of manufacturing. During 1952 the 15 Alberta meat packing plants and slaughterhouses had a total production of $105,000,000.

SPECIAL CROPS

Among special agricultural crops grown in southern Alberta are sugar beets which are processed at refineries at Raymond, Picture Butte and Taber. The 1952 production of the vegetable canning industry was valued at $750,000.

Thirty-four Alberta plants manufacture textiles and other cloth products. Goods produced in 1952 were worth $7,500,000.

The chemical industry has three large new plants near Edmonton which serve as the primary producers of raw materials used by a secondary growth of smaller industries.

Although primary production of oil is the main economic activity for Alberta's petroleum industry, there are 12 oil refineries which utilize about one-third of the crude oil produced.

Other manufacturing industries in Alberta produce cement, sulphur, salt, caustic soda, chlorine, furniture and other wood products, and clay products.

Mills Keep Crown With A Draw In Main Mat Bout

Fred Atkins and Hombre Montana failed to knock the Canuk tag team mat crown from the heads of the mean Mills brothers here last night, but they were knocking Al and Tiny around like 10-pins when the time limit gong sounded to end the main bout in a draw. Huge Hombre, at 325 pounds, and the rough 251-pound Atkins had all the best of it in the final round over Tiny, going 274, and the 255-pound Al, but couldn't pin either in time for the fall. The popular pair worked together better in their own corner, but it was hot and highly illegal in both corners all through the jam session to keep the fans yelling for blood. But the unpopular Mills survived the storm.

GETS FIRST FALL

Atkins pinned Tiny in 30 minutes for the first fall with a series of bull-dogging crunches, he and Hombre working on this in relays near their corner, as the crowd roared approval. Montana had a worthy partner this time in the rough-house Australian who gave the Mills the works every chance he had, and he even sparked Hombre into some violent action, the only answer to the mean methods always applied by Al and Tiny. Referee Sammy Gotter had a heck of a time of it trying to keep up with the villainy. Montana thrice tried crawling across the ring to aid in his corner, but every time he got so far the wrong Mills would jump in and yank him back while the ref was busy looking elsewhere.

Al Mills evened the falls in eight minutes with a slam on Atkins after he and Tiny hung up Fred in the ropes (ala Hangman Howard Cantonwine) and shook him dizzy. The ref? Oh, he was over arguing in the corner with Montana and missed it all. Fred earlier had Al Mills on the verge of a fall with his bull-dogging till Tiny jumped in and kicked him loose from his grip. It was a sizzling scrap between the husky pairs in and out of the ring at times, with four all in there at once on one occasion, and the fans ate it up.

SCIENTIFIC BOUT

The semi-final was a fast, clean, scientific and wide-open fray which saw Pat Flanagan, going 232, and Johnny Barend, scaling 230 pounds, both counted out of the ring at 18 minutes for a draw. They rolled through the strands to land on the floor and were knotted up so tightly that they couldn't pry themselves apart to beat the count, and Gotter had to untie the pair at the windup. There were flying tackles all over the place as they served up a streamlined scrap and a raft of grips and breaks that tickled the cash customers. Pat favored a headlock while Johnny went for a toe-hold when they weren't tossing assorted tackles off the ropes at each other.

Earl McCready, bumping the beam at 247 pounds, won the prelim in 26 minutes over Ray Cernandos when Gotter disqualified the Spaniard for pushing the ref who was trying to let McCready return to the ring—Ray refusing to let him. Ray was rough from the start and they both mixed it hard at times in a lively go, showing speed for two husky grapplers. McCready used a stepover toe-hold to effect while Ray retaliated with a crab hold and later a flying leg scissors. They were broken up for using chokes as it became rough later following some good mat work. They threw punches and finally Cernandos tossed Earl out of the ring and that led up to Ray's disqualifcation.

WHERE ARE WE?—It looks like wrestling as referee tries to catch Kenny Carlson, who is on opponent Chuck Hales' shoulder in a fine-looking airplane swing. But they were doing it on the wrong night. The pair engaged in a bantamweight battle at Minneapolis amateur show. Hales was able to swing the decision, too.

"Y" Swimmers Lose By One Point To TCS

The YMCA swimming team lost a close decision last night at a dual swimming meet with Trinity College Schools in Port Hope by the score of 51-50. The local lads, with several of their best missing, turned in a fine effort and were the winners of three out of the four relay events. The Trinity team proved excellent hosts and served refreshments following the meet.

In the individual events, Wilton Tranter was outstanding with two firsts and a third; Jim Heffernan and Terry Northrop each had two firsts; Donald Wood, John Boorman and David Ross had a second and a third; and Lorn Hale gave an exhibition of diving and placed third in two events.

The seven-man team was accompanied by Herb Tranter and coach Gordon Minty. A return meet is planned for Saturday, March 13, at the Peterborough YMCA pool.

Lindsay Rink Captures Trophy

SARNIA (CP) — Mrs. Douglas Scott and her Toronto Royal Canadian rink defeated Mrs. G. S. Baldwin of Brookline, Mass., 9-5 Wednesday to take the Imperial Trophy, premier event in the fourth annual Sarnia Imperial Women's bonspiel.

Mrs. Scott entered the finals by defeating Mrs. J. D. Bradley of the Toronto Curling Club 10-3.

In the other semi-final Mrs. Baldwin eliminated Mrs. L. E. Woolley of Toronto Granites, last year's winner, 8-5.

Mrs. C. M. Laidley of Lindsay won the Grant Trophy, the second event, by defeating Mrs. J. P. MacDonald of Brantford 10-8 in an extra end.

The Macklin Trophy went to Mrs. W. McMullen of St. Catharines who downed Mrs. G. M. Phil of Hamilton Thistles 16-6.

Mrs. Gordon Gilbert of Chatham won the Sarnia Bridge Trophy by defeating Mrs. Doug Macklin 8-7.

Castle Girls Lead

Betty Castle had high single of 298, while Jean Castle put together 258 and 244 for high two of 502 this week in the Girls' City Bowling League. Kay Beatty's 377 for two was closest to the blind score of 378. Marines won 2-1 from Curtain's, while other counts were 3-0 for Bassel's, Black's, Sunoco and Cardinals over Aces, Collis, Austin's and Sevenaires in that order.

Good singles: A. Stinson 277, P. Richardson 268, M. Wannamaker 262, J. Snape, 249, M. Batley 248, B. Pogue 247, R. Morris 244, V. Scriver 233; B. Peterkin 233, M. Hawthorne 228, J. Moore 223, D. Martin 223, F. Kokesh 222, E. Thompson 221, and E. Basciano 220; better doubles: J. Snape 467, M. Hawthorne 444, B. Pogue 436, P. Richardson 435, A. Stinson 435, S. Scully 433, B. Peterkin 424, and E. Thompson 421.

R. Parnell Leads

R. Parnell hit high single of 380 as G. Reynolds led in triples with 836 this week in the Major Bowling League. McLeod's topped teams with 3,493 pinnage, while top single went to Crowley's with 1,305. The 7-0 wins were taken by Burtol, McLeod's, Godson and Patterson over E & B, Boucher, Sherbrooke and Selkirk; the 5-2 victories went to Bartley, Plaza, U E W, Paramount, Crowley's, Wonder, Seahorses and Hewitt against Edward's, Clements, Silents, Clapper's, Curtis, Lock, D & W and the Revenoors.

Good scores: J. Goodson (336) 814, W. Harris 703, M. Akers (300) 731, O. Taylor (323) 728, A. Caccavella (307) 737, L. McIntosh (318) 716, T. Collins (320) 834, R. Parnell (360) 779, J. Johnston 709, H. Roberts (319) 728, W. Miller 732 and a single of 330 by A. Basciano.

Peterborough Rinks Reach The Main Event Finals In Warne Trophy Bonspiel

It will be an all-Peterborough final in the main event of the Warne Trophy. After playing from nine o'clock, Wednesday morning, until near midnight, four local rinks were the only ones left in the trophy event. It was not so in the second event. Of the eight rinks that remained in the competition, after all-day play, most of them were from visiting clubs, while in the consolation series it will be all visiting clubs. It is expected that the finals in all three events will be played around three o'clock today.

A GOOD START

The annual Warne Trophy bonspiel, sponsored by the Peterborough Ladies' Curling Club, got away to a fine start yesterday morning. It was risky business travelling Wednesday morning. The games were interesting and in most cases were very close.

One of the highlights of the day's play was the big seven-end Mrs. C. Campbell, Oshawa, got playing against Mrs. R. McIntosh, Bobcaygeon.

The tid-bit game was played on ice No. 4, Mrs. J. Watt's local rink against Mrs. C. Campbell, Oshawa. It was well played—real high-class curling with the local quartet squeezing out an 8-6 victory.

The games were witnessed by a big crowd.

The bonspiel concludes this evening around the supper hour.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

With the matter of the proposed Memorial Community Centre site in Morrow Park coming up within the week at the private bills committee of the Legislature, local action re the Centre is on tap, too. Mayor Norman Graham has called a citizens' meeting for the City Hall committee room at two Saturday aft. Open to all citizens interested in the erection of the Memorial Centre. This is the average citizen's chance to voice his or her opinions on the project and to pass on a proposed slate of officers for the general committee of the Centre. A slate of 30 will be submitted, with smaller committees to be chosen from the general setup to further plans.

PMHA secretary Angus Bradley advises that a minor hockey triple-header goes tonight at Civic Arena, starting at seven. It is hoped to raise finances to help local lads go into provincial "A" playdowns in bantam, midget and juvenile competition. Local juvenile Aces open playdowns in Port Perry on Saturday night against an Oshawa team, return one being Feb. 25. No word yet on our bantam and midget Shamrocks' next games. But the setup tonight calls for three good exhibitions in this order: St. James midgets vs. bantam Shamrocks, Port Hope juves vs. midget Shamrocks, and Junior Petes vs. juvenile Aces. The Travellers' Association sponsors the bantam Shamrocks, while the Police A.A. backs the midget lads.

About The Motor League

If Belleville Memos miss out on making an OHA senior "B" playoff spot in the next week — and that seems likely — the Central Ontario circuit then might well be termed the Motor League. The Petes are sponsored by the Toronto-Peterborough-Transport; Oshawa gets aid from some trucking firms in that city; Orillia are known as the Pontiacs; and Kingston puckists are dubbed Goodyears. So, with Transports, Truckers, Pontiacs and Goodyears all in a merry playoff scramble shortly, on paper at least it looks like a Motor League in high gear. Or will the battling Memos throw up a late road-block?

* * * * * * *

TPT Petes tackle Orillia Pontiacs here Friday night in our second last scheduled home game as the list runs out in another week. While the Petes are sure of a playoff berth, they are by no means certain of hanging onto top spot, and that's where they want to finish. Orillia are, of course, not only trying to head Belleville into the playoff money but want to finish no lower than third slot, since first and fourth clubs playoff while the second and third do likewise. Plenty at stake for both teams, including a desire for vengeance on the part of Eddie Redmond's men for the humbling they took last start up Orillia way. Sounds like an entertaining evening for hockey followers.

Hey-Rube At Port Perry

Port Perry Flyers grounded the Junior Petes 5-3 on the Ports' ice last eve to take a 2-0 lead in the their best-of-seven OHA junior "B" group finals, third one being here next Wednesday night. Tied 3-3 in the third period, Refs Jim Crombie and Larry Heffering tossed Bill Twist and Jerry Frizzelle of Peterborough into the hoosegow and that did it — the Ports firing home two quickies to wrap up the contest. Manager Dootch Vitarelli nearly exploded; he, Jim Morrow and Kevin Heffernan were tossed out in the hey-rube which followed. A fan attacked Hefferman and fights erupted around the place, so Crombie concluded the game shortly before time ran out to save bloodshed. A hectic hockey playoff and the Junior Petes and Coach Red Creighton were furious at the officiating in the final frame. But the game stands, and the local lads will have to do it the hard way now.

* * * * * * *

Hombre Montana and Fred Atkins gave it — and the Mills brothers — all they had here last eve but couldn't take the main pro mat bout. Time ran out on 'em just when they appeared to have the tag team title in their grip. Al and Tiny Mills were as mean and illegal in their tactics as ever but ran into an unpleasant surprise with Atkins teaming up with Montana. Even the latter took a leaf from the Aussie's book and forgot all about rules. Atkins (always a rough-and-tumble type) teed off on the Mills from the start, and Hombre soon joined in. The villains were lucky to get a draw out of the deal. Pat Flanagan and Johnny Barend drew in a fast, scientific semi-final, while Earl McCready took the prelim when Ray Cernandos was disqualified.

Jr. Petes Beaten By The Ports In Redhot Fray

Port Perry Flyers defeated Peterborough 6-3 Wednesday night, in the second of a best-of-seven junior "B" OHA hockey series, for the Central Ontario league championship, before a large crowd of fans. The victory enabled Flyers to gain a two game advantage over Petes in the set, following Monday's 7-2 opening win in Peterborough. The third game is slated for Peterborough next Wednesday, Feb. 24. Hectic scenes marred the game late in the final period, after 50 minutes of fast, rugged action, with the two well-matched teams tied 3-3 when Referee Larry Heffering and Jim Cromble meted successive boarding penalties to Bill Twist and Jerry Frizzelle. Flyers promptly scored two comparatively soft tallies to shipwreck Petes' cause as the latter gallantly assayed to deadlock the set with the odds in their favor, up to that point, on a brilliant showing.

FIERCE PROTESTS

A fierce storm of protest arising out of this sudden turn of events after such clean, close competition, led to a series of "incidents" in the dying minutes that resulted in the banishment of Manager Dootch Vitarelli for protesting; as well as players Jimmy Morrow and Kevin Heffernan with match and misconduct penalties respectively.

Tempers flared, fights broke out, to be stopped only by the playing of the National anthem. Kevin Heffernan was attacked by a fan on his way to the dressing room, and Referee Crombie called the game before regulation time to avoid further outbursts, with only seconds of play remaining.

Coach Red Creighton had his say after a stiff verbal attack by a fan when he stormed:

"We should have had that game. We don't have to take this abuse. I thought those referees were bad tonight; but we'll be battling hard next Wednesday to stay in there, and the breaks should come our way."

SCORED FIRST

At the four-minute mark, Gary Copeland broke fast with Romanuk, to beat Delahey from 10 feet out on a neat pass from his mate. Petes evened the count midway in the frame as Lawrence Ball scored on a mad scramble near the Flyer's goalmouth.

Johnson put Flyers one up on a low ice-cutter from the blueline centre, two minutes later, a checkerboard passing play, well screened and the crowd cheered wildly.

Morrow rushed in the second and narrowly missed a breakaway, then speedy Bud McDougall sped with Paul Doris close in on the most spectacular play of the night. Working in the left of the cage, Doris whipped a short pass to his mate on the opposite side. The fast winger had only time to flip a backhander; but this found the twine, as Petes drew even.

A HOT PERIOD

Third-period action opened with an attack in Petes' end but quickly reverted; and at the two-minute mark, Morrow corked a dandy to the lower right corner on a pass from Ball. Flyers came back and a minute later, Dunc Bradie grabbed a loose puck near the left open side of the net, as Petes' defence lapsed momentarily and plunked the tying marker past the helpless Delahey. Romanuk and Copeland drew assists on the play. Tremendous open action followed and Johnston drew a minor for boarding.

At 9:30 Faust drew a boarding penalty closely followed by a similar minor to Frizzelle; and fortune frowned on Petes' cause as Flyers tallied thrice with a two man advantage, to virtually sew up the ball game. Dystra tallied at 10:05 as five Flyers swarmed around to out-man the visitors. Then Neil Attersley scored twice, seconds later as he, Tom O'Connor and Myles spearheaded ganging attacks.

Following Attersley's second goal, Morrow fired down the ice to arouse the referees' ire and was promptly banished to renew the smouldering feud; and the fiery winger tangled with Referee Heffering only to receive a match penalty for tripping the arbitrator on his way to the box.

Teams:
Petes — Goal, Delahey; defence, Byrne, Frizzelle; centre, Ball; wings, Coyle, Morrow; alternates, McDougall, Gardner, Doris, Ferguson, Pue, Heffernan, Hook, Twist.
Port Perry—Goal, Hawe; defence, Dykstra, Myles; centre, O'Connor; wings, Brodie, Romanuk; alternates, Copeland, Masters, Fisher, Johnson, Gibson, Till, Zedic, Chazewski, Attersley.

Kenner Cagers Win

Kenner Jr. cagers edged Lindsay 45-43 yesterday in a fine hoop struggle. Lindsay led 22-19 at the half, but Kenner came on strongly toward the finish to earn the close decision. Jerry Montgomery led the winners with 14 points, while Blackwell of Lindsay was the big sniper in the game to notch 23 points.

Leafs, Red Wings Battle To 0-0 Tie In Toronto

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Harry Lumley and Terry Sawchuk couldn't be beaten Wednesday night. The two top goalkeepers in the National Hockey League, running neck-and-neck for the Vezina trophy and the $1,000 that goes with it pulled off their second 0-0 duel as the second-place Leafs and the league-leading Detroit Red Wings battled to a scoreless tie at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens. The 13,081 fans that packed the Gardens may have had a Stanley Cup playoff preview as Lumley and Sawchuk kicked out everything that came their way. The tie left the Red Wings 10 points ahead of the Leafs.

In the only other game, centre Paul Ronty scored a goal and assisted on the winning marker as New York Rangers defeated Boston Bruins 2-1 at New York's Madison Square Garden. The victory moved the fifth-place Rangers to within three points of the Bruins.

At Toronto, the goalie struggle was a takeoff on the Toronto-Detroit game of Jan. 3, when the two clubs ended up in a goalless tie.

WON VEZINA TWICE

Sawchuk, the Detroit goaltender who has won the Vezina for the last two seasons, made 27 stops, some of them diving saves on Leaf drives. Lumley handled 33 shots.

It left Lumley with a slight edge over Sawchuk. Lumley has been scored on 93 times in 55 games; Sawchuk 95 times in 56.

The Leafs lengthened their lead over the third-place Montreal Canadiens to two points.

Ronty, a former Bruin, deadlocked the New York-Boston tilt at 1-1 at 16:48 of the first period after veteran Milt Schmidt put Boston in front.

Wally Hergesheimer beat Boston netminder Sugar Jim Henry in the second period to give the Rangers their winning goal.

Only one game is scheduled for tonight. The Red Wings travel to Montreal for a game against coach Dick Irvin's Canadiens.

Maroons Edge Hamilton 3-2

CHATHAM (CP) — Chatham Maroons edged Hamilton Tigers 3-2 in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior A game Wednesday night.

The win had no bearing on the Maroons standing, since they cinched sixth and last playoff spot last week-end, but it prevented the Tigers from climbing into third place ahead of the idle Windsor Bulldogs.

Following a 1-1 deadlock at the end of the first period on goals by Lee of Chatham and McGinn of Hamilton, play got rougher and faster.

Joe Carveth scored at 17.46 of the second to give the Maroons a 2-1 margin.

In the third, Bill Lee potted his second of the night. Bud McLagan drove a long shot that beat Maroon netminder Bassen and cut the Chatham edge to 3-2, the final score.

Lyndhursts Clip Germans 6-2

COLOGNE, Germany (CP) — Toronto Lyndhursts leave here today for Stockholm and the world hockey championships with 10 straight European victories to their credit. The West German national team fell 6-2 beneath the Canadians' onslaught in an exhibition game here Wednesday night.

Only one more test remains in Lyndhursts' warm-up exhibition tour which started with their only European loss in Paris last month. They lost that one 11-2 to a team of Canadians from English leagues.

In Wednesday night's contest, Lyndhursts slammed in four goals in the first period and went on to win easily over the Germans with 7,000 fans looking on.

The losers narrowed the gap with single goals in the first and second periods but the Canadians got two more goals in the finale to clinch the victory.

Biltmores May Have Appeal Loophole

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

An Ontario Hockey Association ruling which suspended coach Alf Pike of Guelph Biltmores for one year without the right to appeal has been protested. The Biltmores, members of the OHA Junior A series, may have found a loophole in the rule.

Pike was suspended for withdrawing the Biltmores from the ice in Toronto during a game with Marlboros last Sunday. Marlboros were leading 8-0 with less than three minutes in the game. Pike later said he was unhappy with the officiating of referee Jack Hogan.

The OHA, after reviewing the case, suspended Pike Tuesday under the rule that says "If a team is withdrawn from the ice, fails to go on the ice and start play or being on the ice fails to start play, within two minutes when ordered to do so by the referee in charge, the game or series shall be forfeited to the opposing team. The manager, coach or official of the club which is responsible for any of these actions, shall be automatically suspended for one year from the date of the infraction, without the right to appeal."

It was established that Pike was responsible for the withdrawal of the Biltmores from the ice and the coach didn't deny it. Two minutes were also counted off before Hogan awarded the game to Marlboros but this is what the protest is based on.

NO DIRECT ORDER

The Biltmores say that Hogan didn't tell either Pike or the Guelph captain that he was starting to count off the two minutes. But the public address system in Maple Leaf Gardens blared out words to the effect that Hogan had pulled the watch.

The Biltmores apparently are arguing that they should have had a special order directed at them by Hogan and say that the referee didn't do so.

Meanwhile, the Biltmores, cellar-dwellers in the OHA Junior race, gave newly-appointed coach Swat Mason a fine welcome by edging Trois-Rivieres Reds of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association Junior league 3-2 in Guelph Wednesday night.

In other games Marlboros defeated Kitchener - Waterloo Greenshirts 4-2 in Kitchener, pulling within six points of the top-place St. Catharines TeePees and Hamilton Cubs took a 4-2 home-ice victory from the third-place Toronto St. Michael's College Majors to move into a fourth-place tie with Kitchener.

Guelph's victory over Trois-Rivieres gave the Biltmores a clean sweep of their home games in the Quebec-Ontario interlocking schedule. The game was the last of the interlocking schedule in Guelph this year.

GILLIS NETS WINNER

John Gillis scored the winning goal for the Biltmores five minutes before the end of the second period. Hillary Menard and John Muckler notched the other Guelph goals. Jean Cossette scored both for Trois-Rivieres.

Wally Maxwell, Gerry James, Jack Bionda and rookie Bob Pulford shared the Toronto scoring. Gord Onotsky and Howie Glover, both former Marlboros, scored for Kitchener.

In Hamilton the Cubs led St. Michael's all the way. It was the seventh win for the Cubs in their last nine games and their third in a row.

Lou Dietrich, Lionel Botley, Jee Zorica and Bill Stewart counted for Hamilton. The Duff brothers, Les and Dick, were the Irish snipers.

Galt travels to Guelph, Montreal Canadiens are at Barrie and St. Michael's play at St. Catharines Friday night.

Slade Upsets Henry In 10-Round Bout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jimmy Slade, a speedy fellow with a real comeback talent, upset Clarence Henry Wednesday night in a closely-fought 10-round bout.

Slade, outweighed by 7½ pounds at 178½, won 97-95 on one judge's card and 99-91 on the other. Referee Charley Reynolds scored it a draw at 94-94.

Henry, 186, of Los Angeles, never was able to solve Slade's perpetual motion assault. Once, in the ninth, it appeared that Henry was gaining the upper hand, but Slade came back with a flourish in the 10th to seal the decision.

There were no knockdowns.

Sport Greats In Toronto To Aid Cause

TORONTO (CP)—Top sport personalities from the present and past play another role tonight in their colorful careers as they do their share to make life a little more cheerful for some crippled kids.

The group—18 men and two women—are the spotlight figures in the third annual celebrities' dinner. Their presence will attract 800 persons to the $25-a-plate dinner in an inspiring project to raise funds for the work of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children.

The 20 celebrities from 11 fields in the world of sport will be guests of the Ontario Sports Writers and Sportscasters Association which for the third straight year is staging the dinner.

The proceeds of more than $20,000 from tonight's affair will go towards financing summer camps for crippled children. The association has undertaken to raise $44,000 for this work during the next three years.

More than $20,000 was realized from the first two dinners and, in addition, last year's proceeds of $12,700 was matched by a Toronto financier.

STARTS CAMPAIGN

The gathering tonight launches the Easter Seals campaign of the Crippled Children's Society. The symbol of the campaign, which doesn't open officially until March 18, is a crippled boy—10-year-old Ray Badger who will be carried into the banquet hall by wrestler Whipper Billy Watson.

There Ray will sit at the head table with the 20 celebrities, ranging from such old-timers as baseball's Tris Speaker, hockey's Cyclone Taylor, horse racing's Earl Sande and boxing's Tommy Burns to golfer Marlene Stewart and equestrian rider Shirley Thomas, 'teen agers now just rising to sport greatness.

Some of these figures have come hundreds of miles from centres in the United States and Canada to help out in a great cause.

IN QUEBEC DOG DERBY—Mrs. Jean Lane, of Lunenberg, Mass., only woman entry in the Quebec international dog derby last year, will be joined by two other women mushers in this year's championship to be held February 19-21. The three-day, 90-mile race, to be run in daily 30-mile laps, is expected to have more than 20 teams from the United States and Canada. Oldtimers remember women mushers as far back as 1925.—(Cp Photo).

Find Interest Growing In Dog-Sled Racing In Capital Of Quebec

By ROMEO MAGERA

QUEBEC (CP)—Interest in one of North America's unique and colorful sports, dog-sled racing, is mounting every year around this ancient provincial capital and old-timers say it won't be long before it attains its pre-war popularity.

The Quebec international dog derby will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The three-day, 90-mile race is run in daily 30-mile laps.

Great interest in dog-sled racing was evident here last year when more than 20,000 persons crowded the finish line to see Quebec's Narcisse Dompierre win $500 first prize. More than 30,000 are expected to see this year's race.

More than 20 teams from the United States and Canada are expected to compete this year for more than $1,500 in prize money and trophies. Fourteen teams, including a U.S. woman musher, raced last year.

This year, first prize has been boosted to $600 from $500 in 1953, with nine other cash prizes accounting for the remaining $900. Last year's total prize money was $1,000 and the kitty is expected to mount yearly. The race has the blessing of the provincial and municipal governments and various business enterprises.

The best elapsed time for the three days of the race determines the winner.

Mrs. Jean Lane of Lunenburg, Mass., last year's sole woman entry, isn't the first woman to compete in the classic. There were women mushers as far back as 1925. Three women, including Mrs. Lan

RACE STARTING POINT

Th race starts at the Quebec Exposition Grounds on the city's northern limits and winds out into the country and back. The same route is followed daily regardless of weather conditions.

The Quebec international was organized in 1922. The meet was first staged in Berlin, N.H., and moved here the following year to stay. It originally was a 123-mile event—41 miles daily in three consecutive days.

The classic in those days drew such famed mushers as Emile St. Godard of The Pas, Man., six-time winner of the Quebec race, Shorty Russic, also of The Pas, and Leonard Sepalla of Nome, Alaska. The latter became world-famous for transporting diphtheria serum to Nome by dog team in the early 30s, saving many lives.

Finnish Skier Wins Title

FALUN, Sweden (AP)—Veikko Hakulinen, Olympic long distance cross country ski champion, Tuesday won the world's short distance title over a 15-kilometre (9¾ miles) course to give Finland its second international crown in a week.

The chubby-cheeked Finn topped the three hills along the 15-kilometre course and came home on a downhill glide in the brilliant time of 55 minutes, 26 seconds.

In a busy day at the world ski championships, two other titles were posted, making the count for 1954 two titles for Russia, two for Finland and one for Norway.

Sverre Stenersen of Norway won the Nordi combined title as Norwegian entries swept the first five places. Russia's team of three strong-legged women won the 15-kilometre cross country relay race in 1:05:54.0 to finish ahead of Finland, Sweden, Norway, Czechoslovakia, Italy and East Germany.

Port Hope Captures Win Over Lakefield

Port Hope Redmen just managed to pull out a 2-1 OHA lakeshore intermediate "A" play-off victory on home ice last night over the scrappy Lakefield Lumbermen before close to 1,000 excited puck fans. It was the first game of their best-of-five group semi-finals, the second one being Saturday night in Lakefield. Meantime, Lindsay and Cobourg are drawn in the other semi-final bracket. Port Hope finished atop the schedule while Lakefield finished fourth, but the Wasson squad as under-dogs are expected by their followers to upset the cart in playoffs. If ice runs out i nLakefield, they'll play home games at Civic Arena.

Following two scoreless periods of fast, smart hockey Wednesday night, McKeen put the Ports one up in the third. Hunter evened it up for Lakefield, but in the dying minutes of furious play Flesch sank the winner. It was generally clean but for one brawl which broke out and resulted in two players of each side drawing major penalties. The goaltending was outstanding on both sides.

Gilbert Rink Advances To Semi-Finals

TORONTO (CP)—Pete Gilbert of Chatham, a two-time trophy winner in Ontario bonspiel play, is aiming for his biggest prize yet in the annual competition sponsored by the Ontario Curling Association.

Gilbert, 74, who skipped his rink to the North American Life Trophy —fourth prize—in 1948, won the Parker Pen Trophy, sixth prize, in 1949.

Now he's heading for the Royal York Trophy, top prize in the 27th annual bonspiel. He has two sons —Gordon and Bob—in his rink to help him.

Gilbert, Ontario champion last year, defeated M. V. Knowlson of Detroit 10-8 and eliminated John Grant Jr. of Unionville, by the same score to advance into the semi-finals of the Royal York event.

Other semi-finalists in the premier event are R. K. Metcalf of Toronto Royals, T. O. Loveless of Brantford and V. Mathewman of Todonto Granites.

Metcalf made the semi-finals by downing G. C. Tudhope of Parry Sound, 10-9, after an extra end in the morning draw and topped D. W. Durrie of Toronto Granites 9-8 in the evening game.

BRANTFORD BESTS TORONTO

Loveless led his Brantford rink to a 12-7 victory over Ken Miles of Toronto High Park in the morning and defeated Cliff Cassidy of Toronto Royals 10-8 later in the day.

Mathewman Wednesday bested Gerve Meech, last year's winner of the Royal York, 9-8 after an extra end and then disposed of J. W. Wyse of Torontos 9-6.

The semi-finals for the Birks Trophy, second prize in the bonspiel, were also reached.

Semi-finalists include Don Holden of Oshawa, who ousted Charles Booth of Huntsville, and Andy Grant of Toronto Royals who defeated J. G. Lumb of Kingston.

A Tie Game In EPHL

YOUNG'S POINT: Lakefield and Young's Point tied 5-5 in overtime on Lakefield ice in the second game of their EPL semi-final series. The first goal was by Heffernan from Jopling for Lakefield. J. Fawcett with K. Fawcett later tied it up. The Point got three in the second period by J. Fawcett, G. Shearer and J. Blewett, with K. Fawcett and G. Henry getting an assist each. Goalie Spencely was hurt late in the second by a puck and it cause a delay. Later, Heffernan from R. Calberry scored to make it 4-2.

Lakefield fought back in the third for two by J. Sloan from Heffernan and Patterson from Knox. In overtime, Blewett counted first but Hopkins got the equalizer. They play again Thursday in Lakefield.

NEW PROOF THAT MILLIONS CAN END THE NEED FOR LAXATIVES

—find relief from constipation this safe, natural way—without the injurious effects of repeated laxative use.

With all the progress of medical science over the past 30 years, authorities say there is no longer any reason why irregularity should be our most widespread human malady.

Nor is there any reason for developing the habitual use of harsh laxatives—of dosing with one preparation after another in the vain hope of finding, in some potion or pill, the "secret" of lasting relief.

Long-continued study of the problem has shown that one of the most common causes of irregularity is lack of bulk in the diet. And when this is the case, the common-sense correction is to be found not in the drug store but in your food store!

IT HAS LONG BEEN A MEDICALLY RECOGNIZED FACT THAT NATURE HAS PROVIDED, IN THE NATURAL FOODS MEN WERE INTENDED TO EAT, ALL THE ELEMENTS NECESSARY FOR THE LIFE-LONG AVOIDANCE OF COMMON CONSTIPATION.

One of these elements is natural fibrous bulk, or vegetable cellulose, which normally and naturally aids the rhythmic process of elimination.

In no natural food is this natural bulk so ideally found as in the outer layers, or bran, of the whole wheat kernel which, as you know, is lost in modern milling.

Because of the known value of bran in promoting regularity the Kellogg Company has produced a complete, whole bran—with nothing taken away to lessen its effectiveness—sold under the name of Kellogg's All-Bran, the natural laxative cereal.

How effective is All-Bran? This has been demonstrated in a series of systematic clinical studies reported in leading medical journals.

In one study, 135 people with known delayed bowel function were given one ounce of All-Bran daily for one week. They were studied clinically and with X-ray with tests made before, during and after they ate the All-Bran.

OF THE 135 PEOPLE, 107 SHOWED DEFINITE CLINICAL IMPROVEMENT IN JUST 7 DAYS.

IN A FOLLOW-UP STUDY, BETTER THAN 6 OUT OF EVERY 7 PATIENTS WHO WERE GIVEN ALL-BRAN IMPROVED.

The greatest advantage of All-Bran is that it corrects the cause of irregularity due to insufficient bulk. Chemical or drug-type laxatives, on the other hand, are intended only for overnight relief of a temporary stoppage.

When people use these products habitually—in a way that laxative makers never intended—they punish their digestive system in a way that nature never intended. Instead of correcting the cause, they often actually make their condition worse.

If you think you must take a laxative preparation occasionally, do so. But do it wisely. Read the instructions completely. AVOID EXCESSIVE USAGE. But for natural and lasting relief put your trust in nature. Just eat daily a one-ounce serving of All-Bran for breakfast and drink plenty of water.

This All-Bran plan has helped millions to re-establish and to maintain healthful regularity. Why not you?

TO TOUR JAPAN — Kenora Thistles, 1953 Western Canada intermediate "A" champions, is the first Canadian hockey team to tour Japan in 18 years. Hayes A. Jenkins Captures Skating Crown

OSLO (AP) — Defending champion Hayes Alan Jenkins of Akron, O., outskated teammate Jimmy Grogan of Colorado Springs, Colo. Wednesday night to capture his second straight world figure skating championship.

The 19-year-old Jenkins, holder of the North American and United States titles, put on a brilliant performance to win the title after another young American star, Tenley Albright of Boston, took the lead in the competition for the women's title she won last year.

The victory for Jenkins was almost a duplicate of the 1953 men's finals at Davos, Switzerland, where Grogan also finished second in competition with the world's finest figure stylists. Jenkins finished with 178.28 points, compared with 175.22 points for Grogan.

A 14-year-old French lad, Alain Giletti, finished third, while fourth place was awarded to David W. Jenkins, Hayes' 14-year-old brother. Another fancy American free skater, Ronald F. Robertson, of Long Beach, Calif., was fifth.

CANADA SEVENTH

England's Michael Booker was sixth, and Canada's Charles Snelling finished seventh.

Miss Albright, who took the world crown last winter at Davos and followed this up by winning the North American and U.S. figure skating titles for women, held a clear margin in the unofficial calculations.

She appeared to have an easy victory over Germany's Gundi Busch, 18, recent winner of the European championship.

Third place was still a tossup between Barbara Grattan of Toronto and Erica Batchelor of England.

Decide Nurse Dies Of Acute Alcoholism

STRATFORD (CP) — A coroner's jury decided Wednesday that Mrs. Alfretta Brown, 44, a nurse at Stratford General Hospital, died of acute alcoholism.

The inquest was called after bruises on several parts of her body gave rise to the suspicion of foul play. A sister of the dead woman from Sarnia testified that easy bruising is a characteristic of the family.

Dr. J. L. Penistan, provincial pathologist, testified that liver tissue had been destroyed. Mrs. Brown died Jan. 16.

Laborite Raps U.S.

LONDON (AP) — The United States was denounced by Labor member Eric Fletcher in Parliament Wednesday for sending tanks to Spain before meeting the needs of NATO allies. Fletcher called American policy "obnoxious and perverse". Selwyn Lloyd, minister of state for foreign affairs, rejected Fletcher's suggestion that Britain make formal representations to Washington, declaring: "We know the U. S. government has fully in mind the requirements of the NATO allies."

Kenora Thistles Will Tour Japan Expenses Are Paid From West Coast

By AL VICKERY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KENORA, Ont. (CP) — Kenora Thistles, the first Canadian hockey team to tour Japan in 18 years, needs more than $9,000 before it leaves Vancouver by ship March 1.

The Thistles will be on an expenses-paid trip from the time they land at Yokohama March 16 until they leave for home March 30 but $9,600 is needed to pay railway fares for the players from this Lake of the Woods city to Vancouver and return and to buy souvenirs to distribute in Japan. They shouldn't have much trouble raising the money.

The Thistles, acting as Canada's ambassadors of goodwill for the eight-game exhibition series against Japanese clubs, are 1953 western Canada intermediate champions. The club was awarded the trip by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association after winning the title 4-2 in games over Ponoka, Alta., Stampeders.

LAST TOUR IN 1936

The last Canadian team to tour Japan was a North Battleford, Sask., club in 1936.

The Japanese Skating Club, which asked the CAHA to choose a team for the tour, pays the shot from the time the Thistles leave Vancouver until their return to the British Columbia port.

The money is needed to pay return rail fares from Kenora, about 140 miles east of Winnipeg, to Vancouver and to buy 12 dozen hockey sweaters to be distributed to Japanese juvenile, midget and peewee teams, miniature hockey sticks, and colorful ribbons and pennants.

The CAHA is expected to make a small donation. The Thunder Bay branch of the CAHA has donated $250 and residents of Kenora plan to raise money from program sales at home games before the team leaves, sales of red and white ribbons, the team's colors, a dance, draw and sportsmanship banquet.

Named to make the trip are: Goalkeeper Jim Johnson; defencemen Sam Robertson, Don (Spike) Robertson, Lorne Johnson and Wilf Leydier; forwards Ken (Sugar) Robertson, Murray Robertson, Don Blom, Phil Creed, Ray Westlund, Dick Elliott, Ray Simoneau, Bernie Milliard, and Frank Richards; and executive and trainer Dick Dixon.

All but Simoneau were members of the team at the start of last season. He was picked up as a replacement in the 1953 playoffs and has stayed with the club. All players learned their minor hockey locally.

Neither last year's coach, Vince Gallagher, since released, nor present coach Johnny Beda will make the trip.

Accompanying the team as the CAHA's representative will be first vice-president Jimmy Dunn of Winnipeg. The Thistles will embark on the Hikawa Maru, at Vancouver. They play their first game in Tokyo March 17 and their final game, also in Tokyo, March 28.

Here is their schedule of games: 1954 all-Japan champions at Tokyo March 17; Hokkaido all-stars at Tokyo, March 18; all-Kanto team at Tokyo, March 20; all-Japan team at Tokyo, March 21; the 1954 Japanese collegiate champions at Nagoya, March 23; the collegiate all-stars at Osaka, March 25; the all-Japan team at Kyota, March 27, and at Tokyo, March 28.

Bisons Dump Hershey 6-2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Buffalo Bisons made their chances of capturing the American Hockey League championship a little more certain Wednesday.

The league-leading Bisons—14 points ahead of second-place Cleveland Barons—downed Hershey Bears 6-2. In the only other game, Pittsburgh Hornets blanked Syracuse Warriors 7-0.

At Buffalo, Hershey goalie Gordon Henry left the game with an injury in the second period with the count 2-1. The Hershey trainer, 15-year-old Scotty Alexander, finished the game, allowing goals by Don Marshall, Ken Hayden, Ed Slowinski and Pete Lund to slip by. Henry Taylor and Gaye Stewart tallied for Buffalo in the first period. Arnie Kullman and Don McKenney scored for Hershey.

Rookie Parker MacDonald scored three times and Bob Solinger got two in Pittsburgh's shutout win over Syracuse. Hornet singletons went to Ray Timgren and Willie Marshall.

Former World Boxing Champ Loves Work As Evangelist

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO (CP) — A twinkling-eyed, ruddy-cheeked little man who won the world's heavyweight boxing championship, owned a pub, operated a speakeasy and was an added attraction in a burlesque show, is "just starting to work real well." He's 73 years old and his life work as an evangelist is spreading universal love.

The man: Tommy Burns, born Noah Brusso in the little southwestern Ontario town of Hanover June 17, 1881. He adopted the name Tommy Burns years ago when he knocked out a man in a Detroit ring—"He didn't come to for three days"—and his mother asked him to quit fighting.

"I changed my name and continued fighting because I didn't want my mother to know about me," Tommy said in an interview. "I was fighting all my life, from the time I was a youngster, and I look back and see what a foolish person I was."

Now, the only Canadian to win the world title isn't interested in the boxing game any more, although he admits he looks at the fights over television "once in a while." "I've got something better than that—and it is love for my fellow-man. My main object in life is to help the sick and the suffering."

BOXING VICIOUS

Tommy, in Toronto as a guest of the Ontario Sports Writers and Sportscasters Association annual celebrities dinner Thursday night, carefully steers the conversation from his boxing career. He says boxing is "vicious and full of hatred."

His ring career started in 1901 when he went to a fight at Detroit. A boxer didn't turn up. Tommy volunteered to go in the ring, knocked out his opponent in five rounds and received $1.25 for the effort.

He took up the game seriously then, won the world title with a 20-round decision over Marvin Hart at Los Angeles Feb. 23, 1906, and lost it to the great Jack Johnson at Sydney, Australia, Dec. 26, 1908, when police hopped into the ring and mercifully stopped the bout in the 14th round with Burns badly beaten.

"I had the power of hate when I fought Johnson," Burns said. "I hated him so much that I beat myself and hate nearly put me in my grave because I took a terrible beating."

QUIT WHEN 39

He campaigned around the world after that and his last bout was in 1920—when he was 39. He was knocked out by Bill Beckley in London in seven rounds.

Tommy blossomed out as a pub owner in London a few years later, operated a speakeasy in New York in the '20s, was an added attraction in a burlesque later on and "got religion" in 1935 after a severe attack of arthritis.

"Doctors sent me home to die, but Tommy Burns refused to die," he said. "With the power of thought qualified with love I was better in two months."

His "real work" started then and Tommy, now living in Coalinga, Calif., has devoted his life to his work.

EXTEND SPORTS INTERESTS

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim Norris and Arthur Wirtz, after many weeks of financial transactions, have become sole owners of the Chicago Stadium and subsidiaries, it was learned.

The subsidiaries include Chicago Black Hawks hockey team, the International Boxing Club of Illinois, the Hollywood Ice Revue starring Ottawa's Barbara Ann Scott and several lesser amusement operations.

Norris and Wirtz purchased the interests of Bruce and Marguerite Norris, brother and sister of Jim Norris, in Chicago Stadium and subsidiaries. In turn, Bruce and Marguerite purchased the holdings of the other two in the Detroit Olympia and Detroit Red Wings hockey club.

Bruce, 29, has been a vice-president of Black Hawks since last July, a development that followed the death of his father, the elder James Norris, more than a year ago. He now will become president of the Red Wings, a position taken over by Miss Norris after the death of her father.

Bruce will represent the Red Wings on the board of governors of the National Hockey League in assuming many of the duties that have fallen to Jack Adams, Wings general manager.

ARRANGE TITLE BOUT

NEW YORK (AP)—Lightweight champion Jimmy Carter of New York and challenger Paddy DeMarco of Brooklyn Wednesday signed a contract for their 15-round title fight at Madison Square Garden March 5.

The contract calls for a return bout within 90 days if DeMarco wins.

The bout will mark the ninth title defence for the 30-year-old Carter, who won the championship from Ike Williams in 1951. In his last defence, he knocked out Armand Savoie in the fifth round at Montreal last Nov. 11.

DeMarco, 26, is ranked fourth in the lightweight division.

ALLIE HOLDING OUT

NEW YORK (AP)—A matter of something like $2,500 is keeping big Allie Reynolds from signing his 1954 New York Yankee baseball contract.

The righthander conferred for more than two hours Wednesday with assistant general manager Roy Hamey with no tangible results.

"We're not too far apart," Reynolds said afterwards, as Hamey nodded agreement.

The veteran pitcher is reported asking $40,000 while being offered no more than the $37,500 he is reported to have received last year.

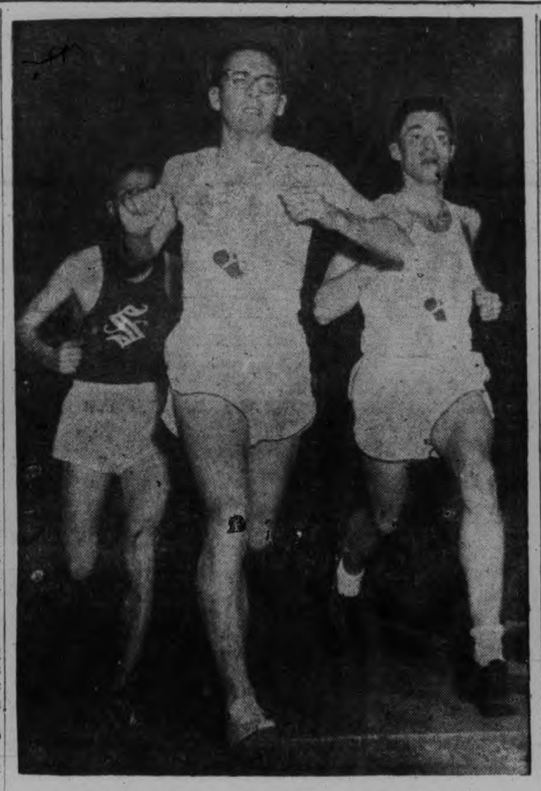
Campbellford Takes Tilt Over Wellington

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—In the windup TVL scheduled game here last night, before a fair-sized crowd, Campbellford dumped Wellington 9-4. It was a speedy tilt on ice which became heavy. Wilson and Dewar stood out for the winners, while Herrington (after two good periods) banged his head on the ice in the third and had to retire.

Hatfield and Bryant scored for Wellington in the first, Bowen and Scott getting an assist each. Campbellford goals were by Simpson, Herrington, Dewar and Wilson, the latter two, and Eady and Payne each earning an assist. Next heat saw Herrington, Wilson and Eady sink one, as Dewar, Payne and Kemp got an assist apiece. Wellington tallied two, Greer and Mulvihill hitting the hemp, the latter also having an assist. Campbellford clinched it in the third on goals by Simpson and Payne, as Eady, Pace and Wilson got an assist each. Teams:

Wellington—Goal, Letman; defence, Hurst, York; centre, Scott; wings, Garrison, Bryant; alternates, Cousins, Hatfield, Mulvihill, Mowat, Greer, Bowen, Pettingill, Parks.

Campbellford — Goal, Nelson; defence, Free, Baker; centre, Simpson; wings, Kemp, Eady; alternates, Payne, Herrington, Wilson, Field, Collins, Dewar, Pace.



HORACE ASHENFELTER, right, of the New York AC, nears the finish line to win the two-mile event in world record-breaking time at the New York Athletic Club games in Madison Square Garden. His winning time was 8:50.5 for the two-mile run. At this point at finish the two visible runners, Curt Stone, centre, New York AC, and John Joe Barry, left, Shanahan, AC, were being lapped by Ashenfelter. Barry finished third and Stone fourth.

Investigator Says Ritchie Named Four Men In Murder Attempt

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A private investigator today told how he set up the interview in which Donald Ritchie named four men as involved in the attempted murder of Walter Reuther in 1948.

Sam Henderson, himself picked up and questioned after the shooting, was hired by the United Automobile Workers' union to aid in the investigation of the shotgun attempt on the life of the UAW-CIO president.

Henderson took the stand in the second day of the extradition hearing for Ritchie on a charge of attempted murder. Ritchie named his uncle, Clarence Jacobs of Windsor, triggerman in the shooting and also involved Santo (Sam) Perrone, Carl Renda and Pete Lombardo.

The extradition hearing for Jacobs, originally set for today, was adjourned by Judge Albert J. Gordon to Friday, pending the outcome of the Ritchie case.

Henderson said he first saw Ritchie in the Essex county jail Nov. 18, 1953. He met him again Dec. 8. He said Dec. 11 he met Ritchie, his wife (Betty White of Windsor), Gerald K. O'Brien, Wayne County (Mich.) prosecutor and Ralph Winstead, in charge of the union investigation.

In a Windsor hotel, Ritchie asked for $25,000 for Betty White, Henderson said. "He didn't think he'd live to spend it." He said Ritchie admitted being present at the shooting but would not name the trigger man.

Henderson said Ritchie was broke. Donald Morand, Windsor lawyer, was hired to meet union representatives and conclude an agreement whereby Ritchie received $5,000 for his information and was to receive an additional $10,000 if the men were bound over for trial and $10,000 upon conviction.

Henderson said after several meetings with Ritchie, it was arranged Ritchie should make his statement in Detroit Jan. 5. Dec. 30 he received a phone call from Ritchie to "come over and get me. I'm ready to go to Detroit right now. I've just beat hell out of the old lady."

Shortly after midnight, Ritchie phoned from a Detroit night club and again offered to make a statement. He said he called Winstead and the three men went to a Detroit hotel. He could not vouch for Ritchie's sobriety.

Henderson said under cross examination by Bernard Cohn, Ritchie's counsel, he had not worked since his arrest in connection with the Reuther shooting but received "$200 some months and $300 other months" in expense money. He did not know if he received more than $3,000 in 1953, he said.

Gold Miners Vote To Return To Work

TIMMINS (CP) — Preston East Dome gold miners, on strike since July 13 for higher wages, voted Wednesday night to return to work with increases ranging from seven to 19 cents an hour.

All but one mine in the area—Broulan Reef—have come to terms with the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL).

The Preston East Dome agreement will run for two years.

Ritchie Not Very Reliable UAW Investigator Declares

WINDSOR (CP)—A private investigator for the [illegible] bile Workers' union said in court Wednesday he was s[illegible] goose chase by Donald Ritchie and that Ritchie "wasn't very reliable."

Sam Henderson was the fourth witness in the extradition hearing of Ritchie, charged by Michigan authorities with the attempted murder of Walter Reuther, UAW-CIO president, in 1948.

Charged with Ritchie are four men he implicated in the crime, Clarence Jacobs of Windsor, Carl Renda and Sam Perrone of Detroit and Pete Lombardo. It was the second day of the hearing which is expected to last about five days.

Henderson was on the stand most of the day. Under cross examination he said his faith in Ritchie as a witness was shaken after Ritchie sent him on a wild goose chase last December.

TELLS SIMILAR STORY

Late in the afternoon, Ralph Winstead, special investigator for the union working over Henderson on the shooting, told a story similar to that of Henderson.

Henderson described how he first met Ritchie and set up the interview in a Detroit hotel where Ritchie gave his controversial statement to Michigan authorities. Whether the statement is admissable evidence in the hearing now is being argued.

An extradition hearing for Jacobs, set to begin Wednesday, was postponed to Friday. Another postponement is expected if the Ritchie hearing is not complete.

Charge Bennett Created Unemployment False-Drew

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Drew has described as "gross, untrue and malicious" a charge by a Quebec Liberal that the late Conservative prime minister R. B. Bennett "created unemployment" in 1929 to make money on the stock market.

He demanded Wednesday in the Commons that Jean Francois Pouliot, Temiscouata, seek the approval of members to strike the reference from Hansard, official parliamentary record.

He said the statement is "the most shameless, unjustified and improper statement that has been made in the House since Confederation."

Mr. Pouliot interrupted Mr. Drew several times and in heated exchanges attempted "to defend my position." He was ruled out of order.

YELLS 'SIT DOWN'

At one point the fiery Quebec member shouted "Sit down" when the opposition leader tried to resume his speech.

Mr. Pouliot said Tuesday night that before Mr. Bennett became prime minister in 1930 "he himself created unemployment and for a good reason."

He said that Mr. Bennett and his chief organizer, Maj.-Gen. A. D. McRae of Vancouver, each subscribed $350,000 in 1929 to the Conservative party election funds and invested the money, "speculating on the fall in price" on the stock markets.

Mr. Pouliot said that each time Mr. Bennett made a speech about unemployment, stocks fell in value and he made money. He said Mr. Bennett finally doubled his investment and used the money to win the election in 1930.

TRIED IN DEATH OF FELLOW POW—Rothwell B. Floyd (centre), 28-year-old Chicago GI, is handcuffed to Sgt. Stanley E. Nutter of the U.S. Disciplinary Barracks at Fort Leavenworth, Kans., during a recess in Floyd's general courts martial. Floyd is accused of drowning a fellow prisoner and causing the fatal illness of a second man by dousing him with cold water during a Korean winter. Floyd contends that he is not under military jurisdiction because his Army enlistment expired during his 30 months as a Red prisoner in Korea.

No Raiding Agreement Being Rejected

By NORMAN WALKER

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The AFL Teamsters Union today drafted a rejection of a proposed AFL-CIO "no raiding" agreement, a move expected to kill off any early prospects of a labor merger.

The "no raiding" pact is regarded as a necessary first step toward a merger of the AFL and the CIO that would put nearly 15,000,000 members in a single organization. However, the Teamsters' executive board will veto the plan.

Dave Beck, Teamsters' president, is openly ambitious to swell his union's membership, already 1,300,000. Beck also is known to believe that separate alliances between individual unions are more likely to solve union rivalries.

DEFEAT MERGER PLAN

The expected teamsters' turndown of the AFL-CIO agreement against raiding, or the practice of one union copping members of another union, probably will defeat current moves for labor peace and efforts for an AFL-CIO merger.

President George Meany said here at the AFL executive council meeting last week that 40 of his group's 110 unions are agreeable to signing the pact. However, Teamsters' union sources said several big AFL unions, other than the Teamsters, oppose the plan.

Walter Reuther, CIO president, has said that virtually all CIO unions, except a few with less than two per cent of CIO's membership, are willing to go along with the "no raiding" plan.

Beck is reported ready to contend that (1) other unions have more than 50,000 members belonging in the Teamsters' jurisdiction, (2) the AFL-CIO plan can't work, and (3) it is illegal under the United States Taft-Hartley Act.

The plan would require that the the disputes over the right of unions to organize particular groups of workers should be decided by a neutral, but Beck is reported convinced the unions would not accept such decisions.

NY Communities Isolated By 2 Ft. Of Snow

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Mohawk river roared above normal flood levels today, while in northern New York state scores of communities were virtually isolated under more than two feet of snow.

State officials kept vigil along a 100-mile stretch of the turbulent river, clogged by ice jams.

A big storm, which also hit Ontario and Quebec, pelted a record rainfall on western New York Wednesday and plastered the rest of the state with rain and soggy snow. The snow piled up 22 to 36 inches over a wide area from the St. Lawrence valley to Lake Champlain.

Rain and melted snow caused the Mohawk to back up from Schenectady to Utica, and in some places water lapped over lock walls, indicating a rise of as much as six feet.

TEST PLANE DAMAGED

At the Albany airport Wednesday night, five men escaped uninjured when a General Electric "flying laboratory" test plane skidded off a slushy runway on landing and became impaled on a wire fence.

A section of the plane came to rest protruding over a highway at the south end of the airport, blocking traffic for a time.

A spokesman for the state public works department said the flooding Mohawk threatens canal structures but poses no immediate danger to private property.

No Action On Unemployment

OTTAWA (CP) — A three-day Commons debate on unemployment has been adjourned with no decision taken on opposition demands for action to meet the problem.

Adjournment of the debate Wednesday left hanging two motions of want of confidence in the government.

A Progressive Conservative motion asks that the unemployment situation be referred to a committee which would recommend counter measures. A CCF motion calls for direct government action.

Today the Commons will consider government legislation, starting with a measure to increase the salaries of 21 cabinet ministers to $15,000 from $10,000 and boost the prime minister's salary to $25,000 from $15,000.

Opposition Leader Drew said in Wednesday's debate that the government is refusing to face the facts of unemployment. The PC request for a committee inquiry was an attempt to "take off the blinkers."

TRYING TO MINIMIZE

"Instead of trying to get the facts, the government is trying to make a molehill out of a mountain," he said.

The government took the attitude that unemployment was imaginary and the problems of industry a passing inconvenience.

John Dickey, parliamentary assistant for defence production, said if unemployment is as serious as the opposition claims, a committee study would be useless. If, as the Liberals believed, there were only 280,000 jobless, a committee study of "extreme remedies" were not justified.

UNEMPLOYMENT STATISTICS

Both Mr. Drew and Mr. Dickey referred to unemployment figures made public Monday at the start of the debate.

The National Employment Service reported 524,000 persons looking for jobs at Jan. 21, 186,000 more than at last Dec. 10 and 140,000 more than a year earlier. The bureau of statistics estimated 280,000 jobless at Jan. 23, 90,000 more than in early December and 93,000 more than a year ago.

Mr. Drew said the 524,000 figure omits many unemployed workers who have not registered with NES.

UNDERMINE CONFIDENCE

Mr. Dickey said exaggeration of the problem could undermine public confidence and "contribute materially to a worsening of the situation."

The government already had taken steps to combat unemployment. Parliament had passed a bill to protect the textile industry against low-priced imports and proposed housing legislation before the House would stimulate employment.

The government's public works program was being increased and unemployment insurance benefits would be improved if the government felt there was need.

Trapper Convicted In Seduction Case

COCHRANE (CP) — Emilien Sackney, Moosonee trapper, was convicted Wednesday night of seducing his 18-year-old stepdaughter and was sentenced to one year in prison.

The girl testified last week that she went on a trapline trip last winter with Sackney, her brother and her stepbrother. She said she shared a blanket with Sackney, became pregnant and gave birth to a child which died last November.

Two other trappers were brought here from Moosonee as crown witnesses but had little evidence to offer.

Medical examination during the last week resulted in Sackney's wife, son, stepson and two stepdaughters being admitted to Moose Factory Hospital as tubercular, officials said.

Too Much For Barber

LONDON (Reuters) — Barber Patrick O'Brien, 50, committed suicide because he couldn't keep up with the latest American-inspired hair styles for men. At his inquest here Wednesday, O'Brien's wife said that when 'teen-agers asked her husband for a "Curtis cut" (named after movie star Tony Curtis), a "crew cut" or a "district attorney" he was confused.

Farmers Request Livestock Investigation

OTTAWA (CP)—Farmers representatives Tuesday suggested a federal investigation into the livestock industry—"right from the situation of primary producers to that of the ultimate consumers."

The suggestion came from the Interprovincial Farm Union Council, representing farm unions on the Prairies and in Ontario, in a brief to Agriculture Minister Gardiner simliar to one presented Monday to Trade Minister Howe.

The council delegation, headed by J. L. Phelps of Saskatoon, said in its brief that Canada is not producing a surplus of cattle "yet prices during the last two years have declined approximately 50 per cent."

Pending formation of provincial producer marketing boards for livestock, the council suggested three courses of immediate action:

1. "Adequate" floor prices to the producer.
2. Appointment of the federal board of livestock commissioners.
3. A national marketing conference to explore the possibilities of helping in a federal livestock marketing program.

NEW EMPLOYEE

City council have authorized the employment of Mrs. Clemena Hope, 253 Mark St., as a clerk-stenographer in the treasurer's and tax office at city hall.

ELECTED DIRECTOR

At the annual meeting of the life underwriters association, recently held in Toronto, Edwin J. Henwood, C.L.U., of Peterborough was elected to the board of directors.

BENEFACTOR'S PICTURE

A special committee of city council has been appointed to consider and recommend a suitable picture of the late George W. Morrow to be placed in the city hall. The committee comprises Mayor Norman Graham, Ald. Gordon Farquharson and Ald. Art Burrows.

BREAKS ANKLE

Mrs. Arthur Moscrop, 51 Sophia St., slipped on the ice in front of her home, Wednesday night and injured her ankle. At first she thought it was just a bad sprain, but today she went to hospital and an X-ray showed that the bone was broken.

STILL IN HOSPITAL

Susan Prout, 8, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Alfred Prout, 542 Aylmer St., who suffered a badly fractured leg w[illegible] pilled on by other children [illegible] she fell on a slide in the [illegible]al School grounds some thr[illegible] weeks ago is making good recovery. However it is expected she will be in Civic Hospital for at least two more weeks.

A FORECAST?

Benny the black bear at the Utilities Park zoo was sunning himself at full length on his cement bench today, Jim Harrison reported. Did it portend a mild spell? Jim wouldn't stick his neck out. After the vagaries of recent winter weather no one could blame Mr. Harrison.

AMBULANCE SURVEY

City council have appointed a special committee to consider the adequacy of the present ambulance service in the city. Members of the committee are Mayor Norman Graham and Aldermen Harold Rehill, Bill Beggs, Gordon Farquharson and Art Burrows. The committee will meet next Tuesday afternoon at city hall.

City May Buy New Site For Parking

Considering Land In Area George, Hunter Sts.

City council is considering buying property for a parking lot in the vicinity of Hunter and George Streets.

Faux Real Estate and Insurance Agencies Ltd. have presented the city with sketches of one section of property in the area. They are exclusive agents for the properties involved.

The Faux firm have been asked to supply council with detailed descriptions of the properties comprising the proposed parking lot, together with a schedule of prices asked by various owners.

City Engineer A. E. Chalmers has been instructed to submit a report, containing his recommendations on use of the area as a city parking lot.

Exact location of the property has not been released for publication nor is it known whether other properties are being considered at the present moment. It has been evident for some time, however, that council was anxious to provide off-street parking facilities for the northern end of the main business district.

Parking facilities have been available for some time now at the heart of the business district in the city square. Last fall the city completed the purchase of property between King and Sherbrooke Sts., west of George St. The work of demolishing existing buildings there and converting it to a parking lot is expected to get under way in April.

PUC SITE

Council gave some consideration to a proposal to move the gas plant from its present location to provide parking facilities on the PUC's river bank property beside the Hunter St. bridge. But in view of the fact that the minimum estimated cost of moving the plant would be $40,000, it was thought that more suitable property could be purchased closer to the business district for approximately the same price.

In connection with the proposal to purchase the property offered by the Faux firm, council has instructed City Clerk Outram to prepare a statement showing total receipts and expenditures of parking meters.

A proposal was made to the 1953 council that there should be a separate account set up for parking meters, with profits to be put in a special fund for providing off-street parking facilities. This proposal was turned down as impractical, however, and both receipts and costs of the meters are listed as items in the general fund.

Chief criticism of this in council is that parking meter receipts, admittedly high, tend to be construed by the public as clear profit, while the cost of meter operations is buried in other separate accounts.

Council accordingly arrived at a compromise solution in order to give a true picture of profits from the meters and have asked the clerk to prepare a statement of meter operating costs and receipts.

FALSE ALARM—A fire that had been lit by construction workmen to thaw the ground along Erskine Ave. to lay sewer pipes fooled residents into thinking a fire had started. They turned in an alarm about 10 p.m. Firemen put out the fire in any case because the company had not asked for permission to start the blaze. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Thawing Ground With Fires Bring Firemen

A flurry of excitement was caused on Erskine Ave., south of Lansdowne St., shortly before 10 p.m. Wednesday, because of wood fires on the road.

Sewers are being laid along Erskine Ave. by the Peter Mohan contractors. Workmen had laid wood slabs on the road and set fire to them so they would burn during the night and the ground would be soft enough today for excavation.

Some residents must have become alarmed, because three calls in rapid succession were made to the fire department who responded in force to the urgent appeal with two pumper trucks, a ladder truck and the aerial ladder. The fires were put out.

No permission to light the fires had been requested.

At 5.19 a.m. today a drop in the pressure system at the Peterborough Examiner building, Hunter and Water Sts., caused an automatic sprinkler alarm at the fire hall.

A flooded oil burner at Oscar S. Guthrie's home, 655 Frank St., at 3:20 p.m. Wednesday, was checked by firemen. No extinguisher was used.

FLYER FORCED DOWN

Peterborough pilot Harry Oakman had to make a forced landing in his ski-equipped sport plane near Smiths Falls on Wednesday. He was en route to take air photos of the CPR train wreck at St. Clet, 35 miles west of Montreal, for a Toronto newspaper. Icing conditions were responsible for the delay. He was expected to return this afternoon.

Cost Of Production Cut 20% Gas Dep't Reports Profit;

The annual report of the gas department of the PUC shows an overall profit of $56.61 for 1953. This is a large increase considering that the department operated at a loss of $9,933.99 in 1952. The cost of gas production decreased 20 per cent, while the total revenue from gas sales increased 24 per cent. The gas production cut is due to increased markets. Production has been maintained by the same staff as in 1952 thus lowering staff wages in relation to gas production. Gas sales in 1953 set a record of 63.3 million cubic feet, an increase of 17 per cent over the 1952 figure. Total revenue from domestic and space heating accounts was $70,621.38, or an increase of 5 per cent over 1952. Commercial revenue declined slightly to 15,843.41, a reduction of 2¾ per cent. Industrial revenue increased to $45,899.40 or 26 per cent over the previous year's figures.

Bottled propane revenue at $62,663.66 was 72 per cent higher than 1952. The sale of liquid propane to commercial consumers has continued expanding and the number of installations for domestic heating with gas was doubled this year to a total of 80.

REDUCE DEBT

The assets of the gas department are $467,314.97, an increase of $7,452.25 over the 1952 figures. The debenture debt of the department has been reduced $16,000. The bank overdraft in 1952 was eliminated by increasing a loan from the Water Works department by $22,000 to a total of $52,000. Of the total plant value of $445,010.89, debts to the extent of $325,677.35 have been paid by depreciation reserves and debentures redeemed, leaving a net capital asset of $199,333.54.

Plans were completed for conversion of the gas mixing equipment at the plant from electrically operated centrifugal mixer to the inspirator type.

The gas main on Romaine St., west of Aylmer St. was converted to high pressure to supply Outboard Marine with sufficient gas and more than 100 high pressure gas joints were opened and their rubber gaskets renewed. New additions to the distributing mains included 295 stoves and 10 water heaters.

New Minister To Be Inducted

Induction service for the Rev. E. C. Smith recently called as minister of the Gilmour Baptist church will be held on Friday evening.

Mr. Smith came to the Gilmour church several weeks ago from First Baptist church, Renfrew, where he had been minister since 1949. During his ministry at Renfrew the congregations' membership, financial income for general fund and for missions, annually increased. Seventy-three new members were added and the average attendance at Sunday school showed a 100 percent increase.

In the past four years the award for the best Baptist Young Peoples' Union in Canada Central Association was won two years in succession by the Renfrew Union.

Besides his work in the church Mr. Smith gave religious instruction in the Renfrew public schools. He was also president of the ministerial association. Mr. Smith is a fellow of the laymen's missionary movement in North American and is chairman of the home mission board of the Baptist association.

Married, he has three sons residing in Toronto. Mr. Smith was born and educated in North Toronto and is a graduate of McMaster University.

Urge Residents To 'Sell' Towns

PORT COLBORNE (CP)—Residents of small Ontario communities should try to "sell" their towns' good points to companies looking for places to set up factories, delegates to the 14th market area municipal industrial promotion conference were told Wednesday.

Forty-six representatives of municipalities attended the gathering, sponsored by the trade and industry branch of the Ontario department of planning and development.

J. E. Turnbull, R. B. Potts and A. V. Crate of the department's municipal and industrial divisions emphasized the importance of efforts of individual municipalities in making their potentialities known to industries.

Municipalities represented were Niagara Falls, Welland, Dunnville, Port Colborne, Fort Erie, Grantham, Thorold, Crowland, Wainfleet and Humberstone.

Will Start Soon On Sidewalks, Sewers, Roads

Several items of local improvement will be undertaken by the city's works department in the near future, pending preparation and approval of the necessary bylaws.

The city solicitor has been authorized to prepare bylaws for the following works, as a result of petitions received at city hall:

A sidewalk on the south side of O'Connell Rd., for 410 feet from Monaghan Rd.

Oiled crushed gravel pavements on Walkerfield Ave., for 150 feet to Gordon St. W.

A sidewalk on the north side of McKellar St. from Lock St. to Park St.

Crushed gravel road on Dobbin Ave., from Victory Dr. to Charlotte St.

Sewer on Victory Dr., from Dobbin Ave. to Victory Cres.

Storm sewer on Cameron St., from Monaghan Rd. to Erskine Ave.

Bylaws for the following local improvements have been given first and second reading by council and sent to the department of municipal affairs for approval:

Crushed gravel roadways on Bellaire St., Cordach Cres., and Shirley Ave.

A storm sewer on Monaghan Rd. north from Edison Ave. to the other side of the CPR tracks.

E. S. Manning Named 4-H Club President

Thomas Quinn Says His Signature On Card "Forgery"

The signature "Thomas M. Quinn" on the disputed UE checkoff card is a forgery, Quinn—one of the three defendants in a libel action—swore today. Quinn, a 50-year-old CGE worker who lives in Ennismore, repeated the statement he had made in a pamphlet issued by the IUE on April 17, 1953—the statement which started a libel action by Art Hunter, business agent of Local 524, who was implicated in it.

In his statement of claim, Hunter has asked $10,000 damages. Defendants named along with Quinn are three top IUE officials, members of the IUE-CIO CGE organizing committee who issued the leaflet "Here Is The Proof". The leaflet contained Quinn's signed statement and had a few comments by the committee on it as well.

Other defendants are Joe Wirtz, IUE Canadian co-ordinator; Ray Hansen, publicity director during the IUE's campaign in April, 1953; and Minor J. Shaw, international represntative. Only Wirtz is attending the trial; Shaw and Hansen are in the United States on union work.

NOT HIS SIGNATURE

Quinn stuck to his story that the signature on the 50-cent checkoff card was not his and therefore must be a forgery. He was given a gruelling cross-examination by W. J. Arthur Fair, QC, counsel for Hunter, the plaintiff.

On Wednesday morning a handwriting expert, Arthur B. Farmer of Toronto, said it was his opinion that the signature on the disputed card was a genuine Quinn signature.

"I known I didn't sign a checkoff card for 50 cents," Quinn maintained. He conceded that he had signed an original checkoff form, authorizing deduction of only 35 cents a week, when he started at the CGE plant in August, 1950; but he contended that he didn't approve of the extra 15-cent levy and certainly didn't sign a card authorizing the deduction.

PAYS EXTRA

Despite his objection, however, he had never complained about the extra deduction and he still continues to pay it.

Questioned by Mr. Fair, he said that he was a member of the IUE and had been at the time the campaign was progressing. Yet he continued to pay dues to UE.

"Could you have forgotten?" asked Mr. Fair.

"That's a question I can't answer," said Quinn. "There's a possibility. But I know I didn't sign a checkoff card."

"You admit there's a possibility you might have signed it?"

"I can't answer that," said Quinn. ". . . In my estimation it doesn't look like my signature. I can't explain it."

"Can you explain any feature of the handwriting that is differ-

Electricity From Atomic Energy Becoming Early Reality Doubted By Nuclear Scientists

Turning the atom's power into electricity is one of the aims of Canada's nuclear scientists. This story, last of a series of three on the government's atomic project, tells of the physicists' plans.

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHALK RIVER, Ont. (CP)—Scientists at Canada's nuclear project here are confident that within a year or so they will be designing a small reactor to generate electric power from atomic energy.

But they hedge on the possibility of electricity from atomic energy becoming an early reality.

There have been predictions by responsible persons that the atom will be harnessed for power on a commercial basis in five years. Chalk River scientists will only say that prospects are good for economical nuclear power for commercial purposes. They don't say that their proposed pilot reactor will produce electric energy economically.

CAREFUL STUDIES

The scientists base their hopes on studies now being conducted by officials of Atomic Energy of Canada, Ltd., the crown company operating the atomic project, and the Ontario Hydro-Electric commission.

Dr. W. B. Lewis, vice-president in charge of research and development, said the feasibility studies will determine how it will be practical to build a pilot reactor. With that problem solved, scientists could start thinking about the construction of a power reactor which would produce electric energy economically.

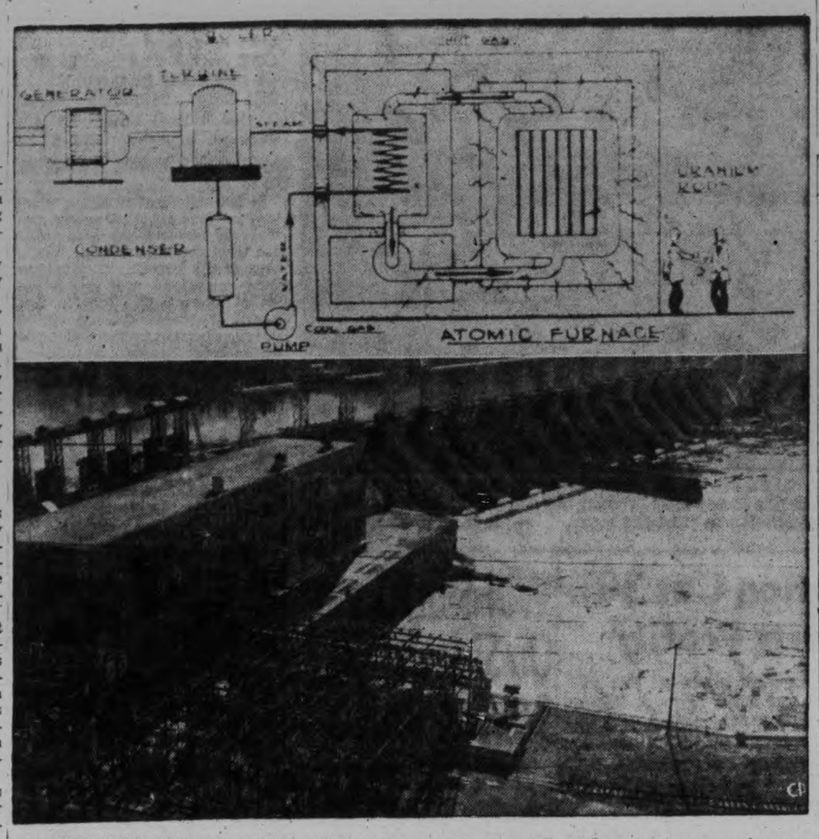
"We all hope that these studies will show the way to build a power reactor which will be fully economic," Dr. Lewis said.

"These studies will continue for a year or more before we will be in a position to make a decision on the pilot reactor."

MAY TAKE TWO YEARS

The studies, launched by a small staff of engineers and scientists, will cost about $200,000 and provision has been made to conduct them for two years if necessary.

The studies are expected to be facilitated by a recent decision of the sixth international declassification conference which met at Chalk River last April. The conference, including representatives of Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom, agreed to make more secrets on the design of atomic power plants available to industry.



ATOMIC POWER—Scientists at Canada's Chalk River nuclear project are studying the possibility of generating electric power from atomic energy. The lower panel shows the Corra Linn dam and hydro-electric power plant at Nelson, B.C., an example of the source of much of Canada's present electric power. The top picture is an artist's conception of how an atomic power generating system might look. Its size (note figures of workers would be insignificant compared with the giant hydro-electric project shown below.—(CP Photo).

One problem that must be overcome is the economical production of suitable metals for construction of a power reactor.

The principle of nuclear power generation is relatively simple. Heat is transferred from the reactor to raise steam which drives a generator. The reactor merely replaces the boiler and coal-firing equipment of a conventional electric-power station.

NEED NEW METALS

However, the usual construction materials, such as steel, are not suitable for an atomic furnace. They absorb too many neutrons—the atomic bullets released during the fission of chain-reaction process inside the reactor. This atomic process creates the heat which will be used to raise steam to drive electric generators.

Scientists how are searching for new metals which will not absorb the neutrons. Some metals, including aluminum, do not absorb many neutrons but they have a low melting point.

"We must find a metal which will not melt at the high temperatures inside an atomic furnace and which will not absorb neutrons and prevent the pile operating," said Dr. Lewis.

He said the best metal discovered to date fr a power reactor is zirconium. Ten years ago zirconium cost about as much as gold to produce and was used only for laboratory work. It now can be produced for about $14 a pound compared with three cents for steel or 20 cents for aluminum.

The high cost of metals creates another difficulty. An economical way must be found to produce them after they have been discovered. Most of the research on metals for use in an atomic power plant is being conducted by the physical metallurgy division of the department of mines and technical surveys. At present the division is studying other metals besides zirconium.

Other problems include the availability of the atomic fuel—uranium—and the cost of mining, separating and producing metallic uranium. Canada produces uranium only in oxide form and receives the metal from the United States at an undisclosed cost.

Lord Coleraine Takes Seat In Lords

LONDON (CP)—In the traditional ceremony of bowing and hat doffing, Lord Coleraine, son of Bonar Law who was Britain's only Canadian-born prime minister, Wednesday took his seat in the House of Lords.

Lord Coleraine is the former Richard Law who sat in the House of Commons from 1931 till his elevation to the peerage in the Queen's New Year's honors list. He was one of three new peers introduced to the lords by Anthony Wagner, the Richmond Herald who was acting in place of the Garter King of Arms.

The former Conservative member of Parliament sails today for a Canadian-United States business trip.

1 Dead, 5 Injured In Railway Wreck

MONTREAL (CP)—The list of dead and injured in Wednesday's train collision at St. Clet, released by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, included:

Dead

W. B. Casselman of Toronto.

Injured

W. G. Davey, 1445 Queen St., Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., general bruises.

Mrs. R. Darch, Port Maitland, general bruises and shock.

J. Gillespie, Caledonia, bruises.

C. W. Morton, R.R. 8, St. Thomas bump on forehead.

W. H. Smallhorn, 44 Fourth St., St. Thomas, stomach injuries.

Held In Shooting

NEWMARKET (CP) — Mrs. Marion Chapman, 18, of nearby Queensville, was admitted to hospital Wednesday with a bullet lodged in her right breast. Police said they are holding her husband, Bruce Chapman, to whom she was married last fall, in Newmarket jail for questioning. The girl came to Canada from Germany about a year ago. Her condition was described as fair.

Thomson Co. Buys Paper At Nanaimo

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP) — The Nanaimo Daily Free Press has been acquired by the Thomson Co. Ltd., it was announced Wednesday.

The Free Press will operate as a division of the Vancouver News-Herald Ltd.

There will be an enlarged staff for the Free Press under the new ownership and the present staff will be retained. The Free Press has a circulation of about 7,000.

The Free Press, an evening newspaper, was founded in 1874 and has been owned by Ronald and Oswald Norris and Robert Stewart since 1933. The paper will be operated by the present management until March 31.

Kenneth R. Thomson, executive vice-president of the Thomson Company, said in a statement:

POLICY UNCHANGED

"Our purchase of the Nanaimo Free Press is evidence of our confidence in the prosperity and vast potential of Nanaimo and district in particular and of Vancouver island in general.

"Editorial policies and staff will be unchanged. This is consistent with the Thomson newspapers policy of local autonomy."

Thomson newspapers publish 16 other daily newspapers in five provinces of Canada, one in Florida, and The Scotsman in Edinburgh, Scotland. In addition, the company controls The Weekly Scotsman and The Evening Dispatch as well as The Canada Review published in London.

McRuer Reserves Judgment On Issue Of Leslie Getting $8,000 Interest

TORONTO — (CP) — Chief Justice J. C. McRuer Wednesday reserved judgment on whether Lt.-Col. E. D. M. Leslie should receive $8,000 interest on a trust fund from the time his aunt died until he changed his name at her request.

Lt.-Col. Leslie, son of Gen. Andrew McNaughton, changed his surname last April 27 and, as a result, qualified to inherit the income from a $250,000 trust fund set up by his aunt, Mrs. Anne Gertrude St. John Leslie of Kingston, who died May 19, 1952.

Also at issue is whether Lt.-Col. Leslie is to receive a limousine valued at $2,500.

In addition to making provision for the Leslie fund, Mrs. Leslie provided for $46,000 cash legacies which have already been paid. The Kingston General Hospital and the Hotel Dieu Hospital of Kingston are to get $10,000 each but this has not yet been paid.

The main residual beneficiaries are Mrs. Leslie McNaughton Sykes and Mrs. Christina McNaughton McDougall, both of Rockcliffe Park, Ottawa; and Capt. Leslie Addington of Colne, Wiltshire, England, and Capt G. L. Cooper of Sudbury, Suffolk, England.

It was set out in Mrs. Leslie's will that the young colonel had to change his name to Leslie within a year of her death in order to benefit. The change was made about 11 months after her death.

Gordon Henderson of Ottawa, counsel for the residual beneficiaries, contended that the interest for that period should go to his clients.

W. G. C. Howland and M. G. Hickey of Kingston, counsel for the two hospitals, argued that the hospitals should get this money. Affidavits before the court said there will not be enough money from the estate to pay the hospitals in full.

The argument of counsel for both the residual beneficiaries and the hospitals is that Col. Leslie was not entitled to any money until he met the condition of the will.

NOTICE TO POLICYHOLDERS

The Annual Meeting of the Farmers' Union Mutual Fire Insurance Company will be held in the Women's Institute Rooms upstairs in the Town Hall, Lindsay, on Saturday, February 27th, 1954 at 2.00 p.m. to receive the Financial Statement and Auditor's Report, to elect Directors and to transact any other business that may properly come before the meeting. All members are respectfully requested to be present.

How to tell if your child is really strong

East Durham LOL Officers Named

MILLBROOK (ENS) — at one of the best attended annual meetings of East Durham LOL, comprising 13 primary lodges in the county the following were elected to office: County Master, William Bateman; Deputy County Master, Noel W. Beardsley; chaplain, the Rev. T. S. Gault; recording secretary, Nathaniel Belch; treasurer, Alex Carruthers; marshal, William Wiltshire; lecturer, Stewart Morgan; second lecturer, Wyatt Waddell.

A banquet was held in the Millbrook waiting room, prepared by the ladies of the LOBA in the Orange hall.

The reports of 1953 denoted a year of progress with a well-maintained membership.

PCM Thomas Staples was presented with a PCM's jewel.

A special county lodge meeting will be held in Pontypool on the second Tuesday evening in June.

The annual county church service and parade will be held on the second Sunday evening previous to July 12. East Durham county LOL will celebrate in Oshawa on Saturday, July 10.

Saves Tot

GALT (CP) — Earl Edgar of Teeswater Wednesday saved Leslie Armstrong, 3, from drowning. He waded into a water-filled excavation and rescued the boy who had fallen in while playing.

Retired Banker Dies

TORONTO (CP)—John B. Clark, 74, manager of the Southampton branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce for 26 years, died Wednesday. He retired in 1936 after serving as a banker 42 years.

Plainville WMS Plan Church Supper

PLAINVILLE (ENS). — Plainville WMS met at the home of Mrs. Clarke McKinlay, with about 20 ladies present.

President Mrs. Frank Westington was in charge. Plans were made for a church supper in March for the expense fund.

The program as outlined for the month in the Missionary Monthly was conducted by group leader Mrs. Stuart Herriott. Mrs. John Linton read a chapter of the study book.

The WCTU, with Mrs. W. Herriott as president, also held a short meeting when appropriate readings were given.

Lunch was served by the hostess and the group for the month.

Approve Bill For Revision Of Phone Act

TORONTO (CP)—This is leaders' day in the Ontario legislature. Farquhar Oliver, Liberal opposition leader will launch debate on the reply to the speech from the throne. Premier Frost then will speak.

The house Wednesday gave second reading, approval in principle, to a bill for revising the telephone act. Thus it cleared the way for general debate on the throne speech.

Highways Minister Doucett announced that reports of irregularities in his department's road construction contracts are under investigation in the Huntsville division.

But the session was one of comparative tranquility as both sides of the house praised the bill overhauling a telephone act unchanged since 1918.

The bill would improve the service provided 164,000 subscribers by about 500 independent telephone companies in the province by setting up an Ontario telephone authority.

AMALGAMATE INDEPENDENTS

Hon. G. H. Challies, minister without portfolio and vice-chairman of the Ontario hydro commission, announced that H. A. Rogers, executive secretary of the Canadian Independent Telephone Association, would head the semi-judicial body whose main job will be to amalgamate many of the independent companies.

The authority would also set up regulations, supervise alterations and construction of new plants and carry out other duties leading to an eventual continuous telephone service to rural areas.

C. E. Janes (PC—Lambton East) saw a "great future" for the authority and John Root (PC—Wellington North) looked for benefits for residents of the smaller communities.

W. J. Grummett, CCF house leader, feared the proposed continuous service would mean a limitation on independent companies which could be overcome by amalgamation.

Ask Canadians To Divert Purchases To Britain

TORONTO (CP) — The dollar-sterling trade council plans to ask Canadians to divert some of their purchases from the United States to the United Kingdom to enable Britain to buy more in Canada.

James S. Duncan of Toronto, council chairman, announced the plan today in an address prepared for delivery to the Canadian Association of British Manufacturers and Agencies.

If, he said, such a policy would result in disturbing Canada's relationships with her greatest and most influential customer, the United States, he would be the first to oppose it.

Even, however, if the council's suggestion were carried out, Canada would still be buying $500,000,000 more of goods from the United States than the United States buys here; and he believed the plan would ultimately work out to the advantage of all.

The suggestion, he said, did not envisage that British imports should replace Canadian production.

Canada, Mr. Duncan said, is selling to Britain $214,000,000 worth of goods more than Britain is selling here, and Britain is obliged to find that money elsewhere to pay for her Canadian orders.

CANADIAN DEFICIT

On the other hand, Canada last year bought from the United States $3,229,000,000 worth of goods more than seven times what she bought from Britain, and ran a deficit with the United States of $766,000,000.

"If we did no more than increase our imports from the United Kingdom by between seven and eight per cent of our imports from the United States, we would more than wipe out Britain's trade deficit with us, thereby ensuring not only a continuity of our exports to her on the present basis, but setting a pattern whereby these would be gradually increased."

Mr. Duncan said it was up to Canadians as individuals to correct the Canadian pattern of trade —"To reorient our buying—through the housewife, the man in the street, the grocer, the general store, or the great corporation—away from the countries with which we are running trade deficits, so as to obtain a better balance in our trading accounts."

Pat Labarge Elected Head Of Credit Union

BANCROFT (ENS) — The steady growth of the credit union movement in the district was shown at the third annual meeting of the North Hastings Credit Union Ltd. in the Legion hall, when treasurer Mrs. Gordon Groves reported a membership of 85, with assets of $5,300.

Cash turnover for 1953 showed an increase of 300 per cent over the previous year at $7,575. A dividend of 3 per cent on each $5 share was declared, and a rebate of 10 per cent of personal loan interest.

Chairman Pat Labarge introduced guest speaker Gordon Powell of Peterborough, who gave a brief outline of credit union history and spoke of the aims and principles of the movement.

Members elected to hold office for this year are: Pat Labarge, president; John Hawkins, vice-president; Henry Phillips, secretary; Mrs. G. Groves, treasurer; E. Bruce, William Lavalley and Frank Murphy, directors; A. Grayling, S. Bowers, Mrs. J. Ward, the Rev. E. Owen Johnston and Brian Murray, credit committee; Gordon Broughton, Gordon Groves and Jack Moore, supervisory committee.

Lunch was served and a film featuring the operation of credit unions and co-operatives in Nova Scotia was shown.

Leaves U.K. Sunday

LONDON (CP) — Graham Spry, Saskatchewan agent-general in London, leaves by air Sunday for his annual Canadian visit, which will include brief visits to Ottawa and Washington. Spry, personal assistant to the late Sir Stafford Cripps during the war, is returning via the Continent, where, he said today, he will spend several days studying the wheat situation as it might affect Canada. Spry expects to be in Regina March 14.

Cassandra Biting With Pen, Enjoys Growing Vegetables

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP) — In ancient Greece Cassandra was a bewitching young woman, beloved of Apollo, whose dreadful warnings fell on deaf ears.

In modern Britain, Cassandra is the pen name of a reasonably young man whose angry writings have considerable impact.

The present-day Cassandra is, in fact, just about the toughest and best-known columnist in Fleet street. And despite confusion over gender, Cassandra — real name William Neil Connor—plans to stick to the somewhat effeminate nom de plume.

"Somebody hung that one on me years ago," he says, "and it's too late to change now."

FORCEFUL WRITER

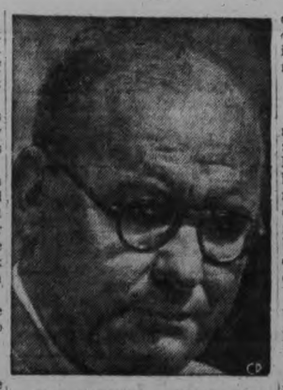
Connor needn't worry. Since he joined the tabloid Daily Mirror in 1935—a "pretty crazy" paper, he calls it—he has written more than 3,000,000 words and built a reputation for expansive and explosive writing. He luxuriates in hyperbole, speaks his piece forcefully at all times and occasionally, some say, skates defiantly on the thin ice of journalistic propriety.

When he went to Washington to do a story on Joseph McCarthy, Connor startled the Wisconsin senator by saying:

"I detest anything you stand for and will do my best to denounce all your horrible persecutions."

(Connor said later he found McCarthy a charming and soft-spoken person. "I was with him six hours, insulting him all the time," the writer recalled. "I don't think he could believe his ears.")

Cassandra's pyrotechnical qualities have been described by Hugh Cudlipp, a Fleet street executive who joined the mass-circulation Mirror the same day as Connor. "When I first met him," Cudlipp wrote, "I felt that I was involved in an extremely unpleasant motor crash even the exchange of orthodox civilities . . . was accompanied by the awful din of screeching mental brakes."



COLUMNIST — William Neil Connor, 44, pen-name Cassandra, is one of the best-known and hardest-hitting newspaper men in Britain. His column in the mass-circulation London newspaper, The Daily Mirror, speaks frankly and sharply on a variety of issues. Colleagues call him "the guest who is seldom asked twice." Somebody hung the name Cassandra on him years ago, he said, "and it's too late to change now."

—(CP Photo).

DISARMING APPEARANCE

For all that Connor styles himself as a "very gentle person, actually," and looks the part. Hunched over his desk in a "small back room" at the Mirror, he looks more like a country curate than a cynical newspaper man whose bite is supposed to be as bad as his bark. As proof of domesticity, he draws attention to a small fig tree on his desk.

"Grew that myself," he says. "I love gardening. My wife looks after the flowers, mostly, and I look after the vegetables."

The thick-set, auburn-haired Cassandra was born 44 years ago in London's Palmers Green. He is an Englishman with an Irish father, Scots mother, Welsh wife and three small children. As befits such a background, his favorite sport is cricket.

An out-and-out islander, he abhors central heating and persists in that unendearing idiosyncrasy called the open fire, even in the current spell of, "perishin' cold." He spends four hours in a train every working day, his home being an old country rectory in Buckinghamshire with leaded windows and creeping vines on old mellowed walls.

HECTIC WORKER

Cassandra likes doing five columns a week.

"I find that when you have only one or two to do you start saving stuff for later use, and it loses its edge. I like to beat it out in an absolute panic, the hotter the better."

He types the first draft himself, corrects it and then goes to work on another copy typed by his attractive secretary, Joan. When the galley proofs appear out comes the pencil again for last-minute changes, a "thundering nuisance" to the printers.

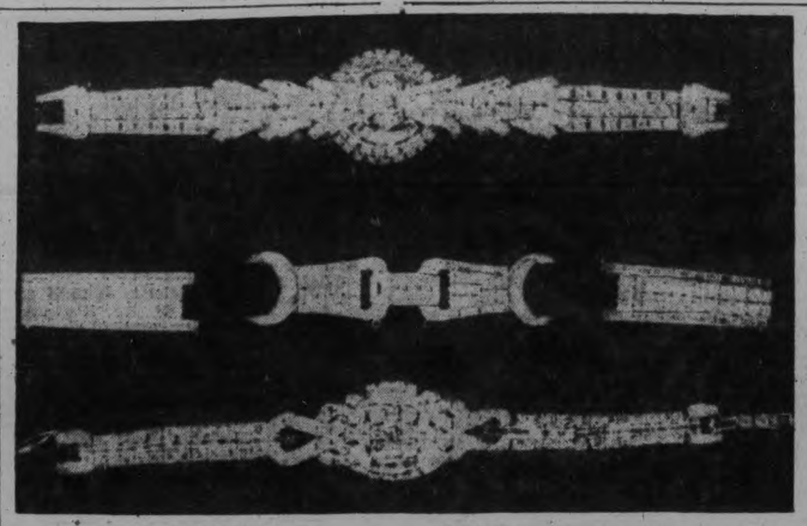
A certain nostalgia is apparent. Cassandra revels in large, life-and-death issues and he thinks things these days are too blurred—grey instead of black and white. The genial round features crease into a smile and the kindly eyes light up behind heavy glasses when he talks of the "tremendous events" of wartime days.

WARMING PROSE

He can write lush as well as acid prose. Consider this plaint against austerity written in the food-short days of 1949:

"Do you know how folks yearn for the belly music of thick slices of peach-fed ham or great T-bone steaks laughing up . . . from their scalding bower of sprouts and crisp, golden chips . . . of stilton, princely cheese served by candlelight in the old coaching houses of the great north road . . . bulky discs fed with dark port wine and ripened into a color the rainbow never held.

"There are men lost in a splendid reverie of button mushrooms chuckling in the boiling depths of a real steak and kidney pie; men thinking of scores of eggs broken into a china bowl and lashed into ample yellow foams of a mighty omelet yet to come . . . madame, ration what you will . . . but lay off our dreams!"



THREE MONTREALERS were arrested in a New York hotel in connection with a $63,000 jewel robbery in Montreal early this year. The men were said to be carrying $15,000 worth of jewels in a coat pocket. They were identified on arraignment as part of a "national fencing scheme" with the purpose of disposing of such stolen merchandise.

New Fanshawe Dam Stopped London Flood

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost Wednesday said the new Fanshawe dam located outside London saved that city from possible flood disaster Tuesday night.

Speaking in the legislature, Mr. Frost said Mayor Allan Rush of London informed him that the dam officially opened last year, was able to contain all the run-off when the flooding subsided.

In reply to a question by Farquhar Oliver, Liberal opposition leader, Premier Frost said the government has not yet received any requests for flood aid.

Contractor Dies

WINGHAM (CP) — Duncan McDougall, 50, died of a heart attack Wednesday while driving his auto north of here. Passing motorists found his car in a snow bank at the side of the road and brought him to hospital here. Mr. McDougall was born in Morris township and was a well-known contractor in this area.

TOO MUCH SPARK

FOREST (CP)—Alvin McKellar said Wednesday that a thief who tried to start and steal his auto by crossing the ignition wires got more spark than he counted on. The car caught fire and was destroyed.

U.S. Legislation To Construct New Power Plants

By JAMES C. MUNN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Herbert Lehman and Representative Franklin Roosevelt Jr., new York Democrats Wednesday introduced legislation to authorize construction by New York state of new power plants at Niagara Falls, N.Y.

The measure, replacing one they introduced last year, contains what the sponsors termed "full consumer safeguards including (power) preferences for public and non-profit bodies."

Their bill last year contained the same preference provision but provided that the federal government, not New York state, carry out the development.

In a joint statement accompanying introduction of the new bill, Lehman and Roosevelt said:

MAIN DIFFERENCE

"The main difference between this bill and the one we introduced last year lies in its authorization of state construction—by the New York Power Authority—instead of the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

"Hence no federal funds or financial involvement of any kind, for the construction of the power works is required."

The measure provides that New York, before undertaking the construction, would be required to obtain a licence from the federal power commission.

Under the bill, however, in accepting an FPC licence, New York would be required to accept as conditions of the licence, "provisions to safeguard the interests . . . of public bodies and agencies, rural electric co-operatives and power consumers generally."

PUBLIC YARDSTICK

Such a preference provision, Roosevelt and Lehman said, "will furnish a public yardstick whereby all power rates throughout the state will be measured, competition will be stimulated and all power consumers, whether public or private, will share through lower rates in the benefits of this public development."

Three other bills have been introduced to carry out the development of increased power at Niagara Falls.

One, by Senator Homer Capehart (Rep. Ind.) and Representative William Miller (Rep. N. Y.), would give five private utilities the right to perform the job. Another, by Senator Irving Ives (Rep. N. Y.) and Representative Frank Becker (Rep. N. Y.), would give such authority to New York state. The third, by Senator Francis Case (Rep. S. D.), would permit the federal power commission to determine the appropriate agency.

Elect 2 Lawyers Joint Chairmen

OTTAWA (CP) — Two Ontario lawyers Wednesday were elected joint chairmen of the committee of the Senate and Commons which will study hanging, whipping and lotteries.

Senator Salter Hayden, 57, prominent Toronto lawyer, and Donald F. Brown (L—Essex West), 50-year-old Windsor, Ont., lawyer, will act as chairmen of the 27-member committee.

Senator Hayden acted as chairman of the Senate committee which made the first study of the revision of the Criminal Code in 1951-52. Mr. Brown served in a similar capacity on the Commons committee which considered the bill last year.

Mr. Brown urged that in their work all members of the committee, which includes 10 senators and 17 commoners, keep their minds as open as possible. If that was done, the results would be more satisfactory and the value of the committee's work more lasting.

Ancient Mystery

SOOKE, B.C. (CP)—Skeleton of an Indian belle was unearthed near here. Her head had evidently been bound in infancy, judging by the shape of the skull. Besides the bones was found a harpoon, made of bone.

Senate Approves Pipeline Plan

OTTAWA (CP) — The Senate Wednesday approved the principle of a $7,000,000 pipeline to bring United States natural gas to Toronto.

Senator J. J. Connolly (L—Ontario) said the bill will allow the Niagara Gas Transmission Company to obtain government permits to build the 75-mile pipeline from a border point on the Niagara river to Toronto.

He said permission of the Canadian Parliament is required for the "extra-provincial" project. The line will be capable of carrying 22,600,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas a year.

The gas will come from Louisiana and Texas along Tennessee Gas Transmission Company lines to the border. Tennessee owns 35 per cent of the shares in Niagara Gas Transmission. The rest is owned by Consumers Gas Company of Toronto which will distribute the gas to Toronto district users.

The bill, after receiving second reading, was referred to the Senate committee on transport and communications.

TV Artists Sign Agreement

OTTAWA (CP) — Television artists and the CBC have reached agreement on pay and working conditions for the next 18 months.

J. A. Ouimet, CBC general manager, Wednesday announced that the publicly-owned corporation and the Canadian Council of Authors and Artists have signed an agreement to run until Aug. 14, 1955.

Agreement was reached after 13 months of negotiations. Most of the terms and rates — which vary widely between different types of artists — have been in effect for the last four months. The agreement covers all television performers, except musicians.

It is understood that the two major points in dispute were payment of artists when appearing in a non-artistic capacity and re-opening of clauses of the contract for negotiation.

The union is understood to have agreed that present union members should be paid at artists' rates for all appearances but that new union members may be paid in future at other rates if they appear in a non-artistic capacity, such as in an interview.

Immigrants Marry On Border Line

FORT FRANCES (CP)—A prospective Polish bridegroom, unable to get an Ontario marriage licence and barred from the United States, married his sweetheart Saturday at the Canadian - United States border.

The two Polish immigrants, with the co-operation of Canadian and American customs officials, a Fort Frances attorney, and an International Falls, Minn., judge, exchanged vows in the United States customs office at international bridge.

The groom, Josef Byczyk of Sapawe, Ont., arrived in Canada recently and was ineligible for a marriage licence because of Ontario non-resident restrictions. Immigration regulations kept him from entering the United States.

Josef's wife Maria had been living in Canada for some time and could enter the U. S. at will.

St. Lawrence Power Plan To Cut Damage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The International Joint Commission said today that operation of a proposed St. Lawrence river power project might cut damages to property caused by high levels of Lake Ontario.

Roger B. McWhorter, acting chairman of the U.S. section of the commission, in identical letters to Representatives Kenneth Keating and Harold Ostertag, New York Republicans, said owners of Lake Ontario shore property need have no apprehension that high water, as a result of the power project's operation, will damage their property.

If such damage should occur, McWhorter said, the owner will be given "protection and indemnity."

ASK FOR TRIBUNAL

Ostertag and Keating Feb. 5 asked the commission to set up an international tribunal to act on damage claims arising from the proposed St. Lawrence seaway and its allied power project. The latter is to be undertaken by New York state and the province of Ontario.

The commission, McWhorter said, has ordered "an exhaustive investigation" of the whole subject for the purpose of evolving and perfecting a method of operation (of the projects) which will be "beneficial rather than detrimental to shore owners, and not harmful to any other interests."

Canadians Earn Most In Country's History

OTTAWA — (CP) — Canadians earned more and spent more last year than at any time in history.

The country's net national income rose to a new high of $18,977,000,000, a jump of about $840,000,000 from the previous high of $18,135,000,000 in 1952, the bureau of statistics estimated.

Spending for consumer goods and services jumped to a record $15,035,000,000, a $700,000,000 gain from $14,334,000,00 in 1952.

But while income rose, consumer prices remained virtually unchanged during the year, providing wage and salary earners with a "real" income gain, the bureau said.

In 1953 the gross national product—sum total of all goods and services produced—increased to a peak of $24,242,00,000 from $23,110,000,000 in 1952.

British Firm Starting Plant At Kingston

TORONTO (CP) — Vicom and Company, Ltd., British firm specializing in radio, radar and electrical equipment for aircraft, will establish a plant in Kingston through a subsidiary, Vicom and Company (Canada) Ltd.

This was announced Wednesday by Hon. W. K. Warrender, Ontario minister of planning and development.

The firm has leased a 10-acre site and four buildings providing 12,000 square feet at the Norman Rogers airport where it is planned to establish a workshop to make sub-assemblies of electronic equipment for other Canadian manufacturers. A group of 20 technicians will be sent out from Britain.

Future plans include an overhaul installation base for marine radar and direction finding equipment on lake vessels; manufacture and servicing of two-way communication equipment for vehicles; and a motor overhaul base.

Eric Lane-Burslem, managing director of the parent firm, will be president of the Canadian company, and John McKay of Winnipeg, who has been in Britain for 3 years, will be general manager.

Show Coronation Pictures

The Women's Auxiliary of Grace United church held their monthly meeting Tuesday evening in the church. Mrs. M. Szafranski was in the chair and read scripture and an article entitled, "The Face Mirrors Your Character." She closed devotions with prayer. Highlight of the evening was the showing of coronation pictures. President Mrs. J. Waldie presided for the business period. Mrs. G. Close reported for the parsonage committee. To cover the cost of re-decorating it was decided to hold a home bake sale in the market Saturday morning, February 27th. It was also moved that a rummage sale be held on March 20th in the Miles' Auction Room. A social hour followed. The next meeting will be in charge of Mrs. F. Sanders and her group.

Plan Open Meeting

Tables brightly decorated with a traditional heart-shaped cake and red candles were setting for the meeting of Trinity Supper Circle Monday, which Mrs. S. Kanex's group convened. In a short business period following supper, it was decided to have an open Easter meeting, inviting other mission groups of the church. Mrs. S. Thomas is to be representative at the World Day of Prayer services. Devotional period opened with Miss Helen Thompson leading in prayer. Miss Mildred Ivory gave an outline of an address by colored minister Dr. James H. Robinson, pastor and founder of the Church of the Master in New York, who has recently returned from Asia, Europe and the near East, having been sent as a speaker. The address was made to the Dominion Board of the WMS, entitled "New Frontiers of Mission Fields." It told of his experiences from a boy and how he suffered because of his color and being poor. This, he feels, has helped him to heal racial discrimination and bring together the many races and creeds of the world with his teaching.

Plans were made to make some alterations on the prize list regarding ladies' work and pertaining to the directors' prizes.

Mrs. Earl Waldie was appointed to be in charge of the exhibits of public school pupils.

Plans were made for the March meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Clarke Sandercock.

The gathering dispersed after the singing of "The Queen."

Crowd Of 300 Attends Tea At King Edward School

Big red hearts with the traditional lacy border led the way to a brightly attractive tea room in the King Edward School on Wednesday afternoon. Ladies of the Home and School Association were entertaining at their annual mid-winter event, and estimated the guest attendance at 300.

Red candles were the highlights in a white and silver table setting with carnations on a cloud of tulle the centrepiece. Quartette tables were centred with red and white flower baskets and were served by hostess wearing heart name tags.

President Mrs. Joseph Dunkerley and vice-president Mrs. Earle Wellman extended hearty welcome to the tea and Mrs. F. Willison took tickets.

The candy booth and home baking table were handily set up in the hall, and since there was a line-up for admittance to the tea room, formed even before the opening hour, there was time for leisurely purchasing.

Mrs. O. Rosborough and Mrs. V. Fee had charge of the candy sales and Mrs. L. Webb, Mrs. A. Williamson, Mrs. G. MacMillan and Mrs. W. Stanbury the baking.

Tea room convener was Mrs. A. Clarke and the table decorations was by Mrs. Wellman.

Turney and Mrs. K. Wyatt, with Mrs. N. Hamilton and Mrs. G. Rogers replenishing the main table and Mrs. Clarke and Mrs. D. Mannan arranging the plates.

Mrs. J. Telford and Mrs. J. Burns, wives of teachers, poured tea the first hour, and Mrs. R. Gilders and Mrs. G. Cuffe the second. The tea was made by Mrs. R. Stanliek and the pots were filled by Mrs. G. Nurse.

Piano music was provided throughout the tea hours by Mrs. Arthur Bacon, Mrs. E. Richey and Mrs. Ivan Ellicott, in turn.

Children were entertained in a nursery with Mrs. H. McMullen, Mrs. G. Copperthwaite and Mrs. R. Braund in charge.

Valentine Tea By Stirling WMA

STIRLING (ENS)—A Valentine tea and sale of home baking, sponsored by St. Paul's Women's Missionary Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. W. T. Elliott.

The dining table was centred with a silver basket of red roses and from this was strung red hearts and streamers.

The program consisted of piano selections by Mrs. Arthur Ryear, solos by Marlene Carlisle and Mrs. Travers Jeffery with Mrs. Herb David as accompanist.

Guests were invited to the tea room by Mrs. Clifford Lousing and Mrs. Harold Martin.

Those pouring tea during the afternoon were Mrs. J. Hough, Miss Della Coldwell and Mrs. J. B. Thompson.

Replenishing the sandwich and cookie plates were Mrs. S. Elliott, Mrs. Frank Wood, Mrs. R. Duffin, Mrs. Oliver Stapley and Mrs. N. Pitcher.

Mrs. E. Monroe convened the home cooking table assisted by Mrs. Dan Lucey and Mrs. Sid Williams.

Approximately 135 ladies attended the tea and proceeds are to be used to provide funds for the supply department to carry out their activities during the summer months.

There were 13 tables at play and the prize winners were: ladies' high—Mrs. A. Fraser, ladies' low—Mrs. Bert Bastedo, men's high—Bert Bastedo—men's low—Claude Pryor.

A dainty lunch was served after the games.

Pammett-Portsmith Rites

At Trinity United Church on Saturday, the Rev. Gordon S. Maxwell performed the marriage of Dorothy June, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Portsmith of Omemee, to Donald Edward Pammett, son of Mr. Norman Pammett of Peterborough and the late Mrs. Pammett.

Snapdragon and ferns decorated the church for the occasion. Mr. Donald Kennedy, organist, played wedding music and Miss Alma Blanchard sang two selections, "O Perfect Love" and "Where'ere You Walk."

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Donald Portsmith. She was wearing a gown with white lace bodice and skirt of satin with lace inserts. Her veil of French net was caught to a tiara with seed pearls and rhinestones and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Bridal attendants were her sisters, Mrs. Roy Wallis as matron of honor and Miss Ruby Portsmith as bridesmaid. They were in blue and green taffeta gowns and wore matching mittens and halos of net. Each carried a spray of pink and mauve hyacinths.

Groomsman was Mr. Frank Pammett and the ushers were Gilbert Portsmith and Harold Warner.

The reception was held at 479 King street, where the couple will live. The bride's mother received, wearing royal blue with a blue velvet hat and corsage of pink rosebuds. Assisting was the groom's sister, Mrs. Harold Warner, who wore powder blue and a blue straw hat and had a corsage of red rosebuds.

Later, on a wedding trip to Toronto and points west, the bride travelled in a mauve woollen dress with scooped neckline trimmed in white angora and topped with short matching jacket, and wore a camel hair topcoat, beige hat and tan accessories, and had a mauve orchid corsage.

Roseneath YPU Valentine Party

ROSENEATH (ENS) — The YPU held a valentine party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Varcoe on Monday evening.

The president, Adele Varcoe, presided with Betty Carew as pianist for the worship service. Yvonne Adams and Mary Skuce conducted the service with the topic "How much land does a man need?"

It was decided to donate five dollars to the M and M fund of the church.

The entire recreational period was in keeping with the St. Valentine spirit. The rooms were decorated with red and white streamers with hearts cupids and arrows effectively placed about the rooms.

The roll call, "A word pertaining to Valentine," was answered by nineteen members.

The entire program was interspread with community singing with Yvonne Adams at the piano.

Mrs. Varcoe assisted be her daughter Adele served refreshments at the conclusion of the program period.

7 New Members Appointed To YWCA Board

Seven new members were appointed to the YWCA Board of Directors at the annual meeting Wednesday evening, and one former member was made an honorary member in recognition of the valuable service she had rendered.

New members are Mrs. Stanley McBride, Mrs. Harold Shaw, Mrs. A. Collins, Mrs. James Craig, Mrs. James Fraser, Mrs. Gordon Dobbin, and Mrs. W. B. Gordon.

Mrs. J. H. Vernor became the 10th honorary member of the board.

Those whose terms expired this year and were re-elected are Mrs. S. L. Smoke, Miss Laura Davidson, Mrs. W. Perks, Mrs. J. Hornal, Miss Flora Metcalfe, Mrs. D. Loucks and Mrs. C. A. Craig.

(The members who are continuing a term of office are Mrs. T. J. Carley, Mrs. C. G. Collins, Mrs. W. G. Ovens, Mrs. H. L. Bamforth, Mrs. Donald Wood, Mrs. J. Nicholls, Mrs. Clarence Porter, Mrs. F. M. Sommerville, Mrs. J. Lewis, Mrs. T. Cook, Mrs. J. E. Watters, Mrs. Heber Rogers, Mrs. J. H. Whiteside, Mrs. H. Northrop and Mrs. H. T. Rehill.)

Officers for the coming year will be elected by the board members at the next meeting.

Tribute to the fine work done by Mrs. Rehill as president was expressed on behalf of the Y members by Miss Grace Sargent, following the reading of a most comprehensive report of Y activities during 1953 prepared and read by Mrs. Rehill.

All departments, including residence, clubs, craft classes and camps of the Y were mentioned in the president's report, showing that Mrs. Rehill is fully cognizant of goings-on at the Y throughout the year, and indeed is an interested observer at most of them.

The financial report read by treasurer Mrs. J. Lewis showed an excess of expenditures over income in 1953 in the amount of $2,814.71. This was reduced slightly with a balance from the food service department of $124.65 and a balance from the nursery school of $15.95. A bequest of $500 was received from the estate of the late Mrs. Thos. Barrie.

Last year the request to the Communist Chest was for $16,000, and had this been granted it would have allowed the Y to show a very small deficit. The Chest gave only $14,000, however. An accumulated deficit of $1,319.12 was carried over from 1952.

Expenditures showed the greatest excess in the program department, apart from administration. Camp and residence showed small excesses of income.

The food service accounts are kept separately at the request of the Community Chest, but the profit, now showing in this department for the first time, is being applied to the deficit incurred by other departments.

Copies of all annual reports concerning the Y were provided for each person present, so they may be studied at leisure.

KEEPING SEAMS STRAIGHT

No matter how carefully you don your stockings you cannot expect the seams to remain straight forever. It's best to roll the hose down to the ankles and start all over again two or three times during the day.

Dinner Speaker Suggests YW Community Extension

A suggestion that the YWCA, in Peterborough might do some extension work by introducing the Y to the outlying community was made at the annual meeting Wednesday evening by special guest for this occasion, Mrs. J. E. Houck of Brampton.

Mrs. Houck is chairman of the extension committee of the YWCA of Canada. An extreme illustration of her suggestion is found in the interior of British Columbia where a group of girls have been organized in clubs by the Y.

New policy worked out by the extension committee for towns and small communities is a joint YW-YM program, thus giving some of the benefits of both associations where both could not be supported, she said.

Topic of Mrs. Houck's address was "'Women" and she drew on her recollections of the International Conference of the Associated Country Women of the World, held last August in Toronto, for which she was convener of registration.

Accused of not having made any concrete contribution from that conference, Mrs. Houck agreed this might be so, but said the women had discussed a good many of the problems facing the United Nations today, and having learned about them had gone home to think about them. "We discussed food shortages in the world; illiteracy— did you know that 80 per cent of the people in south east Asia neither read nor write—and ways that we could promote the advantage of democractic life" she advised.

Elaborating on the latter point, Mrs. Houck pointed out: "The Communists plant a fisherman among fishermen, a farmer among farmers, to promote their way of life, but democratic countries have never mastered that technique." She said the ACWW had discussed exchange of students as a way of spreading knowledge of the democracies.

Mrs. Houck concluded with a wish for growth in the Peterborough YWCA. "I think you have prospects here," she said.

Introduction of the speaker was made by Mrs. T. J. Carley and the expression of thanks was voiced by Mrs. Cameron Craig.

A brief message of greeting was delivered by Mrs. Paige Rowell who is now a Provincial representative to the National Council of YWCA.

Chairman Mrs. H. T. Rehill read greetings from the YWCA in Paramaribo, Suriname, and personal greetings from Miss Marion Foster, now in charge there.

Devotions, conducted by the Rev. G. D. Smith of new St. Giles' Presbyterian church, emphasized the C (for Christian) of the familiar letters, YWCA.

Entertainment was provided by soloist Mrs. Stanley Northrop who chose two very pleasing songs, "Without a Song" by Vincent Youmans, and "One day when we were young" from the Great Waltz. She was accompanied at the piano by Mr. Northrop.

Officers of the YWCA Board of Directors of 1953 were guests at the head table for dinner. More than 100 members of the Y attended.

USE FOR OLD STUB

You don't have to worry about candles toppling over if you melt a used stub and pour it into the socket just before inserting your new candle.

USE FOR GRAVY

The water in which rice has been boiled is excellent for making gravy since it thickens itself.

Piano music was provided throughout the tea hours by Mrs. Arthur Bacon, Mrs. E. Richey and Mrs. Ivan Ellicott, in turn.

Children were entertained in a nursery with Mrs. H. McMullen, Mrs. G. Copperthwaite and Mrs. R. Braund in charge.

Valentine Tea By Stirling WMA

STIRLING (ENS)—A Valentine tea and sale of home baking, sponsored by St. Paul's Women's Missionary Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. W. T. Elliott.

The dining table was centred with a silver basket of red roses and from this was strung red hearts and streamers.

The program consisted of piano selections by Mrs. Arthur Ryear, solos by Marlene Carlisle and Mrs. Travers Jeffery with Mrs. Herb David as accompanist.

Guests were invited to the tea room by Mrs. Clifford Lousing and Mrs. Harold Martin.

Those pouring tea during the afternoon were Mrs. J. Hough, Miss Della Coldwell and Mrs. J. B. Thompson.

Replenishing the sandwich and cookie plates were Mrs. S. Elliott, Mrs. Frank Wood, Mrs. R. Duffin, Mrs. Oliver Stapley and Mrs. N. Pitcher.

Mrs. E. Monroe convened the home cooking table assisted by Mrs. Dan Lucey and Mrs. Sid Williams.

Approximately 135 ladies attended the tea and proceeds are to be used to provide funds for the supply department to carry out their activities during the summer months.

The Men's Club of St. John's church held a meeting after the Sunday evening church service and decided to carry on their annual Friday evening Fish and Chip suppers during the Lenten season.

A successful telephone bridge party under the auspices of the Hon. J. R. Cooke Chapter, IODE, was held at the homes of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Vandervoort and Miss Shirley Francis. There were 13 tables at play and the prize winners were: ladies' high—Mrs. A. Fraser, ladies' low—Mrs. Bert Bastedo, men's high—Bert Bastedo—men's low—Claude Pryor.

A dainty lunch was served after the games.

Pammett-Portsmith Rites

At Trinity United Church on Saturday, the Rev. Gordon S. Maxwell performed the marriage of Dorothy June, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Portsmith of Omemee, to Donald Edward Pammett, son of Mr. Norman Pammett of Peterborough and the late Mrs. Pammett.

Snapdragon and ferns decorated the church for the occasion. Mr. Donald Kennedy, organist, played wedding music and Miss Alma Blanchard sang two selections, "O Perfect Love" and "Where'ere You Walk."

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Donald Portsmith. She was wearing a gown with white lace bodice and skirt of satin with lace inserts. Her veil of French net was caught to a tiara with seed pearls and rhinestones and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Bridal attendants were her sisters, Mrs. Roy Wallis as matron of honor and Miss Ruby Portsmith as bridesmaid. They were in blue and green taffeta gowns and wore matching mittens and halos of net. Each carried a spray of pink and mauve hyacinths.

Groomsman was Mr. Frank Pammett and the ushers were Gilbert Portsmith and Harold Warner.

The reception was held at 479 King street, where the couple will live. The bride's mother received, wearing royal blue with a blue velvet hat and corsage of pink rosebuds. Assisting was the groom's sister, Mrs. Harold Warner, who wore powder blue and a blue straw hat and had a corsage of red rosebuds.

Later, on a wedding trip to Toronto and points west, the bride travelled in a mauve woollen dress with scooped neckline trimmed in white angora and topped with short matching jacket, and wore a camel hair topcoat, beige hat and tan accessories, and had a mauve orchid corsage.

Roseneath YPU Valentine Party

ROSENEATH (ENS) — The YPU held a valentine party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Varcoe on Monday evening.

The president, Adele Varcoe, presided with Betty Carew as pianist for the worship service. Yvonne Adams and Mary Skuce conducted the service with the topic "How much land does a man need?"

It was decided to donate five dollars to the M and M fund of the church.

The entire recreational period was in keeping with the St. Valentine spirit. The rooms were decorated with red and white streamers with hearts cupids and arrows effectively placed about the rooms.

The roll call, "A word pertaining to Valentine," was answered by nineteen members.

The entire program was interspread with community singing with Yvonne Adams at the piano.

Mrs. Varcoe assisted be her daughter Adele served refreshments at the conclusion of the program period.

7 New Members Appointed To YWCA Board

Seven new members were appointed to the YWCA Board of Directors at the annual meeting Wednesday evening, and one former member was made an honorary member in recognition of the valuable service she had rendered.

New members are Mrs. Stanley McBride, Mrs. Harold Shaw, Mrs. A. Collins, Mrs. James Craig, Mrs. James Fraser, Mrs. Gordon Dobbin, and Mrs. W. B. Gordon.

Mrs. J. H. Vernor became the 10th honorary member of the board.

Those whose terms expired this year and were re-elected are Mrs. S. L. Smoke, Miss Laura Davidson, Mrs. W. Perks, Mrs. J. Hornal, Miss Flora Metcalfe, Mrs. D. Loucks and Mrs. C. A. Craig.

(The members who are continuing a term of office are Mrs. T. J. Carley, Mrs. C. G. Collins, Mrs. W. G. Ovens, Mrs. H. L. Bamforth, Mrs. Donald Wood, Mrs. J. Nicholls, Mrs. Clarence Porter, Mrs. F. M. Sommerville, Mrs. J. Lewis, Mrs. T. Cook, Mrs. J. E. Watters, Mrs. Heber Rogers, Mrs. J. H. Whiteside, Mrs. H. Northrop and Mrs. H. T. Rehill.)

Officers for the coming year will be elected by the board members at the next meeting.

Tribute to the fine work done by Mrs. Rehill as president was expressed on behalf of the Y members by Miss Grace Sargent, following the reading of a most comprehensive report of Y activities during 1953 prepared and read by Mrs. Rehill.

All departments, including residence, clubs, craft classes and camps of the Y were mentioned in the president's report, showing that Mrs. Rehill is fully cognizant of goings-on at the Y throughout the year, and indeed is an interested observer at most of them.

The financial report read by treasurer Mrs. J. Lewis showed an excess of expenditures over income in 1953 in the amount of $2,814.71. This was reduced slightly with a balance from the food service department of $124.65 and a balance from the nursery school of $15.95. A bequest of $500 was received from the estate of the late Mrs. Thos. Barrie.

Last year the request to the Communist Chest was for $16,000, and had this been granted it would have allowed the Y to show a very small deficit. The Chest gave only $14,000, however. An accumulated deficit of $1,319.12 was carried over from 1952.

Expenditures showed the greatest excess in the program department, apart from administration. Camp and residence showed small excesses of income.

The food service accounts are kept separately at the request of the Community Chest, but the profit, now showing in this department for the first time, is being applied to the deficit incurred by other departments.

Copies of all annual reports concerning the Y were provided for each person present, so they may be studied at leisure.

KEEPING SEAMS STRAIGHT

No matter how carefully you don your stockings you cannot expect the seams to remain straight forever. It's best to roll the hose down to the ankles and start all over again two or three times during the day.

Dinner Speaker Suggests YW Community Extension

A suggestion that the YWCA, in Peterborough might do some extension work by introducing the Y to the outlying community was made at the annual meeting Wednesday evening by special guest for this occasion, Mrs. J. E. Houck of Brampton.

Mrs. Houck is chairman of the extension committee of the YWCA of Canada. An extreme illustration of her suggestion is found in the interior of British Columbia where a group of girls have been organized in clubs by the Y.

New policy worked out by the extension committee for towns and small communities is a joint YW-YM program, thus giving some of the benefits of both associations where both could not be supported, she said.

Topic of Mrs. Houck's address was "'Women" and she drew on her recollections of the International Conference of the Associated Country Women of the World, held last August in Toronto, for which she was convener of registration.

Accused of not having made any concrete contribution from that conference, Mrs. Houck agreed this might be so, but said the women had discussed a good many of the problems facing the United Nations today, and having learned about them had gone home to think about them. "We discussed food shortages in the world; illiteracy— did you know that 80 per cent of the people in south east Asia neither read nor write—and ways that we could promote the advantage of democractic life" she advised.

Elaborating on the latter point, Mrs. Houck pointed out: "The Communists plant a fisherman among fishermen, a farmer among farmers, to promote their way of life, but democratic countries have never mastered that technique." She said the ACWW had discussed exchange of students as a way of spreading knowledge of the democracies.

Mrs. Houck concluded with a wish for growth in the Peterborough YWCA. "I think you have prospects here," she said.

Introduction of the speaker was made by Mrs. T. J. Carley and the expression of thanks was voiced by Mrs. Cameron Craig.

A brief message of greeting was delivered by Mrs. Paige Rowell who is now a Provincial representative to the National Council of the YWCA.

Chairman Mrs. H. T. Rehill read greetings from the YWCA in Paramaribo, Suriname, and personal greetings from Miss Marion Foster, now in charge there.

Devotions, conducted by the Rev. G. D. Smith of new St. Giles' Presbyterian church, emphasized the C (for Christian) of the familiar letters, YWCA.

Entertainment was provided by soloist Mrs. Stanley Northrop who chose two very pleasing songs, "Without a Song" by Vincent Youmans, and "One day when we were youpg" from the Great Waltz. She was accompanied at the piano by Mr. Northrop.

Officers of the YWCA Board of Directors of 1953 were guests at the head table for dinner. More than 100 members of the Y attended.

USE FOR OLD STUB

You don't have to worry about candles toppling over if you melt a used stub and pour it into the socket just before inserting your new candle.

USE FOR GRAVY

The water in which rice has been boiled is excellent for making gravy since it thickens itself.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Morale Boosters Are Born . . Not Made

Mary J. is my friend and she is a natural born morale-booster. You tell me I give you a lift. I in turn tell you she gives me a lift. So I tootled out to her charming home on the heights yesterday (after inviting myself to dinner) and settled down to acquiesce to the treatment.

Of course, Mary J. isn't aware of the exhilarating effect she has on me, but just naturally bubbles over with new home-decorating ideas, brand new recipes, homely philosophy that seems original when it comes from Mary's smiling lips.

Wonderful thing too—her husband appreciates her.

The meal she gave us was simple, but served in such elegant taste that I have to relay it to you. It would make an ideal Lenten meal. While I am a couple of weeks early speaking about Lent this is a meal that meat eaters will relish, budget-balancers will cherish and amateur cooks can produce without one doubt.

MARY J.'s DINNER

Tuna Casserole.
Hungarian Potato Cakes.
Fresh Frozen Peas
Small Hot Rolls.
Mary J.'s Salad Special.
Aunt Dorothy's Watermelon Pickle.
Cocanut Cream Pie. Coffee.

TUNA CASSEROLE

This will serve four or five generously, and may be stretched for six by adding a few more potato chips.

One 1-lb. canned tuna fish or one ½-lb. can tuna and one ½-lb. can flaked tuna (or use the equivalent in salmon or cooked chicken or turkey); 1 cup medium white sauce, 1 can undiluted cream of mushroom soup, generous shake of MSG (Accent), potato chips for topping. The medium white sauce is made as you know by melting 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, stirring in 2 tablespoons flour until blended then stirring in 1 cup milk until thick, and adding a little salt and pepper. Put the ingredients in a buttered casserole in alternate layers finishing with generous layer of potato chips. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. until bubbling all over and golden.

HUNGARIAN POTATO CAKES

These amounts will serve six, but if you want to cut this in half, reduce everything but the egg to half, and use the whole egg. To two eggs beaten until thick add 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, shake of MSG (Accent), 1 very finely chopped small green onion or one tablespoon chopped parsley, 2 cups well-packed raw potatoes shredded on medium grater. Heat shortening in large frying pan — to about ⅛-inch depth. When it is hot, drop mixture from tablespoon in mounds, then flatten them a little with back of pancake turner. Fry until golden and turn over and brown other side. They take long enough to brown to cook the raw potatoes to a pleasing waxiness which is the charm of this particular potato cake.

Note: Discard any liquid left in bowl when potato mix is spooned out.

MARY J.'S SPECIAL

Her husband says everything but the sink goes into this, but it is far from a catch-all. I quote Mary: "A few washed and dried raisins—that white kind, a few whole pecans if you have them, 1 large celery stalk chopped small, 1 medium orange chopped, 1 small wedge cabbage (let your conscience be your guide—depending on the size of your family—for the cabbage is your "stretcher"), 1 green onion chopped, 2 slices of Spanish onion separated out into rings, 2 or 3 broken-up lettuce leaves to give the whole business crispness. Slosh some French Dressing around in it." Crazy-sounding but delicious-tasting.

COCOANUT CREAM PIE FILLING

Into top of double boiler put 2 cups milk, 1 cup or less moist shredded cocoanut, ½ to ½ cup sugar, shake of salt. Heat. Stir together 3 tablespoons cornstarch and 2 tablespoons flour. Steal a little milk from double boiler to stir this into it until thick. Cover

DOROTHY DIX

Forced To Sell House Where Old Folks Reside

DEAR MISS DIX: My in-laws and I have always been good friends, but now a problem has come up that is straining our relationship. My husband and I had a small house in his home town. His folks lived alone, on a small income, but which was adequate for their needs. When my husband had a chance for a job in another city, we moved away, turning the house over to his parents with the arrangement that they would keep up the payments. After a few months, they stopped paying, and we had this additional financial burden at a time when we were trying to establish ourselves in a new community. My husband and I aren't young; we're both in our middle thirties, so I am thrilled at the thought that I am expecting my second child. In order to take care of our obligations here, we find it necessary to sell the house back home. As a result, my name is anathema to my in-laws, though it was my husband's idea to sell. They'll have no trouble finding or maintaining living quarters, but, of course, they won't have as nice a place as they have now. Who is right?

J. L.

EXPLANATION NEEDED

ANSWER: Your in-laws may appear unreasonable because they don't fully understand your financial setup. I would suggest that your husband take a trip back home, explain just why the house must be sold, presenting facts and figures to illustrate his point. Apparently all discussion of the matter has been by mail; the personal touch will be more satisfactory.

Older people are apt to be sensitive if they think they're being pushed around by the younger generation. The young folks, on the other hand, are inclined to make decisions without explaining the whys and wherefores to their elders. Both sides of the age meridian deserve consideration. A little more frank discussion from the two angles would eliminate an awful lot of friction—and most in-law trouble. If you can make the family realize the expense of bearing and rearing two babies, while trying to establish a new home, I'm sure they'll be more reasonable in their attitude toward you.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I was brought up to respect older people and was always taught by my mother to listen to them, and to follow their advice. I try to heed her teachings, but when an older person is insulting, unkind and inconsiderate of one's feelings, how can she be respected?

WANDA F.

ANSWER: When oldsters fail to respect the confidence of the young or receive them with ridicule and sarcasm, they certainly have forfeited the right to any consideration, except that given on the grounds of age alone. It's too bad when a situation like this develops between two generations because a kind and wise older person can often set an erring youngstr back on the right path. Respect of any kind must be earned, and it's up to us older people to earn the consideration of the young. It cannot be exacted simply on the score of our grey hair.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a widower of 59, with an only daughter who will graduate from college in a fefw months. I am planning on being married to a widow whose children are all married and well settled. Through illness I haven't been able to accumulate much money. My fiancee has a good job, so have I. What do I pwe to my daughter for future protfction? I want to do the right thing by her.

FRANK M.

ANSWER: This is a ticklish problem that should be discussed with a lawyer. My suggestions would be that you provide a home for your daughter as long as necessary, and will to her any personal effects of her own mother. Circumstances, of course, may dictate other provisions. The problem will doubtless be automatically solved by the job your daughter gets, or her marriage. I'm glad to see that she welcomes your new marriage. The congeniality of all concerned promises a happy future for you all.

(Mary says then go and vacuum the rugs for Mary Moore is coming to dinner!) After about 15 minutes pour this over 1 well-beaten egg, return to double boiler to cook 1 minute. Pour into ready-made pie shell.

Note: If you are going to make meringue use 2 yolks for filling and the whites with some sugar for the meringue. Mary stole cream from the top of the milk bottle, whipped it, and crowned the pie with that just before serving. Uhm!

Home And School Association News

MARMORA

MARMORA (ENS) — The Marmora Home and School Association met in the public school with the president, Mrs. Ray Frost in the chair.

The meeting opened with "O Canada" and the Association Creed recited in unison.

The treasurer's report by Mrs. L. Meljinnis showed a good balance on hand.

J. Sproul read a letter from the public school board asking what amount was suggested by the association for the purchase of playground equipment and mentioned that the board had been advised that the association had $500 in mind.

The president spoke of the two camps to be held in June and hoped some members could attend.

The attendance of parents and grandparents was taken by Principal E. C. Prentice. The award went to Mrs. M. Soushorn's room.

Glen Thompson of the Downham Nursery Co., Bowmanville, spoke on the proper planning and planting of gardens and showed a series of colored slide depicting properly and improperly planted gardens. He also showed views of scenic beauty in which flowers, flowering shrubs and evergreens were incorporated.

The meeting closed with the national anthem. Refreshments were served.

—In Memoriam

HALL—In loving memory of our great-grandmother, Mrs. Wm. Hall, who passed away four years ago, February 18, 1950.

However long our lives may last,
Whatever lands we view,
Whatever joy or grief be ours,
We will always think of you.

—Sadly missed by Bill and Lorrie.

McELROY—In loving memory of William McElroy, who passed away February 18, 1951.

Calm and peaceful he is sleeping
Sweetest rest that follows pain,
We who loved him sadly miss him,
But trust in God to meet again.

—Lovingly remembered by wife and family.

—Card of Thanks

For the many kindnesses extended to me during my illness I wish to express my sincere thanks to everyone concerned.—Frank Kirkcaldy.

Mrs. Ann White wishes to thank the doctors, nurses and staff of St. Joseph's Hospital for their kindess in her recent accident. She is now convalescing at her home after the death of her rmother, in Toronto, on February 12th.

Thomas Quinn

ent?' asked Mr. Justice R. I. Ferguson who is presiding.

"The 'T' and the 'M' are different."

Mr. Fair then shifted the point of his attack.

DIDN'T CHECK CARD

He elicited the information that Quinn had given the "go ahead signal" to the IUE to release the leaflet "Here Is The Proof" without ever checking to see if there was a 50-cent checkoff card, genuine or bogus. It wasn't till some time after the issuing of the leaflet that he went to the CGE payroll department to see the card—and that was when he was asked to do so by "somebody".

"So when you had this letter (his statement in the allegedly libellous leaflet) typed and signed by you, you didn't even know whether there was a card there or not?" asked Mr. Fair.

Quinn replied that he understood there was a photostatic copy of the card on a leaflet shown to him in Hunter's car on April 14.

"But that's what somebody told you," said Mr. Fair. "You were sitting in the back of the car and were too far away to read the paper. Isn't that right"?

"Yes," said Quinn.

The case is continuing.

Car Hit Pole Driver Found Not Careless

A charge of driving without due care and attention against Gerald W. Edwards, RR 3, Peterborough, was dismissed in magistrate's court today.

Edwards was charged as a result of an accident at 6:30 p.m. January 16 on Clonsilla Ave., near Ford Ave. His vehicle struck a hydro pole, damaging the automobile to the extent of $500.

Const. W. G. Scott testified that the accused was "unsteady on his feet" when he called on him at his house. He further testified that Edwards had told him that there was "something wrong with the steering" and said "I should have got it fixed long ago."

Whether or not there was something wrong with the steering was irrelevant contended J. C. N. Currelly, acting for the accused. He said that the accident quite likely had no bearing on any defect in the steering mechanism.

Defence witness Cecil Montgomery, a mechanic at Stinson Motors, testified that he had examined Edwards car after the accident and had found that a tie rod was disconnected from the intermediate arm. He said that this must have happened before the impact because there was no sign that the tie rod was bent or damaged.

Taking the stand on his own behalf, Edwards said that he had "no control whatsoever" shortly before the accident and his brakes were useless. Earlier Montgomery testified that a detached tie rod would make the brakes useless.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, in dismissing the case agreed that the defence had postulated a theory which could be consistent with the facts, although he wondered how a car could travel 135 feet in a straight line (the length of the skidmarks) when the front wheels were flopping loose from the tie-rod. The defence contention was that if they could flop in any direction they could just as easily flop straight, especially if the car met no obstacle.

Garden Hill Couple Wed 60 Years

GARDEN HILL (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McClung, of Garden Hill, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary last Sunday. They were married in Peterborough and have lived in Garden Hill for 58 years.

Mr. McClung is 86 years of age and was the village blacksmith for many years. Although he has been retired from active blacksmithing for some years, he still maintain his blacksmith shop in the centre of the village. His shop is a sort of gathering spot for many of the district old-timers who like to drop in for a chat. And rather than be idle, Mr. McClung has a gasoline pump at the front of his shop and he sells gasoline to villagers and surrounding farmers.

Both Mr. McClung and his wife are enjoying good health. She is eight years younger than her husband and they have three of a family, all of whom attended the 60th wedding anniversary. They are Mrs. Leonard Challice, Millbrook; Mrs. Walter Jones, Bailieboro; and Robert McClung, of Detroit. There are also seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. McClung were the recipients of many beautiful gifts and cards on the occasion of their anniversary. Their neighbors presented them with a lovely mantle clock.

The family members had dinner at a Port Hope hotel on Saturday. On Sunday, they were "at home" to their many friends in the district.

Coach Of Greenshirts Suspended One Year

KEMPTVILLE (CP) — W. B. George, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, announced today he has suspended coach Stanley Long of the junior Kitchener Greenshirts for one year.

The suspension, which dates from Feb. 12, 1954, resulted from Long calling his team off the ice in protest over the referee's ruling in a Quebec-Ontario junior hockey game against the Marquis at Jonquiere, Que., last Friday night.

Mr. George also announced that the temporary suspension against Kitchener forward Greg Hicks now has been lifted. Hicks was suspended following last Thursday night's game in which he drew a match misconduct penalty for pushing the referee.

SIX CONVICTED IN CONSPIRACY—Four of six persons convicted of conspiring to teach and advocate the overthrowing of the U.S. government are led from a Detroit courtroom by a U.S. marshal (left). Leaving the court are Thomas D. Dennis, Jr. (front, centre) handcuffed to William Allan (right); Nat Ganley (cack centre) and Mrs. Helen Winters (in door rear). Philip Schatz and Saul Wellman were also convicted.

OBITUARIES

MRS. HOWARD GARDNER

NORWOOD (ENS)—Mrs. Howard Gardner, 54, died at her home RR 2, Norwood, today, following a lengthy illness.

Born in Merrickville, she was educated in Peterborough, then returned to Norwood where she has lived for the past 30 years. She is the daughter of the late Benjamin and Martha Adams. She is survived by her husband, children Audrey and Langdon at home and Allan of RR 2, Norwood, sister Mrs. Langdon Longwell (Madeline) of Elmhirst, Illinois, and brother John Bingham of Toronto.

Mrs. Gardner is a member of the Norwood United church, and was a charter member of the King's Own Class of St. James' United church, Peterborough.

Funeral services will be on Saturday at 3:00 p.m. from the McConnell-Warner funeral home for burial in Norwood cemetery. The Rev. H. K. Wright will officiate.

WILLIAM DONALD LENNOX

NORWOOD (ENS). — William Donald Lennox, 84, of Norwood, died in Civic Hospital on Wednesday.

Born in Dummer township, son of Stewart Lennox and Angeline Robinson, he was educated and lived in that district all his life. His wife, the former Jean Turner, predeceased him. Mr. Lennox had been a gardener. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. N. S. Rogers (Winnifred) of Norwood, brothers Frederick of Winnipeg, Otto of Brandon, and Edward of Toronto. There are also four grandchildren, Mrs. Ken Thompson (Vivian) of Norwood, Helen of Oshawa, Jene Rogers in Germany with the RCAF, and Hugh Rogers of Norwood.

M. Lennox was a member of the Norwood Baptist church.

Funeral services will be from the McConnell-Warner funeral home on Saturday at 2:00 p.m. for burial in Norwood cemetery. The Rev. H. K. Wright will officiate.

Admitted Theft, On Probation

Robert Livingston was placed on a two-year suspended sentence for stealing a shotgun and a .22 revolver from his former employer, Walter Young of Young's Repair Shop last May.

Police Sergeant Gordon Puffer testified that Livingstone had admitted stealing the two guns, valued at a $90 total. He said, however, that Livingstone had had no previous record, that he had since married and was "going straight."

Crown Attorney John Bradshaw also appealed for clemency on the grounds that Livingstone now has another job, and that his present employer is satisfied with his services.

In addition to the two-year suspended sentence Magistrate Philp placed Livingstone on probation for one year and required him to pay court costs of $2.50.

Gregory Dillon, charged with stealing a 1933 car on February 6 was remanded to Monday for sentence. The case of Joseph Gouiet, charged with intoxication in a public place, was put off until February 25. Edith V. Borland, charged with attempted suicide, was placed in the custody of her son,, Keith, until this case resumes Feb. 22.

Icy Road Surface To Blame, Case Dismissed

A charge of driving without due care and attention against Gerald B. Simmons was dismissed in magistrate's court Wednesday.

The charge was laid as the result of a three-car accident on the north end of Water St. at the long curve by McNaughton Motors January 30.

Basis for dismissal was the icy road conditions that night, a point stressed by Mr. Simmons' counsel, Donald Bark.

Involved in the accident were Mr. Simmons, Terence Staples of Lakefield and Orville Elliott of Oshawa Const. Cec Bowyer testified that Simmons half-ton panel truck was "a complete write-off" while Staples' and Elliott's cars suffered damages estimated at $50. and $350 respectively.

Evidence was adduced to show that Simmons, travelling north around the curve skidded into the Staples car proceeding south. At the time of this impact, Elliott, driving behind Staples, applied his brakes and was "almost stationary" when Simmons skidded sideways into him.

Widow Charged With Wounding

TORONTO (CP) — A 46-year-old widow was charged today with wounding with intent to kill or maim after she slashed her 23-year-old son nine times with a 10-inch, razor-sharp butcher knife, police said.

Mrs. Emma Baynes of Toronto was remanded one week for mental examination after the attack Wednesday night on her son, Robert, who suffered cuts about the face, chest, neck, abdomen and back.

He was taken to Toronto General Hospital, and later released after 22 stitches were inserted.

Police said the slashing took place in the Baynes' home following an argument over Mrs. Baynes' drinking. The son threatened to throw a case of beer out the door and she ran at him with the knife, police added.

Mission Band Marks Member's Birthday

SPRINGVILLE (ENS) — The home of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Hill was the scene of the February meeting of the Mission Band of Springville United church. It was also the occasion of the birthday of Joy Hill, for whom the band sang "Happy Birthday."

Twenty-six boys and girls answered the roll call. Peace reports were given by Edith Lillico, Nelson Northey gave the temperance report.

Plans were made for the April meeting to be the Easter thankoffering meeting with the boys' and girls' mothers to be guests.

The senior group of the Mission Band is studying missions in China.

A Chinese game "Musical Surprises" was played. Mrs. Hill showed chopsticks to the boys and girls.

While the older boys and girls, under Mrs. Clifford Johnston's leadership, talked about stories in their study book, the younger members, under Mrs. Gordon Darling, had stories and songs and made Valentine cards to take to their mothers.

Donna Northey had charge of the worship period. Fred Flokstra read a story. Mrs. Clifford Johnston offered prayer. After the creed and a service of song, games and lunch brought the meeting to a close.

The Mission Band recently held a crokinole party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Johnston. Parents and friends of the members attended and $10.35 was realized for the allocation.

Prizes for the highest scores went to Harold Rowan and Mrs. Elwood Johnston, for the lowest to Mrs. Cecil eNals and Freddie Flokstra, door prizes to Mr. William Robson and Mrs. Carlisle Murray.

Rebel Troops Evade French Action

By LARRY ALLEN

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—Rebel Vietminh troops surrounding France's northwest Indo China fortress of Dien Bien Phu moved still farther back today to escape battle-seeking French forces.

Gen. Rene Cogny's troops pushed three to five miles north and west of the heavily fortified plain without making contact with any units of the Communist-led rebels.

Cogny, French commander in north Indo-China, for several days has been sending out 4,000 to 5,000 troops daily in an attempt to draw major units of the estimated 36,000 Vietminh soldiers into battle. The rebels have been entrenched around Dien Bien Phu for three months, but have never attacked.

AIRMEN HARASS FOE

French airmen strafed and bombed the Vietminh positions around the plain for the 62nd straight day. French army sources said the mounting air attacks make it increasingly unlikely that the Vietminh will try a full-fledged assault on Dien Bien Phu.

The French reported rebel troops were scattered and dozens of supply dumps destroyed.

In Saigon, meanwhile, commissioner-general Maurice Dejean denied "emphatically and categorically" that the French had approached Chinese Communist or Vietminh representatives with a view toward peace negotiations.

The service was conducted by James B. Gibbons, a member of the Jehovah's Witnesses sect, of which Mr. Cole was a member.

Pallbearers were Raymond Cole, Robert Glass, Donald Mills, Leonard Anderson, Edward Williams, and George McMahon.

Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Presents Story Of Dr. De Laval

Andrew Purdon vice-president of the De Laval Company, Ltd., is in New York to attend a national dinner of the Newcomen Society of North America tonight. Mr. Purdon, as a member of this society, is entertaining as his guests, F. H. Mitchell, general sales manager of the company and Hugh McLaughlin, of Toronto.

This is the fourth New York dinner of the Newcomen Year: 1953-1954, and is in honor of George W. Smith, chairman of the board of the De Laval Company, and also chairman of the society, who as guest speaker, presents the story of Dr. Carl Gustaf Patrick De Laval, brilliant Swedish inventive genius who made possible the many industrial developments which today and throughout the world bear his name.

The Newcomen Society of England in North America has for years recognized the strengthening inspirations of accomplishments of leaders in the past and associations of the three De Laval Companies in North America take opportunity to pay tribute to a man who has added greatly to the advancement of egineering and science to the benefit of mankind, not only in his native country, but in the world at large.

In Canada, The De Laval Company, Limited, incorporated in 1911, has pursued a somewhat parallel course to that of other De Laval organizations in contributing for more than 40 years to the reduction of drudgery on farms and the raising of standards of quality and purity in dairy products.

From small beginnings in 1885, the pioneer ideas of Dr. De Laval have flourished on the North American continent through the De Laval Steam Turbine Co., Trenton, N.J., the De Laval Separator Company, Poughkeepsie, New York, and the De Laval Company, Limited, Peterborough and have grown to aggregate assets of over $50,000,000. More important, these companies have taken their proper part in the leadership of their communities. They have contributed their part towards fuller and better national living in time of peace and are an element of strength in time of national danger.

Labor News Agency Forced To Close Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Labor agency serving 250 union publications, announced Wednesday it is going out of business because of financial troubles.

LPA's directors—made up of representatives of six AFL- six CIO and two independent unions—sent a letter to members and subscribers announcing immediate suspension of service.

"This action was made necessary by a number of factors," said the letter. "Chief of these was that under existing or probable conditions of operation confronting LPA it would be impossible to get the necessary financial backing from co-operating unions."

The organization was negotiating with the American Newspaper Guild (CIO), which represented the employees, on a new wage contract.

Second Store On Trial Over Closing Hrs.

Another round of the battle on Friday night opening for ladies' wear stores got under way in magistrate's court Wednesday as Fred B. Correll, of Correll's ladies' wear, was charged with violating the municipal bylaw prohibiting stores from being open after six o'clock.

Eight ladies' wear stores have been charged in this indictment. Last fall, Zimel Levine was fined in what was considered a test-case of the 25-year-old bylaw.

Principal witness for the prosecution was Mrs. Eileen Suggitt, of 798 Snelgrove Rd. Mrs. Suggitt testified that she purchased a pair of stockings at the Correll store at 8 p.m. last September 11, a Friday. She had no recollection of receiving a sales slip and said she had been in several other stores both before and after six p.m.

W. B. Gordon, counsel for Mr. Correll, asked Mrs. Suggitt if "any Peterborough merchants or the Chamber of Commerce" had asked her to shop in the store that Friday evening. She answered that none had.

Detective-Inspector John Stevenson testified that he had approached Mrs. Suggitt as she emerged from the store at 8 p.m. He had been there since 7.45. He said she was carrying an "ordinary paper bag."

Under cross-examination, Mr. Stevenson said that he had no way of telling what was in the bag and that it might have been an article purchased in another store.

LOCATE STORE

All witnesses were asked to locate the Correll store. Photographs were introduced in evidence and a commercial photographer, Roy Pitchford, was called to show that the Correll store is, in fact, located on the southwest corner of Hunter and George.

Also introduced in evidence was a copy of the Peterborough Examiner for September 10, 1953. This issue carried an advertisement saying that several stores, Correll's among them, would be open the following evening.

This exhibit proves nothing, said Mr. Gordon, because it does not necessarily follow that a store will do what is suggested in an advertisement.

In any case, said Mr. Gordon, prosecutor W. F. Huycke, QC, had not proved that any business had taken place in the Correll store that evening.

The question of the bylaw under which the stores are being indicted was discussed at some length while City Clerk E. A. Outram was on the stand. Mr. Outram testified that the bylaw was passed by city council November 4, 1929, after having been recommended by the finance committee the previous Monday.

Asked how he had direct knowledge of this before he was city clerk, Mr. Outram said he was a city hall reporter with the Examiner at that time and that this was the usual practice.

But, persisted Mr. Gordon, because it was usual practice "that does not necessarily mean that it was followed in this case." Mr. Outram then volunteered the information that there was a procedural bylaw in effect from before 1929 to 1940 which required finance committee meetings, one week prior to city council meetings held on the first Monday of the month.

Because of illness of two of the prosecution witnesses, Magistrate W. R. Philp granted an adjournment of this case until March 3.

Reducing Pills Called Pernicious

TORONTO (CP) — A Michigan nutrition authority Wednesday called weight reducing pills "nothing less than pernicious."

Addressing the Associated Milk Foundations, Dr. Margaret A. Ohlson, head of the food and nutrition department of Michigan State College at East Lansing, said the pills invariably contain one ingredient or more likely to cause serious side effects. One ingredient often found in them increases combustion of food, another serves as an appetite depressant.

"At the best, these pills act as a crutch and people don't do well on crutches."

Viscountess Allenby Plans Study Canadian Camp Life

LONDON (CP) — Viscountess Allenby of Meggido and Felixstowe is planning eight weeks of "rough living" in Canada and the United States, starting late in May.

The viscountess wants to visit three Canadian and three U.S. youth camps to absorb up-to-date North American ideas for a similar camp here.

As vice-president of the 3,000-strong Kent St. John Ambulance Association Cadets, Lady Allenby heads a committee planning the first post-war youth camp for Kent. She will "live in" with campers in Ontario, Quebec and camps in the Adirondacks, finding out from personal contact just what makes North American camps so popular.

"I think Canadian and American camps are about the best in the world," she told The Canadian Press. "And I want our Kent youngsters to have the best."

Lady Allenby has not yet chosen the camps she will visit. She wants to meet North American youngsters around the ages of her own cadets, nine to 15 years.

She said she would prefer camps for children whose parents are in the same working-class and middle income groups as her own cadets.

WMS Makes Plans Day Of Prayer

ROSENEATH (ENS)—Planning the world's day of prayer service, to be held in the United church on March 5, was the important item of business at the February meeting of the WMS of Roseneath United church. The WMS will be in charge of the service and will be assisted by the members of sister organizations.

The meeting was held at the parsonage on Tuesday afternoon with the Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Wheeler as host and hostess. The president, Mrs. J. M. Lovelace, presided, with Mrs. Douglas Coyle as organist and also in charge of the devotional period.

The Rev. J. N. Lovelace offered prayer. The roll call was answered by a verse of scripture beginning with the letter "J."

The community friendship report for the month showed 15 cards and 10 letters sent, three hospital calls made and one parcel sent.

"The Christian problem in Latin America," a chapter of the study book, prepared by Mrs. Fred Lewis, was presented by Mrs. Delbert Brisbin.

Requests were received by the society for articles for bales.

The meeting closed with prayer by the Rev. J. N. Lovelace. The hostess served afternoon tea.

Young and Mrs. J. Stringer; executive members, Mrs. J. Goodman, Mrs. G. Tanner and Mrs. T. Black; social convener, Mrs. G. Delyea; welfare committee, chairman, Mrs. B. Stratton, Mrs. P. Armstrong, Mrs. A. Doney, Mrs. G. Delyea.

The group arranged to celebrate their first charter night at Hotel Bancroft on March 13. It is hoped that zone commander Mrs. Jeffs of Belleville, will be present. Provincial secretary Mrs. E. McMillan of Cobourg, is to be invited as guest speaker.

Port Hope Couple 25 Years Married

PORT HOPE (Special) — Friends from far and near gathered at the lovely home of Lorne and Irene Martinell in Port Hope on Saturday evening on their 25th wedding anniversary. The evening began with a dinner party for the immediate family. During the evening, many friends and relatives arrived from as far away as Peterborough and Oshawa to celebrate the occasion.

Everyone participated in modern and square dancing. Harold and Pat Roach, of Peterborough, called off for several square dances and supplied some of the music.

The address was read by Mrs. Ray Martinell, after which Miss Joanne Dickinson presented the silver, a setting for 12 in the daffodil pattern. Miss Carol Roach gave them a dozen red roses from Mrs. Vera Roach and Mr. Wright. Lorne received a remembrance gift from George Roach. A large box of chocolates was sent by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martinell who were unable to attend.

Lunch was served. A cake decorated with pink and yellow roses was given to them by Mrs. Edna Palmer.

Bonn Aids West Armies

BONN (AP)—West Germany has agreed to continue paying 600,000,000 marks ($142,800,000) a month to help support the Allied armies here, the government announced today. This is the same amount the Germans have been paying for the last year to the United States, Britain and France. The new agreement will run until June 30.

New Brunswick Legislature Begins Sitting

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The New Brunswick legislature opens today, first of the provincial legislatures in the Maritimes to start the 1954 session.

The Nova Scotia house is scheduled to begin its spring deliberations next Wednesday.

Subjects of throne speech debate at Fredericton are expected to include mining developments in northern New Brunswick, possibility of developing additional electric power, and the building of the Canadian Army's Camp Gagetown.

Alberta's legislature today opens its second session since the 1952 provincial election, the last western legislature to swing into action. Changes to the Labor Act and the municipalities act are expected to provide some of the highlights of legislation revision.

Manitoba's legislators heard a first-hand account of northern resources from veteran bush pilot Roy Brown, Liberal-Progressive member for Rupert's Land. In his maiden speech he said electric power awaits development on the rivers while "billions and billions" of dollars worth of minerals lie still untapped in the constituencies of Rupert's Land and The Pas.

"We haven't even scratched the surface yet," he said. "These constituencies are all in the pre-cambrian shield which produces practically all the metals in the world."

DEBATE TAX BILL

The Quebec house has a full-dress debate on a bill to set up a provincial income tax for three years. Premier Duplessis said the federal government should allow Quebec taxpayers to deduct entirely from their federal income tax the amount of money they will have to pay under the proposed provincial income tax.

Mr. Duplessis also announced completion of the $125,000,000, 360-mile railway built during the last two years to link Sept-Iles on the St. Lawrence river north shore with iron ore developments in the Ungava interior.

Premier Douglas said in the Saskatchewan legislature that 1953 was a good year for crown corporations in his province. He said in throne speech debate surpluses for the last fiscal year will amount to more than $5,500,000 and the Prince Albert box factory was the only project to show a loss.

Queen Leaves For Hobart

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh left today aboard the royal yacht Gothic for Hobart, capital of the Australian island state of Tasmania. They are due to arrive there Saturday.

Thousands of Australians packed the shore to cheer the royal couple on their way as the Gothic steamed slowly down the harbor escorted by hundreds of small craft.

The short voyage will be the Queen's first opportunity for a real rest since she arrived in Australia. The last 16 days with only two short breaks, have been packed with official engagements.

Today, after flying here from Canberra she drove straight from the airport to a gathering of 48,000 school children. After her car was slowly driven through their ranks she was hurried off to review a parade at Balmoral naval depot.

After an interval in Government House, the Queen attended a huge garden party there attended by 8,000 guests.

OBITUARY

LYNDA ANNE PAYNE

Lynda Anne Payne, 18-month-old daughter of Everett Payne and the former Iris Anne Johnston, 1 Edgewater Blvd., died in hospital Wednesday.

The little girl, survived by one sister, Laura Lee, 4, developed pneumonia and died after a short illness. Funeral services will be held from the Comstock funeral home Friday at 3:30 p.m. for burial in Ray's cemetery, Lakefield. The Rev. Dr. N. P. Patterson will officiate.

Thomas McFarland

Funeral services for Thomas McFarland, 511 Aylmer St., were held Wednesday from the Kaye funeral home with the Rev. J. L. Hockney officiating. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Pallbearers were: Irvin Hill, Rockwell Parker, Roswell Richmond, Albert Ray, Leonard Dunstan and Daniel Bronson.

Absolve Staff In Hospital Patient's Death

ORILLIA (CP)—An inquest jury decided Wednesday that a youthful patient in a mental hospital died of a ruptured liver suffered in a scuffle with an attendant. It absolved the hospital staff of any blame.

Evidence was that the patient, Albert Edward Morrison of Moose Factory, grappled with attendant Harold Rogers Feb. 2 and tried to choke him. Rogers had been attempting to lead the youth from the hospital dining room to the dormitory where Morrison was confined as part of punishment.

In the struggle, both the youth and the attendant fell to the floor. Morrison died an hour and a half later.

WEAK LIVER

Provincial pathologist Dr. Anthony Barkauskas testified that an autopsy showed the cause of death as a ruptured liver. He said the liver was poorly developed and inadequately supported because of abnormally thin and elongated ligament. Any violent movement could produce a rupture in a defective liver of the type he found in Morrison, he said.

Dr. Fred Hamilton, hospital superintendent, described Morrison as having a mental age of eight years. Morrison was admitted to the hospital Jan. 22, 1952, and was a model patient until two weeks before the struggle that led to his death, Dr. Hamilton said.

The superintendent said that during the two-week period the youth became troublesome and disobedient, a condition Dr. Hamilton described as a recurrence of a psychotic disturbance.

3 Residents Awarded $7,304 Damages

KITCHENER (CP)—Three Hespeler residents were awarded a total of $7,304.12 damages Wednesday as a result of a traffic accident April 4, 1953 on Highway 24.

In an Ontario Supreme Court decision Miss Mary Inglis was awarded $5,257.47, Mrs. Arlene Inglis $1,545, and her husband Samuel $501.65.

They were injured when their car was in collision with another driven by Patrick O'Neill, 63, of Galt.

Bring Woman From Cave, Trail Dangerous

CRYSTAL CAVE, Ky. (AP)—The outside world looked good today to Marguerite M. Klein, a school teacher explorer who found Crystal Cave's rugged depths too much for her strength.

She admitted she was "glad to be out" when fellow explorers in an extensive scientific expedition brought her to the outside Wednesday night.

Samuel Aston Loyd, 30, an engineer from Waynesboro, Va., who helped lead the 27-year-old Chevy Chase, Md., teacher out of the cave, said:

"We put a rope around her to safety her across Bottomless Pit. She had to stop frequently for breathing."

Bottomless Pit is a 100-foot drop inside a "crawlway." The trail narrows down to about six inches around its rim.

Miss Klein is a member of the National Speleological (cave study) Society's three-day old expedition into unknown parts of Crystal cave.

The crawlway is an uphill obstacle course of narrow, zig-zagging passageways, deep pits and jagged rock.

It was after her descent through the crawlway two days ago that Miss Klein, who suffers with asthma, had an attack which was complicated by vertigo, a dizziness brought on by excessive fatigue.

Thirty explorers, including two other women, now are making explorations of virgin cave passages and canyons. They are compiling scientific findings and attempting to survey as much territory as possible before the search ends in four days. They start coming out Saturday.

Another 30 members of the expedition, largest of its kind ever conducted on this continent, staff a headquarters camp on the surface.

The explorers have reported that the vast hollows of the cave, which extends for an estimated 53 miles, have waterfalls, high-vaulted cave rooms and deep pits.

Use Valentine Motif At YPU Fowl Supper

FRASERVILLE (ENS) — The Fraserville YPU fowl supper was held in the Orange hall.

Two tables were set the length of the hall with white table covers decorated with red hearts. The girls of the YPU, as waitresses, wore red heart-shaped hats and aprons made by Mr. and Mrs. V. Stewart, in keeping with the Valentine season.

Ladies of the WA and mothers of the group assisted in filling platters, dishing up vegetables and making tea. Boys of the YPU poured tea and assisted in dish-washing.

Mr. V. Stewart was organizer of the event and conducted the selling of tickets.

Two sittings were served. After supper, films were shown in the church.

Canada Slashes Wheat Price 7 Cents

By HAROLD MORRISON

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has slashed the price of wheat by seven cents a bushel. It is one of the biggest reductions in post-war years.

The new price, roughly $1.79 a bushel for No. 1 northern at the Lakehead, is the lowest of the current crop year which opened last August at about $2.03.

Ostensibly the price drop is to equalize eastern seaboard prices with those prevailing on the West Coast. But experts here also say the move is designed to attract more European customers.

Notwithstanding surface optimism about Canada's grain-selling future, there are deep misgivings in this capital about marketing prospects. The problem is centred in continental Europe.

Some importing countries which became members of the new International Wheat Agreement last August have made no purchases of wheat. Though the new pact calls for a price ceiling of $2.05 U.S. funds) a bushel, importing countries are not forced to buy unless the price reaches the floor of $1.50.

U.K. EXPORTS GOOD

Exports to the United Kingdom, which is not a pact member, have been good, officials say. But for the first six months of the current crop year there have been no sales under the pact to Austria, Denmark, Egypt, Greece, Italy, Spain, India, Mexico and parts of the Middle East.

Undoubtedly many of these countries have a feeling prices will drop still further and are holding back orders. Thus the current drop announced by the Canadian Wheat Board at Winnipeg Tuesday, may be followed by others.

In all, Canada's sales under the pact during the first six months of the current crop year totalled about 55,000,000 bushels, about one-third of sales in the first half of the previous year. Canada's exporting quota this year is 163,-200,000 bushels.

In the face of lagging overseas markets, Canada has had to face stiffening competition from the U.S., which like Canada has huge surpluses. No sooner did Canada decide to reduce the Lakehead price, than the U.S. boosted its export subsidy.

IN LINE WITH U.S.

This is in line with U.S. policy to offer wheat to overseas customers at the same price as Canada, but without upsetting the domestic market. Canada provides no subsidy to exporters or producers.

The two countries are fighting sharply for overseas markets, but without throat-cutting. Canadian and U.S. officials are in constant consultation about prices. They realize that drastic undercutting might crack prices generally in North America.

Thus, every time the Canadian Wheat Board reduces prices, it means a reduction to the farmers. Under the old 1946-50 Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement, farmers got more money than they are getting today. They received as much as $2 a bushel. Today they are getting $1.79.

Although West Coast prices are being maintained at $1.86, most of Canada's wheat is shipped east from the Lakehead and not from the western seaboard.

In the last crop year Canadian prices under the old International Wheat Agreement averaged about $1.78 a bushel. However, millions of bushels were sold at the non-IWA price of $2.14 or more. This year IWA and non-IWA prices are the same.

Ontario Has Insurance Plan For Polio

Government Mapping New Policy Phillips Reports

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario government is working out with insurance companies a policy on polio insurance, Health Minister Phillips announced today.

Mr. Phillips told the legislature's health committee that he will present to the House legislation allowing the province to lay down a "real policy" on polio.

"We are trying to work an arrangement with the insurance companies in which the insurance company can help in certain things," the minister said.

Outside the committee, Dr. Phillips said under such a plan the insurance firms would pay for ambulances and doctors and the like.

Some insurance companies have been selling polio insurance policies calling for a $5-a-year premium. Dr. Phillips said it was hoped that under the proposed plan this rate would be reduced.

The minister said the government now pays teaching hospitals $7 a day per patient, $2 for physiotherapy treatments and provides three nurses.

NOT POSSIBLE

SASKATOON (CP)—It would be impossible, both practically and financially, to protect all the children in Canada against polio by giving them gamma globulin injections, Dr. W. S. Stanbury of Toronto, national commissioner of the Canadian Red Cross Society, told the Saskatchewan division's annual meeting Thursday night.

"If we consider the practicability of injecting all 3,000,000 children in Canada with gamma globulin, it would require 3,900 donations of blood and would cost the Canadian government about $13,000,000."

Dr. Stanbury said "as a preventive one injection of gamma globulin will last for only about two to five weeks."

END OF FLOOD—City workmen in hip boots bustly chopping a channel through the field west of High St. toward Chamberlain St., are providing an outlet for the water that flooded Chamberlain St. as heavy snow melted. The flooding has just about been eliminated.

Fourth Child Jumps 15 Ft. Into Snow

Find Bodies Huddled In Bedroom Of Cochrane House

COCHRANE —(CP)— A 32-year-old mother and three of her four young children were burned to death early today when flames gutted their two-storey home here.

Dead are Mrs. Corinne Theriault, Raymond 14, Rolande, 13 and Norman, who was one year old Thursday.

It was the first fatal fire in Cochrane since 1930.

A fourth child, Coulombe, 10, is in hospital here suffering cuts and bruises. She leaped from a second-storey window into hard-packed snow 15 feet below.

HUSBAND IN BUSH

The husband and father, Louis Theriault, was working in the bush some distance north of here. He was brought to the scene by his employer two hours after the fire.

The 1930 fire here claimed more than 27 lives when it destroyed the Queen's Hotel during the Christmas season. There were 27 guests registered and an unknown number of transients. The actual toll of lives has never been determined.

In the Theriault fire, the bodies of the four victims were found huddled together in a small bedroom on the northwest upstairs corner of the house. This was the room adjacent to the one from which Coulombe escaped.

From what authorities have been able to learn from the young girl, the family was asleep in the upstairs bedroom when the fire broke out at 5 a. m. The mother picked up the young child Norman and went into Coulombe's room to awaken her and her sister and then proceeded into Raymond's room where she died with her children.

Rolande apparently followed her mother into the boy's room. The body of the baby was found between the bodies of the two older children.

Robbers Wreck Train

RANGOON (Reuters)—An estimated 100 train robbers dynamited a passenger express 40 miles north of Moulmein Thursday and fought a pitched battle with Burmese army troops in a following escort train. The gang, believed made up of Communists and rebel Karen tribesmen, shot three persons to death and injured several others. After derailing the train with explosives, the maurauders ordered all passengers to line up outside and stripped them of their valuables and money.

Give Six Reds Choice Of Jail Or Go To Russia

DETROIT (AP) — Six Michigan Communists, convicted of conspiracy against the government today were given the choice of prison sentences ranging from four to five years, or going to Russia.

In addition, federal judge Frank A. Picard fined each of the defendants $10,000.

The defendants, Saul Weelman, 48; Mrs. Helen Winter, 45; Nat Ganley, 48; Thomas B. Dennis, Jr. 35; Philip Schatz, 39, and William Allan, 46, expressed no emotion as Judge Picard delivered the sentence.

Mrs. Winter and Allan were sentenced to four-year terms; Ganley, five years; Dennis, four years, six months; Wellman, four years and eight months, and Schatz, four years and four months.

"Under federal law, I can change this sentence any time within the next 60 days," Judge Picard said, "and if any of you should decide to want to go to Russia, I would be glad to do so."

Picard said the defendants were "guilty of the greatest offence of which a citizen could be convicted, conspiracy for the overthrow of your government."

Prior to Judge Picard's sentencing, all of the defendants made statements declaring their innocence of the charges against them under the Smith Act.

They were convicted Tuesday of violating the Smith Act by conspiring to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the government.

The defendants said the sentences would be appealed.

DEDUCTIBLE PLAN

TORONTO (CP)—Health Minister Phillips said today he believed a deductible health insurance plan was the only "sure" plan.

"It is just the same as insurance for your car," the minister told the legislature's committee on health. "A $100 illness won't hurt any of us. But when it costs $200 or $300 it would."

Dig Up Grave, Find Stolen $5,000; Charge Three Men

TORONTO (CP)—A policeman and two employees of a Toronto firm of private investigators and security guards have been arrested in connection with the $10,800 robbery Tuesday of the Prudential Insurance Co. Police said $5,000 was recovered early today buried beside a grave in St. Paul's cemetery in the heart of Fort Erie. They said they were led to the cemetery by Peter Mason, 26, who pointed to the grave of his three-year-old girl who died last August. Police said they dug down two feet and discovered a pickle jar containing the $5,000. Mason was charged with being in possession of stolen goods.

Police said the only cash missing is a sum used to buy an automobile in Hamilton and some money spent at Buffalo night clubs. The remainder of the $10,800 loot was in cheques previously recovered.

THIRD TO BE ARRESTED

Mason was the third man to be arrested.

The men previously arrested are Frank Stevens, 26, and police constable Terry Thomas, 25, of the Swansea police. Thomas was assigned to escort Eleanor Hannington to the bank but arrived at the Humber office of Prudential Insurance Co. about five minutes after the robbery.

dl-81

ASKED FOR ESCORT

Miss Hannington said her boss telephoned the suburban Swansea police headquarters and asked for an escort for her last Tuesday when she was ready to take the money to the bank.

Soon after, a "polite" man wearing a blue uniform arrived and the girl set off with him for the nearby bank. Outside, the man told her he was going to take the money, wished her good bye and stepped into a car which was double parked near the bank.

When Constable Thomas arrived and was told of the incident he telephoned headquarters and reported the robbery.

UNIFORM RECOVERED

Later, the blue uniform and the brief case and cheques were found in a theatre.

Thomas has been a member of the Swansea force for the last two years. Prior to that he was a guard at the Don jail for six months.

A native of Birmingham, England, he was a member of the fire department there before coming to Canada. His wife returned to England for the Coronation and is believed to still be there. They have no children.

Ritchie Freed As Extradition Plan Withdrawn

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Donald Ritchie, who told authorities he knew who tried to shoot Walter Reuther in 1948, has been freed as a result of extradition proceedings on a charge of attempted murder being withdrawn.

He walked out of Essex county court Thursday a free man after Crown Attorney Bruce J. S. Macdonald said evidence at the extradition trial convinced him financial arrangements between Ritchie and the United Automobile Workers (CIO) were sufficient inducement for Ritchie to make statements to Michigan authorities inadmissible under Canadian law.

Ritchie, in a statement signed before Wayne county prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien of Detroit, had named his uncle, Clarence Jacobs, as the triggerman in the shotgun attempt on the life of the UAW and CIO president.

DISMISSED PROCEEDINGS

Judge Albert J. Gordon dismissed the extradition proceedings against Ritchie and Jacobs. During the three-day hearing, United States authorities had sought permission to take the two men across the border for a trial in Detroit.

As a result of the Windsor action, the prosecution's Detroit case against Jacobs and three other men charged in connection with the shooting apparently collapsed as Ritchie had been regarded as a key witness.

Jack Conway, assistant to Reuther, told the Windsor court the union promised to pay Ritchie $25,000 in three instalments for providing a statement. The first instalment, $5,000, was paid.

Help For Greece

OTTAWA (CP) — Some 9,000 pounds of Canadian supplies valued at $14,000 left New York today for Greece to aid earthquake victims in Macedonia, Thrace and the Ionian islands, the Unitarian service committee announced.

The shipment contains 105 boxes of serviceable clothing, shoes and blankets, and 125 cross-cut saws.

Hints Help For Pakistan

KARACHI (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent, in a broadcast to the people of Pakistan, tonight said Canada is "actively considering" the provisions of equipment for important projects in the eastern part of this Asian state. He made the reference after mentioning Canadian participation in the Colombo plan by which Canada has paid $25,000,000 annually since 1952 for economic assistance to Pakistan, India and Ceylon. The Canadian prime minister said Canadians have been keenly interested in Pakistan since it became in 1947 an independent state within the Commonwealth.

"The inheritors of an ancient culture, you have set out with vigor and determination to build a new nation," he said. "Perhaps this reminds us of the qualities which have been required of us Canadians in developing our own country."

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY

"Like you we seek to give every man regardless of race or creed an equal opportunity to pursue the good life and with the aid of his fellow citizens to build a strong nation based on worldwide brotherhood. Like you, we Canadians seek to play our part in promoting international goodwill and in working for the establishment of conditions in which all nations new and old may dwell in security and peace."

Martin's Experience Benefits Canadians As Health Dept. Prepares Reducing Chart

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians soon may be able to check a chart and decide whether to take off weight. The chart is being prepared by officials under Health Minister Martin, a man with a lot of experience when it comes to reducing.

On the advice of his doctor, Mr. Martin went on a diet more than a year ago. He took off more than 40 pounds and his weight has been about 160 pounds since.

On several occasions he has said publicly that the loss of weight improved his health.

Officials of the health department and the bureau of statistics have weighed and measured about 22,000 persons, the health department said Thursday in a return tabled in the Commons. These measurements now are being averaged according to sex, height and age. A standard weight table soon will be issued.

The return said:

"While this average weight may not be the ideal weight for an individual (this only his doctor can decide) it is the considered opinion of medical experts that the average weight can serve as a guide to everyone in eating with a view to adjusting his or her weight to that which will help to ensure good health."

Have No Pool Of Savings Available For Mortgages

OTTAWA (CP)—A spokesman for one of Canada's chartered banks said today the banks have no large pool of savings deposits available for mortgage lending. T. H. Atkinson said it would be "wrong" for anyone to conceive that a substantial proportion of the banks' loaning funds can be made available for mortgages under the government's new housing legislation. He is president of the Canadian Bankers' Association and vice-president and general manager of the Royal Bank of Canada. Appearing as a witness before the Commons banking committee, he said that he spoke only for the Royal Bank.

NOT TOO FAVORABLE

He criticized the legislation as containing certain features "not entirely favorable from a banking standpoint." The legislation, which would allow the banks to enter the mortgage-lending business for the first time in history, had been proposed, he said, without prior consultation with the banks. But they were co-operating with the government and would make "every effort" to give the plan a fair trial and make it work.

Federation Seeking Higher Egg Price

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Federation of Agriculture today sought a higher floor price for eggs and a price support program for poultry meats.

The CFA was making its annual submission to the cabinet. Its delegation was headed by President H. H. Hannam of Ottawa. Acting Prime Minister Howe and Agriculture Minister Gardiner were among cabinet ministers who heard the brief and then discussed it with CFA officials.

The federation asked that the floor price for grade A large eggs be raised to 45 cents a dozen from 38 cents.

It also recommended that floor prices be established at the producer level on poultry on the basis of 38 cents a pound for grade A chickens weighing more than five pounds, 27 cents for fowl weighing more than five pounds, and 39 cents for turkeys under 18 pounds.

Howe Denies Curb On Industry

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe has denied a suggestion that private enterprise had been prevented by the government from entering the atomic energy field.

The suggestion was advanced in the Commons by George Hees (PC—Toronto Broadview) in a question asking comment on President Eisenhower's announcement that the United States government proposes to end its monopoly over the peacetime use of atomic energy. Mr. Hees asked whether Canada intended to take similar action.

"I do not think it is fair to say that private enterprise has not been permitted to deal in atomic energy, because representatives of private enterprise now are engaged in studying the use of atomic energy for power purposes," Mr. Howe said Thursday.

He was referring to the joint feasibility studies on power reactors launched at the Chalk River atomic energy plant by project scientists and the Ontario hydro-electric power commission. The studies, expected to cost some $200,000, are designed to determine how it will be practical to build an atomic reactor to produce electric energy.

Canada Expecting To Attend Conference

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada will "almost certainly" attend the Korean political conference at Geneva in April, officials said today.

However, no definite decision will be announced until next week at the earliest. External Affairs Minister Pearson now is in Florida on a 10-day holiday and won't be back in Ottawa until next week.

Believe Mao Seriously Ill

HONG KONG (AP)—Mao Tze-tung may be gravely ill.

The absence of the 60-year-old Chinese Communist leader from an extremely important meeting of his party central committee in Peiping has raised speculation here about Mao's health.

The Peiping radio Thursday night, evidently feeling obliged to offer some explanation of Mao's absence, said the leader was not present because he was on a vacation. But such a meeting was far too important to be passed up, even by Mao, for a holiday.

His last public appearance was Dec. 29 at a government council session.

Observers here would find it difficult to believe that Mao, who has towering stature in the Communist world since the death of Joseph Stalin, had fallen from power. They say it is more likely he has been laid low by a weak heart.

Tornado Alerts In Southern U.S.

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—Choking black clouds of dust engulfed sections of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Nebraska, Kansas and Colorado today.

Visibility was cut to zero in the Texas panhandle and street lights had to be turned on.

The turbulence accompanied a western cold front that moved across the states. Tornado alerts were issued for sections of Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

New Picture Of Queen On Five-Cent Stamp

OTTAWA (CP)—A new five-cent stamp portraying the Queen will be issued April 1, the post office department announced today.

Three other new stamps, portraying Canadian wildlife, will also be issued at that time.

The new issue will coincide with the date for increased first-class postal rates in Canada. Effective April 1, out-of-town letters will cost five cents instead of four, postcards four cents instead of three.

The stamp portraying the Queen was engraved from a photograph supplied by Dorothy Wilding of London. It will replace the current design from a photograph by Yousuf Karsh of Ottawa.

Officials admitted that the engraving from the Karsh photograph was not satisfactory but said they are extremely pleased with the new engraving. It shows a three-quarter, head-and-shoulders view of the Queen wearing a diamond tiara. It will be printed in blue.

ONE KILLED, 87 INJURED—One man was killed and 87 injured when the second section of Canadian Pacific Railway train bound from Toronto to Montreal plowed into the first section at St. Clet, Que., 35 miles west of Montreal in a blinding snowstorm. The nose of the engine buried itself a third of the way into the sleeper of the section ahead. The snow delayed rescue groups heading for the scene. Roads were impassable and all help had to come on relief trains. —(CP Photo)

Pressing Inquiry Into Railway Crash

MONTREAL (CP)—A two-way investigation moved forward Thursday into the collision early Wednesday of two CPR passenger trains that killed one man and injured 87 other passengers.

Company investigators and inspectors for the Federal Board of Transport Commissioners sought the answer to this question: Why did the second section of the CPR's overnight Toronto-Montreal train come pounding through a snowstorm and plow into the rear of the standing first section?

The collision occurred at 7:30 a.m. near the village of St. Clet, 35 miles west of Montreal. The line was tied up nearly 24 hours and trains were rerouted before it was reopened Thursday.

Both investigations will be concerned with the block-signal operation and whether rules governing the conditions were observed. The first section had stopped to allow a freight train to move into a siding.

Although the list of injured comprised 87 names, only 10 persons required hospital treatment. Two of them were released today. The passenger killed was W. B. Casselman, 30, of Toronto, who was in the washroom of the last car of the first section.

Among eight still in hospital are Patrick Sprayson, Charles Martin, M. A. Dean and Mrs. Bruno Bosy, all of Toronto.

The investigators completed their work at the crash scene Thursday but their findings may not be known for several days. It was not known whether signal and other regulations were complied with or whether the heavy snowstorm was a contributing factor.

This was the first accident involving death of a passenger the CPR has had in five years. In 1949 in a collision between two passenger trains at South Esk, N.B., one passenger was killed and two others died later in hospital.

100,000,000 Other Planets Suitable For High Forms Of Life Astronomer Says

NEW YORK (AP)—We are not alone in the universe, for there are probably 100,000,000 other planets suitable for high forms of life, says the famous Harvard astronomer, Dr. Hawlow Shapley.

The life on some of them may surpass our own, with beings superior to humans, he writes in a new book, "Climatic Change," published today (Harvard University Press, $6).

Dr. Shapley is cautious when it comes to estimating just how many planets may support life. He figures it this way:

Suppose only one star or sun in a million has any planets at all.

And suppose only one in a thousand of those families of planets has the conditions "suitable for the life experiment." That means a near-circular orbit, proper distance from a warmth-giving star, proper mass, atmosphere, and rotation period for night and day.

That would mean only one life-bearing planet for every billion stars.

STILL SUPPOSING

Still being skeptical, suppose that life went on to higher forms on only one of every thousand of these planets. On the others, something could have happened to end life.

That still leaves 100,000,000 planets as "life theatres." Our galaxy, the "milky way", alone has 100,000,000,000 stars, and there are billions of galaxies.

These millions of planets "indicate that the life phenomenon is widespread and of cosmic significance. We are not alone. And we should admit, of course, that the animal, vegetable or other organisms on other happier planets may have far surpassed the terrestrial forms. There is no reason whatever to presume that homo sapiens (man), apis mellifera (honeybees) and corvus americanus (ravens or crows) are the best that biochemistry and star shine can do."

NONE DETECTED

No earth-sized planets have yet been detected around other stars, because the stars are too bright and planets too small to affect the motions of their stars by present measuring methods.

Dr. Shapley says Mars is the only other planet in our sun's family which might have life of some kind.

Cornwall Digs Out As Floods Pose Threat In Ontario

TORONTO (CP)—Flood troubles remained in parts of southern Ontario today as weather men forecast a still milder day than Thursday with a probable high of 55 degrees. Rain was predicted for late today or early Saturday. The floods were left in the wake of a sleet and snow storm that swept the southern half of the province Tuesday and Wednesday. The storm blanketed Cornwall with nearly 20 inches of snow and resulted in traffic on busy Highway 2 coming to a halt for several hours.

Snowplows opened both lanes of the highway in the Cornwall district Thursday night. Hundreds of trucks and automobiles that had been stranded in the area streamed through the eastern Ontario city in either direction. As the city continued to dig itself out, officials announced the reopening of schools closed for the last two days.

One of the hardest-hit flood districts was the village of Churchville, 15 miles northwest of Toronto. The community of 300 persons estimated damage at $10,000 after chunks of ice 30 feet across crashed down from a dam on the Credit river and smashed into stores, automobiles and homes. Residents of the damaged homes, evacuated before flood waters advanced, found temporary shelter with neighbors on higher ground.

NEW DANGER

Tommy Cattle, Churchville fire chief, said a huge layer of ice on another dam 2½ miles upriver showed signs of cracking.

Elsewhere, citizens of Thamesville, 15 miles northeast of Chatham, expressed concern that the runoff of rain and melting snow might send the Thames river and Cornwall creek, a Thames tributary running through the village, over their banks. Merchants moved goods to the top shelves of their stores. Officials said it would be useless to build sandbag dikes because the village is built on low-lying land.

Near Wardsville, 15 miles from Thamesville, trucks and cars splashed through flood water covering the Toronto-Windsor highway but the flooding did not stop traffic.

Kiwanis Music Festival Results

Magistrate Warns Hit-Run Drivers

Another hit-and-run collision was reported to city police Thursday. The car hit by the motorist who did not stop, was owned by K. Woodgate, 459 Donegal St. It was parked on the east side of Park St. while Mr. Woodgate was at work. He returned to find $40 damage to his car.

In court Tuesday, Magistrate W. R. Philp, Q.C., expressed concern at the growing number of these hit-and-run offences. He considered the matter a serious one and intimated that future offenders would not get off with minimum fines.

Constable Edward Patterson investigated the accident.

At Charlotte and Argyle Streets cars driven by Herbert Youngs, 621 Donegal St., and Bright Julian, 30 Edgewater Blvd., were involved in a collision. Damage was light.

Constable Harold Wesley investigated.

Don Newbury, Apsley, and James W. Finnie, 63 Argyle St., were drivers of vehicles involved in a collision in Water St., just north of Mill St. The Newbury car suffered an estimated $275 damage. The other vehicle, a fuel-oil tanker, suffered only minor damage.

Constable W. G. Scott investigated.

5 Guelph People Awarded $29,000

GUELPH (CP) — Five Guelph persons have been awarded a total of almost $29,000 damages as a result of an accident Sept. 6, 1952, in which two persons were killed.

The awards by Mr. Justice H. A. Aylen were against Ernest P. Reeve of Galt, executor for the estate of the late Charles Richard Foster of Galt, killed in the accident. Muriel Quirke of Galt, a companion in the car, was also killed.

The plaintiffs were the driver and passengers in a second car involved in the accident.

Richard Egan was awarded $12,054.13; driver William J. Stremble $11,764.29; Mrs. Lillian Stremble $2,744.60; Desmond Kelly $1,571.66; and Mrs. May Kelly $631.60.

Test Atomic Cannon Since January 10

WASHINGTON (AP) — The "atomic cannon" being tested by the United States in Canada has been there since Jan. 10, the U.S. defence department says.

Actually, a spokesman said Thursday, it's the 280-millimetre cannon, which has been announced as having the capability of firing atomic shells. The tests do not involve the firing of an atomic warhead.

The weapon is being tested for mobility and firing under Arctic conditions, at the U.S.-maintained Arctic testing station at Fort Churchill, Man.

The spokesman said the tests are "not too far along yet," and there is no indication when they will be completed. The presence of the cannon in the Canadian north became known this week during a tour of Fort Churchill by 26 military attaches and advisers from Ottawa.

Bombers Reach Morocco

RABAT, Morocco (Reuters)—Fifteen United States Air Force B-47 Stratojet bombers arrived at Sidi Slimane airbase Thursday after a non-stop flight from Baresdale, La. They were refuelled once in mid-air. A second formation of 15 is due today and a third Saturday. They will remain in Morocco for two months.

Trapped By Flames Madoc Woman Dies

MADOC—Mrs. Marjorie Saulay, 26, died of asphyxiation when she was trapped by flames in her cabin-trailer home here Wednesday afternoon. OPP Cpl. Jack Hatch said Mrs. Saulay was using coal oil attempting to light a fire in a wood stove when the fire went out of control cutting off her escape. The fire was spotted by Ralph Franklin of Madoc.

Members of the volunteer fire brigade applied artificial respiration when the body was brought out of the trailer but Dr. R. S. Beatty, coroner, pronounced the woman dead. Her husband, Joseph Saulay, was working in a sawmill at Hilton when the fire broke out. Cpl. Hatch said there would be no inquest.

Mrs. Saulay leaves her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Phillips, St. Ola; five sisters, Mrs. R. Watson, Havelock; Mrs. B. Conley, Trenton; Edith, Trenton; Gwen and Barbara of St. Ola; and four brothers, Roy, Wilfred and Bernard of St. Ola, and Fred of Bancroft.

Issue New Badges For Police Caps

The Peterborough city police force has received an issue of new badges for their caps. These badges, which are two-and-a-half inches wide, are centred with the city monogram and on the outside circumference are the words "City of Peterborough—Police." The badge is surmounted by a crown.

The new issue will replace the regular Canadian police emblem which featured a super-imposed beaver. In addition, the force recently were given a new type winter cap with special ear flaps and a flannel piece to protect the forehead. When not required these fold back into the headband.

Fenelon Falls Rink In Semi-Finals

TORONTO (CP)—S. H. Smithers of Galt downed Adam Spencer of Torontos 12-6 in a Seiberling semi-final today at the Ontario bonspiel. He now meets J. W. Raine of Brampton in the final playoff of the third-prize event.

Visiting and home rinks shared honors in the quarter-finals of both the Seagram and Parker Pen events.

Fenelon Falls, Campbellton, N. B., and two Toronto clubs from Torontos and Granites meet in the semi-finals for the fifth prize this afternoon.

Brampton and Thornbury are the out-of-town quartets which will enter the Parker Pen semi-finals.

Of the eight rinks left in the Monarch, only one of five out-of-town entries survived. This was G. C. Tudhope, Parry Sound, who beat R. K. Metcalf of Toronto Royals 11-7.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 3⅜ per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. Thursday's noon rate was 96 19-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.72, against $2.71 13-16.

Labor, Farmers Form Council Fight Recession

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's two major labor bodies and representatives of Prairie and Ontario farmers have formed a joint council to map a program to fight recession.

The new agency, named the Canadian Farmer-Labor Economic Council, was established at a meeting here Thursday among heads of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, the Canadian Congress of Labor and the Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario Farmers' Unions. Its first meeting is scheduled for Winnipeg late next month.

A statement following the meeting said it is felt that there are definite signs of a recession and that labor and farmers should coordinate their efforts in an objective program "to prevent this unsound economic position from spreading." The program will be submitted to the government.

FEAR UNEMPLOYMENT

The statement said that unless definite constructive steps are taken quickly there is a danger of unemployment snowballing "with still more serious economic dislocations as a result."

The meeting also discussed farm prices and labor costs, parity prices for agricultural products and the "extremely wide" spread between the prices received by the farmer and those paid by the consumer.

Farm Strike Ends Disturbance

ROME (Reuters) — A 24-hour strike of industrial farm workers in Tuscany today ended a week's wave of "tactical strikes" organized by Italy's Communist-led General Confederation of Labor in the northern half of the country.

Ostensibly called to press for higher pay, the strikes were timed to embarrass Italy's new coalition government headed by Mario Scelba, who created the country's tough police force after the war.

The Senate today opened a debate on the speech made by Prime Minister Scelba in both houses of parliament Thursday night. Fierce attacks by his long-standing enemies—Communists, left-wing Socialists and neo-Fascists — are expected throughout the debate, due to last until next Thursday.

But his cabinet, certain of support by the small Republican party is generally expected to win its first confidence vote by a small majority.

Soap, Elbow Grease Can Clear TB Germs

TORONTO (CP) — Soap, water and elbow grease to rid a home of tuberculosis germs was the work formula offered today by Health Minister Phillips.

Discussing tuberculosis with members of the legislature's health committee, Dr. Phillips said the old method of fumigation by dropping formaldehyde on potassium permangamate and sealing the room has been found ineffective.

"There's nothing like soap, water and elbow grese," he said. "Boil, clean and hang out on the line and in the case of tuberculosis, burn it."

Dr. Phillips said recent surveys show that immigrants remain healthy for one to two years after their arrival and then are susceptible to tuberculosis. Indians, "due to their uncleanliness and their way of life" have a high TB rate, he said.

The Weather

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9:30 a.m.

Synopsis:

Friday will be another sunny, spring-like day over all of Ontario as the mid-February thaw enters its third day. Afternoon temperatures in all sections will lie around the 50 mark or higher again today.

Saturday's weather will be determined by the future course of a centre of low pressure located over Kansas. Current charts indicate an easterly track for this disturbance, and this will bring rain into southwestern counties tonight and up into the lower lakes regions on Saturday.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Saturday.

Northern Lake Huron and Lake Ontario regions, Toronto: Sunny today, cloudy Saturday; intermittent rain beginning Saturday morning; continuing mild; winds light becoming southeast 15 this afternoon and east 20 Saturday; low-high at Wingham, Toronto and Trenton 30 and 50. Summary for Saturday: Mild, occasional rain.

Georgian bay and Haliburton regions: Sunny today, mostly sunny Saturday except for some cloudiness in southern sections; continuing mild; winds light today, southeast 15 Saturday, low-high at Muskoka and Killaloe 20 and 50. Summary for Saturday: Mostly sunny and mild.

Car Theft Ring Believed Broken

TORONTO (CP) — Police said Thursday night they believe they have smashed a car theft ring that reached across Ontario.

They arrested John Koval, 40, owner of an automobile body repair shop in west-central Toronto, on five charges of car theft.

Police who made the arrest said they believe that during the last three weeks they broke a ring that stole vehicles in Toronto, changed their color and chassis, then sold them as used cars in the Niagara peninsula.

Detectives said they traced cars across the province. They recovered several vehicles.

Police said the stolen cars were sold through newspaper advertisements at an average price of $1,500.

Ontario Paid $425,000 To Handle Controls

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario paid $425,000 last year to administer rent control.

A report of the Ontario rental administration, tabled in the legislature Thursday, showed the figure was $150,000 less than in 1952, the year when full controls were in effect.

The province last year began gradually liquidating its controls. The report showed 136 convictions were obtained and about $12,000 in fines were levied against persons under the rental regulations.

Toronto had the greatest number of convictions—98. St. Catharines registered 10, Windsor seven, Sudbury six and Hamilton five.

MPs Want To Get Security Extended Some To Include Their Wives

OTTAWA (CP)—Parliamentarians want some financial security for their wives, whom they described as unsung heroines. Speakers of all parties said Thursday that MP's pensions should be extended to provide for widows, if it can be arranged without additional cost to the taxpayer. "No wife of a member of Parliament does other than serve this country well," said CCF leader Coldwell, whose wife died last summer. He suggested that all members contribute to a fund "out of which widows of members who have served the country well could be provided for".

The topic arose during study of a measure amending the present Parliamentary Pension Act. The bill, given second reading—approval in principle—provides that the maximum pension for MPs will remain at $3,000 a year despite an increase in members' pay to $10,000 from $6,000.

Without the bill, the pension would increase to $6,000 since it is linked to the parliamentary indemnity, which was doubled to $8,000 from $4,000 earlier this week. Members also receive a $2,000 non-taxable allowance.

GIVES MUCH TIME

J. H. Ferguson (PC — Simcoe North) said a member's wife gives freely of her time and energy to help her husband, "but the minute he dies his widow is aided to the door of the poorhouse."

Davie Fulton (PC — Kamloops) suggested a pensioned member be given a choice of taking a smaller pension during his lifetime if it were continued for his wife if she survived him. Such a plan could be worked out without increasing the cost to the government.

Acting Prime Minister Howe said that proposal would put a strain on the pension fund. A similar arrangement for the widows of judges had been "very expensive."

However, the government would be willing to consider a plan covering widows if it were on a sound actuarial basis, just as it had supported the present pension plan which was worked out in the first place by private members.

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, said he would support a plan if it meant no extra cost to the treasury.

And Mrs. Ann Shipley (L—Timiskaming), a widow first elected last year, said she hopes members will form a committee to study the idea. There usually was nothing left for widows when MPs died.

MUST SERVE LONGER

Dealing with changes in the present pension plan, Mr. Howe said members must serve longer to qualify for the maximum $3,000 pension.

Under the present plan, in effect for a year, members qualify for the maximum pension after 17 sessions. Some have qualified with 14 years' service, since sometimes more than one session has been held in a year. Mr. Howe said it now will take 17 years.

Members elected to three Parliaments become eligible for a part pension. They contribute $240 a year, up to a maximum of $4,000, and the government matches their payments. The annual pension is three-quarters of a member's contribution.

Seven Saved From Coal Gas

TORONTO (CP)—Seven persons including three children were saved from death by coal gas asphyxiation early today because Joseph Blume, 56, awoke with an upset stomach.

As he paced the floor he detected the odor of gas and ran upstairs to rouse the family. He and his son Morris found their wives and the three children, Sharon 12, Carolyn, 6 and Evelyn, 5, unconscious in their beds.

All required inhalator treatment.

Howse Elected LDA President

TORONTO (CP)—The Rev. Ernest Marshall Howse of Toronto was elected president of the Lord's Day Alliance of Canada for his third term, at the annual meeting here Thursday.

The alliance, an inter-denominational organization guarding the religious observance of Sunday, was attended by representatives from across Canada.

Officers elected are: Honorary president the Most Rev. W. F. Barfoot, Edmonton; treasurer, J. G. Coburn, Toronto; recording secretary, the Rev. F. D. Douglas, Toronto.

Vice presidents include: Lt.-Col. Clarence Wiseman, the Rt. Rev. A. R. Beverley, A. E. Calvert, the Rev. T. B. McDormand, the Rev. George G. Webber, Toronto; the Rev. W. L. L. Lawrence, Hamilton; the Rev. J. A. MacInnis, Orillia.

The Ontario branch report recommended that the Dominion board of the alliance consider court action if extensions of Sunday activities under the Lord's Day Act are sought.

Most Groups Stronger In Light Trading

TORONTO (CP)—Most groups were slightly stronger in light early afternoon stock exchange trading today.

Papers, utilities, steels, liquors, refining oils and financial institutions were ahead in the strongest industrial move of the week. Manufactures and motors were a little lower. Foods were steady. General Dynamics made the biggest individual change. It added $2.

Uraniums and Bathurst-area base metals were slightly lower with most losses in pennies and fractions. Gunnar was down 35 cents.

Husky, up 25 cents, and Canada Southern, up 20, were the leaders in a western oil rise.

Golds were slightly lower. Senior base metals were balanced with gains and losses.

Husband, Not Wife Granted Divorce

NORWICH, England (CP) — A judge today turned down a woman's divorce petition and granted one instead to her husband after learning that Mrs. Gladys Webdale, 45, committed these acts of "real cruelty" against Jack Webdale, 41:

She jumped on his feet in high-heeled shoes after he had broken some bones in his foot in an accident.

She punctured his chest in three places with a garden fork.

She seized his nose with both hands and refused to let go until persuaded to do so by her doctor, who happened to be handy.

The judge commented that the husband had submitted to such conduct because he was afraid any complaints would "upset the neighbors."

Have No Pool

Though the banks would help to make the scheme work, the committee must understand that deposits made with the banks were virtually payable on demand.

The chartered banks understood they would be able to use the mortgages as security for loans from the Bank of Canada. But such loans usually were short and Mr. Atkinson said he is confident "it is not the intention that the central bank should carry for an indefinite period these mortgages as security for loans to banks."

LOANS TO BANKS

(Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, told the committee Thursday that the central agency usually makes loans to chartered banks for a couple of weeks. The ceiling is six months, but loans usually are not extended for that length of time.)

Mr. Atkinson said there appears to be a view in some quarters that banks have a very large pool of savings deposits which can be made available for mortgage lending.

"I think I should point out that is a misconception. It is true that the savings deposits of the banks aggregate something of the nature of $5,000,000,000, but this money is not idle.

BASICALLY ON LOAN

"Basically it is on loan to commerce, industry and individuals on the one hand and to governments and municipalities through the banks' holdings of securities on the other hand.

"Bill 102 (the housing bill) will simply set up another avenue for the employment of funds. The banks must decide what percentage of loanable funds can be channelled into this new avenue."

Pump Stomach Out, Actress Will Live

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Anne Sterling was found unconscious in her apartment early today but after a quick trip to a hospital where her stomach was pumped she was reported out of danger.

Police said they found the 32-year-old blonde unconscious in bed with two pill boxes, one empty and the other containing 12 capsules, nearby. Her physician, Dr. Harold Mills, told investigators that she had accidentally taken an overdose of prescribed medicine.

Police, who said they found the actress and singer dressed in pink-and-black negligee, said they went to her apartment to investigate after the telephone company reported that her phone had been off the hook for more than an hour.

Say Pope's Condition Not Quite So Good

ROME (Reuters) — A Roman Catholic source said the Pope failed today to show the improvement in his health recorded daily during the last two weeks and his general condition is still weak.

The 77 - year - old pontiff was stricken with a stomach ailment nearly four weeks ago.

VISITS KHYBER PASS

The Prime Minister left by air today for Pakistan's northwest frontier and historic Khyber pass for one of the most picturesque visits of the Canadian leader's round-the-world goodwill tour.

Before leaving this capital he recorded a broadcast to the people of Pakistan which followed a press conference Thursday night in which he said he feels as much at home among the Moslem people of this young Asian state as in his own capital.

Peshawar, capital of the northwest frontier province, was today's destination. A drive was planned from there to the Khyber pass before going on to Lahore, where he will be the guest of the governor of the Punjab.

The prime minister told a large group of Karachi newspaper men at the governor-general's residence here Thursday night that he appreciated the warm welcome given him at his first Asian stop of the tour. He felt at home because Prime Minister Mohammed Ali of Pakistan had been in Ottawa three years as high commissioner, and the first prime minister of this state, Liaquat Ali Khan, had visited him in Ottawa.

SHOELESS IN RAIN

The Canadian leader stood shoeless, a Moslem custom, in the rain Thursday as he placed a wreath at the graves of Liaquat Ali Khan, who died from an assassin's bullet, and Mohammed Ali Jinnah, founder of Pakistan.

Then he spent the day in talks with government leaders here before holding the evening press conference.

He told the Moslem newspaper men that the warmth of his reception here showed "we are all of the same human nature."

"Some of us may think we are more advanced than others. But the whole thing started in Asia. Here four or five civilizations have been built up, one on top of the other."

Train Strikes Truck Two Men Killed

AGINCOURT, Ont. (CP) — Two unidentified men were killed today when a Canadian National Railways passenger train truck a milk truck at a level crossing a quarter mile north of here, police reported.

The train was bound for Toronto, 10 miles southwest.

Police said one of the men died instantly, the other a few minutes later.

The men were employed by Blantyre Dairy in Toronto. The dairy was not immediately able to identify the men.

WENT WRONG WAY

Firemen said in all probability if the family had fled into the back bedroom they would have lived. The back of the house was untouched by the fire.

Bob Morrell, a neighbor, found Coulombe in the front yard as he went to work.

Another neighbor, A. Gubb, called the fire department.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gerard told authorities they had attended a birthday party for baby Norman at the house Thursday night and left about 12:45 a. m. today. They said the house was chilly and there was not too much fire on.

Fire chief Frank Brown said he did not know the cause of the fire.

Joseph Gratton, inspector with the Ontario fire marshal's office at Timmins, is en route to investigate the cause of the fire.

Cochrane is 50 miles north of Timmins.

Mason also was a native of Birmingham. He was arrested in a Fort Erie hotel room when police there made a routine check on a tip from Toronto that Mason would stop there before crossing the border.

Police said Mason's arrest probably prevented him from fleeing to England to join his wife. They said they believed the robbery was planned to get money so both Mason and Thomas could go back to England. Their wives had been dissatisfied in Canada.

Pair Admit Ruckus

Two 26-year-old men, John Douglas Hayton, 190 Hunter St., and Stanley Fedlow, Toronto, appeared in court today in answer to a charge of causing a disturbance in a city restaurant. Magistrate W. R. Philp, Q.C., fined them each $15, costs $2.50, after they had entered pleas of guilty.

Indo-China Peace Talks New Worry

Pose New Obstacle To Speedy French Action On Treaty

PARIS (AP)—The Berlin conference's promise of Indo-China peace talks has posed a new obstacle to speedy French action on the hotly disputed European army treaty.

Following Big Four agreement to meet again April 26 to discuss prospects for peace in Asia, even the supporters here of the European Defence Community face this dilemma:

Should they (1) press for the national assembly to ratify the army treaty at once, as the United States wants, and perhaps so anger Russia that she would not use her influence with the Chinese Communists and the Communist leaders of the Vietminh rebels to stop the war in Indo-China; or

(2) Delay the assembly vote on the army treaty until after the Geneva conference on Korea and Indo-China, and run the risk of the U.S. congress cutting off all-important aid to France in the "agonizing reappraisal" State Secretary Dulles has threatened.

PRIOR CONDITION

The conservative, neutralist afternoon newspaper Le Mond, an all-out opponent of EDC, probably sounded the rallying cry for the army plan's other numerous foes as it proclaimed Thursday night:

"Solution of the Indo-China problem is a prior condition to the ratification of EDC."

This was one of the few times this argument has been advanced to stall final action on the EDC treaty, which was signed in May, 1952.

Ask Heart Foundation To Submit Projects

TORONTO (CP) The Ontario health department has asked the heart foundation to submit before April 1 projects costing an estimated $200,000 for research in heart diseases, Health Minister Phillips said today.

Dr. Phillips made the statement in the health committee.

Asked by Dr. S. F. Leavine (PC—Waterloo North), the minister said the province has no policy on multiple sclerosis other than the issuing of federal grants. He said research has not yet come up with a cure for the spinal disease.

Dr. Leavine said the incidence of the disease is on the increase and he was "hopeful" the province might take up research work.

Child 8, Kidnapped For $50,000 Ransom

SANTIAGO, Cuba (AP) — The family reported today the kidnapping for $50,000 ransom of Facundo Bacardi Bravo, 8, a member of the internationally known Bacardi rum family of Cuba.

The child disappeared while en route to a private school here in the chauffeur-driven family automobile.

The chauffeur said two men he did not know seized the boy just after he left the car to stand on a street corner and wait for the school bus. The note demanding the $50,000 ransom was delivered to the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bacardi Rosell, by the chauffeur.

TOP OFFICIALS OF THE AIR CADET LEAGUE and RCAF gathered at the Seigniory Club, Quebec, this week to lay plans for further expansion of the Air Cadet movement in Canada for 1954. Shown looking over the League's annual report are, left to right: J. F. Scruton, of Toronto, chairman of the Ontario Provincial Committee; League president H. Darroch Macgillivray, of St. John's, Newfoundland; past president Harold L. Garner, of Peterborough, and Air Vice Marshal F. G. Wait, RCAF, Air Member for Personnel. The annual meeting brought together over 100 league delegates from across the country.

Parks Board Budgets For $13,850 Spending

COBOURG (ENS)—Estimated expenditure for the parks board for 1954 is $13 850.25, according to figures presented at the monthly meeting of the board.

The one mill subsidy from the town of Cobourg will contribute $8,000; the tourist camp will produce an estimated revenue of $3,500; pavilion rental is $1,500; coin locks will produce approximately $550 and picnics $200. Estimated expenditures will leave a deficit of around $100.

Miss Madeline Rooney was re-elected chairman of the parks board for the third consecutive year.

Charge May Follow Car-Truck Collision

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — John D. Lindsay, 62, of Norham may be charged with careless driving as a result of an accident Thursday at Finlay's corners, near Warkworth when his car went out of control and collided with a Garneau Electric of Campbellford truck.

Lindsay's car, travelling west, went out of control at the corner, skidded completely around and struck the front end of the truck driven by Les Hermister, 42, of Norham. Damage to the car was estimated at $150 and $200 to the truck. OPP Archie Eady investigated.

Eating Outside

LONDON (CP)—While the Queen is on her Commonwealth tour the domestic staff at Buckingham Palace have been put on "board" wages. The new measure gives them an allowance in place of their board, permitting them to eat and sleep outside the palace.

Scarlet Fever Cases Drop In Port Hope

COBOURG (ENS)—Forty-four new cases of communicable disease were listed for the week ending February 13 by the counties health unit.

Of these, 28 were cases of chickenpox, four of infectious jaundice, three of German measles, and mumps and seven cases of scarlet fever.

Prevalent some weeks ago in Port Hope, there was only one new case of scarlet fever listed last week in that town.

Rotary Spends $1,627 On Children's Care

COBOURG (ENS)—Financed mainly by the Easter seal campaign, the sum of $1,627 was spent last year on crippled children's work by the Rotary club of Cobourg. In the past four years the amount spent on this work has been $6,171.

At the clinic last year, 32 children were examined and 24 were found to be needing medical care. Of this number, 22 were orthopaedic and two non-orthopaedic cases. Eight children were admitted to the Hospital for Sick Children.

Conditions encountered consisted of infantile paralysis, various malformations and accidents, defective eyesight and various physical weaknesses. In co-operation with the Ontario Society for Crippled Children, four were sent from the district to the Merrywood Camp.

Doctors and specialists engaged in these cases by the Rotary club performed their services without charge.

Count Cost, Examine Possibilities

Before new plans are laid for the Memorial Community Centre, a thorough examination of all possibilities and costs should be made, and the example of community centres in other cities studied.

* * *

Kingston, a larger place than Peterborough, has a new (1950) arena. It seats 3,340. It was built at the cost of $680,000, some of the money coming from subscriptions to it as a war memorial, some of it by vote of the ratepayers, some of it (because of a link with the agricultural society) from the Federal and Provincial Departments of Agriculture ($150,000 each). We hear that such grants for such a purpose are no longer in favour in Ottawa and Queen's Park. Last year for the first time in its three years of operation, the Kingston arena did not operate at a loss. In 1951 and 1952 the deficits on operation alone totalled about $15,000. Kingston expects, in years when its hockey does not reach play-offs, to have to meet, out of tax money, operating deficits of about $10,000.

* * *

Kingston's arena is used primarily for hockey matches, but wrestling, bingo, razzle-dazzle circuses, dances and hillbilly orchestras on tour fill some of the evenings during the six or seven months it is not used for hockey. The rental amounts (with attendants) to about $375 an evening when the ice is out, and $450-$500 an evening if the ice has to be removed. A few charitable organizations get the use of the place for as little as $100 an evening. Service clubs pay the higher fees, as do visiting dance bands and wrestlers. If Peterborough gets its arena, it might in some years not incur an operating deficit, under aggressive management and by charging sufficiently high rentals. Incidentally, no concerts take place in the Kingston Memorial Community Centre; it is not considered suitable, and is costly.

* * *

The situation in London is interesting. Like Peterborough with its Brock Street Rink, now a place for dancing and wrestling, London had a London Arena, built in the 1920's, and equipped with artificial ice and seats. It was transformed into a dance and wrestling place when hockey in London languished and the owners, though hockey enthusiasts, found they could make money out of the place, instead of losing it, by getting rid of the ice, skaters and hockey.

* * *

London has an arena of sorts in connection with the Western Ontario Fair; its seating capacity is limited. It also has an outdoor artificial ice rink. It has no big arena. After the war the ratepayers voted a million dollars to build one. The public subscribed $250,000. There were delays. The million-dollar vote lapsed. Three times since (last December, most recently) the voters have refused to sanction a money by-law for a new arena. The $250,000 acquired through donations is to be used to build some open-air artificial ice rinks.

* * *

The Peterborough Memorial Centre Fund also has, by coincidence, $250,000 in hand. To this money, many years ago, the ratepayers voted that $75,000 be added by the city. Debentures for this have not been issued, or included in any city budget, to date.

* * *

A meeting has been called tomorrow afternoon by the Mayor to reorganize the Memorial committee and to hear what the citizens want. Do they want a community centre, such as the fine Coste House in Calgary, an old mansion acquired as a recreation centre for adults as well as children, operated by a permanent staff, and intensively used by clubs and societies; a place where arts, crafts and hobbies flourish, and leisure is cultivated? Do they want something like the Kleinhans Music Hall in Buffalo, a new memorial auditorium, with restaurant and lounges and other facilities? Do they want a rink for spectators, like Kingston's arena? Do they want to follow London's example and build artificial outdoor rinks for children and adults, for skating and hockey, and not for commercial spectator sport? Or do they want a memorial library, a memorial garden, a memorial aquatic centre?

* * *

What they should know is what the memorial is going to cost, and how much the annual operating deficits are likely to be. A City Council niggling about $1,000 grants had better look pretty hard at a rink proposition which might require, after capital outlay, $10,000—or $30,000—a year in hand-outs to meet operating deficits.

* * *

We think that virtually every Peterborough citizen wants to see action on the Memorial Centre; The Examiner is certainly eager for such action as readers of these columns during past years well know. But we feel that every shade of opinion should be heard, and every financial problem faced, before a decision is made about the nature of the Centre. Let us not, after a long delay, go ahead so hastily that we find as last that we have bought a white elephant.

A Call For Pulpit Thunder

The United Church, at its annual meeting, heard a report from Dr. James Mutchmor, in which he called for 'more pulpit thunder', in which the Church would vigorously attack sin of all sorts—civic corruption, financial greed, totalitarian governments and irresponsible use of power by management, labour and farm federations'. This sounds interesting, and we hope that something comes of it.

People like rousing sermons, and are stirred by them as they are not by scholarly disquisitions, by theological instruction, or by lectures on ethics. We have sometimes thought that a preacher who would announce, and deliver, seven lively sermons on the Seven Deadly Sins—Pride, Avarice, Anger, Gluttony, Lechery, Sloth and Envy—would pack his church. People like to hear about sin, and it cannot be argued that the Seven Deadly Sins which so much exercised the medieval church are not active among us at present.

Some of the names of the Sins have an unaccustomed ring in modern ears. Sloth, for instance, is not a sin of which many people feel themselves to be guilty. But when we recall that some medieval preachers called it Languid Indifference, we recognize it at once in the life of our day; the Slothful are those upon whose lips the catch-phrase 'I couldn't care less' finds such a comfortable home. And we should remember, too, that the medieval Church was never completely in agreement about these Sins; some preachers insisted that Gloominess was a Deadly Sin, for it was the enemy of Hope, and a slow poison to the heart of man. In our day of the Hydrogen Bomb, and of seemingly endless international conferences, Gloominess is having a field-day, and is damning many a soul to a hell on earth, if not to a hell hereafter.

Pulpit thunder went out of fashion about thirty years ago. It was killed by preachers who could not distinguish between the real thunder of religious conviction, and the fake thunder which they made when they thumped the pulpit. They were the men who advertised widely that on a certain Sunday they would preach on 'The Meanest Man in Town—and Name Him From The Pulpit'. When the eager crowds turned up they were told that the Meanest Man in Town was Old Man Satan. This was not what they had been promised, and they became shy of such promises. They preferred to stay at home and nominate their own candidates for the title of Meanest Man.

Pulpit thunder—the real thing—is due for a revival. The United Church has called for it, and we shall keep our ear to the ground for the rumblings. We are sure that Dr. Mutchmor is right, and that it would be very welcome.

Is It Mercy?

In a recent editorial we commented upon the opposition to capital punishment which has made itself heard in various parts of the country, and in the Senate in the person of The Hon. Mr. Roebuck. We asked if it was always mercy to spare the life of a murderer? As a footnote to that comment, we print here L. E. Jones' epigram on the subject, called 'Guilty, But Insane':

Because your Soul's fine Instrument
Has broken down, and left your bare
Of means to follow your intent;
Because the break's beyond repair;
Because your spirit's envelope
Has nothing more to take or give;
We grant you no releasing rope.
But harshly sentence you to live.

NOTES AND COMMENT

If much more is printed about the evil effects of smoking, a lot of people are going to give up reading.

Lincoln's Gettysburg Address has now been set to music, but we foresee that the difficulty of the words will prevent it from ever becoming popular with the bebop crowd. Dig that crazy Abe!

A Frenchman has swallowed a flashlight bulb while eating his lunch, and the remark that he was always a light eater is sweeping the newspapers of the world.

South Africa now permits hunters to shoot twice as many gnus as formerly. From this we deduce that they are becoming a gnusance, and that no gnus might be good gnus.

PARIS LETTER

Survival Of The Fittest

By DENNIS BLOODWORTH

THE CITIZENS OF PARIS are happy today as they trudge through the dirty slush in the streets, ruining their shoes and occasionally falling heavily on the hard, slippery pavements. For it is thawing at last. During the past freezing fortnight some inhabitants of this gay city, it is true, have shown signs of enjoying themselves; but they have been few and far between, for there are not many polar bears in the Vincenne Zoo and only one Antarctic sea-elephant. In ridiculously cold weather the forty million blue-nosed bipeds of France have remained uniformly glum.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS is not surprising. The wave of Arctic cold which struck France at the beginning of the month froze into immobility much of the ingenious machinery which enables civilised man to cheat the Law of Survival of the Fittest. The gas pressure in Paris dropped almost to zero, and thousands of homes had no heating, no water and no facilities for cooking. Many people moved from polar apartments to hotels, for the warmest place in flats — or so a colleague assured me — was inside the refrigerator. Despite liberal use of anti-freeze, radiators and engine blocks of cars were, meanwhile, popping like soda-bottles, and garages and side streets were crammed with abandoned vehicles exuding an ominous icy ectoplasm.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE COLD held other perils. Food supplies to the city dropped dangerously as communications froze. Roads were blocked, waterways solidified, villages isolated by snow and electricity circuits cut. Fuel stocks ran down in the towns, and snow plows were working day and night — even in the sunny cities of the south, like Perpignan, where roofs of houses, garages and market buildings collapsed under the weight of snow.

Droves of wild boars, maddened with cold and hunger, invaded roads in Central France and raided farms. Near Toulouse the body of an old man was found torn to pieces by some savage beast.

Skating enthusiasts were in luck, however, for the lake in the Bois De Boulogne was frozen. But the real proof that the cold was not brought by the proverbial Ill Wind that Blows No Good came from the Department of Doubs, where farmers not only put warm clothes on their cows but served them regularly with hot grog.

✧ ✧ ✧

ABOVE ALL ELSE, the cold has produced one great and terrible story. When the icy winds first blew through the city and a relentless chill descended on the streets, it was as if the plague had broken out. Every morning heralded some new and ghastly find: an old man lying in a deserted brickyard, his sightless eyes turned to the frigid sky; the body of a woman on the main boulevard, the order evicting her from her home and so condemning her to death still clutched in a rigid fist; the glacial corpse of a four-month-old baby in the unheated plywood shack which its parents called home.

These were early casualties in an army of Frenchmen who are sentenced, by the housing shortage and high rents to sleep in streets, derelict vehicles, Metro (underground railway) stations or flimsy huts they have put up themselves. They are not only the tramps of the city, but often wage-earners or unemployed workers who cannot find cheap accommodation or who have been thrown out of their homes on some legal pretext.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT WAS the dynamic Abbe Pierre who came to their rescue. This priest, son of a Lyon silk manufacturer and former Member of Parliament, has selflessly devoted recent years to providing shelter for the homeless. He has laid bricks, wheedled building material from friends, begged from door to door for funds, and, with the "Companions of Emmaeus," his faithful supporters, daily toured the Paris dust-bins, raking out anything that could be sold to buy space, mortar, wood, corrugated iron — whatever would make a wall or roof for a destitute family.

✧ ✧ ✧

HE HAS now taught the French Administration a lesson it needed: how to unite the French people. Working from his humble quarters, he appealed on the radio and in the Press for emergency aid for the distressed during the cold spell. His story soon filled pages of every newspaper in the city and it was on everyone's lips. The response was almost miraculous. Reception centres set up in Paris to take in gifts accumulated 120 million francs and 120 tons of clothing in the first five days. Several hotels, including one in Belgium, offered free bedrooms to the destitute, and every night, cars, trucks and taxis circled the town, picking up homeless people on the street and taking them to improvised refuges where they were given food, warmth and a bed.

The police, drawn into the general movement, also quartered the town, and brought shelterless people into their stations for a meal and a place by the fire. Private persons opened their homes to the needy, and municipalities, fashion houses, newspapers and cultural groups subscribed money, offered accommodation, collected comforts or held gala meetings to help the cause.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE ABBE dominated the scene, emphasising the need for permanent homes for the four thousand street-wanderers and innumerable shack-dwellers. His pithy words were passed from mouth to mouth: "I want to be the flea that makes the Administration jump . . . the insurrection of bounty may yet turn into an insurrection of rage." There are signs that he is already achieving his object. The Government, its conscience awakened, now plans to build "emergency cities" to end the misery — and the deaths.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE TALES of the Abbe, who does not mince his words, have shocked a horrified people into action. He relates how one woman went mad after she, her husband, their children and two other complete families had lived in a hut, nine feet by twelve feet in area, for three years; how one destitute, admiring the grave of a homeless friend who had just died of privation, commented: "Well, he has certainly got more accommodation dead than he ever had alive"; how an eighteen year old girl, after attempted suicide, described her life with her numerous family in what was no more than an extensive trench. They are stories of family life in upturned trucks, caves, doorways and packing crates. Gas, electricity, water, cooking, real furniture, and warmth itself, play no part in them.

Nor do the Communists. One woman, reading the fulminating articles in "Humanite," the Communist Party newspaper, about these hardships, went to its editorial offices and appealed for help from any Party member who would give her shelter. There was an explosion of activity, but after several hours she was told: "You had better go to Abbe Pierre. Perhaps he can help you."

An American Opinion:
RAPIDLY APPROACHING A FATEFUL DECISION

Ontario's Boundary Debt To French Canada

(OTTAWA CITIZEN)

THE final settlement of the Ontario-Manitoba border has occasioned little excitement, even though Ontario gobbles up another chunk of land claimed by Manitoba. For the deed was done scientifically, and the result — 200 new acres for Ontario, containing possibly untold wealth in uranium, nickel, or wild rice, at least — flowed from decisions made many years ago. At one time in the border controversy, however, each province was arresting constables of the other within a disputed area of 100,000 square miles.

Now that the matter has been settled, it may be admitted that a glance at the map suggests a certain hoggish tendency on the part of Ontario. Why should Kenora have to look to Toronto, away around the big lakes, as the seat of government, instead of Winnipeg? Why should Manitoba not have ports on Lake Superior? Fortunately for Ontario, no such common sense questionings prevailed. History saved the day.

By the Quebec Act, the boundaries of the old colony had been fixed as running from the junction of the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers northward to the territory of the Hudson's Bay Company. Ontario inherited this definition, and Premier Oliver Mowat insisted that the line should be drawn from the source of the Mississippi. Prime Minister John A. Macdonald at Ottawa favored the extension of a line drawn north from the junction of the two rivers, passing just east of Port Arthur. Manitoba would then have some lakeshore, and the federal government would profit, because it controlled public lands in the West.

In 1878, three arbitrators decided that Ontario should extend westward to Lake of of the Woods and northward to the Albany River. But Ottawa gave no part of the territory to Manitoba. The Privy Council in London, however, confirmed the arbitration award, as did the British Parliament in 1889. Early in the 20th century, Manitoba gained part of the District of Keewatin, becoming a maritime province with a coastline on Hudson Bay. But Ontario also got a big share of the northern territory. The latest bill, corrects a minor error of 1930 in fixing the intersection of the 89th meridian of west longitude and Hudson Bay.

Ontario, it seems owes its western boundary to Quebec and the French traders who established Canadian claims in the heart of the continent.

Two Million X-Rays

(Montreal Star)

Twelve years ago a small group of Montrealers set out to fight the tuberculosis scourge in Montreal which, year after year, had taken a toll that gave this city an unenviable reputation. Their idea was that the most effective way to deal with tuberculosis was not so much to cure — although that was of course of the utmost importance when possible — as to spot the first symptoms of the malady, — and go on from there. They established the Montreal Anti-Tuberculosis League, and with one X-ray machine and all the enthusiasm in the world went to work.

Success was immediate. Although compared with last year's figure of 300,000 X-rays the 20,000 of the first year seems small enough, it was a fine beginning for a somewhat experimental idea and showed that the public was aware of the importance of prevention and was more than willing to co-operate. Besides, there was only one X-ray machine. On Thursday last the League tooks its two millionth chest X-ray. There are now five mobile units which are perpetually on the move, plus complete equipment at headquarters. Although it was originally intended to serve the urban district of Montreal, the League's equipment goes far afield though much of the province. It went into 27 counties last year and will probably continue to expand still further.

Moscow Manifesto

(New York Times)

Even though next month's election to the Supreme Soviet will be the same dreary one-party farce as in the past, the Kremlin has felt it desirable to issue an election manifesto. All the old chords are sounded in this document. There is much boasting of Soviet successes in raising steel, coal and similar production. And, as usual, the record is claimed to prove "the indisputable world-wide superiority of socialism over capitalism."

These claims may be "indisputable" in the Soviet Union, where the secret police work hard to assure that there will be no dispute. But if there were an opposition party permitted to speak up it would have many questions arising from the recent Soviet report on 1953 economic progress.

Why, for example, did Soviet consumer goods production make so little progress last year in such basic fields as textile and shoe production? Why has grain production remained almost stationary these past several years, after all the promises of the gains to be made from amalgamating the collective farms? Why were there such disappointing gains or even declines in some cases, in the production of farm machinery and equipment for producing consumer goods?

Soviet citizens dare not ask such questions openly. But many of them must have such questions in their minds after comparing the flamboyant promises made last summer and fall with the most unimpressive performance now recorded by the Government's own accounting of the first year of its stewardship over the national economy.

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

And it was told the king of Egypt that the people fled: and the heart of Pharaoh and of his servants was turned against the people, and they said, Why have we done this, that we have let Israel go from serving us?

And he made ready his chariot, and took his people with him . . .

And when Pharaoh drew nigh, the children of Israel lifted up their eyes, and, behold, the Egyptians marched after them; and they were sore afraid: and the children of Israel cried out unto the Lord . . .

And Moses said unto the people, Fear ye not, stand still, and see the salvation of the Lord, which he will shew to you today: for the Egyptians whom ye have seen to day, ye shall see them again no more for ever. The Lord shall fight for you, and yet shall hold your peace.

And the Lord said unto Moses, Wherefore criest thou unto me? speak unto the children of Israel, that they go forward: but lift thou up thy rod, and stretch out thine hand over the sea, and divide it: and the children of Israel shall go on dry ground through the midst of the sea . . .

And Moses stretched out his hand over the sea; and the Lord caused the sea to go back by a strong east wind all that night, and made the sea dry land, and the waters were divided. And the children of Israel went into the midst of the sea upon the dry ground: and the waters were a wall unto them on their right hand, and on their left . . . Thus the Lord saved Israel that day out of the hand of the Egyptians. (Ex. 14:5, 6, 10, 13-16, 21, 22, 30.)

The Rewards of Research

(Wall Street Journal)

When Sir Isaac Newton, lolling under the apple tree, got knocked on the head he made the profound discovery that things up in the air tend to fall down. This had been vaguely suspected by small boys and even a few wise men, but the world was indebted to Sir Isaac for formalizing common sense into a general law of physical behaviour.

A dispatch from Philadelphia this morning reports that A. J. Wood and Co., a market research firm, has been lolling about the nation's department stores and formulated a general law of female behaviour.

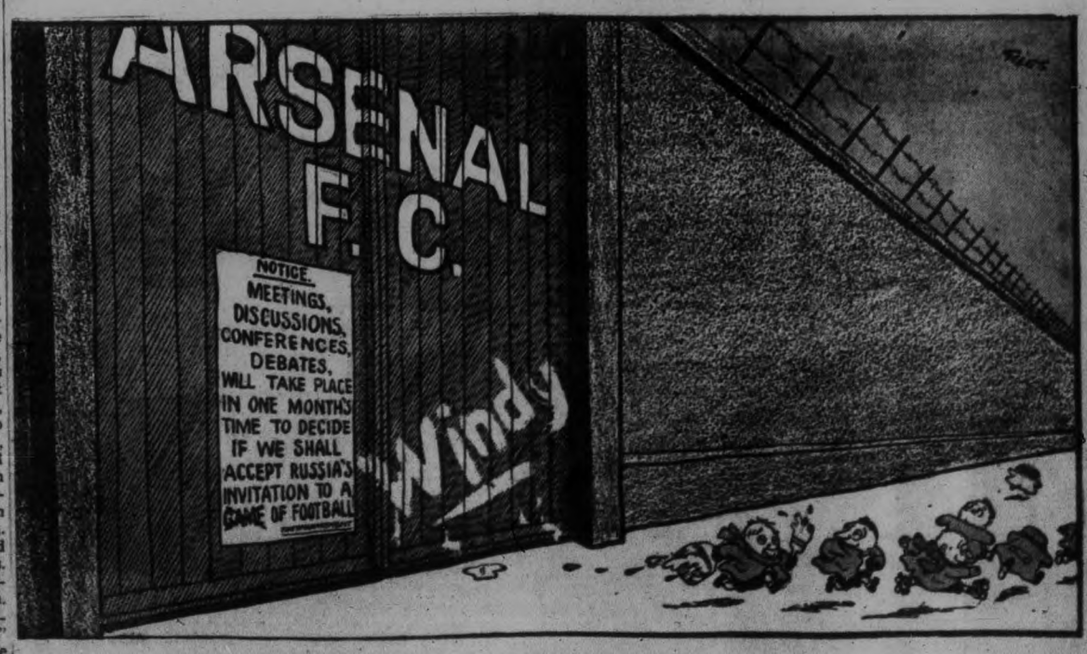
The gist of this discovery is that when the lady has a charge account she is more apt to buy than when she hasn't. In statistical terms — the only terms that count in scientific research — 57 per cent of the ladies will go into a store armed with a charge account buy something before they get out whereas only 43 per cent of those who have to pay cash will buy anything.

Research has also probed into the reasons for this behaviour characteristic. It turns out, upon close study, that the ladies find buying more tempting when they don't have to pay for it than they do when they do. This will probably come to be known as the Scarlet O'Hara syndrome or the I'll-think-about-that-tomorrow compulsion.

This significant report comes just in time to clear up the mystery of why our New Year's budget plans are gone with the wind. The February bills had just disclosed to us a wide use of the January sales when we had thought from the January bills that everything possible had been bought in December.

We don't know how long it took Mr. Wood and company to assemble their data and come to such conclusions. But it does go to show what marvellous discoveries can come out of scientific research and thinking.

A BRITISH OPINION



"That'll make 'em accept"

FOUR MEN FROM ENNISMORE township, and four generations of the same family gathered in the city on Wednesday evening to have the event recorded by the photographer. Change Act To End Power Of County

TORONTO (CP)—A bill which would amend part of the Municipal Act to provide that all requests for alterations in municipal status be referred to the municipal board was introduced in the legislature Thursday by Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar.

The amended act, retroactive to last Jan. 1, would take away a county's power to establish villages.

Thinks Hotels Should Get Help From Government

OTTAWA (CP)—Dalton J. Caswell of Sundridge, executive chairman of the Hotel Association of Canada, thinks the federal government should give hotels the same financial assistance it gives other industries.

Mr. Caswell told the Senate committee on tourist traffic Thursday that the hotel business is doing its best to accommodate the increasing flow of tourists, but it needs money for expansion.

He said hotels should be allowed to obtain loans through the Industrial Bank of Canada the same as any manufacturing industry.

HAMPERED BY COSTS

Mr. Caswell said the hotel industry, which did $390,000,000 worth of business in 1952, is being hampered by high operating, expansion and construction costs.

He said the operating costs are up from 200 to 300 per cent.

Mr. Caswell also recommended that the federal government spend more on publicizing Canada in the United States. The government spent some $931,000 on tourist advertisements in the U.S. last year.

MP Objects To New Film

OTTAWA (CP) — A Toronto Liberal says that a new National Film Board production entitled "Farewell Oak Street" is "deeply offensive to the human dignity of many Canadians."

Charles Henry, Rosedale, made the protest Thursday in the Commons and asked Citizenship Minister Harris, who reports to Parliament for the board, whether the government is considering restricted distribution.

Speaker Rene Beaudoin ruled there was nothing urgent about the question and said Mr. Henry should submit it to the government in writing.

Officials of the film board said "Farewell Oak Street" is a film dealing with the low-rental Regent Park housing development in Toronto.

The development is being built in a former slum area at a cost of between $15,000,000 and $16,000,000 and is expected to be completed by the end of 1956.

No Gov't Publication Pushing Margarine

OTTAWA (CP) — There is no health department publication suggesting Canadian housewives serve margarine.

Health Minister Martin gave this information Thursday in a parliamentary return tabled for Raoul Poulin (Ind - Beauce) who asked:

"Is there a publication issued by any department or agency of the government in which prospective consumers are advised to serve margarine during meals?"

Mr. Martin replied:

"There is no publication issued by the nutrition division of the department of national health and welfare which is concerned with margarine alone or which advises consumers to serve margarine in distinction to other spreads."

15 Per Cent Turnover Among Civil Servants

TORONTO (CP)—A 15 per cent turnover through resignations among Ontario civil servants occurred in the 1952-53 fiscal year, the report of the civil service commission shows.

The report, by commissioner C.J. Foster, was tabled in the legislature Thursday.

The number of civil servants was 17,540 and the number of resignations 2,567. Mr. Foster noted that the resignation rate among temporary employees was 35 per cent —1,722—while among permanent workers it was 6.7 per cent—845.

Cut Wheat Price To Get More Customers

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has sliced the price of wheat on the eastern seaboard by seven cents a bushel in a drive to pick up more customers in Europe.

Trade Minister Howe said Thursday in the Commons that the move will result in the sale of more Canadian wheat. But the price shift, while "realistic," is not permanent. It may be changed next spring when Great Lakes shipping is reopened.

What the government has done, in effect, said Mr. Howe, is lower the price at the Lakehead so buyers can get wheat as cheaply at Montreal and Halifax as they can at Vancouver.

SLIGHT ADVANTAGE

Previously the differential was such, that Vancouver had a slight price advantage. More wheat was currently going out of that port than last year.

The price at the Lakehead now is $1.79 a bushel in Canadian funds for No. 1 northern, compared with $2.03 at the opening of the crop year last August. The price at Vancouver is about $1.85 and at Churchill about $1.87.

The price at Halifax is the same as at Montreal—$1.79 a bushel plus 21 cents freight, a total of $2. The Canadian wheat board, which represents the growers, absorbs the freight cost between Montreal and Halifax. This move was made some time ago to attract customers to Halifax.

BIG SURPLUSES

The United Kingdom, Canada's best wheat customer, declined to sign the new International Wheat Agreement last year, because the top exporters, Canada and the United States, insisted on an IWA ceiling of $2.05 (U.S.), rather than accept Britain's offer of $2.

Heavy surpluses both in Canada and the U.S. and lagging buying interest in overseas customers steadily pared the price. Meanwhile competition for markets between Canada and the U.S. has been increasing.

No sooner did Canada announce her price change earlier this week than the U.S. immediately boosted her east-coast export subsidy to make American wheat prices competitive with Canadian.

INITIATED DISCUSSION

Opposition Leader Drew initiated the wheat discussion in the Commons when he asked Mr. Howe for an explanation of the price change.

Mr. Howe maintained that the new prices "are not really a lowering of the prices." It had been the government's policy to price wheat the same at all three marketing points—Vancouver, Fort William-Port Arthur and Churchill, Man.

"Owing to higher rail rates within Canada and lower ocean freight rates outside of Canada, the effect of that policy has been that the Vancouver rate has been very much lower than the Fort William rate."

Maintenance Act Being Revised

TORONTO (CP) — A bill that would give juvenile and family court judges the power to hear parents' maintenance cases was introduced in the legislature Thursday.

It was introduced by Attorney-General Porter and is a general revision of the Parents' Maintenance Act. Only magistrates now are allowed to hear such cases.

Use 156 Vessels For Grain Storage

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is using 156 Canadian and United States ships as bins to help provide storage for her huge stockpile of grain.

The trade department, in a parliamentary return, estimated Thursday that 112 Canadian and 44 U.S. ships, wintering on the Great Lakes and eastern Canada, have been loaded with grain, including about 18,000,000 bushels of wheat.

Included in the lot are 11 ships at Montreal, 10 at Toronto, another 10 at Kingston and Goderich, 16 at Port Colborne, nine at Midland, 17 at Chicago and another 17 at Buffalo, N.Y.

Tobacco Barns Burn

TILLSONBURG (CP) — Two tobacco barns were destroyed by fire near here within a few hours of each other Thursday, with losses estimated at $35,000. Some 450 bales of tobacco was lost in the blaze on the farm of Jon Sofalvi. The barn of Frans Drees contained seven kilns of tobacco, two horses and farm implements.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

One further reminder—don't forget the citizens' meeting re the Memorial Community Centre. It's open to the public, everyone interested in this project being invited to call at the City Hall committee room at two tomorrow afternoon. Mayor Norman Graham called the meeting to further the progress of securing the erection of the Centre building, with a special bid for those of either sex interested in recreation and sports. Proposed slate of general committee members will be submitted at the time. It's high time this oft-delayed project got underway and a definite start made toward fulfilling a civic need in the growing city of Peterborough. This is your meeting.

In Belleville they're having an NHL Oldtimers' puck exhibition this eve, and none other than Mike Rodden will referee. It will be the 2,854th hockey game he has handled for an all-time officiating record. As George Carver says: "Don Miguel has established an enviable record as an official in hockey annals of Canada. He was one of the most courageous, most-feared arbiters in the business, one who had the respect and esteem of players, coaches, managers and officials of the National Hockey League and the amateur loops, too, before he joined the pro ranks. Mike feared none. The bigger and louder they were, the better Mike liked it. He backed away from nobody, a trait that he still maintains."

* * * * * *

Mike's Been Around

Yes, the veteran sports scribe of Kingston has had a colorful career in sports. Worked for years on a Toronto daily as sports editor, played and coached hockey and football, was a track steward, and a long-time puck ref. Officiated at 1,187 NHL games over a 13-year stretch. He claims 27 titles ranging all the way down from the Grey Cup. NHL president Frank Calder used to say the four greatest of all time referees were Lou Marsh, Mickey Ion, Cooper Smeaton and Mike Rodden. The husky grey-haired scribe of the Whig-Standard is as scrappy as ever, and we anticipate some lively verbal battles if Kingston and Petes face each other in our group finals.

* * * * * *

Speaking of the senior "B" setup, Orillia and Petes clash here tonight in an important fray for both sides. The hard-hitting Ponties smeared Ed Redmond's men last meeting up Orillia way, and they're out to win again and clinch a playoff berth ahead of the surging Memos. In fact they want to finish in front of Kingston, too, to grab a third-place slot for playoffs within two weeks. The Petes are fighting hard to take over sole possession of first place ahead of the tenacious Oshawa Truckmen, whom they meet next night in Bowmanville. Sounds like a sizzling struggle between two scrappy squads, with no quarter asked or given—apart, that is, from a couple from the fans as they file in at the gate.

Minor Puckists Play

Three lively exhibition puck tussles on the Civic cushion last mild e'en and a great many fans stayed at home. Juvenile Aces took a 5-3 victory o'er Junior Petes, the midget Shamrocks won 4-1 from Port Hope juves, and St. James midgets of the Church Loop edged the bantam Shamrock 5-4. Tomorrow in Port Perry, the juve Ace of the PMHA—with Angus Bradley manager and Bill Crowley coach—open OMHA playdowns against Oshawa, return one being here next Thursday. No word yet on our bantam or midget playdowns. Junior Petes take on Port Perry here next Wednesday in the third OHA group final, being down two. Church games at Civic tomorrow morn: Mark St. vs. Park St. midgets, Park St. vs. St. James peewees, Knox vs. George St. peewees, St. George's vs. St. James midgets, and St. James vs. Knox bantams.

Lots of weekend hoop activity again as winter wears along. SPS juniors yanked out a 30-29 group playoff win in Bowmanville to nurse a one-point margin for the return here Feb. 27. SPS midgets won 33-25 from PCVS in an OABA tilt. Three boys' teams trek tonight to Lindsay, and two Kenner squads play in Lakefield. SPS junior girls and senior boys are in playoffs this eve at Port Hope, while final loop frays see Lindsay junior and senior lasses meeting PCVS teams at the local hall of learning. Twin bill starts at seven. Black's and Collis go at 7.30 in the YW tonight to open best-of-three senior finals, loser going back into the intermediate playoff scramble. Collis and Hamilton have an exhibition at 8.30 Sat'day evening in the YW, and Collis open LOBA playdows in Toronto next Wednesday. At the Collegiate tomorrow p.m. at seven, SPS and PCVS juniors clash, followed by Toronto Eaton's Jr. Exec. aces vs. the senior PCI-ers in an exhibition.

St. Peter's Gain Junior Lead At Bowmanville

It was only a point but that point may help give St. Peter's High juniors the lakeshore district basketball title for junior "B" teams. The young Saints took that one point as a lead in their two-game points to count series with Bowmanville High Thursday night when they won 30-29 in Bowmanville. The return game will be played February 27 at St. Peter's.

In an OABA midget game earlier this week the Saints edged past PCVS midgets 33-25 in another low-scoring game.

Bowmanville High led only once in the playoff game as the Saints held a slim one or two point edge throughout. The lakeshore team led by only one point, 9-8 in the first quarter on baskets by Ken Kelly, Ted Colwell, George Marlow and Don Cramp. Ron Board and Don Masterson scored the Saints' eight points.

But in the second quarter Board, Bob Hickey and Ray Allen scored baskets to give Saints a seven-point lead, 18-11, at the half as they held Bowmanville to one basket for two points.

Herb Ritter and Kelly led a Bowmanville rally in the third quarter and nearly wiped out the Saints' lead. But on foul shots and a basket, Dan Quinlan and Board allowed Saints to still hold the lead 23-20 at three-quarters.

A CLOSE FINISH

The Saints, led by Quinlan, Masterson and Allen, strengthened their winning margin in the fourth, but the Bowmanville quintet rallied, falling short of a tie by a single point.

The game scoring honors went to Bowmanville, Ken Kelly with 14, while teammate Colwell had 10. The Saints' best were Board with 10 and Masterson with nine.

A strong first quarter gave the Saints' midgets a wide margin over PCVS in the city league game. The Saints led 13-2 in the first quarter, stayed ahead 23-14 at the half, slumped 27-22 in the third and strengthened in the fourth for the 33-25 victory.

Tom Nolan led the game scoring with 12 points for St. Peter's.

F. Worsencroft Best

Vera Page again led in lasses' scoring in the Mercantile Bowling League this week with a 258 effort and a 661 total. Frank Worsencroft led men with a neat 325, plus 283 and 243 games for a dandy triple of 851. Empress led teams with 2942. Crowe's blanked Prudential, as did Baker's over Austin's, and Nicholls against A & P No. 2. The A & P No. 1 team downed East City 3-1, while Empress and Neill's split.

Some good bowling has been seen most of the season by the girls and men in this trundling circuit, and it was especially good in the Tuesday night competitions this week. Frank (Barney) Worsencroft, always a steady bowler, was hot to rack up his neat count to top the men on the evening's play.

Mrs. T. Doughty's Local Rink Captures Warne Trophy

In one of the best played final bonspiel games, that has been seen at the local rink for a long time, Mrs. Thomas Doughty's local rink defeated her club-mate's rink, skipped by Mrs. H. Dulmage, by the small score of 7-4. So close was the game that at the half-way mark the scoreboard read—Dulmage 3—Doughty 2. These ladies put up a real smart exhibition of curling and it went right along with other games played during the two days' 'spiel. In the final of the second event, the veteran, Mrs. R. McIntosh of Lindsay, won a one-sided victory from Mrs. F. Chase also from Lindsay.

In the third event final, Mrs. H. Wilson's rink from Keene put up a good fight against Mrs. E. Free, Oakwood. They were only defeated 9-5.

ONE OF THE BEST

The ladies' two-day open bonspiel for the Warne Trophy came to a successful conclusion about 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening. It may not have been the biggest of bonspiels but it will certainly go on the records as one of the best.

The curling was well above the average of bonspiel games. During the two days' play, six games went overtime and in six other games the score was all square beginning the 10th end.

Something new was added to the bonspiel this year, and that was the broadcasting of the games and of the interviews by CHEX.

DID FINE JOB

The bonspiel committee of Mrs. L. Bearne, convener, with Mrs. G. Wood, Mrs. V. Selkirk, Mrs. J. Green, Mrs. D. Norman and Mrs. J. Wooker looked after all the details, and they were many, to make it a successful bonspiel.

Mrs. R. Morgan and her house committee and Mrs. I. MacGillivary's social committee came in for many nice compliments.

Dave Charlton, official umpire, was a busy man. On several occasions he could not give a decision and had to call it a draw.

The two ice makers were not overlooked by the ladies.

Sportswriters Dinner Garners $34,000 For Crippled Children

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Sportswriters' and Sportscasters' Association has undertaken to raise $42,000 for crippled children's camps during the next three years. It picked up $34,000 Thursday night.

The association said it realized $22,000 from its third annual $25-a-plate sports celebrities dinner attended by greats of the past and present. At the dinner it was announced that an anonymous Toronto financier had donated $12,700 towards the projects.

The money will go to a $34,000 lodge and playground at Lakewood Camp, 12 miles west of Port Colborne on Lake Erie. The other $8,000 will go into Camp Northwood near Kirkland Lake.

The funds were turned over to Conn Smythe of Toronto, treasurer of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children.

Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, chosen by an association poll as Ontario's athlete of the year, was presented with the association shield for the second time in three years. Others on hand included boxing's Tommy Burns, football's Herman Hickman, hockey's John Ross Roach and Eddie Shore, baseball's Tris Speaker and racing's Earl Sande.

Granites Eliminate Chatham 10-8 For Spiel Trophy

TORONTO (CP)—The race for the big prize—the Royal York Trophy—ended Thursday night with a 10-8 victory by Vern Mathewman of Toronto Granites over Pete Gilbert of Chatham at the Ontario bonspiel.

Mathewman, who eliminated Gerve Reeve, last year's winner, in an extra-end game Wednesday, shut out T. O. Loveless of Brantford 9-4 earlier in the day to reach the finals.

The Granite crew was matched by Chatham in the first six ends of their game when the score was tied at 4-4. Gilbert advanced two in the seventh which Mathewman equalled in the eighth. Gilbert counted a single in the ninth to edge the Toronto foursome 7-6 with three ends left to go. But Vern Mathewman clinched the game with a three-end in the 10th and added another in the final while the best Gilbert could get was a single in the 11th.

Another Toronto quartet walked away with the second prize—the Birks trophy—when Andy Grant of the Royal Canadian Club defeated Lou Ross of Agincourt 13-2.

ROSS CONCEDES

Grant opened strongly with a four in the first end, counted singles in the second, third and fourth, chalked up a three in the fifth and added another single in the sixth. Lou Ross notched his double in the seventh which Grant equalled in the eighth. Only eight ends were played for this decision.

In a Seiberling semi-final game J. W. Raine of Brampton defeated John B. MacFarlane of St. Paul, Minn., 12-8. The second semi-final for the third prize was scheduled for play today.

Other play scheduled for today include the North American Life semi-finals. Rinks from Lindsay, Granites, Torontos and the Royal Canadian Club will compete for the fourth-prize trophy.

Surviving rinks from the third round in the Seagram trophy came from Torontos, Granites, Kingston, Campbellton, N.B., Georgetown, Fenelon Falls and two from Toronto High Park.

Of the 16 rinks left in the Monarch, 11 were from local clubs. In the first round, where qualifiers in the Royal York and Birks trophies met in opposition, only five of the latter won.

TWO EXTRA ENDS

Of the 111 games played Wednesday 20 were won by a one-shot and 18 by a two. Two extra ends were played. L. J. Mackay of Lindsay needed an 11th end to edge J. D. McIntosh of High Park 8-7 and Bert Kennedy of Toronto Royals shaded Judge A. Cochrane of Brampton 9-8 in the other.

All games in the Ontario bonspiel are 10-enders except in semi-finals and finals, which have 12.

Ten games were lost by default Thursday.

Quebec Aces Buying Major Team Interest

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP)—Officials of Trois-Rivieres Reds of the Quebec Junior Hockey League said Thursday negotiations are under way for sale of a major interest in the club to Quebec Aces of the Quebec League.

A statement said that in view of declining attendance, not only restricted to Trois-Rivieres, club officials entered into discussions with organizations interested in hockey, including Quebec Aces, which could "efficiently support and promote the local team."

Club officials said they did not wish to sell the club but they were willing to sell a major interest so that some organization could build a powerful team for Trois-Rivieres.

Trois-Rivieres is in third place in the five-team league.

Aces, Shamrocks, Saints Take Minor Hockey Frays

The PMHA juvenile Aces yanked out a 5-3 exhibition hockey win over the Junior Petes at Civic Arena last night before a small crowd of fans in an exhibition triple-header of minor hockey. The local midget Shamrocks (sponsored by Police A.C.) downed Port Hope juveniles 4-1 in their joust. St. James' midgets of the Church Loop jerked out a 5-4 victory over the bantam Shamrocks, sponsored by the Travellers Assoc. The three PMHA teams, all city victors, are presently going into OMHA provincial "A" playdowns, the juvenile Aces playing Oshawa at Port Perry tomorrow evening to start their series, while the Junior Petes are in OHA group finals now with Port Perry. Their next tilt will be here next Wednesday.

Some fine hockey marked all three of the tussles staged here last evening, the Aces-Petes' fray bing the cleanest of them all.

EVEN IN FIRST

Floyd counted from Ferren for Aces in the first period, as Frizzelle scored on a pass from Doris for Junior Petes. Ferren got another in the second, and Strickland tallied on a solo. In the third, Floyd and Brooks hit the hemp for the winners, while Coyle and McDougall scored for Junior Petes, Ball aiding on the latter. The losers drew two of the three penalties.

Midget Shamrocks took a 2-1 lead in the first over Port Hope as Pace and Pete Heffernan scored neat ones, Armstrong helping on the first. Carr counted for the Ports. Chris Heffernan added one for Shamrocks next heat, and Baker got one for them in the third on Mahoney's pass. The victors were given six penalties and the losers five.

St. James midgets flew for a 3-0 lead in the initial inning of their tilt, Patterson, Rose and Elmsley all notching goals, Heard and Huffman getting an assist each. Patterson and Elmsley tallied next chukker for them, with Merrett and Rose each in on one. Anthony scored one for Shamrocks that frame. The losers fought hard in the third for a 3-0 margin, though not enough to sew up the game. Fitzgerald got one goal for them and McIntosh two, while Drummond and Nichols earned an assist apiece. The Saints were given six penalties and the losers three in the lively contest.

M. Knights led lasses in the Lucky Strike Bowling League with a 773 triple and singles of 340 and 240. Gibbons blanked Butcher, as Pope whitewashed Dunfield. Parsons won 3-1 from Calalghan, Knights did the same with McBride, while Reed and Miles split evenly.

Better triples: M. Payne 651, A. Reed 615, J. Steen 611, G. Hall 578, J. Pope 571, B. McBride 565, I. Shaw 545, M. Pearson 525, R. McMillan 524, K. Bullied 524, J. Sedgewick 524, M. Callaghan 520, H. Parsons 519, M. Paterson 518, L. Murdock 513; better singles: M. Payne 256 and 207, G. Hall 253, M. Pearson 248, H. Parsons 251, J. Steen 234 and 223, A. Reed 233 and 204, J. Pope 230, I. Shaw 215 and 203, L. Murdock 217, I. Penrose 215, M. Callaghan 211, B. Aitken 211, B. McBride 206, B. Gardiner 204, H. Stacey 202, J. Sedgewick 202, M. Paterson 201, M. Tanner 201.

S. Heckman On Top

Shirley Heckman had high three of 695 this week in the YMCA senior girls' bowling league, while Dot Martin rolled best single with her 276 effort. Aces whitewashed Commandos, while Glens took four points from Bombers, Lucky Strikes four from Hurricanes, and Tigers four against the Corvettes.

Better triples were: D. Martin 659, Mary Morton 646, Betty Castle 626, Lil Crocker 619, P. Menard 605, Betty Pogue 602 and Dot Woods 601. In singles, S. Heckman hit a 263, M. Morton 257, I. Penrose 251, Mary Gimblett 243, Ethel Stanbury 238 and Mary Hepburn 231.

Norris Drives Bargain To Get Player Draft

CHICAGO (AP)—The Sun-Times says today that James Norris, who recently sold his interests in Detroit Red Wings, drove a bargain to get a National Hockey League player draft plan.

"Norris agreed, after much haggling, to sell his Red Wing interest to his brother, Bruce, and sister, Marguerite, on the condition that the rest of the league members approve a player draft system," the newspaper says.

Norris and Arthur Wirtz owned part of Detroit Olympia which controls the Red Wings, the Sun-Times adds. Bruce Norris, in turn, had some interest in Chicago Black Hawks and was vice-president of the team.

EXERT PRESSURE

"As the pressure mounted to break up this family alliance," says the newspaper, "James Norris began to exert some of his own to remedy the desperate plight of the Hawks. After much haggling, the draft plan was agreed upon. The owners assured Norris they would vote for it at the next NHL meeting.

"Norris and Wirtz then sold their Detroit holdings to Marguerite and Bruce, who in return disposed of their Chicago interests."

The Red Wings lead the NHL. The Black Hawks, in last place, have won 10 of 51 games.

SWISS BOW AGAIN

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia defeated the Swiss hockey team Thursday night, 3-1. The Swiss made a better showing than in their 13-1 loss to the Russians Tuesday, but still were no match for the Soviet team.

Canadiens Whip Detroit 4-2, In Rough Game

By JIM BASTABLE, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Frank Udvari just happens to get the rough hockey games. It is never a soft touch refereeing a National Hockey League game, but Udvari has had to squelch more brawls and near-brawls this year than all the other four referees together. And, Frank doesn't like it. He had his hands full Thursday night as the quick-tempered Montreal Canadiens defeated the league leading Detroit Red Wings 4-2 at Montreal Forum. Udvari's accusing finger was working overtime. He got the works right from the start as the 14,501 fans saw an outburst of rough stuff that ended with seven penalties.

Before the game was over, and the Canadiens had moved back into a second-place tie with Toronto Maple Leafs, Udvari handed out 18 penalties, including three majors and two misconducts. Nine of the sentences went to Montreal.

The game wasn't as bad as some Udvari has handled this year. But, there was plenty of action and Udvari has said before that he would rather quit than get mixed up in brawls.

AWAY IN FRONT

The loss left the Red Wings with a 10-point lead over Montreal and Toronto.

Ken Mosdell, Maurice Richard, Bert Olmstead and Elmer Lach scored for Montreal. Red Kelly and Ted Lindsay tallied for Detroit.

It was the only league game of the night and Udvari started blowing his whistle before it was 45 seconds old.

Rookie Bill Dineen of the Wings drew a double major, which carries an automatic misconduct, and later Detroit goalkeeper Terry Sawchuk drew a misconduct when he chased Udvari about the ice to protest Olmstead's goal, which proved to be the winner.

Dineen and Olmstead slugged it out in the opening seconds and the Montreal leftwinger was given a minor for cross-checking and a major for fighting. Dineen's two majors were for high sticking, which drew blood, and for fighting.

FIREWORKS OVER

Seconds later Richard went out with a double minor—for slashing and high sticking. Most of the fireworks were over after that but the two clubs threw many stiff body-checks.

Jacques Plante was in the nets again for Canadiens and he handled 17 shots. Sawchuk kicked out 44 Montreal drives.

Only one game is scheduled for tonight. The fifth-place New York Rangers take on the last-place Black Hawks in Chicago.

Trabert Downs Shields In First Round

NEW YORK (AP) — American champion Tony Trabert of Cincinnati Thursday night subdued Frank Shields of New York 0-6, 9-7, 6-2 in the opening round of the United States indoor tennis championships.

Henri Rochon of Montreal, third seeded among the foreign competitors, defeated Dick Sorlein of Philadelphia 6-0, 7-5.

It was the first tennis for the Davis Cupper Trabert since he lost to the veteran John Bromwich at Sydney, Australia, last month and it was his first appearance on hardwood since the 1950 national indoors at this same armory.

BREEZES PAST PAGEL

Kurt Nielsen, young Danish powerhouse who was runner-up to lefty Art Larsen in the indoor a year ago, breezed past Harry Pagel of University of Notre Dame, 6-0, 6-0.

Budge Patty, the internationalist who registers from Los Angeles, Paris and New York, eliminated 16-year-old Ronald Holmberg of Brooklyn, N.Y., one of the United States' best-looking young prospects, 6-2, 6-4.

Wimbledon champion Vic Seixas of Philadelphia advanced easily past Don Thompson of New York 6-2, 6-0.

Trio Suspended For 15 Games

GLACE BAY, N.S. (CP) — The heaviest suspensions in Maritime Major Hockey League history were levied Thursday night against Carroll Bloom and Bob Bowness of Halifax Atlantics and Bill Needham of Glace Bay Miners for fight.

They will sit out a total of 15 games and pay fines totalling $175 for their part in Wednesday night's game, which the Miners won 4-3.

Bloom, a defenceman, was suspended nine games—the remainder of the schedule—and fined $100 for attempting to injure Needham.

Needham will sit out four games and pay $50 for his part in the fracas. He was also charged with attempting to injure. He and Bloom clashed in the last minute of play and received match penalties.

Bowness was suspended for two games and fined $25. He got a match misconduct for jostling with fans around the penalty box and was tagged with the suspension after he tangled with the fans en route to the dressing room.

Suspend Two Referees As Aragon Awarded Win

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Controversial Art Aragon won a split decision over southpaw Chuck Davey Thursday night, and two officials of the bout were suspended immediately as a result of the disputed verdict.

Touching off an immediate roar of disbelief and disapproval from most of a turnaway crowd of 10,400, Los Angeles' self-styled golden boy was awarded the bout at the end of 10 rousing rounds.

Chairman Tony Entenza and commissioners Everett Sanders and Norman Houston of the California athletic commission went into a hurried conference within a matter of minutes.

ANNOUNCE SUSPENSION

Soon after, Sanders hustled down to Davey's dressing room and announced that the two officials who had voted for Aragon, referee Mushy Callahan and judge Joe Stone, had been suspended.

"This is the worst decision I have seen in many years of attending fights," Sanders told Davey.

Callahan, a former fighter and a veteran referee, scored the fight 56 points to 54 for Aragon. Stone scored it 55½-54½ for Aragon, under the California 11-point-a-round system. Charlie Randolph, the other judge, called it for Davey, 58-52.

The Associated Press had it 56-54 for Davey, with the Michigan State College graduate winning six rounds and losing three, with one even.

Aragon was a 2-to-1 betting favorite.

CALL HEARING

Sanders called for a hearing Feb. 24. He said it probably is impossible to reverse the decision, but he declared: "We are going to cut out these bum decisions and the split decisions. We will not tolerate such a lack of uniformity."

The 27-year-old Davey, sitting on the rubbing table, grinned half-heartedly and said:

"I was the most surprised guy in the house—unless it was Aragon."

Aragon, his left eyebrow a bloody mess—Chuck was scarred a bit, too—told boxing writers:

"Leave those southpaws out of my life. I don't know how to fight them."

There were no knockdowns. Aragon weighed 146 to Davey's 146¼.

British Couple Win Ice Dancing Title

OSLO (AP)—Britain's ice dancing couple, Jean Westwood and Lawrence Demmy, spun through the 1954 world figure skating championships to their second straight world title Thursday night.

The English couple drew tremendous applause from the crowd and top marks from each of the five judges.

Another British couple, Nesta Davies and Paul Thomas, won second place ahead of Carmel and Edward Bodel of Beverly Hills, Calif.

The United States appeared certain to win the final event—women's figure skating—today.

Tenley Albright of Boston skated flawlessly through the last of the compulsory figures and goes into the free skating with an imposing lead over Gundi Busch of Germany, European champion.

TORONTO GIRL FOURTH

Most experts figured that only a serious fall by Miss Albright could rob her of her second straight world crown, since the 18-year-old blonde is a whiz at fancy skating.

Erica Batchelor of Britain was third after the compulsory figures with Barbara Gratton of Toronto fourth, Frances Dorsey of Mercer Island, Wash., was a close fifth ahead of Margaret Anne Graham of Tulsa.

Fluke Puts Bathurst Rink Into Curling Championship

BATHURST, N.B. (CP)—A fluke has sent a Bathurst rink into the Canadian high school curling championships at Hamilton Feb. 22-25.

The rink, skipped by 15-year-old Bill Bannerman, was on the sidelines in the provincial tournament here this month until the last minute when a scheduled entry did not show up. Bannerman's quartet filled the slot, lost only one game—19-6 to Milltown—and entered Dominion play with a 12-11 victory in the deciding match over a Saint John foursome.

The new provincial titleholders practised 10 hours a week before the competition although they didn't expect to be given a chance at the crown, won in 1953 by a Saint John rink—also a last-minute substitution.

The four, with a total of only nine years' curling experience, concentrate on draw play and are sharpening up for the Canadian finals by playing nightly against men of the Bathurst Curling Club.

Bannerman and his mate, David Ferguson, 16, are the veterans, each with three years' curling experience. In the 1953 provincial bonspiel they were with a rink which won two and lost three. They went through the 1952 meet without victory.

Tom Hills, 16, second stone, started curling a year ago. The lead, Eric Jamieson, 15, has had two years' experience. He is a grade 10 student and the other three are in grade 11.

Giants Attempt Keep Weinmeister

SEATTLE (CP)—The New York Giants started court action Thursday in an effort to keep tackle Arnie G. Weinmeister of Seattle from leaving the National pro football league club to play with the British Columbia Lions.

An attorney for the Giants got a temporary restraining order from superior judge Donald A. McDonald pending a court hearing March 5.

In the suit, the New York club contended Weinmeister signed an $11,000-a-season contract in 1952 running to May 1, 1954, and renewable by the Giants to May 1, 1955, at not less than 90 per cent of that salary.

The Giants asserted they notified Weinmeister last Dec. 21 of intent to renew the contract, but that he signed a contract Jan. 21 to play with the Vancouver club of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

The legal action filed Thursday was threatened by the Giants' management after Weinmeister announced several weeks ago that he was through with New York and had signed with the Lions.

Horvath Has Blazing 61 To Lead Open

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The so-called "unknowns," featuring Rudy Horvath, a Canadian with a wrestler's build but an easy touch with a golf club whose blazing 61 bested the field by a stroke dominated the top paces as the $12,500 Texas Open moved into its second round.

Horvath, stubby young man from Windsor, Ont., ruined Brackenridge Park's par 71 Thursday in the first round—and so did 90 other players in the greatest par-wrecking spree this ancient tournament ever saw.

The second round started with only a five-stroke difference from Horvath down to 11th place, with 18 golfers figuring in that spread. Among them were few of the "name" players on the winter tour and the leaders had a "foreign" look.

In a tie for sixth at 64 was Peter Thompson of Australia, and resting at 65 was another Canadian, Jerry Kesselring of Kitchener, Ont.

Other Canadians in the tournament are Al Balding of Toronto, who shot a 37-32—69 in the first round, Bob Dean of Cornwall, Ont., with 39-35—74, and Johnny Kay of Toronto with 36-37—73.

MOORE SECOND

Joe Moore Jr. of White Plains, N.Y.—was in second place with a 62, while three budding hotshots had 63s—Wally Ulrich of Maplewood, N.J., Shelly Mayfield of Chicopee, Mass., and Lionel Hebert of Erie, Pa.

The field that started out at 157 but was cut to 154 by withdrawals will be further trimmed today. The 60 low professionals and ties and the 10 low amateurs will go into the final 36 holes.

Horvath, wartime RCAF bomber pilot and former Ontario amateur champion, was just one stroke over the all-time PGA record for 18 holes held by Al Brosch and Bill Nary, both shooting their 60 in Texas tournaments. The Canadian had an eagle in his round while Moore showed two, chipping in from 60 feet out for one of them. Moore missed a six-foot birdie putt by inches on the 18th, or he would have tied Horvath.

Remember When—

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto's Varsity Grads romped to the Olympic winter games hockey title 26 years ago today with a lopsided 12-0 victory over Switzerland in the final. Hugh Plaxton and Dave Trottier each scored 12 goals of the 38 registered by the Canadians in their drive to the championship.

Burlington Aids Mercurys In 4-3 Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Tommy Burlington, the 33-year-old Owen Sound centre who has the use of only one eye, missed the big leagues by an arrow. But he hasn't any regrets.

When the hockey-minded citizens of Owen Sound raised $4,500 to buy Tommy's release from Providence Reds of the American Hockey League a few years ago, they made one of the soundest investments in hockey. Burlington, a native of Toronto, has now adopted Owen Sound as his home and says that any hockey yet left in him will be played there.

And you can bet there's plenty of hockey left in the veteran campaigner who is attempting to break a scoring record in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series.

Burlington lost the use of one eye when he was six years old. He was struck by a playmate's arrow. But Tommy takes a philosophical view of his handicap.

"If I'd had both eyes, maybe I wouldn't have been as good a hockey player," he says. "The other guys look at my blind eye and they can't tell which way I'm going."

When Tommy first started out to get a job at his first love, hockey, it was customary for some team executive to say "But you only have one eye." The 175-pound centre would fire back "So has the king of diamonds."

After scoring 66 goals and 65 assists for a league-scoring record while playing for Atlantic Sea Gulls of the old Eastern Amateur Hockey League, Tommy turned pro with Cleveland Indians of the American league. Because he had only one eye he was barred from the big league.

He led the league in scoring during one of his four years with the Barons and then was sold to Providence. After one season with the Reds Tommy wanted to play for Owen Sound, where he had received his first chance in organized hockey. The Reds refused and put the five-foot, eight-inch centre on the suspended list.

That's when the hockey fans in Owen Sound came to the rescue to bail him out. And Burlington, who was third best among the Owen Sound scorers last year, is again repaying them this year.

The Mercurys, who took a five-point hold on first place in the OHA Senior league by defeating Windsor Bulldogs in Owen Sound Thursday night, are depending heavily on Burlington to help them clinch the league title.

KEEN MARKSMAN

Tommy has scored 45 of the 244 goals amassed by the Mercurys this year. In addition he has 63 assists which give him 108 points—five short of the league record set by Mickey Roth of Stratford Indians. He has five games left to break the mark and even if he doesn't set a record, he'll probably win the league scoring championship. And that's quite a feat for a man to perform when he reaches the age "when I bruise more quickly and heal more slowly."

Burlington scored one of Owen Sound's goals Thursday night to help the Mercurys pull to within four points of clinching first place. Elmer Skov, Bill McComb and Doug Gillespie scored the others. Earl Keyes counted twice for the Bulldogs with the remaining Windsor goal going to Fred Hildebrand.

Two victories for Mercurys in their five remaining games will sew up the title.

KEEP HOPES ALIVE

In the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior Southern group the last-place Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Indians kept their playoff hopes alive by trouncing the leading Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Greyhounds 9-3 in Michigan.

Centre Laurie Peterson scored three times for the Indians. Marcel Clements and Connie Bonhomme notched two each and Ron Rubic and Bill McCracken scored singles. Carl Smelle got two goals for the Greyhounds with the other going to Terry Biocchi.

In OHA action tonight Stratford is at Chatham, Kitchener at Hamilton and Owen Sound at Niagara Falls.

North Bay plays the Wolves in Sudbury.

U.S. Imports Use Benzedrine During Games

VANCOUVER (CP)—Pete Thodos, backfield star who came out of the Vancouver junior leagues to play for Calgary Stampeders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, said Thursday night he had seen United States imports using benzedrine during games.

Keith Matthews, Vancouver News-Herald sports editor, writing in his column "The Sports Herald" quoted Thodos today as saying the Canadian players used "honey, mostly."

"Some clubs used cubes of chocolate. I didn't want to say this, but I have seen players use benzedrine. They were the American imports."

Thodos was commenting on a statement by Bob Snyder, former Stamps coach, that it was "common knowledge" that players in the WIFU used benzedrine to give them "a lift" during games.

Thodos defended Snyder, who has admitted he was hired by the National Football League in the United States to acquaint college players with "the truth" about Canadian football.

"He was the fairest coach I ever played for," Thodos was quoted. "A sensible, intelligent man, he impressed everyone he met as a fellow who had been well educated.

NO DRINKING, GAMBLING

"He didn't allow us to smoke, drink or gamble in his presence. Some players thought he went too far with this idea. I didn't. He told us he would never fine a player. He would fire us, instead."

Matthews quoted Thodos as saying Snyder made one big mistake—"Under-rating our brand of ball."

"When I arrived at training camp, I saw some players who couldn't have made Singer's midgets. Later it was to prove our downfall. I don't think this particularly new, but we didn't have much of a team."

Snyder, who admitted in Hamilton Tuesday night that he was talking to U.S. college players, said:

"I simply told them the truth. There were numerous wild stories attributed to me, but they weren't true."

HOCKEY GEAR DESTROYED

MONTREAL (CP) — Fire in a dressing room at the Verdun Auditorium Thursday destroyed between $2,500 and $3,000 worth of equipment belonging to Montreal Canadiens of the Quebec Junior Hockey League.

Only the team's skates, which were out being sharpened, escaped the blaze, believed to have started from an overheated heater.

REFEREE CHARGED

MONTREAL (CP) — Rollie Ricard, sports writer for the Montreal Daily La Patrie, Thursday swore out a formal charge of common assault against referee Ken Mullins.

Mullins is to appear in court in Verdun March 4.

The referee is said to have socked the reporter in the face between periods of a Quebec Junior Hocky League game at Verdun Auditorium Wednesday night. Mullins was quoted as saying "It was too much" when Ricard called him a vile name.

ARCARO SET DOWN

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — The stewards at Santa Anita Thursday set jockey Eddie Arcaro down for five days for careless riding Wednesday.

They ruled that he caused interference going into the first turn in the seventh race. He was on Dixie Lad. The ban is effective Saturday but he will be permitted to fulfill stakes engagements which means he will be up on Duke's Lea in Saturday's $100,000 Santa Anita Derby.

Tennis Relations Shaken By Storm Over Australia

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Repercussions from the stormy United States Davis Cup campaign in Australia threatened today to shake tennis relations between the two countries.

U.S. champion Tony Trabert said he has prepared a detailed report, obviously dealing with the various rhubarbs and playing conditions, and is ready to present it to the president of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association.

He added: "It won't be favorable."

Art Larsen, third-ranking American who played in Australia in 1950 and 1951, said bitterly:

"I would never play there again. The crowds and the press are awful and Harry Hopman (Australian Davis Cup captain) is the worst of the lot.

"I don't know what Tony is going to say. But I think our officials ought to do something about it. Otherwise we ought to just let them keep the blasted cup. It's not worth the price."

FACTUAL REPORT

"I can't say what is in the report," Trabert, 23-year-old University of Cincinnati athlete, added.

"It's just a factual report of the various things that happened. Those people down there are fanatical over tennis and you have to experience them to know just what the playing conditions are."

In a Davis Cup challenge round and in the tournaments preceding and following the event, Americans figured in a number of rhubarbs with the Australian galleries and officials.

U.K. Draftsman Smashed Models

LONDON (AP)—A studious 31-year-old draftsman said today that he smashed wax models of Prime Minister Churchill and two cabinet ministers at Mme. Tussaud's waxworks because he didn't like their education policy.

Ernest Bridgen was charged by police with malicious damage and held for a further hearing next Friday. Judge Walter Frampton denied bail and told Bridgen "I think it would be a good idea if I got the doctor to have a look at you."

Bridgen was arrested at Mme. Tussaud's spooky wax museum after he had whipped a hammer out of a briefcase and bashed away at life-like figures of Churchill, Home Secretary Sir David Maxwell Fyfe and Peter Thorneycroft, board of trade president.

Museum officials rummaged through their spare parts department and found another head for Churchill—one made 11 years ago. It was screwed onto the battered form today while wax sculptors prepared another head from an up-to-date master mould.

St. Andrew's Scouts Father-Son Banquet

The 8th Peterborough Boy Scout Troop held their annual father and son banquet in St. Andrew's church basement Wednesday evening. An excellent dinner provided by the ladies was greatly enjoyed by all.

Mr. Andrews was chairman for the evening. Guest speaker was the Rev. Lloyd Shorten of St. James' church. Mr. Shorten outlined the various ways in which boys may travel along the road of life, and the possibilities that are present. He pointed out that each must have a job to do, and a goal in mind, and must follow that course diligently. He emphasized that boys should accept Jesus Christ as their guide along life's road, and could thus be assured that each boy would take the right road.

A sing-song was enjoyed, followed by a brief program put on by the Scouts and Cubs. Other speakers were the Rev. H. Cotton of St. Andrew's, Ed. Cotton, District Commissioner, Mr. Archibald and Mr. Chiles. Scoutmaster Albert Ingham outlined the necessity of an active group committee.

Herbert Carnrite

Funeral services for Herbert Carnrite, 36, of 111 Rubidge St., were held Thursday from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Carnrite, of Trent River. The Rev. R. G. Newman officiated and the body was placed in the vault at Maple Grove cemetery to await burial in Centre cemetery.

Pallbearers were: Orville Ellis, Frank and William McLaughlin, Jack Stephens, Fraser Oliver and Frederick Hay. Flower bearers were: Ralph Alley, Clarence Alley, Raye Brownsell, George Wannamaker, Clarence Glenn, Clifford House, Gordon Hay and Robert Pollack.

LURED BY MONEY ONLY

MODESTO, Calif. (AP)—Y. A. Tittle, San Francisco 49ers' quarterback, says the reported higher salaries offered by Canadian football teams will attract only those United States players washed up in the National Football League.

"Personally, I think that so-called war between the two pro leagues is way overplayed," Tittle told a gathering of Modesto civic leaders and service club members meeting to make baseball plans for 1954.

Tittle said he had not been approached by any club other than the 49ers.

"To be realistic, I think most of our guys are using the Canadian leagues as a means of getting better pay cheques from their own clubs. More power to them, I say, but I don't think the Canadian teams will get very many good players from this country.

"I think the only guys who are interested in going are those Americans who are just about through. They would take a cut if they stayed here so they go to Canada and play for two years or so at a good figure and then retire.

"All the Canadians can offer you is money. None of our guys want to live up there, that's for sure."

MARTIN ARMY BOUND

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Billy Martin, New York Yankee second baseman, has lost a draft appeal and faces induction into the army soon, his draft board said.

Martin served six months in the service in 1950-51 but was discharged for hardship reasons. Last month he was reclassified 1-A and he appealed, claiming as dependents his estranged wife, two daughters, his mother, a sister and stepfather.

There was no indication when he is to report for induction but it might be in March.

SENATORS-ORIOLES SWAP

ORLANDP Fla. (AP) — Washington Senators, hopeful of plugging a gap in rightfield, have obtained Roy Sievers from Baltimore Orioles in exchange for outfielder Gil Coan.

Sievers, 27-year-old righthanded hitter, was voted the American League's rookie-of-the-year in 1949 with St. Louis Browns when he batted .306, but dipped to .238 the following season, then suffered a shoulder separation and since has seen only part-time duty.

Coan, who sustained a fractured skull, chipped wrist and a broken ankle with Washington, never fulfilled the promise he displayed when he batted .372 with Chattanooga in 1945.

Woman Tosses Pipe In Treasury Dept.

VICTORIA (CP) — An elderly woman, shouting that she had been robbed of thousands of dollars by the British Columbia Government, threw a piece of two-inch pipe and a cold chisel through a plate glass window in the legislative buildings Thursday.

Police charged Mrs. Alice May Dobeson with causing wilful damage. No one was hurt when the pipe and chisel shattered the window and showered glass over a desk in the treasury department.

Police said the woman was muttering incoherently when she was picked up in the building. They refused to give the reason for the affair.

4 Fellowship Groups Meet

A fellowship meeting of all the branches of Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship was held in the Green Room of the YWCA.

Sixty-five people present represented Peterborough Teachers' College, the Nurses', PCVS and Kenner Collegiate Christian Fellowships.

Supper was served by the Teachers' group. This was followed by a devotional service directed by Miss Elaine Spence, president of the Teachers' Christian Fellowship. After the singing of several gospel choruses, Miss I. Connolly taught two new choruses. Miss Marion Bigelow was at the piano.

A musical number was then presented from each group. Miss Betty Stevens, of PCVS, played a violin solo, "Near the Cross." She was accompanied on the piano by her sister, Doreen. A trio from the Teachers' College, Misses Eleanor Ratz, Marion Zufelt and Eleanor Parrington sang "Wonderful Peace." From the nurses' group, Miss Barbara McMullen, alto soloist, sang "Near to the Heart of God." The last number was a duet, "Jesus Whispers Peace," by Miss Marion Bigelow and Claude Lowney.

Guest speaker was Wilber Sutherland, general secretary of Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship for Canada. He was introduced by Miss Connolly. Mr. Sutherland emphasized the fact that before we can make Christ known to others we must know Him very well ourselves. He closed his talk with the challenge that Jesus should be so uplifted in our lives that others will come to love Him too.

Remove Ceiling On Payment For Hogs, Sheep

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons Thursday approved legislation removing the ceiling on compensation paid for swine and sheep slaughtered to combat disease epidemics.

The bill providing for compensation on the basis of market value, was given second reading—approval in principle—and then passed clause-by-clause study.

The new system of payments will be retroactive to last May 1, prior to a widespread outbreak of hog cholera in Ontario in which more than 1,000 hogs were slaughtered to halt the spread of the disease.

3,075 HOGS KILLED

Robert McCubbin, parliamentary assistant for agriculture, said that 3,075 hogs have been ordered slaughtered since last April 1 for various diseases.

The former ceilings on compensation were $50 for purebred swine and sheep, $30 for slaughter hogs and $20 for slaughter sheep.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner said the "market value" set on swine and sheep ordered destroyed will take into account whether they are purebred or slaughter animals.

Opposition members objected to the continuation of ceilings on payments for cattle and horses ordered destroyed.

Hotel Pillows Poor-Senator

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator Rupert Davies (L—Ontario) doesn't think much of the pillows in Canada's hotels.

He made that clear Thursday when Dalton J. Caswell, executive chairman of the Hotel Association of Canada, appeared before the Senate committee on tourist traffic.

Mr. Caswell was testifying about the improvement of conditions and facilities in hotels during the last 10 years when Senator Davies said he noticed the improvements in all but one thing:

"They still have the same pillows they had 10 years ago."

Mr. Caswell explained that when a hotel man renovates, he usually tries to cut costs by making some things last longer. He said that often pillows are just re-covered.

"Anyway, I've solved the problem," Senator Davies replied. "I carry my own pillow."

Christianity Transported In Strange Packages, Drive-Ins To Airports

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK (AP)—Christianity is transported today in some unusual packages. It has to be, in order to get around.

In several sparsely populated areas, ministers have taken to planes to tend their flocks. Such is the case for Congregationalist the Rev. Harold W. Heckman, who serves a 3,285-square-mile area in Powder River county, Mont.

Christianity has also moved to the airports, to get close to air travellers. Roman Catholics have their "Our Lady of the Airways" chapel at Boston's airport and chapels at New York's laGuardia and Idlewild fields.

In sharp contrast are the pastors who make their rounds on horseback—or even donkey. Regular transport for the Rev. Kenneth Porray, at Community church at the Grand canyon, is a grey mule. He needs it to visit his Indian parishioners at the bottom of the canyon.

MOTORIST NOT FORGOTTEN

Then, there's the rise of the "drive-in" religious service — to keep abreast of the restless, automobile-infatuated masses.

Neponset, Mass., started the idea four years ago with a "drive-in" where the whole family, including pets, could pull in and hear a service. Others followed suit.

There have been similar innovations, like the Rocky Mount, N. C., business group which promoted a "roadside chapel" on Highway 301 for use by motorists.

BUSINESS FALLS IN LINE

Hundreds of factories and business establishments have inaugurated regular devotional periods. For instance, Gold's department store, Lincoln, Neb., and the Dallas Morning News start each day with group prayer.

Out of such soil has grown a wide movement for "industrial evangelism." A pioneer in this field is Presbyterian pastor Anthony Monteiro of Newark, N. J., who has sparked a growing program to put worship into work and Christ's treachings into labor-management relations.

In 125 Years British Police Have Not Carried Any Guns

WASHINGTON—It is a firm belief at Scotland Yard, London's police headquarters, that a policeman should not carry a gun.

Neither uniformed "PC's" (police constables) nor inspectors of the CID—the Yards Criminal Investigation Department—normally are armed with more than short truncheons. Guns, they feel, would only provoke criminals into carrying them too. For 125 years Scotland Yard men have just walked in and captured the crooks.

Their law enforcement record probably has made a block-long group of gray stone buildings along the Thames Embankment near Westminster Abbey / the world's most famous police station, the National Geographic Society says.

"THIEF-TAKERS"

Actually the address is New Scotland Yard, although the "New" is usually forgotten. Old Scotland Yard was in Whitehall, where in Saxon times the kings of Scotland stayed when they came to pay homage to the English court.

In 1749 novelist Henry Fielding, appointed London's first paid police magistrate, organized a small group of helpers. They became know as the "thief-takers." Not until 1829, however, was Scotland Yard's force created under Sir Robert Peel.

This year marks the Yards 125th anniversary So well known has its work become that an administrative reorganization recently made news even in the United States.

Peel's men were first dubbed "Peelers," and then more familiarly "Bobbies." The nickname "copper" or "cop" is said to derive from copper buttons worn by Peel's force. Today a "copper's nark" in England means a stool pigeon, or police informer.

Scotland Yard is nothing more or less than the headquarters of the Metropolitan Police in London. Technically its jurisdiction covers only the 734 square miles of greater London, minus one square mile in the middle protected by the City of London Police, the Lord Mayor's men.

If serious crime occurs elsewhere in England, however, the local constable can call for help from Scotland Yard. A "Flying Squad" is always ready. If such assistance is requested within 24 hours, it's free; otherwise the local government has to foot the bill.

DIAL 999

By simply dialing 999, Londoners can be connected directly to Scotland Yard's information room. Within three minutes, on the average, a "Sweeney"—radio patrol car—will be at the scene.

The map room keeps track not only of the location of every police car, some disguised as delivery trucks, taxis, or private cars, but also where all major crimes took place over the preceding six months.

Along Scotland Yard's passages, offices with coal-burning fireplaces and the famous "Black Museum" hold memories of Britain's worst criminals. Jack the Ripper, wife-slaying Dr. Crippen, and the "Charing Cross Trunk Murderer" are only a few. Around the museum's walls hang death masks of men executed for their crimes.

Scotland Yards' total force of approximately 16,000 men, including about 1,400 CID detectives, closely matches the New York Police Department. Its backbone is the dignified, courteous "PC," or bobby.

His uniorfm remains much the same as it was in Sir Robert Peel's time. The main change is his distinctive rounded helmet. It took the place of an earlier and even taller beaver tophat.

Scotland Yard's cable address is simply "Handcuffs, London." But like guns, handcuffs are seldom carried by the men from the Yard.

Years ago, one inspector summarized Scotland Yard's idea with a framed slogan he hung over his desk. It read "Softly, Softly, Catchee Monkee."

Ex-Warden Named Candidate For PCs

ST. THOMAS (CP) — James McBain, 42, a Yarmouth township farmer and former warden of Elgin county, Thursday night was named Progressive conservative candidate for the federal by-election to be held in Elgin March 22.

The by-election was made necessary by the death of Charles D. Coyle, Progressive Conservative. Max Coyle, son of Mr. Coyle, was one of seven nominees who withdrew from the contest.

Baby Burned To Death

TORONTO (CP) — Donna Creswell, 14 months old, was burned to death in her crib on the second floor of the Creswell home Thursday in a fire believed to have started from an electric heater.

Her mother, Mrs. Roy Creswell, told police flames kept her from reaching the baby's crib.

Winner Of 96-Hour Diplomatic Debate Not Decided

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

BERLIN (AP) — The Big Four foreign ministers have concluded 96 hours and 18 minutes of diplomatic battling in their Berlin conference — and the winner depends on what happens in Geneva and Paris this spring.

The Asian peace conference which the four ministers agreed to open in Geneva April 26 may determine whether Korea will get unification and a real peace, and whether fighting will end in Indo-China.

The French National Assembly also may determine whether the European army containing German divisions is to be created, a project Russia fought to the bitter end in the Berlin conference and which still is the keystone of United States plans for the defence of Europe.

Those were outstanding among the issues at the heart of the grinding arguments which John Foster Dulles of the U.S., Anthony Eden of Britain, Georges Bidault of France and V. M Molotov of the Soviet Union pursued for four weeks here.

OTHER QUESTIONS

There were at least two other questions of critical importance:

1. Is Russia ready to roll back the Iron Curtain, even a little?

2. Are the Western powers ready to recognize communism's hold over the Chinese mainland—more than one-sixth of the earth?

The Berlin conference answered both questions with a resounding "No."

The ministers held six restricted sessions and 21 that were fully publicized. It was the first Big Four foreign ministers' conference in five years.

The arguments, including private talks between Dulles and Molotov on atomic energy, turned on six major subjects:

GERMAN UNIFICATION

The West said this was the conference's major business, and Eden proposed for all three a unity plan beginning with free all-German elections under Big Four and neutral supervision. Molotov countered that West Germany's elected government and East Germany's Soviet-picked regime should join in a half-and-half provisional government to hold elections and negotiate a peace treaty. He also called for the early withdrawal of all foreign troops from Germany, but with the right to send them back.

Molotov turned down the Western plan; the West called his plan a trap to create a Communist Germany and a defenceless western Europe.

EUROPEAN SECURITY

Molotov called for a 32-country 50-year European security treaty excluding the U. S. from Europe. He said it was designed to wreck Western plans for rearming West Germany in the projected European Defence Community. The West said European security for both east and west rests on the North Atlantic Alliance and the EDC, and rejected Molotov's plan.

AUSTRIAN TREATY

The Big Four in 1949 had completed an Austrian independence treaty of 52 articles except for five articles on which they disagreed. The West here accepted Russia's version of those five and challenged Molotov to sign the pact. The Russian offered two new points —forbidding Austria to join any alliance and allowing the Big Four's occupation troops to remain in Austria until a German peace treaty, or indefinitely. Dulles termed this a "fraud" to give Austria freedom in letter only.

ASIA

Molotov proposed that the Big Four meet with Communist China in a Big Five conference on world problems, a bid for recognition of Peiping. The Western ministers branded China the aggressor in Korea and supporter of aggression in Indo-China and said "no" to such recognition.

Instead, the Western ministers proposed that the Big Four sponsor a conference on Asian peace problems, Korea and Indo-China, and invite China and other interested powers to attend.

The result was the only important agreement of the 27 sessions here—that the Big Four, China, North and South Korea, and other countries whose troops fought in Korea would meet in Geneva late in April to seek a peace settlement. And this would be followed by an Indo-China peace conference of the Big Four, the Chinese and "other interested states."

DISARMAMENT

Molotov proposed a world disarmament conference outside the United Nations. His aim was to include China. The West countered with a proposal for a conference under the UN, from which China, not a UN member, presumably would be excluded.

The result: A brush-off agreement for a later "exchange of views" in line with last year's UN resolution asking all countries to work for arms reduction.

Dulles urged Molotov to join Russia with other powers in negotiating President Eisenhower's proposal for a world pool of atomic energy for peaceful purposes. In the U.S. view, the chief participants in such negotiations should be the U.S., Russia, Britain and possibly France. Molotov proposed that China join the talks. But the U. S. doesn't consider China an atomic power. These talks will continue in Washington.

Canada's Defence Forces Work Out In Manoeuvres

By BOB JOYCE

VALCARTIER, Que. (CP)—Canada's army and air force moved swiftly today to pin down enemy forces attacking Sept Iles, Que., in Canada's winter manoeuvres.

As paratroopers of the first battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment, most of them battle-wise veterans of Korean fighting, prepared for action, bombers and troop-carrying aircraft sped towards northeastern Canada to battle the attackers.

On the attack, an imaginary air strike from the north, the first battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, from London, Ont., dug in at Sept Iles airfield, on a main air route between Canada and Europe.

Job of the defending forces in exercise Loup Garou—French for werewolfe, is to recapture the airfield some 250 miles northeast of Quebec, and retake possession of the town of 2,000 persons, also important as the railhead for Labrador iron, soon to become a strategic item in U. S.-Canadian steel production.

ATTACK THURSDAY

The actual attack, reported here as having taken place Thursday, drew quick action from the army's Quebec command.

As soon as local ranger units, composed largely of woodsmen from the area, radioed that the attacking RCR's had landed in force at Sept Iles airfield, Quebec command called on Canada's tactical air command at Edmonton for help.

The defenders had already been on a war footing for several days. Ten days ago, they were told that in theory an enemy force had invaded Greenland.

Subsequent reports indicated enemy air activity throughout the far north. These sorties, first pinpointed 1,600 miles north of Quebec at Padloping island in the Cumberland peninsula, edged steadily south. Attacking aircraft then were "seen" over Frobisher island, 1,200 miles north of Quebec, and at 8 a. m., EST Thursday at Fort Chimo, only 800 miles north of here.

AWARDED BLOW

The defenders then still were in the dark as to where the blow would fall. Aircraft from 408 photo-reconnaissance squadron at Rockcliffe, just outside Ottawa, flew over the area but said they could find no trace of the enemy.

When Sept Iles asked for help, B-25 Mitchell squadrons (406 city of Saskatoon and 418 city of Edmonton) streaked east from Rivers, Man., while 435 transport squadron from Edmonton and 436 transport squadron from Dorval, Que., headed for Quebec from Montreal to take on the airborne defenders.

The exercises, directed by Maj.-Gen. J. P. E. Bernatchez, officer commanding, Quebec command, and Air Commodore S. W. Coleman, officer commanding, tactical air command, Edmonton, is one of the biggest winter warfare exercises staged by the army and air force. Some 2,000 combat troops are involved.

Guilty Of Assaulting His Mother-In-Law

Phillip Marshall Green was convicted of common assault in magistrate's court Thursday and fined $15 with $27 costs. He was found guilty of assaulting his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mildred McIlmoyle, in Young's Point last month.

Conducting his own defence, Green suggested that prosecution witnesss had given contradictory evidence and that he did not start the fight in any case. Mrs. McIlmoyle suffered black eyes and a bruised mouth as a result of the fracas.

Injuries Fatal

HAMILTON (CP)—William Duncan, 56-year-old railroad veteran, died Thursday of head injuries suffered five days ago when he fell beneath the wheels of a passenger train in the Canadian National Railways yards here.

HEAVY GOING—Postman Seto Servais wades through hip-deep drifts in Cornwall, Ont., after a 24-hour blizzard swept eastern Ontario and part of Quebec leaving 16 inches of snow. Schools were closed, traffic stalled and workers were unable to get to their offices and plants. At Farran's Point, 17 miles west of Cornwall, 150 vehicles were stranded on a blocked highway.—(CP Photo).

31½-Pound Carp

STIRLING (ENS) — A 31½-pound carp was displayed by Ralph McCabe, local businessman, this week. The carp was taken from the Bay of Quinte at Belleville.

Makes Models Of Old Ships

YARMOUTH, N.S. (CP)—Memories of the tall ships that once slipped into harbor here with sails full of the ocean wind are given solid form by hobbyist Bob Sweeney.

In his basement workshop, Sweeney has carved and pieced together scale models of sailing ships, from square-riggers to fishing schooners like the famous Bluenose.

Among his biggest jobs is a model of the Great Republic, the largest square-rigger ever built, designed by another Nova Scotian, the shipbuilder Donald MacKay.

The models are exact to scale of one inch to a foot, including all rigging, and take an average of about 250 hours to build. The hobby fills most of the time Sweeney is not working with his father, a funeral director.

Sentenced To Death

HOLBROOK, Ariz. (AP)—Torture-slayer Carl J. Folk was sentenced Thursday night to die April 30 in the state gas chamber. The judge criticized New Mexico officials for having released him from an insane asylum. Judge Don t. udall said psychiatrists' recommendations had placed Folk in position to kill Mrs. Betty Faye Allen, 22-year-old Wattsburg, Pa., mother, and "in no case in the annals of crime will one find such a night of torture, sadism, rape and murder."

Submit Report On Election Regulations

TORONTO (CP) — A legislative committee which has studied election regulations in Ontario for two years submits its report today.

The select committee has listed its observations and recommendations in a 15-page report.

Among changes submitted is a $200 deposit by election candidates. No deposit is necessary now. Purpose of the recommendation is to cut down on the number of "nuisance" candidates. Considerable opposition to the recommendation is expected.

The committee, headed by W. H. Collings, Progressive Conservative member for Toronto Beaches, also recommends that instead of 100 signatures, only 10 be required on nomination papers.

A 45-day period between the issuing of the election writ and the day of election, instead of the present 37 days in summer and 44 in winter, is also recommended.

The committee has also suggested that candidates be allowed to hire cars on election days and that campaign workers be allowed to vote.

SPAR OVER HIGHWAYS

Thursday Premier Frost and Liberal opposition leader Farquhar Oliver sparred over the question of alleged irregularities in the highways department.

Mr. Oliver called for a royal commission to investigate "a scandal . . . of some magnitude."

"I suggest that until these suggestions are proved erroneous we have a duty to perform to the people of Ontario to see if there is fire behind the smoke."

The opposition leader suggested three courses: The one now employed by the government of having a group of consultants to investigate and report back, a legislature committee probe or a royal commission.

"If there ever was a set of conditions for a probe by a royal commission this is it," he said.

Lodging, Drinks Big Tourist Gripe

TORONTO (CP) — Accommodation, liquor laws and the extra currency charge on the American dollar were the chief complaints from among 19,000,000 tourists who entered Ontario last year, the annual report of the department of travel and publicity shows.

The report, tabled in the legislature Thursday by Provincial Secretary Welsh, said tourists spent $225,000,000 in Ontario, but not without registering complaints.

They complained about "dirty and poorly maintained" hotels and tourist cabins, inadequate food and charging of higher rates than were advertised.

Provincial Grants Listed On Tax Bills

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario municipal taxpayers next year may find on their tax bills information about the amount by which their municipality benefits from provincial grants.

An amendment to the Municipal Act to make such notification possible was introduced in the legislature Thursday by Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar.

Dies Of Injuries

SIMCOE (CP) — Morley Rawn, 27, of Toronto, died Thursday night of injuries suffered in an auto-truck collision Wednesday near Delhi. Police said Rawn, driving with his wife, collided with a tobacco truck. Neither Mrs. Rawn nor the trucker was injured.

SKI SCHOOL CANCELLED

Due to snow conditions on Kemp's hill the Junior Ski school planned for Saturday has been cancelled. Ken Robinson, recreational director, also reports that city rinks will be closed to skaters over the weekend, due to the soft weather

POPULATION FALLING

There were fewer babies born in Peterborough during January than in the same month last year. At the same time, the number of deaths increased. There were 133 births recorded last month, compared with 154 in January, 1953. Fifty-six people died last month, compared with 41 the previous January. Of the 133 births recorded last month, 84 were to city residents. Of the 56 deaths registered, 36 were city residents.

TO HEAR UN SECRETARY

The Peterborough YMCA has received an invitation from the United Nations Association (Toronto branch) to send representatives to Toronto February 25 to hear a speech by the secretary-general of the United Nations, Dag Hammarskjold. Mr. Hammarskjold will speak to a joint luncheon of the United Nations branch and the Empire Club of Toronto. The invitation was extended to Y secretary Jim McClenaghan.

FIRE PREVENTION

The city's fire prevention bureau was active in the work of demonstrating fire safety during January, the monthly report of Fire Chief Bill Sorrie reveals. Films on civilian defence were shown at the central fire station on January 12 and 19. On January 26, films were shown to the Young People's group of St. James' church and a fire prevention lecture was given to the manual training class at Queen Mary school. Fire training films were shown to the Lakefield fire department on January 28.

A token of appreciation for three years of leadership. That was the sentiment of UE members who Thursday night presented George Wallace, (third left) with a wrist watch. He is retiring as president after holding the leadership of Peterborough's largest local, Local 524, UE, since 1951. Beside him is his wife, who has been presented with a bouquet of roses by Mrs. Gerald Gordon, extreme left. The wrist watch presentation was by Alex Seppala, vice-president elect. About 100 UE-ers attended the educational and social meeting in the Empress hotel.

H.B. Cowan Joins News Company

Circulation manager of the Examiner since 1935, Herbert B. Cowan, Jr., 615 Weller St., has been appointed manager in Toronto of the Garfield News Company who have the newstand concession for the new subway. He is ending on Saturday the engagement which he began with the Examiner in 1935. He is also circulation manager for the Kingston-Whig Standard.

Garfield News Co. have the news concession with the New York subways. Operation of the Toronto underground begins Mar. 30.

Before joining The Examiner, Mr. Cowan established a news company of his own on Hunter St. under the name of Central Ontario News Co.

Monday he assumes his responsibilities with the Garfield Co.

May Add Section To Make Selling Babies Illegal

OTTAWA (CP)—A new section may be written into Canada's revised Criminal Code to spell out baby selling as a crime.

Justice Minister Garson said Thursday in the Commons that the code, now being studied by Parliament, does not specifically make it a crime to sell infants or children.

Mr. Garson made the statement in reply to a question prompted by the disclosure of a multi-million dollar baby-selling ring in Montreal and the arrest of two Montreal lawyers, Herman Buller and Louis Glazer. The two pleaded not guilty to charges involving falsification of birth certificates and will appear in court for preliminary hearing later this month.

John T. Richard (L — Ottawa East) asked whether the revised code contains a section "which would make it punishable to sell infants or children."

Mr. Garson replied:

"I would say that the present bill No. 7, (the new code) which is before the House, does not specifically make it a crime to sell infants or children."

Mr. Garson did not say whether baby selling is a specific crime under the law at present. He promised to make a more complete statement to the House.

MAY BE PUNISHABLE

However, Mr. Garson said the practice might be punishable under other sections of the proposed code. He did not cite the sections.

Outside the House, legal officials said the two men arrested in Montreal are charged with falsification of birth certificates. They said it would be possible in most cases of baby selling to charge suspected individuals with falsifying birth certificates, forgery or conspiracy.

The officials said they know of no provision in the present Criminal Code which specifically defines baby selling as a crime. However, a prosecution might be launched under common law.

Mr. Garson said the common law in effect at present in Canada would not be in effect after the revised Criminal Code has been approved by Parliament. The new code "will be comprehensive of the whole field of criminal law and will abolish all common law offences."

UAW Repudiates Ritchie's Boast

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Despite boasts by Donald Ritchie, freed Thursday in an extradition hearing here in connection with the Michigan investigation of the Walter Reuther shooting, the UAW insisted today it paid Ritchie only $5,000 for his statements on the case.

Ritchie told reporters when he was freed from county jail that he had "conned" the union out of $26,000, the full amount that was to be paid to him by the UAW if and when prosecution and conviction followed his statements to a Wayne county prospecutor and Detroit police.

Union officials today said they would stand behind the testimony at the extradition hearing of administrative assistant Jack Conway that Ritchie received only $5,000 of the $25,000 which was left in escrow in a Canadian bank.

Former President G. Wallace Honored By UE Members

George Wallace, president of Local 524, United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (Indep.), on Thursday night was presented with a wrist watch from members of his local. Mr. Wallace has been president of Local 524 (the largest unionized group in the city) since 1951. This year he stepped down from executive office and has been succeeded by Carl Signorotti who will take over actively on March 15.

The presentation of a watch to Mr. Wallace and a bouquet of roses to his wife was made in the Kawartha Room of the Empress hotel at the second social and educational evening this year sponsored by the educational-recreational committees of the city's two UE locals. Together, Locals 524 and 527 are bargaining agents for about 3,700 industrial workers.

A hundred UE stewards and executives, their wives and friends were present at the social evening.

HIGHEST IDEALS

Mr. Wallace thanked his fellow trade unionists for their gift and said he had found that the men and ideals in the movement were on as high a plane as any he had ever encountered—and he spoke with experience as a church worker.

Mrs. Wallace was given a dozen roses by Mrs. Gerald Gordon, acting president of the UE Women's Auxiliary who helped sponsor the meeting.

C. S. Jackson, Canadian UE president, spoke on a trip he made last fall through Europe. He was a fraternal delegate from the district council at the convention of the World Federation of Trade Unions in Vienna.

One More Week To Buy Licence

Up and down like the thermometer—that is what attendances at the Chamber of Commerce office have been like this month, as drivers call to renew their licences.

Some days the office is busy; other days the normal staff, plus three extra workers, have things pretty easy.

But with only a week to go, when 1953-54 permits expire, drivers should make an effort to get their renewals as soon as possible, the chamber's assistant manager, Bob Hamilton warns. There are many in the city who still have to attend to this matter.

It takes just 90 seconds to get a new license and permit. However, if you have to stand in a queue, it may take you many minutes before getting service.

Remember, February 27, is the last day.

400 Indian Troops Leave For Home

SEOUL (AP)—Four hundred Indian troops, guarded by American riflemen, filed aboard a transport bound for home today while 700 liberated Korean war prisoners demonstrated in Seoul.

The former PoWs paraded through the streets of this capital shouting "Down with the Indians" and carrying banners blasting the troops which had guarded unrepatriated prisoners in the neutral zone.

The Indian soldiers made the 60-mile train trip from Panmunjom to Inchon without incident despite threats from a high South Korean official to block their departure unless his government received guarantees of safety for 76 Korean PoWs taken to India.

The 76 Koreans and 12 Chinese asked to live in neutral countries and were sent to India pending a final decision on their future.

Police Secure Three New Cars

On the road for the first time Thursday were the three new Meteor cars, recently acquired by the city police force. In addition the cars are equipped with new inter-communication radio sets. Hitherto, only two cars had radio installed and the third set was in the police truck.

The new radios will not spoil television reception in the city, said acting chief John Naples today. A new wave length being used will not interfere with channel 4, which is that used by the American station, Buffalo.

Escorts Guard H-Bomb Test Grounds

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH

PEARL HARBOR (AP)—Tough little destroyer escorts today patrolled the Pacific west of the H-bomb proving grounds on a 24-hour alert.

They watch the skies and plumb the ocean depths with electronic eyes, alert for any strange submarines or, in the words of an officer, any sneak attempt by hostile parties "to set up shop" on deserted islands.

These sea patrols are closely allied with air patrols sweeping the skies from the Marshall islands to Japan. The patrols go on all the time, but now with hints of impending H-bomb tests at Eniwetok, their presence is of even more significance.

Having just returned from one of these sea patrols, I can say that there is more than the usual alertness among the radar and sonar crews.

AIR LANES GUARDED

The air lanes around Eniwetok are so strictly regulated that no civilian planes are allowed and the only military planes going there are those specifically ordered.

A strengthened force of long-range planes, based at Kwajalein, maintains special patrols for the tests.

One of the most potent weapons of the patrolling destroyer escorts is detection equipment for spotting submarines.

Pilots' Association Plans Improvements

Members of the Peterborough Pilots Association met Thursday night in the public library to plan their activities for the new season.

To raise money for improvements on Rockland airport, the association is going to raffle an aircraft.

Charles Kingan briefed the 50 pilots and student pilots who attended on what had been accomplished last year at the airfield.

Two films, one on the development of the helicopter and the other on the history of flight, were shown.

Doug Roberts is president of the association and members of the acting executive are Dave Humphries, George Hutchison and Ralph Goodfellow.

Disastrous Loblaw Fire Provides Chief With Ready Examples To Back Requests

It's an ill wind that blows nobody good.

The fire which destroyed the Loblaw supermarket and the Western Tire and Superior Propane stores last week was admittedly a disaster. But the sub-zero winds that turned the water from firemen's hoses into a cumbrous coating of ice that night demonstrated some valuable lessons about fire-fighting equipment.

Furthermore, the exceptional circumstances of the blaze helped reinforce some of Fire Chief Bill Sorrie's requests for new equipment.

One of the chief's most fervent wishes is to obtain a high-pressure unit for the Bickle-Seagrave pumper. The unit consists of a small pump and two hose reels with 400 feet of one-inch high-pressure hose. It would cost the city about $2,400.

WORKS FASTER

The chief told the fire, water and light committee of city council this week that he wanted the high pressure system chiefly because it could be used for dousing an ordinary house fire more quickly than the present low-pressure systems.

But he added that it would have been of valuable assistance in fighting the Loblaw blaze. A pair of firemen with a high pressure nozzle could get nearer the heart of the fire. The effect of the high pressure equipment would be to fill the area surrounding the nozzle with spray, pushing the smoke away and absorbing the heat. The unit would build pressure up to 1,000 pounds.

Incidentally, the fire department laid 14 lines of hose to fight the blaze. Many of the lines were frozen into four inches of ice on the pavement and had to be thawed out with steam before they could be taken to the armories for drying.

But more significant than this was the effect of the 10-below temperature on the department's metal ladders. The cold split the rungs on some of the metal ladders.

This is only one of the reasons that some United States fire departments have changed their minds about the practicability of metal ladders, the chief said.

DANGER OF MELTING

When metal aerial ladders became the rage, it was thought that they would be valuable for fighting fires close in. But when they were taken too close to the flames, the ladders tended to melt with the heat and topple into the blaze. For this reason, even aerial ladders are not as popular with firemen as they were at first.

Another reason that ordinary metal ladders have lost their appeal is that they are less resilient and consequently do not stay as firmly in place when propped against a building. Being light and firm, they tend to bounce around endangering the climber.

This has led the chief to conceive of a plan which entails eventual abandonment of the old 1927 ladder truck, which has only two-wheel brakes and unsatisfactory steering.

The chief wants to take the wooden ladders from the old truck and distribute them on the pumpers, each of which would be equipped with the required racks by the firemen themselves. Thus, each pumper would be a self-contained unit, equipped to handle an ordinary house fire, without the necessity for sending along a ladder truck as well.

The chief said that a walkie-talkie radio would have been of assistance to the firemen fighting the Loblaw blaze at the rear of the building. But he grudgingly admitted to the committee that the high-pressure unit was a more immediate need.

Incidentally, metal ladders weren't the only equipment casualties at the fire. Two fog nozzles were broken and one had to be borrowed from the volunteer detachment, who rendered valuable assistance at the fire.

Libel Case In Hands Of Jury

UE Official Asks For $10,000 Charges IUE Libel

The libel case in which Art Hunter, business agent of Local 524, UE, is suing Thomas M. Quinn of Ennismore and three top IUE officials, went to the jury a few minutes before 12 o'clock noon today.

The 12-man Peterborough county jury retired to consider their verdict after an hour and a half charge by Mr. Justice R. I. Ferguson who is presiding at the Assizes.

Hunter is asking general damages as a result of a leaflet issued on April 17, 1951, which said that a checkoff card in favor of UE had been forged. And Hunter was named in a signed statement by Quinn, the CGE worker who claimed the signature on the card was a forgery.

The trial has been going on since Tuesday morning.

Quinn's statement was made during a bitter campaign last April between the certified UE and the rival IUE who were trying to get bargaining rights at the plant. Because of this campaign, Mr. Justice Ferguson ruled that the occasion was "privileged." "That is, a little more leeway is allowed in the used of strong language because of the nature of the campaign; because of this ruling it is necessary for the plaintiff to show "malice.")

THREE DEFENDANTS

Named along with Quinn as defendants were three officials who were directing the IUE drive: Joe Wirtz, IUE Canadian co-ordinator; Ray Hansen, director of publicity who allegedly drew up the leaflet; and Minor J. Shaw, international representative.

Quinn on Thursday explained to the court how he got mixed up in the battle between the UE and the IUE at the CGE plant last spring.

He said it all began early in April. George Houghton, another CGE employee, was joking with him on whether or not he had signed one of the IUE campaign cards. Then, Quinn said, he was offered a blue UE card.

"Jokingly, I said I wouldn't sign because I hadn't signed a checkoff card."

ASKED IF SIGNED

Subsequently he was asked by George Hill, a UE steward, whether or not he had signed. His reply, he told the court, was "No." (Hill earlier had said he approached Quinn twice on the subject. The first time Quinn said he had signed; the second time he denied it.)

On the morning of April 14 the IUE distributed a copy of their campaign newspaper the "Magnet" that carried the overline heading: "Caught Red-Handed," and the banner line said: "UE Caught Forging Checkoff Cards."

The Magnet lead off with the sentence: "Last Friday the UE was caught forging cards. . ." It also included charges that the UE were holding back $6 from Quinn illegally, and that dues money was being used for the Rosenbergs (atomic spies executed in the United States) and for Matles (UE official who the authorities were trying to deport from the United States for alleged communist activity).

The noon of the day that the Magnet was circulated, Art Hunter drove down to the main CGE gate for a chat with Quinn. Quinn got into his car.

"Hunter showed me a blue paper," said Quinn. "It looked like a copy of Exhibit 5. (Exhibit 5 was a UE leaflet containing printed material and the four photostatic copies of documents signed by Quinn at the CGE plant, including the disputed checkoff card. However Hunter said this leaflet was not published until the 16th, two days later; it was just the photostatic copies they had in Hunter's car that day.)

"He asked me about signing the second photo from the top (the 50-cent checkoff card of Oct. 17, 1951) and I said I hadn't signed that card . . . Mr. Hunter asked me again if I signed the card. I said 'no,' and he said that it must be a forgery.

"I said 'it is a forgery and you know it'."

"Was there any other discussion in the car?" asked John H. Osler, counsel for the four defendants.

"Yes, a pamphlet had been put out that morning and on it was that the UE had donated money to the Rosenbergs. That was in the Magnet."

He said he discussed this with Hunter. (The latter, called in reply at the end of the trial, denied both mentioning forgery or talking about the Rosenbergs. Hunter and Albert White, also called in reply, said they didn't have a copy of the Magnet while they were talking in the car, nor did they mention these other subjects.)

NO NAMES

The conversation then centred on the Magnet article which gave no names but mentioned a worker in industrial control whose name was forged on a checkoff card. Both the UE group and Quinn agreed it sounded like a description of the Quinn case.

"Art Hunter asked what I knew about it and I told him I'd go up to the IUE office and talk to them about the (Magnet) article. I said they'd no business publishing that if it meant me.

"Hunter said he would distribute a blue pamphlet (containing the photostatic signatures) . . . and I asked him not to.

Once In A Blue Moon

Gripes agin' the government are a dime a dozen at any time but praise for civic administration is given once in a blue moon. Ask any city employee. So it was a rare and pleasant surprise this morning when Frank Burkett of 945 High St. telephoned city hall to commend board of works foreman Jack McKibbin and his crew for their work in clearing the water from flooded portions of St. Mary's, Romaine and High Sts. Thursday. "Well done," said Mr. Burkett. Mr. McKibbin's comment: "Just routine."

Fire Loss Low Until Flames Hit Loblaw's

What began as an auspicious year from the point of view of fire safety has been marred by last week's Loblaw fire.

Total loss of property in Peterborough by fire during January was estimated at only $2,104.38 by Fire Chief Bill Sorrie. Of this $1,709.38 was to buildings and $395 to contents.

While no accurate loss in the Loblaw fire has been published, it is thought to have been at least $500,000. The Loblaw supermarket, Western Tire and Auto and Superior Propane stores were destroyed.

The fire department responded to 54 alarms in January. Of these, seven were actual fires resulting in material damage to property. Of the 54 alarms, 48 were by telephone, three from alarm boxes and three sprinkler alarms. Seventeen alarms were turned in during the day and 37 at night.

Drills and lectures were carried out during the month at the central fire station, where 16 auxiliary fire fighters under civil defence were given training on January 19 and 26.

The department carried out 567 inspections during January, three by Chief Sorrie and 564 by inspectors, including 564 re-inspections.

Plan Train For Skiers

Although weather conditions will not permit the weekly ski school at Kemp's Hill to operate this Saturday, plans for the junior ski train to Bethany a week Saturday have been completed.

Toby Westby, chairman of the junior ski school, believes that the Bethany slopes will be in shape for good skiing if the weather does not become too mild. Unlike Kemp's Hill, the Bethany slope faces west and was covered with a heavy blanket of snow during the last storm.

The ski train will leave the CPR station at 10.10 a.m. and return to Peterborough about 5.00 p.m. This will give the skiers nearly four hours' sport. The large tows at Bethany will be operated by the ski club, and instruction will be given by some 15 senior members of the club.

Those planning the trip are advised to bring a lunch. The train fare will be 45 cents for those under 12 years of age and 85 cents for older skiers.

Would Create Sanctuary For Ducks

South End Pigeon Suggested As Ideal Spot

The newly-formed Conservation Association of Pigeon and Bald Lakes is petitioning the Department of Lands and Forests to acquire by voluntary sale and purchase 2,000 acres of marshland at the south end of Pigeon Lake. This portion is to become a preserve for nesting and feeding grounds for wild ducks. Part of it is to be set aside for public shooting and trapping rights are to be reserved by former owners.

Association members think this project will improve fishing in the area and, over a length of time, serve as a program of education in conservation.

Executive of the association are as follows, president J. G. Pollock; 1st vice-president T. G. Heaton; 2nd vice-president, F. Hawthorne Steele; secretary, Norman Dunn, and treasurer T. K. Mowers. Trustees are Alan Barker, E. Gordon, E. M. Hall, George Kellman, H. H. May, H. Orgill, P. D. Scollard, George H. Weld, E. A. Wild and Ridley Williams.

The association has the formal approval and support of Bobcaygeon and Peterborough Chambers of Commerce, Victoria County Conservation Association and the Central Kawartha Cottagers Association.

City Welfare Totals $5,271

The city welfare department gave $5,271.23 worth of assistance to 284 people last month. This was an increase over January, 1953, when assistance to 237 people totalled $4,431.58. The amount of per capita assistance, however, dropped from $18.70 in January last year to $18.56 last month.

Those assisted last month included 64 heads of families, 166 dependents, four single men and 50 single women. In January, 1953, assistance was given to 48 heads of families, 131 dependents, eight single men and 50 single women.

Assistance rendered by the city last month, according to the report of A. G. Metheral, welfare administrator, included: food, $3,093.53; fuel, $1,018.29; clothing, $114.50; medicine, $12; household sundries, $64.50; shelter, $712.21; doctors, $256.20.

Charitable assistance included: Care at Civic Hospital, $1,185.90; St. Joseph's Hospital, $1,114.25; sanitorium after-care, $132; ambulance, $25, totalling $2,457.15. This, with administration costs of $709.92, made total expenditures of $8,438.10 by the department in January.

The department granted 18 applications for relief during the month. Assistance was discontinued in nine cases and 46 investigations were made into welfare cases. Nineteen persons were admitted to hospital as Peterborough residents.

LYNN HOSKIN, 15 year old Cobourg boy was the second prize winner amongst the Port Hope 4-H Club boys and girls from all parts of Canada who took part in the Junior Judging Competition held in connection with the selection of the All-Canadian Holsteins. The winner, Franklin Milne, of Mountain, Ont., had a score of 146 out of 150 points while Lynn was tied for second with seven other contestants with 144 points. Lynn was the winner of a draw amongst these for second prize. He joined the Port Hope Calf Club at 12 years of age and has three times had the top calf in the club. Lynn is starting to build his own herd, his first Calf Club calf having freshened last year with a heifer. Will Petherick of Campbellford was one of the eight tied in second place.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Two District Juniors Among Ties For Second in National Holstein Competition . . . Maple Cattle Breeders' Annual Meeting Here March 2 . . . Widow of Robert M. Holtby Dies at Port Perry . . . District Seed Producers.

Bill Petherick, 18-year-old son of W. Aylmer Petherick of Seymour township, in the Campbellford area, was one of eight 4-H Club members who tied for second place in the national all-Canadian selection competition sponsored by the Holstein-Friesian Association.

The winner was Frank Milne of Mountain, Dundas county, with a score of 146 out of a possible 150. He is 20, and a junior at Kemptville Agricultural School. In his eight years of calf club work he won seven firsts in judging competitions and one fifth. He stood first last year in the Mountain senior calf club, and in 1951 with Gordon McVey of that club won first price in dairy cattle judging at the provincial inter-club competitions at OAC in 1951.

There were 583 competitors from all parts of Canada, and 111 prizes were distributed among members of 78 4-H clubs.

Top girl was Georgina Thompson of Frenchfort, P.E.I., with 144 points. She was one of the eight ties for second place. Lynn Hoskin of the Port Hope club was winner of the draw for second prize.

Bill Petherick has been associated with his father and younger brother, Eldon, in building up one of the better Northumberland herds. He is now assisting Lindsay Anderson as herdsman at the Massey-Harris Farms.

Mr. Anderson said of him: "Bill has been one of the best boys I ever coached in my twenty-odd years in calf club work."

He has won six prizes in seven judging competitions and led the Campbellford club in 1952 and 1953 on the year's work and showmanship.

STARTS OWN HERD

Lynn Hoskin, 15, is a son of D. C. Hoskin, one of the prominent Holstein breeders of this district. He started in the calf club at 12 years, has had first prize calf three years, and was once top boy of the club. Lynn has now a herd of his own in the making, his first calf club calf having freshened for the second time with a heifer which placed third at Northumberland Black and White day at Warkworth fair last fall.

Others who tied for second honors were: Ron Stoltz, Alliston; Alex H. McKinney, Brampton; Charles Weaver, Belmont; Jim Fraser, Streetsville; David Thompson, Almonte.

Nine of the 4-H club contestants were tied for third place with 142 points, and 29 with 140 points in the next slot. Among those with 136 points or better were two from Peterborough.

The names of these youngsters indicate another generation of Holstein breeders moving up on their fathers in this and other provinces, such as Fraser, Shore, Snedden, Dunton, Burton, Butchers and so on.

Examinations At Brighton

Applicant milk and cream graders and testers from this district will write their examinations Wednesday-Thursday, March 10 and 11, at the office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Brighton.

Employees of cheese facories, concentrated milk plants and milk receiving stations who do not hold licences but who are testing or grading milk will be expected to write one or both examinations. This requirement also applies to employees of creameries who are unlicensed.

The dairy branch of the department points out that any milk distributing plant which has not yet had its milk tester licensed, or which wishes to have other employees licensed, should arrange to have the employees present themselves as candidates. Holders of buttermakers' and cheesemakers' certificates who have not yet obtained their grader's and tester's licences are requested to write these examinations at one of the examination points.

The graders will begin the examinations at 2 p.m. and the testers at 3 p.m. at the office of Ralph Banbury, Brighton, agricultural representative in Northumberland.

With Florida Club

Lorne B. Reid of Ripley, Ont., a director of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada, has been wintering in Florida for several years. Indicating his status as a semi-permanent resident was his recent election as a director of the newly-organized Florida Holstein Cattle Club.

The president is Herman Boyd, Miami, and the vice-president is another winter visitor, J. C. Marlow, a prominent Holstein breeder from Mankato, Minn.

As reported a week ago, Mr. Reid was presented with a Class Extra certificate for his former herdsire, Keendale Lochinvar, at the Holstein annual meeting in Toronto February 10.

This is the highest award a Holstein sire can win. Lochinvar is the first bull to qualify for it in the last four years.

WAS BRED AT KEENE

John Powell of Brantford writes from the Holstein head office: "The breeder of this bull was Stewart Nelson, Keene. He is at present in the stud of the Michigan Artificial Breeders Co-Operative, East Lansing, Mich. However, it was largely on the basis of his daughters in the Maple Leaf herd of Mr. Reid that he qualified as Extra. He was senior herdsire at Maple Leaf from 1944 to 1948.

Keendale Lochinvar is classified as XX for type, and 50 per cent of his daughters have been graded at least Good Plus. Actually he has two Excellent, four Very Good and 12 Good Plus, all with production records at least 20 per cent above the Record of Performance qualifying standards. He has 23 tested daughters in Canada with 58 records that average 14,287 pounds milk and 563 pounds fat (3.94%). All but one of these records were made on twice-a-day milking, 16 were in 305 days and the average age was three years 222 days.

A GREAT DAUGHTER

Maple Lea Sunset Sally, who headed one of the great aged cow classes of all time at the Chicago International last fall is a daughter of Keendale Lochinvar. Another daughter is Maple Lea L. G. Rosine, All-Canadian four-year-old of 1950, and Lochinvar's highest record daughter with 982 pounds fat.

Keendale Lochinvar is a son of the twice Reserve All-Canadian Montvic Lochinvar 3rd, and his dam is Keendale Lodge Pietje Lass classified as Excellent, twice grand champion at the East-Central Ontario Championship show; reserve All-Canadian three-year-old in 1943, and with an eight lactation twice-a-day milking record of 141,538 pounds milk and 4,909 pounds fat."

Death of Mrs. R. M. Holtby

Widow of the man who was instrumental in the establishing of Black and White Days throughout Ontario, Mrs. Robert M. Holtby died Tuesday at her Port Perry home in her 87th year. She was the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Kent of Myrtle.

"Bob" Holtby is remembered with affection by the Holstein breeders of this province and especially of this central Ontario district. He was an ardent promoter of Holstein cattle as fieldman for some years, and it was his practical idea that remains today as the county Black and White Days and the district championship shows such as that which is held here annually in October.

Mrs. Ivan C. (Jean) Sutton, 580 Howden Ave., Peterborough, is a niece.

Registered Growers

The names of Donald and Everett Macfarlane of Otonabee are listed in the catalogue of registered and certified seed growers of Ontario, copies of which may be obtained at the office of F. C. Paterson, agricultural representative.

The foreword mentions that the crops of these growers shown in the booklet passed field inspection in 1953 for registration or certification.

Some of those listed in the registered section are: Ajax oats, Stewart McGill, Cavan.

Barboff barley, A. G. Anderson, South Monaghan; Robert Armstrong, Cavan; H. Austin Trueman, Port Hope RR 3; J. W. Boyd & Son, North Orono; James T. Brown, Newcastle, RR 2; W. W. Dawson, Otonabee; Garnet B. Rickard, Bowmanville; Harold Swain, Nestleton.

Galore barley: M. A. McHolm, RR 1, Port Hope; H. E. Petrie, Otonabee.

Montcalm barley: J. F. D. Graham, Lindsay RR 1; Lloyd W. Graham, Oakwood; Elmer A. Linton, Little Britain.

Beaver oats: R. Armstrong, J. W. Boyd & Son, J. T. Brown, Gordon S. Calder, Warkworth; E. Cavano, Pontypool; Leslie Coombes, Bowmanville; John Cruikshank, Hampton; H. B. Free, Campbellford; J. F. D. Graham, L. W. Graham, Harry L. Jackson, Omemee, RR2; Donald & Everett Macfarlane, Peterborough RR 8; W. C. Mann, Peterborough, RR 4; G. B. Rickard, F. Bruce Sargent, Cavan; Arnold Stevenson, Norwood; R. R. Stewart, Otonabee; K. G. Wherry, Newcastle.

Some of these names are repeated as growers of Laraln and Roxton oats.

Medon timothy: H. B. Free and H. E. Petrie.

The names appear again in the certified seed section. Those not already mentioned include: Abegweit oats: Willett Casey, Halloway; Carlus Dickinson, Port Hope, RR 3; Henry A. Sharpe, Peterborough RR 4; Gordon Strong, Burketon.

Lanark oats: Ross Bateman, Tweed, RR 2; Harold Detlor, Stirling; W. S. Harry & Sons, Trenton, RR 5.

Simcoe oast: Clayton Sanderson, Peterborough, RR 1.

The seed potato section for central Ontario set out the names of the Durham specialists in the Millbrook-Pontypool area.

The young Macfarlane men are newcomers to the ranks of growers of registered and certified seed grains.

Holstein Calf Project For Norwood Youth

Directors of the Norwood Fair are planning a purebred Holstein heifer calf project for some 40 to 50 boys and girls of East Peterborough.

In this latest enterprise of theirs—between fairs—the executive has the approval of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and the co-operation of the Maple Cattle Breeders' Association, G. A. Brethen, president of the fair, informed The Examiner yesterday.

MAPLE BREEDING

"We are arranging to procure registered Holstein heifer calves approximately two months old when delivered at Norwood on March 17," Mr. Brethen explained. "These calves will be carefully selected for uniformity in size, type and breeding, and will be allotted to boys and girls of the district who would be interested in securing foundation stock of that quality. Their age limit will be from 12 to 18 years, inclusive, and under the supervision of competent leaders, the young owners will be expected to develop these calves and later show them on Saturday, Oct. 9, at the Norwood Fair for prize-money approximating $400, one-half of which will be granted by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

"Because of their interest in this project, and from their wide aquaintance with several hundred good Ontario Holstein breeders, the directors of the Maple unit have offerd to locate and select those calves at no extra cost to the boys and girls.

Selection will be made by a nationally known breeder and judge, and the Maple Board will have them delivered at Norwood at the time announced."

Mr. Brethen said they will all be vigorous calves, meeting health requirements and artificially sired by carefully selected Maple Holstein bulls from big, long living Holstein cows popularly known for their high butterfat test and heavy milk production.

"The average price of those calves, registered, transported and delivered at Norwood will be $100. Arrangements have been made with local banks to finance purchases, if desired.

NEED EARLY RESPONSE

"We have to send definite instructions as to the number of calves required. This should be done as soon as possible next week. Boys and girls interested in securing these purebred calves should write or telephone me or D. A. McNeil, at Norwood, as early as possible."

Already some applications have come in since this 1954 project was mentioned at the annual meeting of "our members," Mr. Brethen said. Applications will be accepted in the order in which they are received.

"It will also be of interest to the boys and girls and their parents that these calves will be eligible for membership of the young people in our 4-H Clubs," Mr. Brethen said.

The public recalls the campaigns carried on between Fairs by the Norwood board in their policy of trying to work the year round for their community.

There was a Beaver oats "Derby", then a fertilizer demonstration, next the English type of Yorkshire pigs, and last year the Hereford calves. They have all been successful, and the extent of their effects in the community can never be fully known.

This is an investment in the youth of East Peterborough, and if parents endorse and support it the way they did last year with the Hereford calves, it will likely turn out to be another 45-member club.

Mr. Nelson is virtually manager of the show. Mr. Brown and Mr. McLaughlin are members of the extension service of the association, and Mr. McLaughlin is also its representative to the Canadian Council of 4-H Clubs. Mr. Brown is incidentally president this year of the Central Ontario Spring Show at Peterborough March 16-19; Mr. McLaughlin is vice-president and will be chairman of the panel Wednesday afternoon, March 17, that will discuss "The Place of Grain Corn and Soy Beans in the Farming of Central Ontario".

Chat With Ag. Rep. At Fair Led To Soil Program, Income Gain In Price Slump

Victor O'Brien of Hawkestone, North Simcoe, tested in 1947 all the fields of his "little more than 100-acre farm", repeated the soil tests each year and completed the soil and crop records of all the fields every year since then.

He was on the program at the Ontario Crop Improvement convention at Toronto, January 28 with Stewart I. Page, agricultural representative in N. Simcoe.

Mr. Page's subject was How to Use the Soil and Crop Record Book, and to emphasize his recommendation of it he brought along with him several of his "co-operating farmers".

FARM WAS RUN DOWN

Mr. O'Brien said he had worked on a railway five years, and it was not until the early forties that he began taking the farm seriously. Only 63 acres were in cultivation. The farm was run down and "crops were rather discouraging for a few years".

Mr. Page: "Do you think your bookwork and soil testing has been worth while?"

Mr. O'Brien: "Very definitely yes. I don't think I would be farming today if I hadn't kept those records. They don't take much time, and it is just as important to know where you are going in farming as in any other business. Even that is not so difficult when you feel that every step is an improvement."

His operation is mixed farming, the main line being whole milk from a herd of 30 dairy cows. "Our main acreage is down to grain, hay and pasture with a few sidelines such as several acres of strawberries, half an acre of raspberries, and lately four to six acres of sweet corn. We sold last year 1,000 dozen ears of corn per acre, which I am told is fairly good picking for a beginner."

The farm is clay loam, 30 acres still in bush, with only 63 acres under cultivation when he "started in earnest".

His turning point was at the Oro fall fair, seven or eight years ago, where he asked Mr. Page about some recommendations for use of fertilizer, and wound up by buying from him a Simcoe county soil and crops record book.

Mr. Page: "Your book says you have ten acres more land than you had a few years ago. Did you buy an extra field?"

Mr. O'Brien: "In a way I did, but right on my own farm. There was an old pasture field south of the house, a bit wet and so badly grown up with bush that it was practically useless. We started clearing up this field in 1950, and had hoped to seed it down to a low-land pasture mixture last summer, but the drainage is not right yet, so we had to leave seeding the wetter part of the field till next spring."

Mr. Page: "I see that most of your fields get 200 lbs. or so of fertilizer every year. Do you use the same mixture over the whole farm?"

Mr. O'Brien: "No, the mixture varies according to field and crop. Most of the fields need as much phosphate as we can manage, a couple need a high potash fertilizer, and we are now leaving out nitrogen in several fields. We are also using phosphated manure."

Mr. Page sent a questionnaire to 64 of his farmers in the fall of 1951. Mr. O'Brien reported then an increase of 50% in crop yields and around $1,000 increase in revenue. "We would like to know about your soil and land use program now."

BALANCED FERTILITY

Mr. O'Brien: "I am more sold on it than ever. Our crops yielded more than double that of eight to ten years ago, and while we give the weather a lot of credit for the high yields last year we think we have increased the organic matter and balanced fertility to the point where we can expect a good crop any year. As far as low prices go, we managed to save enough land by stepping up the hay and pasture yields to have a fair acreage available for cash crops, our small fruits and sweet corn, so our net revenue has been all right so far."

Mr. O'Brien said it was difficult to put a value on his soil and crops records. "It's what you do with them that pays off. For me, they have laid a foundation for a farm program that will, I trust, do a good deal better than pay the tax bill as long as I farm, and for my boys after me."

Guarantee Seed By Canada Act

By ERNEST McWILLIAM

In 1937 the Dominion government passed a Seed Act in Canada for two purposes:

To protect the purchaser of seeds from unscrupulous seed dealers; and thereby assure the purchaser that he actually received goods as shown on his invoice.

To protect the seed trade as a whole, and to put their business on a strict set of standards for ease in inter-provincial or international trading.

In this Seed Act it stipulates the germination and purity of all grades of seed sold in Canada either singly or in mixtures; and the government employs a force of inspectors to oversee and enforce the Act to our mutual benefit. The government also established seed testing laboratories across Canada, to ensure just and efficient standards and grades of seeds are available to the public for their general use.

The enforcement of this Act, combined with the costs of establishing and manning the regional offices and laboratories is for one purpose, and one purpose only: to ensure the Canadian customer that when he buys Grade No. 1 seed, he actually receives it.

GUARANTEE TO FARMERS

Since this Act became law, the benefits of its protection have been a tremendous boon to our Canadian farmer. It allows him to purchase seed, sight unseen, from any part of Canada, and he simply asks for a specified grade at a specified price. This fact has spread good seed throughout our Canadian farms in unlimited quantities.

However, in all things controlled by individuals, there are people who try to circumvent the law. The most common infraction of the Seed Act, is cross the fence trading by individual farmers; and secondly a farmer peddling ungraded seed throughout his neighbourhood. Such practices spread more weeds and consequently cost the grower more money, than any other infraction of the Seed Act.

The Seed Act is very wide in its application and allows individuals as well as Seed Companies to sell seed but first this seed must be graded by the Government Laboratory and assigned a certificate number, before it can be offered for sale. Any Seed Company or individual who offers seed for sale or trade without this government certificate is liable to prosecution under the Act.

If all these facts were carefully considered by every puchaser of seed, the standards of our crops and seeds would be greatly improve, resulting in better crops, better returns and cleaner fields and farms across our Canadian countryside.

Marketing Of Leaner Hog Should Begin Now In Anticipating Surplus

"More greasing under the table between the trucker and the processor than there used to be before we set up our marketing agency" is diverting too many hogs from the open market at the Toronto stockyards where they would help to establish the price from day to day.

That opinion was expressed with conviction by Charles Newton, of Barrie, at the annual meeting of Peterborough Hog Producers' Association Thursday.

"A trucker told us at our Beaverton meeting that a processor had paid him one dollar a hog to deliver straight to the plant," Mr. Newton said. "He also told us that he did not repeat that arrangement. He did it only once."

Mr. Newton discussed at length the first year's experience and results of the Ontario hog producers' marketing board through their United Livestock Agency.

"We picked the best qualified people to sell hogs, from six or eight firms who were selling on the Toronto livestock market. The board could have appointed ourselves and hired those men to sell the pigs. If we had done that at good salaries for ourselves, the processors would have been the first to point fingers at us. So, we set up the selling agency and I think our first year has been fairly successful.

"We established the fact that hogs do not become the property of the processor until they have been negotiated for. It was previously hard to define when and how they became the property of the processor. In some cases it was said to be before they were put in a truck, sometimes on the way to the packing plant, and sometimes after the hogs went over the scales."

GET EXACT STATEMENT

Mr. Newton said the farmer was now getting a settlement statement that was worth something. It used to be that in many cases it wasn't worth the paper it was written on, and did not tell the farmer how much the packer actually paid for his hogs. "There are some cases in which you don't know yet. But, if you ship through the stockyards we can tell you what you have been paid."

"You were always told what your hogs graded, because that was put on by the grader. The farmer knows now the cost of marketing, what the processor paid and the commission."

The condemnation insurance was not charged now, Mr. Newton said.

The price for hogs paid at outside points such as Barrie, Kitchener, Peterborough and others was the same price as that which was established at the Toronto stockyards.

"Prior to this year you were paid 25, 50 or 75c less than the established price. The processor argued that it cost you 50c to ship to Toronto, and that your net price would be as much if you dropped hogs off here as sending them to Toronto. Today the outside processors all pay the price established in Toronto."

CASHING OF CHEQUES

Mr. Newton said a continuing problem had to do with banking. Last year the Bank of Nova Scotia had announced that cheques at one bank on another would be paid at par. A few days later that offer was withdrawn "and since then we haven't had the benefit of cross par chequeing. This matetr has gone forward to your Canadian Federation of Agriculture."

"The marketing agency settles for all hogs. All the processors put money into a trust fund that checks continuously at $3,000,000. It sits there all the time. The marketing agency pays you out of that fund. It is producers' money, but the banks can use it on short term loans, to make money for themselves. We believe they make about $100,000 in interest out of that trust fund. We also believe that it costs the producers of Ontario around $100,000 a year for cross-par chequeing. We believe the producers should get that benefit because it belongs to them essentially. Just yesterday the Federation of Agriculture had an interview with the government. The Bank Act comes up for review this year, as is done every ten years, and we are hoping to get cross-par arrangement on cheques without cost to the producer."

CUT PRICE DIFFERENTIAL

Mr. Newton mentioned the price differential in former years between the Montreal and Toronto markets. It would be around one dollar a hundred pounds higher at Montreal.

"I believe the processors didn't think our agency would last more than two months. For the first two months in this last year the differential was up to $1.60 and over. Our marketing agency shipped carloads of hogs into the Montreal market and changed the difference in price from $1.60 down to 12 cents. If that hadn't been changed, the Ontario farmer would have received $600,000 less because of the price differential."

These were some of accomplishments of the marketing board selling agency, stressed by Mr. Newton.

On the other side of the account, and referring to a grievance of some of the processors that there was discrimination against them in the fact that outside packers were getting deliveries direct. "I feel they have a point," Mr. Newton said.

PREFER NEGOTIATION

"We have the legislation that can direct hogs if we want to, but we can't do the policing. No government is going to police in such a way that one group of people would be discriminated against. To date, we have never held the club over anyone's head. We believe the best way is to negotiate and back up from the first plan in directing hogs."

As to alleged collusion between trucker and packer, "some of us think our industry needs more stock yards, say at such centres as St. aCtharines, Kitchener, Barrie, and in this area, which I don't know so well, Belleville or maybe Peterborough, wherever is that dividing line where producers may ship today to Toronto and tomorrow to Montreal.

"I can't see any harm in having hogs directed to stockyards. It is the one way to make the processor bid the market price.

"If hogs were shipped 'straight to the packing plant,' and if there was 'greasing under the table,' that practice did not set up the true market value from day to day."

Late on a Monday several weeks ago, the price was set at 34 cents, but on Wednesday it went up to 36c "because one processor went to the stockyards and offered 36c. But the price was established at 34c. His remark was that he was not paying any more than other processors at 36c.

Simms Cites Benefits Of Lord's Prayer

The Lord's prayer— spiritually understood and lived— offers the only lasting basis for solution of mankind's social, moral, and political problems, Earl S. Simms of Austin, Texas, told a large audience here Thursday evening.

The Word of God is completely practical, Mr. Simms declared. He said there is no problem beyond reach of the healing power of the Lord's prayer, understood in its scientific meaning. He told of healings of a disease diagnosed as "incurable," and of other serious problems, through spiritual understanding of "this matchless prayer."

On a nationwide tour as a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, Mr. Simms spoke in the Queen Mary Auditorium under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist. He spoke on "Christian Science: Magnifying God in Prayer," and was introduced by Mrs. H. L. Garner.

Mr. Simms said that the prayer given by Christ Jesus was "the way Jesus himself prayed . . He knew it would demonstrate God's tender love, His goodness, presence, and power, in the experience of all who prayed it understandingly, humbly, and fervently."

"This prayer, though entirely spiritual in nature, covers every human need," he added.

True prayer enables the individual to understand and prove man's real dominion— through God's spiritual laws of Life, Truth, and Love—over everyday problems of sickness, discord, and lack, said Mr. Simms. He said such prayer is based on the spiritual understanding of God as the infinite Father-Mother, and man as His spiritual image and likeness.

"Effective prayer," he went on, "is dependent upon two things, namely, spiritual content of the prayer and the reverence, the humility, purity, selfishness, the Christliness, that motivates the prayer. Such prayer heals, regenerates, and saves."

The lecturer stressed the importance of living in accord with Christ Jesus' Sermon on the Mount, and quoted these words of Mary Baker Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian Science: "To my sense the Sermon on the Mount, read each Sunday without comment and obeyed throughout the week, would be enough for Christian practice."

NO PART OF CREATION

He declared that the hatred, dishonesty, distrust, sin, sickness, and death that appear to be a part of everyday living are no part of God's creation. He said such conditions may seem to be real, but that in reality they simply mirror a false, materialistic view of existence. Jesus proved such conditions to be false, he added, by healing them. This replacement of discord with harmony was based on spiritual understanding of the allness of God and His spiritual creation, and the consequent nothingness of evil. The result was healing which all could see.

Emphasizing God's love for man, Mr. Simms declared: "Remember God knows you only as you really are, as His perfect, spiritual creation, forever unchanged and unfallen. Hence He does not tempt you. On the contrary, He is ever at hand to lovingly and mercifully deliver you from the temptations to sin, to be sick, to die.

"Jesus declared that the kingdom of God is in you and me, in our consciousness. This kingdom of God in you and me is our present awareness of God and His Christ. The kingdom of God, divine Love, is not yet to come. It is here. Man, the son of God, is not approaching freedom and dominion. These are his now."

Driver Convicted Of Carelessness May Appeal

After a trial that lasted most of the day, Alan B. Foote, 588 Arndon Ave., was convicted in magistrate's court Thursday on a charge of driving without due care and attention.

The accident which resulted in the charge occurred January 17 at 12:50 a.m. while Mr. Foote was returning from a hockey game in Apsley. Going into the long S-turn near the filtration plant on Water St., his car left the road, travelled for some distance along a drainage ditch and came to rest on its side on ice 30 feet out from shore of the Otonabee river and almost in the water.

Core of the defence argument, as submitted by Robert H. Carley was that Mr. Foote and his passenger Miss Helen Dunford, 129 Princess St., might have become unconscious as the result of carbon monoxide fumes shortly before the accident.

Raymond Clements, a mechanic who repaired the Foote car after the accident, testified for the defence that the muffler was leaking back of the braced section of the car's X-frame. He said that noxious fumes could have entered the car through defective panels below the door on both sides of the automobile, or under the gas pedal where he found the flooring loose.

NOT FRESH BREAK

Asked how he knew the muffler was not broken in the accident, Mr. Clements said that it was blackened with fumes indicating that there had been some seepage for some time.

Much of the argument between Mr. Carley and Crown Attorney John Bradshaw was on testimony on distances travelled by the Foote car from the time it left the road until skid marks were noticed in the drainage ditch and from here to the river.

Constable Louis Rodrigue, who investigated the accident, testified that after the car left the road there were signs that it had broken a department of highways sign, travelled along the drainage ditch leaving wheel marks only and come to rest in the river. The accused's father, A. Bruce Foote, testified that there were also marks from the car's chassis in this drainage ditch.

Taking the stand on his own behalf, Alan Foote testified that he had had a severe headache for 18 hours after the accident, but had not been hit on the head by the impact. His companion, Miss Dunford, also testified that she, too, had had a severe headache throughout January 17. Both testified to blacking out before the impact.

Magistrate W. R. Philp ruled that the debate over relative distances travelled was of "no great consequence." He suggested that sleepiness, rather than gas might have caused the accident, and that Foote might have been driving too fast. He ruled that Foote "was not keeping a proper lookout under the circumstances."

Foote was fined $10, assessed $2.50 court costs and had his licence suspended four months. Mr. Carley indicated that his client might appeal this conviction.

A speeding charge against Foote was adjourned to March 18.

Union Demanding GM Abandon Short Work Week

DETROIT (AP) — The United Automobile Workers (CIO) Thursday demanded that General Motors abandon what it called 'short work weeks—or share - the-work schedules" in GM plants in the United States.

GM replied that its hourly employees in the U.S. "are working more than 40 hours per week on the average."

UAW vice-president John Livingston asked GM president Harlow Curtice to order an immediate readjustment in its work force to provide a full 40-hour week for regular employees.

MEAN LAY-OFFS

This would mean lay-offs for the newer employees.

H. W. Anderson, GM vice-president in charge of personnel, said: "Our more than 170,000 hourly-rated employees in Michigan are also working on the average in excess of a 40-hour week. There are 20,000 more GM employees currently working in Michigan than were working a year ago. We have some 30,000 more employees working in the United States at this time than we had during the same period last year.

"Many of our automobile plants are working overtime including some assembly operations. Some assembly plants are currently scheduled to work between 32 and 40 hours per week, which we expect to be temporary."

Livingston said the adjustment would affect first the temporary employees. Then, if necessary, it would affect some employees with seniority, he said.

Kakabeka falls near Port Arthur are 130 feet high and 400 feet wide.

Failed To Prove Negligence

Conducting his own defence, Paul J. Roach won a dismissal in magistrate's court Thursday of a charge of driving without due care and attention.

The charge was laid as the result of an accident at the corner of Water and Sherbrooke, January 20 when Roach, attempting to turn left onto Sherbrooke, missed the turn, uprooted a hydro pole, knocked over two parking meters and caused $300 damage to his truck.

SKIDDED ON ICE

Harold Davis testified that he was driving south on Water St. at the time and noticed Roach skid on the ice and angle into the curb. He said that Roach was carrying a heavy load and said that it's harder to steer a truck with a heavy load.

Dismissing the charge Magistrate W. R. Philp said that the Crown had not proved any negligence on the part of the driver.

But Roach's troubles are not yet over. He was also charged with failure to provide for his wife and children for a period of five months last winter. This case was adjourned to Family Court Friday morning.

Two Men Remanded On Murder Charge

SIMCOE (CP)—Jerry Simmons and Joe Glen Lotharp Thursday were remanded in custody to Feb. 25 on a charge of murder in the death of 68-year-old Bruce Beatty. Crown Attorney D. E. W. Tisdale said the crown was not ready to proceed and the accused had not obtained a lawyer.

Simmons, 47, of Syracuse, N.Y., and Lotharp, 23, of Detroit, were arrested near Renton, four miles east of here, where Beatty and his 65-year-old wife were beaten with an ax and robbed Feb. 2. Their service - station home was ransacked.

TRAIN WRECK VICTIM—Mrs. Bruno S. Bosy, of Toronto, was one of the first of 87 injured persons to arrive in Montreal by special train from the scene of a severe two-train collision at St. Clet, Que., 35 miles west of Montreal. One passenger was killed when the second section of a Canadian Pacific Railway train bound from Toronto to Montreal plowed into the first section during a blinding snowstorm. Railway officials said it may be some time before the cause of the accident is determined.—(CP Photo).

Want To Hold Railways Responsible For Forest Fires

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Legislation which would hold railway companies and conductors responsible for forest fires caused by locomotives has been introduced in the Quebec legislative assembly.

It would require all locomotives passing through Quebec forests to be equipped with "the most improved and efficient means for preventing the escape of sparks."

Opening Thursday of the New Brunswick and Alberta legislatures brought to seven the number now in session. The Nova Scotia legislature will open Feb. 25 with the Prince Edward Island opening set for March 2.

The Quebec bill, introduced by the government, also would provide restrictions for the building of fires in wooded areas and the burning of waste and dumps.

Negligent train conductors would be liable to fines ranging from $50 to $200 or jail sentences from one to six months and railway companies would be liable to fines from $200 to $1,000 in addition to damages.

EXPELLED MAN RETURNS

Emilien LaFrance (L — Richmond), expelled for 15 days after he called Premier Duplessis "a coward," returned to his seat.

The speech from the throne in Alberta outlined proposed legislation which provides for a private company to build and operate a natural-gas gathering system in the province.

The throne speech in New Brunswick mentioned bills which would improve jail conditions and provide for a library act.

In Regina, the only Progressive Conservative elected to the Saskatchewan legislature in 20 years made his maiden speech Thursday.

Robert Kohaly, 32, said he is opposed to socialism and will assist and support the Liberal opposition. He would give his support to the CCF government when policies which would benefit Saskatchewan and his constituency were presented.

CCF leader Arnold Webster said in the opening debate on the speech from the throne in the British Columbia legislature that the Ottawa Liberals had promised to take over sole responsibility for the care of the employable unemployed and to initiate a national health plan.

He said the argument that because all provinces did not participate in the Dominion-provincial taxation agreement the proposals could not be implemented was not valid. Legislation could be passed that would affect only those provinces that are in the agreement.

In the Manitoba legislature, second reading—approval in principle—was given to a bill which would empower the hydro-electric board to borrow funds to repay advances made to it by the government.

ADVANCED $57,078,559

Provincial Treasurer R. D. Turner said that up to Feb. 15 the government had advanced $57,078,559 to the board.

Opposition leader Farquhar Oliver proposed in the Ontario legislature that a royal commission be named to investigate alleged irregularities in the highways department.

A department of travel and publicity report tabled Thursday said accommodation, liquor laws and the extra currency charge on the United States dollar were the chief complaints from among 19,000,000 tourists who entered Ontario last year. The tourists spent $225,000,000 in Ontario.

EXAMINES ATOMIC CANNON—Brig. F. C. Cupta, military and naval adviser for India, examines a United States 280-millimetre atomic cannon undergoing cold-weather tests at Fort Churchill, Man. Canadian army officials said the tests have not involved the firing of atomic warheads. The presence of an atomic cannon in Canada's north became known followig a tour of Fort Churchill by 26 military attaches and advisers from 18 countries.

Business Taxed On Profits Which "Aren't," Accountants' And Lawyers' Brief Says

OTTAWA (CP) — Business is being taxed on "profits" which are not actually "profits," the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants and the Canadian Bar Association said today.

The views of the two bodies were made known in a joint presentation prepared for delivery today to Finance Minister Abbott and Charles Gavsie, deputy minister (taxation), representing national Revenue Minister McCann.

An amendment last year, said the brief, requires business to pay tax on moneys received or receivable "without proper deductions necessarily being allowed for costs or losses which will be incurred in a subsequent year."

For example, it stated, a house builder who takes a second mortgage for part of the purchase price, must assume, for all practical purposes, that the second mortgage will be collected in full and pay tax accordingly, whereas ultimate collection is not necessarily assured.

The brief stated also that the system of depreciation allowances adopted by the government for tax purposes differs substantially from methods employed in "sound business accounting."

Expenditures not deductible in computing profits include:

Costs of computing income tax; expenses incurred before commencement of a business which would be deductible if incurred afterwards; costs of procuring a loan of capital other than the interest paid thereon; cost of acquiring or protecting a franchise which, though of value for a limited period of years only, is not expressed to be so limited in the document by which it is granted.

RECOMMEND 33 CHANGES

Laird Watt of Montreal, chairman of the taxation committee and Clem L. King of Toronto, executive secretary of the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants, represented the accountants, and Stuart Thom of Toronto and Palmer Howard of Montreal, chairman and secretary respectively of the taxation section of the bar association, spoke for the lawyers. They recommended 33 changes in federal tax statutes.

They said charitable donations by persons and companies have become part of the costs of carrying on business and should be treated in the same way as any other business expense.

The committee expressed the belief that removal of all restrictions on tax deductions for charitable donations would result in little loss of revenue.

On another point, the committee said a taxpayer who succeeds in a tax appeal in the courts is not allowed a deduction of the costs of the appeal.

RETIREMENT PENSIONS

They asked the government to permit all taxpayers to make tax-free contributions towards provision of retirement pensions, such pensions to be taxed as income when later received.

The committee contended that hardship results in cases where a gift of property has greatly increased in value and is no longer in possession of the recipient.

Amendment was urged to the Dominion Succession Duty Act so that it would apply only to the portion of an estate in excess of $50,000.

The delegation urged further that tax judges should be appointed for life, instead of for 10-year periods, so as "to safeguard judicial independence."

Marketing Hogs

because they'd pay 34c to the producer and two cents to the trucker."

"If there are not sufficient hogs at the stockyards at the beginning of any week, it is hard to establish a price for Monday," Mr. Newton said in answer to one question. Another remark of his about "greasing" was: "It must be illegal or it wouldn't be under the table."

QUALITY HAS SLUMPED

Looking to the future and trying to anticipate the volume of hogs toward the end of this year, Mr. Newton spent considerable time on the theme of quality production.

"If there is a surplus in the U.S. it is unlikely that we'll be able to ship pork over the border. The average of Grade A hogs in Ontario two years ago was 42 per cent. That was about the average for Peterborough. Today we are likely down to 33 or 32 per cent."

One salvation the farmer has in meeting the surplus production was quality, Mr. Newton proposed.

"We are producing good pigs, but we feed them a little too good. They are too heavy, too fat, and that costs us a lot of money. Let us market our pigs a little bit earlier. Keep scales in the barn, and make sure your hogs are not going to market overweight.

Supposing we cut the weight on an average of 10 pounds a pig, and we are marketing 100,000 hogs a week, that works out at one milion pounds cut from the surplus, and the most of it fat that isn't wanted. There is something the farmer can control. Market a better product, and get more money for it.

SEES NATIONAL AGENCY

So far, we have established the market price, but we have only got our feet wet. We have had groups of producers from Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta and also from Quebec and the United tSates, and inquiries from England about our marketing agency. I am hoping that before too long we'll see marketing agencies set up in the other provinces, and eventually a national hog producers' marketing agency. The Maritimes have it, and the others are interested in our set-up."

Melvilel H. Johnston was chairman of the meeting and was re-elected president, with George Shoniker vice-president, and Bruce Graham secretary-treasurer. Delegates to the provincial convention March 4-5: Mr. Johnston, Mr. Graham; Ken Moncrief, Mr. Shoniker and Sam Killen alternate.

Fred Crowe closed the meeting with a vote of confidence "in our marketing board and our whole set-up; tell them we think they have done a good job, and we expect them to get the best men to do whatever has to be done."

I Remember

The Honeymoon Bridge Collapse

BY BRUCE WEST

"I remember the battle of the giants at Niagara in the spring of 1938, when the great Honeymoon Bridge finally collapsed after withstanding for days the onslaught of one of the biggest ice floes in the history of the mighty and romantic river.

It was a classic case of the irresistible force meeting the supposedly immovable object. If conflict makes news, surely there was never a better news story than this.

Day after day the tremendous adversaries were locked in a death grip. News cameramen from all over the world stood ready hour after hour on the bank of the river, waiting to record the crash if and when it came.

And the heart-breaking thing was that not one of these patient photographers was ready when it finally happened. Each one, after waiting for days in the cold, had relaxed his vigilance at the precise moment when the huge structure buckled and collapsed.

The only man who caught the action on film as the bridge tumbled into the gorge with a roar was an amateur photographer from Simcoe, Ontario who had raised his camera for a shot of the ice floes just as the bridge fell. He sold his pictures to the news services for $200 but he could have commanded $2,000."

Industrial Output Measures Rate Of Europe's Recovery

WASHINGTON — The European Coal and Steel Community's new coal of 50 million tons of steel a year points up the remarkable economic recovery made by the nations of Western Europe since World War II.

Industrial output of countries west of the Iron Curatin has increased to 140 percent of the pre-war average.

Western Europe's economy is historically geared to industrialization rather than agriculture, says the National Geographic Society. A large and skilled labor force is readily available. Many fine ports can ship finished goods to foreign markets. There are rich deposits of coal and iron ore, though inadequate for all of Western Europe's manufacturing needs.

INSUFFICIENT FARMLANDS

On the other hand, only 54 percent of the total land area of Western Europe is suitable for farming or grazing. Vast ranges of the Alps and Pyrenees carve these regions into numerous isolated valleys and plains. Many countries are obliged to import a large part of their food requirements. Great Britain imports more than half its needs.

Western Europe is an area of some 1,238,000 square miles, extending westward from a line stretching approximately from Stettin on the Baltic Sea south to Trieste on the Adriatic. To the east is the Iron Curtain, encircling the Soviet Union and its satellites.

Twenty-one countries, including Iceland—ranging in size from the tiny states of Monaco and San Marino to France, Spain and Sweden — compose Western Europe. In the aggregate they form one of the major pools of world population, with 274,221,000 people.

The United States, 2½ times as large, has 114 million fewer people. The Soviet Union has 81 million fewer in an area seven times as large.

WAR DAMAGE

Contrary to popular belief, Western Europe's major industrial plants did not all suffer severe bomb damage or destruction in World War II. In some instances, production facilities were actually expanded. Coal and steel production were drastically curtailed, however, and transportation lines were shattered. France alone lost 25 per cent of its locomotives and 20 per cent of its railway cars.

To help revitalize the nations of Western Europe, the United States has advanced $34 billion in economic and military aid since 1945. New factories have risen in more than a dozen countries. Transportation and communication lines have been restored. Harbors have been cleared.

In 1953 the European Coal and Steel Community produced 247 million tons of coal and about 40 million tons of steel. Industries involved in the coalition employ 1,750,000 people, one-tenth of the combined labor force of the six member nations — France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The supranational project involves operations totaling almost $6 billion annually and represents about 15 per cent of the total industrial production of the six countries. The combine was initiated in 1949 and became effective August, 1952. Headquarters of the High Authority are in Luxembourg.

Organize Drive For Hospital

MARMORA (ENS) — A dinner and short business meeting of Marmora Chamber of Commerce was held at the Royal hotel under the presidency of Ralph E. Neal.

It was announced that the election of directors for 1954 and the organization session would take place at the next meeting.

A committee, composed of A. F. Fraser, R. E. Bonter and H. Olsen, was appointed to organize the village for a canvass in aid of the Belleville General Hospital building fund. Members present were strongly of the opinion that Marmora and district should assist in the campaign with a worthwhile donation.

New Agricultural Areas Needed Around World

OTTAWA (CP)—The need for new agricultural areas in the world has never been more acute, Dr. R. C. Wallace told the Canadian Geographical Society Thursday night.

Dr. Wallace, former principal of Queen's University, Kingston, and now Ontario government consultant on universities, said the world's population is increasing considerably faster than available food supplies. He said the need for finding new regions suitable for raising basic foodstuffs is a challenge to "economic geographers."

Wheat Supplies Said Asset, Not A Worry

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's wheat supplies are an asset rather than a worry in the opinion of James S. Duncan, president of Massey-Harris-Ferguson Ltd., international manufacturers of farm equipment.

In an address prepared for delivery to the company's annual meeting today, he said:

"I cannot subscribe to the concern expressed in some quarters regarding the large accumulation of wheat in the Western provinces. Conditions which should cause us anxiety are those of drought and crop failure, not those of abundance. Even if our wheat cannot be immediately marketed, it still remains a potential source of wealth."

SURPLUSES PROBLEM

At the same time, however, food surpluses in the United States "will continue to be a serious problem and have a depressive effect on the price of farm commodities."

In this situation, the North American farm implement industry "is going through a period of adjustment in response to changes in the prosperity of its farmer customers. Whereas we see signs of improvement in many export markets, farmers of North America will continue to be conservative in their approach to buying during 1954.

"Over the long term, however, the major influences affecting our industry are the steady growth in world population, the basic soundness of the farmer's economic position, and his desire to mechanize his operations. These factors will assure a continuing demand at a high level for new and modern farm equipment."

EARNINGS AFFECTED

Mr. Duncan said net earnings of his company had been affected by lower sales and increasing costs.

The company's implement price index had increased by 66.9 per cent since 1941, as compared with 82.1 for the general wholesale price index of the bureau of statistics; while the index of basic raw materials had increased by 94.7 per cent and the average hourly pay rates in the company's Canadian plants had increased by 173.9 per cent.

Today's annual meeting was the first since amalgamation of Massey-Harris Co. Ltd., and the Harry Ferguson companies of Britain.

Mr. Duncan said the company plans to market two lines of machines, one under the Massey-Harris name and one under the Ferguson, with separate dealer franchises which might, in some instances, be held by the same dealer.

$14 For Budget Fund In CGIT Jingle Boxes

HAVELOCK (ENS).—The sum of $14 was realized for the budget fund at a meeting of the Havelock CGIT in the Sunday school room of the United church, when members brought in their jingle boxes. This amount will be increased as there are a few more boxes to be returned.

The meeting opened with the CGIT hymn and purpose, followed by a sing-song, with Mrs. R. G. Newman as accompanist.

The president, Doris Newman, read a Bible story, and Mrs. Newman offered prayer. The meeting closed with taps.

Korean Babies Get Shower

The Evening Auxiliary of George Street United church met Thursday evening with president Mrs. D. Munro presiding. A shower of new clothing for Korean babies was received by the convener of this project, Miss Edna Manning. Worship was conducted by Miss Beryl Hart's group and was closed with the Hebrew benediction. At this meeting the birthday collection from members was received and in recognition of the fact, Mrs. Chester Carson brought a beautifully decorated birthday cake to centre the tea table, and this was flanked by tall candles hand made by Mrs. E. W. Jones. Thirty five members were present for the meeting.

Articles For Bazaar

St. Alban's Afternoon Guild met at the home of Mrs. Henry Peasgood, Cameron street on Tuesday afternoon. The meeting was opened with prayers by the Rev. Mr. Peasgood. Mrs. Cyril Barnes displayed new goods to be made up for the bazaar on June 9th, and some finished articles were turned in. Further arrangements are to be made for a rummage sale planned for March 20th. St. George's Sanctuary Guild issued an invitation to an address by Sister Lois of the Sisterhood of St. John the Divine on Friday evening, March 12th, at the church, and members decided to meet at St. Alban's and have transportation available to go. A social time was enjoyed and the hostess served delicious refreshments.

Writer Of Service Mentioned

Group two of the WMS of George St. United church met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. Brown, Benson St. President Mrs. H. Crowe opened with a devotional reading, followed by a hymn and prayer and scripture reading. Roll call was answered by nine members.

Mrs. Crowe outlined the life of Sarah Chakko of India, writer of the World Day of Prayer service to be used on March 5. Chapter of the study book entitled "The Four R's of Europe," was taken by Mrs. Crowe, assisted by Mesdames B. Syvertson, A. Brown, A. Casey, and W. N. Woollard. These ladies pointed out that the four R's meant: Reconciliation, relief, reconstruction and rediscovery of the Bible.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess. Mrs. Ivey invited the ladies to her home for March meeting.

THE WOOL DRESS, an outstanding fashion this spring, is shown here in three versions: jacket dress, bolero dress and princess silhouette. This precisely-tailored jacket dress (left), is in light-weight wool worsted with miniature checks in gray-and-white. There's acut-away weskit to fit smoothly and slender dress with halter neckline beneath. Jet-black, feather-weight wool is cut by this same designer into dress with cap sleeves and shallow V neckline topped (centre) by curving bolero. Princess dress with empire influence (right) is in avocado green featherweight wool. Skirt has soft fullness achieved by all-around goring. Short sleeves are crescent-shaped.

Nutritional Needs Outlined To Local Council

"Older women must have orange juice every day" was one pertinent nutritional fact which Local Council of Women members noted from the address of health convener Mrs. Phyllis Kingdon at the meeting Thursday.

It was explained that the orange, or a substitute of grapefruit or tomato juice, is necessary every day because it contains one vitamin that is not carried in the body more than 24 hours. Many older women, especially those living alone, do not eat properly, Mrs. Kingdon stated. Besides the juice they should have porridge or a 100 per cent whole grain cereal for breakfast.

She emphasized breakfast continually, from children to adults, and said "The fault most people make is the kind of breakfast they eat." She deplored also the habit of teen-agers to have with their lunch a carbonated drink. They are only laying up trouble with their teeth by this practice, Mrs. Kingdon advised. The drink would not be so bad, however, if it followed a glass of milk.

Eating to lose weight was another interesting point to this audience. Mrs. Kingdon says "To reduce you should eat the proper foods in proportion to what you need." She added, "Though overweight, you may be under-nourished." The same principle in reverse applies to those who want to gain weight. Calorie control booklets with suggested menus for both losing and gaining weight were given to each lady.

These booklets are provided by the local branch of the Milk Foundation of which Mrs. Kingdon is representative. She advised that the foundation is an educational health program formed to promote health in all its departments. Hundreds of dollars are paid out for the printed material which is supplied free to the schools. Some forms are colouring and sing and-play books which teach young children most effectively.

Theme of the program is "We are what we eat," and an all too true fact the promoters are seeking to correct is "not using food to its full advantage." When so many people of the world are starving this is all the more wasteful on the part of Canadians.

Mrs. Kingdon said "variety" and "balance" are the secrets of good nutritional menus.

She was thanked for her information by Mrs. Edward Chambers.

Mrs. M. Dunford Named Head

LILY LAKE (ENS)—The WA met at the home of Mrs. Beardsmore with a good attendance present.

The retiring president, Mrs. Arthur Hancock, was in charge of the meeting. The scripture reading was given by Mrs. Beardsmore. Prayer was offered by Mrs. William Steinkrauss.

The roll call was answered with a snapshot, taken early in life, of a member or members of their families. The prize was won by Mrs. Everett Tully for guessing all the snapshots.

Cards of thanks were received from the Tully family, Miss Betty Finlay and Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Ferguson.

Annual reports were given by the secretary, Mrs. Everett Tully; treasurer, Mrs. A. Ackison; fruit and flower committee, Mrs. M. Dunford.

The nominating convener, Mrs. E. McConkey presented the new slate of officers for the coming year. They are: past president, Mrs. Arthur Hancock; president, Mrs. Milton Dunford; vice-presidents, Mrs. Dorothy Ferguson and Mrs. W. C. Steinkrauss; secretary, Mrs. Everett Tully; treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Hancock; pianist, Mrs. George Middleton; flower committee, Mrs. A. Eggleston; blanket convener, Mrs. Clarence Hancock; telephone committee, Mrs. Hatherly and Mrs. E. McConkey. The new officers were installed by Mrs. Clarence Hancock. The new president, Mrs. M. Dunford then took over the meeting.

It was decided to hold card parties at the school every two weeks and to sell tickets on a rose wool blanket.

The hostess served lunch, including a huge birthday cake, to celebrate the 15th anniversary of Lily Lake WA. Mrs. William Steinkrauss won a prize for having the lucky tea cup.

Mary Pickford Got Her Vitality Because Ancestors Drank Goat's Milk

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"Sure, the Irish drank goat's milk," said Mary Pickford. "That's how I have my vitality—because my ancestors drank goat's milk."

At 60, "America's sweetheart" of yesterday still retains the simple charm that once made her the movie favorite of millions.

"I'm the busiest woman in Beverly Hills—or any other hill," she said, smiling, as we sat in the living room of her hotel suite.

"I have a big house to look after, and my husband, Buddy Rogers, and my business interests—and the children, Ronnie and Roxie.

Roxie will soon be 12, but she's already four inches taller than I am. She's horse crazy. But I'd rather look forward to her being horse crazy than boy crazy."

Mary also is active in half a dozen philanthropic and charitable enterprises. She recently completed her memoirs for McCall's magazine, and said she would like—after 20 years away from the screen—to return in one last film.

BORN IN TORONTO

"It would be the story of my mother's life," she said, "and end on that day in 1909 when I walked into the old Biograph studio and got my first movie job."

Mary was born in Toronto and started her stage career there at the age of six. She rose from $40 to $10,000 a week in a few years, and piled up millions later producing her own films. This girl with the haunting face of a golden angel also had a cashbox mind.

"But I dislike business heartily," she said.

Here is Mary Pickford looking back at her life—a reverie aloud:

"The greatest picture ever made? My choice would be 'Gone with the Wind.' Of my own pictures, I suppose I still like 'Tess of the Storm Country' best. I made it twice—in 1914 and 1922.

CHAPLIN, DISNEY GREAT

"The greatest geniuses of the motion picture have been Charlie Chaplin and Walt Disney. After them? D. W. Griffith and Irving Thalberg. Irving had a bad heart. He walked with death at his back. He knew he had not time to waste on trivial things, or things half done. He died young.

"I made 50-odd feature pictures . . . We do look ridiculous in them today. . and sometimes I feel like destroying my old films. . . Those awful clothes we used to wear. . .

"They can't compare with the pictures now, of course. . But silent pictures did speak a universal language. . I think we go in for too many sound effects now. . The great ones avoid superfluous gestures and superfluous sound. . . But the great ones are all too few . . ."

Mayor's Wife Given Honorary Appointment

Mrs. Norman Graham is to be advised that she has been made an honorary president of the Local Council of Women of Peterborough. At the general meeting of the Council Thursday afternoon, this appointment and those of three conveners were brought forward from an executive meeting.

Mrs. H. Tremain is named telephone convener, Mrs. James Ellis pianist, and Mrs. M. H. Drysdale is convener of goodwill.

Recommendation that a proposed baby shower for the Save the Children Fund take place at the May meeting was accepted.

Treasurer Mrs. P. A. Martyn reported a balance of $304.07 on hand. It was decided to take out of this account $100 given by the Lipton Tea Company so that it will be available for buying a life membership when needed.

The budget for 1954 has been decided on by finance committee and was read in detail by chairman Mrs. H. T. Rehill. It was afterward suggested that consideration be given a prize for the head girl at Kenner Collegiate to match one offered at POVS.

A request for volunteers to drive the retarded children to school was made by Mrs. A. W. Nelson, president, who is in charge of arranging drivers.

Members were asked to put forth effort to sell tickets to the fashion show March 9th which Council is sponsoring.

Card Party Success

HAVELOCK (ENS)—The weekly card party sponsored in the Legion hall by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Havelock-Belmont branch of the Canadian Legion was successful. There were 10½ tables played.

Prizewinners were: First, Mrs. W. W. Hall; second, Mrs. Wesley Smith; third, Mrs. Cecil Toms. The lucky tally prize went to Mrs. Alex Simpson. Robert Wrightly was the winner of a draw for a cake.

Home and School Association News

BRIDGENORTH SCHOOL

"Fathers Night", meeting of Bridgenorth Home and School Association, Tuesday evening was not as largely attended as usual, due to inclement weather.

Mrs. E. McConkey presided in absence of the president. It was reported that radios and record players and a number of records have been purchased for each of the three school rooms.

Bridgenorth lady minstrels are putting their show on March 4th and 5th in the Forester's Hall.

Mr. Geo. Easton introduced Mr. McClay the school principal, who gave a reading, "Father Understands". Community singing was led by Mr. Easton with Mrs. E. Telford at the piano.

Mr. Peter McGillen was guest speaker and kept his audience, both adult and children completely enthralled during a talk on "The preservation and conservation of our fish and game."

Mr. Joe Lowry and Mr. Hosea Vinette of the "Happy Daze Ministrels" entertained for a half hour with jokes, songs and instrumental numbers. Mr. Lowry's solo "Deep River" was especially enjoyable.

WMS Guests Of Mrs. R. Hermiston

STIRLING (ENS). — St. Andrew's WMS met at the home of Mrs. R. A. Hermiston.

In the absence of the president, the meeting was presided over by Mrs. Hermiston. The offering was taken by Mrs. Hermiston.

Mrs. Roy Eggleton gave a reading on St. Valentine. Mrs. W. L. Munroe took the topic from the study book on Africa.

The benediction brought the meeting to a close. Lunch was served by the hostess.

Canadian Amateur Artist Has Picture In Guildhall

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Nancy Stevens dark-haired amateur artist from Salt Spring Island, B.C., has realized a long-standing dream. An oil painting by the shy, soft-spoken stenographer was picked for exhibition in London's Guildhall.

The painting, a portrait of a stevedore in muffler and cap, is one of 300 selected for the fifth annual Guildhall show.

Miss Stevens, employed by a fishery firm, has worked and waited five years in Britain for this opportunity. She came to Britain on holiday in the fall of 1947—and stayed to paint.

"I would like to make a name as a portrait painter," she said in an interview. "But I still have a long way to go."

Miss Stevens' painting, however, attracted the attention of a newspaper critic and her name headed his reviews.

Nancy spent seven wartime years in the cipher office of the naval base at Esquimalt, B.C., and then decided in 1947 to visit her aunt, Mrs. Alice Bowden, at Bradninch, Devon.

DEVON ATTRACTION

It was partly the influence of Devon—one of England's "painters' counties"—that persuaded her to accept the inexpensive teaching available in London.

"I couldn't hope for the same facilities back home," she said. She has attended night classes at an art school for five years, graduating from water colors and charcoal drawing to still life in oils. She now is taking her third term in portraiture.

"I love it," she said, "but I find I have too little time to make fast progress."

Miss Stevens works a full day as a secretary. When her boss is out of town—which happens frequently—Nancy helps in the architect's office, tracing and coloring.

"At least I'll have secretarial experience when I go home," she said with a smile. "And that may be soon." Miss Stevens said her mother is in poor health.

Annual Supper Planned By Roseneath WA

ROSENEATH (ENS) — Final plans were made for the annual congregational supper by the WA of the United Church.

It will be in the form of a pot-luck supper at the town hall next Friday. The ladies of the congregation are asked to assist with the baking.

The annual business meeting of the church will be held following the supper.

The WA meeting was held in the townshi phall with Mrs. Clarence Down as hostess. The president, Mrs. Earl Waldie, presided, with Mrs. Bart Thackeray as pianist.

"Christian Fellowship" was the theme of the worship service in charge of Mrs. Charles Sandercock.

Mrs. Isaac Skuce, treasurer, reported a balance on hand of $444.30.

Mrs. Clarke Sandercock, good cheer convener, reported 10 persons remembered during the month. The parsonage committee reported an estimate on plastering a room in the parsonage.

Group 3 of the WA, the "Ways and Means" group made plans for their annual Irish banquet on March 17. Mrs. Harold Taylor and Mrs. Alex Horner are leaders of this group. The banquet will be held at Maple Lodge.

Mrs. J. R. Wheeler was in charge of the program, assisted by Mrs. Rlex Horner, Mrs. Isaac Skuce and Mrs. Clarke Sandercock.

The meeting closed with prayer. The hostess served afternoon tea.

Carter-Gould

The marriage of Beverly Mae, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gould, to Gerald Warner Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Carter, all of Peterborough, was solemnized at the George Street United Church by the Rev. A. A. Mathews on February 11th.

The altar was decorated with gladioli. Mr. Charles Allen played wedding music and Mr. Percy Harrison sang "I'll walk beside you" and "Because."

The bride wore a navy dress, overlaid with white, white feathered hat with blue veil, white gloves and a corsage of white 'mums. She was attended by the former Miss June Portsmith, now Mrs. Donald Pammett, who was wearing a black and white ensemble and corsage of mauve and yellow carnations.

Mr. Donald Pammett was groomsman and Maitland Carter was usher.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 165 Perry Street.

The couple left afterwards for a honeymoon at Niagara Falls. They will live at 57 Crescent Street.

HAIRDO HELPS

There is nothing that does more for the appearance and the morale of a woman than a new hairdo. Why not discontinue minor indulgences for a while and treat yourself to a really becoming styling at a reputable salon?

LIPSTICK ADVICE

If your mouth is large, the dark lipstick shades are not for you. And be sure to shade the color at the corners of your mouth.

Kiwani-Queens On Stage As The "TV-Ettes" Of 1954

The TV-Ettes Show? You haven't seen it? Well, perhaps your set was tuned to another channel when Kiwani-Queens went before the "television camera" Thursday night.

Or was this a private showing for husbands and friends gathered at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club?

We're not certain to what outlets the microphone and "camera" were connected, but we have a feeling the public is to be denied entertainment of an uncommon variety and the knowledge of unsuspected talent in some Peterborough housewives.

For instance, how many who know Mrs. Jack Comstock would visualize her as a TV announcer, giving out commercials, weather, the time, and jokes (?)? Well, maybe so, but would they picture her in shorts, black swallow tail coat and vest, a dress shirt, and wearing men's socks and garters and to top it all, a moustache?

That surprises you a little. Well, you should have seen the show. Ballet, puppets, a quizz program, truth or consequences, a quartette, and finally an orchestra, all by women in outfits cast as crazy.

Now the ballet was a masterpiece of litheness and grace, at times, with Mrs. Norman Armstrong and Mrs. Jack Daly the ballerinas and Mrs. Doug McGregor the male dancer. Their costumes and make-up were excellent, and their husbands were relieved to know at last where their long underwear had disappeared to when the cold spell struck last week.

The Richochet Romance of Mr. and Mrs Ken Wilson was brought to light when Mr. Wilson failed to answer the truth and had to take the consequence—his wife in the role of a rejected spouse adding vengeance to the words of the popular song.

"Strike it rich" was a clever take-off on the give-away programs of radio and TV with Mrs. Les Reichardt the long-nosed enquiring MC, and participants, Mrs. Jim Lillico, Mrs. Jack Haldimand and Mrs. Glen Archer suitably attired for the interview.

Lady-like as well as womanlike was a number titled "Beauty Shoppe Quartette", and the selections were in keeping, "Memories" and "Heart of my Heart". Mrs. Ed. DeNure and Mrs. Blain Till were in curlers and nets under the dryers, and Mrs. Clarke Murkar and Mrs. Jack Davern were the operators.

Live puppets drew a round of applause for their act in response to string-pulling. The puppets were Mrs. Harry Dunham, Mrs. William Hughes and Mrs. Jim Craig.

"Es Cumpari", the orchestral selection has perhaps never been similarly interpreted, and perhaps never so entertainingly either. Significant fact about the music that was music in this number is that piano-accordion player Mrs. Dennis Fitzgerald has had just 12 lessons on this instrument. Mrs. Doug McGregor played well too on her "washboard-o". Other musicians were Mrs. Norm Armstrong, Mrs. Jack Daly, Mrs. Harry Dunham, Mrs. Jim Craig and Mrs. William Hughes.

Mrs. Bob Bastable, wife of Kiwanis president, is head lady in the Kiwani-Queens and she introduced the stage show. Mrs. George Cheatle was called out to receive a round of applause for her part in writing the script and directing. The ladies did not tell, however, just how much fun they had while getting up this program.

For the remainder of the evening, guests enjoyed dancing and cards and a sumptuous buffet supper was served.

Some of the prizewinners of the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Ed. DeNure, Mr. and Mrs. Tom O'Connor, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Fallis, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Ranesbottom, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Bob DeGrace, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Huehn, Mrs. Blain Till, Mr. Ernie McWilliam, Mrs. C. H. Marrs, Mr. Cecil McIntyre, Mrs. Bill Garner, Mr. Jack Wolstenholme.

The 75 couples attending this annually anticipated evening of fun were:

Mr. and Mrs. Golumbia, Mr. and Mrs. J. Daly, Mr. and Mrs. L. Mannen, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cairns, Mr. and Mrs. H. Fallis Mr. and Mrs. R. Bastable, Mr. and Mrs. G. Cheatle, Mr. and Mrs. J. DOROTHY DIX

Girl Rebels At Her Family For Teasing About Boy

DEAR MISS DIX: My 22-year-old daughter never was particularly interested in boys, even in high school. A while back, an old friend of the family, Gene, wrote her from overseas, where he's in service, asking her to write. She did, and when he came home they had a few dates. Until this point we had always joked about her boy friends, or lack of them, but when I teased her about Gene, she was quite angry, and wouldn't go out with him again. She became very disagreeable around the house, ate very little, and was easily hurt. She went to a doctor, who suggested that she go to a psychiatrist. After two months, she became less moody, and began to talk about Gene quite a lot. He, in the meantime, has continued his interest in her. The doctor says he's not the boy for her. Will anything straighten her out. Everything I say seems to be wrong.—Mrs. H.

✧ ✧ ✧

NOT AMUSING

ANSWER: From the very beginning, the girl's trouble seems to be just too many people butting in. During adolescence there was too much teasing about her boy friends. This is an attitude that many parents consider amusing, but the girl or boy who's the object of constant "kidding" rarely shares the adult view. More sympathetic understanding, with an attempt to help the girl make friends, would have been more in line. When finally she did find a boy friend, the joking became even less bearable since at this point she was very serious.

Gene's character, as outlined in your long letter, seems admirable; the young people were apparently quite congenial, and your daughter's sensitivity would easily have been overcome. Whether the doctor's assumption of Gene's unsuitability was well founded or not, I can't judge on the meagre information before me, but it was at least one more stumbling block in the path of a girl making a valiant try to adjust herself to romance. I suggest that the family change its attitude from jollying to serious acceptance. Try to see the problem from the girl's viewpoint, and give her all the help you can, preferably without fanfare. Sit on the sidelines, ready to help, instead of trying to monopolize the centre ring. Let your daughter have a chance to work things out.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a man of 23. My girl is 35, a divorcee with two children. We both agree we are very much in love, and I'm sure I am ready to accept all responsibilities. We've been companions for 11 months, yet there still seems to be a doubt whether or not we should marry.

Rodney.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I advise you to heed the doubt. Twenty-three is young to be taking on responsibilities of your own, let alone assuming them for a whole family.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My current heart-throb has been negligent in keeping our last two dates. I'm so disappointed. When I first met him he gave me an inexpensive friendship ring. Should I give him another chance? I'm so lonely without him. Or, should I return his ring by mail and try to forget him?

Mary B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Why not at least give him a chance to explain why he didn't keep the dates? You seem so attached to the man that you'll probably regret the hasty action of returning the ring by mail. He really doesn't seem too stable, but he merits the courtesy of your returning the bauble in person.

PRINTED SILK foulard shirt (left) in five colors, the predominating color is peach. The other four colors are pertinent to the peach tree—green leaves, brown trunk, pink blossom, dark red spots on the peach skin. The pants are peach velveteen and green duvetyn. Centre, two-piece play dress in Italian poplin featuring an apron effect, bonnet and gloves in contrasting colors. The third outfit is composed of shirt and shorts in printed silk pongee. Handmade hat is a straw daisy.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Readers' Friday Column

QUESTION: Have been trying to locate a recipe I used a good many years ago for spiced beef. I know the ingredients were a roast of beef weighing about 20 to 24 pounds, salt peter, salt, brown sugar—the meat was placed in a deep dish; the spices rubbed in each day for 10 days . . . meat covered with suet and encased in a thin paste of flour and water and cooked for about 6 hours. I try your recipes quite often and like the results very much.

Mabel S.

ANSWER: My 2 recipes for Spiced beef runs a little differently Mabel. I will outline them for you. What you describe is a little familiar to me and I think if I print this one of our readers may be kind enough to send in the method.

SPICED BEEF NO. 1

Eight-lb. rump of beef, 1 teaspoon mace, 1 teaspoon black pepper, 1 nutmeg grated, ¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper, 1 onion, 7 oz. moist brown sugar, 2 teaspoons powdered cloves, ½ lb. salt, 1½ pints beef broth, 4 carrots, 1 tablespoon crumbled thyme, ½ cup chopped parsley. Mix dried spices and sugar together, rub beef thoroughly with the mixture and let it lie for 2 days, turning it over once. Then rub the salt into the beef. Leave it for 9 days, turning meat every day. Wash off excess spices and salt. Place in kettle, pour over beef broth, bring to boil, remove all scum, add vegetables and thyme and parsley. Simmer very gently covered for 3½ hours or until very tender. Allow to cool in cooking liquor. Stick cloves into rump in attractive pattern to serve and slice thinly.

SPICED BEEF NO. 2

To 1 gallon boiling water add 3 to 6 tablespoons salt, ½ oz. each mustard seed, whole cloves, cayenne pods, stick cinnamon and mace, and 1 oz. ginger root. Boil 5 minutes and let cool. Add 1 cup sugar, and ¼ oz. salt petre. Pour over beef, adding enough water to cover beef if necessary —but not more than 1 quart. Piece of beef should weigh about 8 lbs. (Brisket point is ideal for this.) Let stand in cold place 4 weeks. Then cook it as described above, after draining from spice pickle.

QUESTION: I wonder if you could tell me how to make 'lilies,' a pastry made with eggs, flour milk, etc., which requires a lot of beating. It is rolled out and cut with a large cookie cutter. When baked and before cold pinch two edges together then when they are cold this serves as a handle. Have ice cream or whipped cream on top with a cherry in middle. They are delicious — take the place of a cone, but much tastier—something different, I think it is an old recipe . . . hope I have made myself clear. Mary J.

ANSWER: You made yourself clear Mary, but I haven't one clue to lead me to the recipe. The only feeble suggestion I have to make is rolled almond wafters, but they do not contain eggs. Maybe some of our alert readers will see this and recognize what you are after and send the recipe to me. If so I'll print it.

ROLLED ALMOND WAFERS

(If shaped like a cornucopia these could be used for the purpose you describe.) Cream ¼ cup butter and gradually cream into it ½ cup fruit sugar. Add ⅛ cup unsifted bread flour alternately with ¼ cup milk, then add ½ teaspoon vanilla. Spread this mixture very thinly on buttered cookie sheet. Mark in 3-inch squares. Sprinkle with ½ cup very finely chopped almonds which have been blanched. Bake in slow oven of 300 deg. Fahr. until delicately browned. Draw pan to oven door and work there to keep squares pliable. Separate squares with knife, turn over with broad spatula and roll quickly. Transfer to plate to cool and become firm.

S.O.S. READERS: could anyone come to our rescue with spiced beef as Mabel describes it, and with "Lilies" such as Mary wants?

THE MOVIE COLUMN:

Marjorie Main May Retire; "Kettle" Series Ending Soon

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Marjorie Main, who is as much a character off the screen as on, may retire from acting. Then again she may not.

The veteran actress is coming to the end of her MGM contract March 23, and she confesses, "I'm counting the days."

I saw her in the homey dressing room she uses at Universal-International, where she has done a sizable number of loan-outs. She had plopped her belongings down on a chair.

"I drove in last night," Miss Main mused as she hunted for a wisp of hair on her forehead. "I decided I would try to find some of those new parkways. I didn't do so good. You know, they don't mark 'em very well.

"I left Palm Springs at noon and didn't get home until nine o'clock at night.". It is ordinarily a three-hour trip.

14 YEARS AT MGM

I asked her how long she had been at MGM, and she guessed around 14 years. She actually came out here in 1938 to re-create her stage role in "The Women." How does she feel about leaving?

"Well, I'm sorry about leaving a lot of good friends at Metro," she remarked. "But I wasn't too happy about the last two pictures I did there. One was 'The Long, Long Trailer,' and I had only two tiny scenes in the picture. One of them was cut out.

"Then I did 'Rose Marie.' They decided that something was needed to relieve the plot so Bert Lahr and I did a musical number. Oh, I mean it was a lot of work. Took us six weeks in all. And then they threw the number out of the picture because it interfered with the plot"

'KETTLE' SERIES ENDING

I asked her about the "Kettle" series. The fabulously successful low-budget films have apparently come to the end of their run. There are still two to be released, but co-star Percy Kilbride has said he'll do no more.

"It's entirely up to Percy," said Miss Main. "I love that little fellow: He's such a fine performer. I think he got fed up with the series after the last one. Why, they put poor little Percy on a straw mat and dragged him all over the back lot. Then they had his double slide down a long slide into a swimming pool. Percy had to stand in the water up to his neck and he was terrified. He'd never been in a pool before.

"They should realize at our age you can't do all this physical stuff. You just don't have the energy that younger people do. We're too old to be running around. Percy's two years older than I am." He's 65.

Norwood CGIT Entertain Mothers

NORWOOD (ENS)—The Norwood CGIT held a Valentine box social.

Guests were the girls' mothers, who were entertained with a short program.

A skit was directed by Miss Gail Baker. Those taking part were Beverley Rothwell, Gail Harnden, Catherine Hudson, Patricia Hudson; June Martin, Carol Eason, Paty Bongard, Carroll Sinclair, Eileen Milelit, Mary Low Atkinson and Judy Cuthbertson.

A square dance was performed by Mary Lou Atkinson, June Martin, Anne Sinclair, Elaine Sinclair, Catherine Hudson, Margaret Duncanson, Ann Pakenham, Shirley Millett and Nancy Flett.

A trio, consisting of Mary Lou Atkinson, June Martin and Shirley Millett, sang a navy song. Caroll Sinlair and Patricia Hudson sang a cowboy san. Ann LaBrash and Beverly Rothwell both played piano solos.

Prizes for boxes were won by the following: Prettiest box, M y Lou Atkinson; most original, Elaine Sinclair; comic, Caroll Sinclair.

Judges were Miss P. Weir, Mrs. H. K. Wright, Mrs. D. Paxton, Mrs. William Golloher and Miss Clara Jenkins.

The mothers then chose boxes and ate lunch with the owner of the chosen box. The meeting closed with taps.

I, MR. LEO ROCHEFORT, Johnson Motors, 316 Dublin Street, will not be responsible for any Debts contracted in my name by my Wife, Mrs. Gertrude Rochefort, on or after February 16th, 1954.—Mr. Leo Rochefort.

IN THE MATTER OF THE MUNICIPAL ACT AND IN THE MATTER OF A PROPOSED BY-LAW OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH TO STOP UP AND CLOSE AN ALLOWANCE FOR HIGHWAY AND LEASE THE SAME TO H. B. McGINNESS LIMITED, OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, pursuant to Section 472 of The Municipal Act, R.S.O 1950, Chapter 243, that the Corporation of the City of Peterborough proposed to consider and if deemed advisable to pass at its Regular Meeting to be held at the Council Chamber, in the City Hall, in the City of Peterborough, on MONDAY, THE 15TH DAY OF MARCH, 1954, at 7:30 o'clock p.m., a By-law to Stop Up and Close ALL AND SINGULAR that certain Parcel or Tract of Land and Premises situate, lying and being in the City of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough and the Province of Ontario, and being composed of that part of Bethune Street south of McDonnel Street, in the said City, shown coloured red on plan of survey made by John G. Pierce, O.L.S., and dated January 22nd, 1954, which said Parcel may be further described as follows, that is to say:

COMMENCING at a point in the western limit of Lot Number 9 south of McDonnel Street and west of George Street in the said City distant 98.91 feet northery from the south-western angle thereof; the said western limit of the said Lot being the eastern limit of said Bethune Street,

THENCE southerly along the said limit, 5.10 feet,

THENCE westerly parallel to the southern limit of the said McDonnel Street, 8.27 feet,

THENCE northerly parallel to the said eastern limit of said Bethune Street, 5.10 feet,

THENCE easterly parallel to the said southern limit of said McDonnel Street 8.27 feet more or less, to the said point of commencement, and to lease the said Allowance for Road above described to H. B. McGinness Limited of the City of Peterborough.

AND TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that before passing the said By-law at its Meeting to be held at the time above mentioned, the Council of the City of Peterborough shall then and there hear in person or by his counsel, solicitor or agent any person who claims that his land will be prejudicially affected by the said By-law and who applies to be heard.

DATED at Peterborough, this 10th Day of February, 1954.

E. A. OUTRAM,
City Clerk.

40 Plumbing Jobs Completed In January

Plumbing Inspector A. G. Metheral reported issuing 21 permits for installation of sanitary conveniences in the city during January.

There were 40 plumbing jobs completed last month, with 241 still unfinished, he reported.

Connections to city sewers were made to five new houses, a new church, an old house and one house which was doing away with a septic tank.

A total of 124 inspections were made last month as follows: 43 water tests, 31 smoke tests, 10 layouts and 40 miscellaneous.

S. Korea Denounces Geneva Conference

SEOUL (AP)—South Korea tonight angrily denounced the Big Four agreement to hold a Korean peace conference in Geneva, and declared it "cannot give anyone a blank cheque" to write a peace treaty.

The government, in its first official reaction to the decision reached in Berlin, called it "fundamentally incompatible with the Korean armistice agreement."

However, government spokesman Karl Hong Ki did not rule out eventual South Korean participation in a political conference on terms agreed to by the United States, Britain, France and Russia at Berlin.

Calgary Play Chosen Winning Entry

CALGARY (CP) — Christopher Fry's "The Lady's Not for Burning," presented Thursday night by Calgary Workshop 14 as the concluding play of the Alberta regional drama festival, was chosen the winning entry.

The play won the Calvert Trophy for producer Betty Mitchell and its male lead, Ron Poffenroth, took the Calgary Civic Theatre award for the best actor.

Award for the best actress went to Mary Waters who played the leading role in "The Silver Cord," entered by the Lethbridge Players and directed by Hugh Buchanan.

British adjudicator Graham Suter said at the conclusion of the festival that he "thought very highly of the festival here and of the loyal support it has been given."

REVIEWS FESTIVAL

"The Hasty Heart," presented by the Calgary Civic Theatre Monday, was a good beginning to the festival, he said. It was an interesting play, carefully staged.

"The Silver Cord" was a difficult play to do. The team, however, made a good effort and it was a good contribution to the festival.

"The Blue Bird," presented by Edmonton's Pirikapo Players, was a most fabulous one-night stand, he said. Half the Edmonton juvenile population must have been there and the director was to be praised for his imaginative, creative work and the players for their virile performance.

Libel Case

"If you do that I'll have to answer it," was the reply Quinn swore he made at the time.

Later that day he went to the IUE office on Water St. There he and Ray Hansen drew up Quinn's statement, published three days later in the IUE leaflet "Here Is The Proof."

Before he gave Hansen the statement there was a brief conversation:

Quinn said he asked Hansen about the leaflet, and the IUE publicity director said "We published no names. It could have been anybody."

"I said I'm a new man in the industrial control department and I've a suspicion he meant me. He said he was sorry if the IUE had published a paper that in any way would mean me.

"I told him Art Hunter had shown me a paper (the one with photostats) and he was going to distribute it at the plant gate. I said I would answer it if he did have the paper distributed.

"I gave Mr. Hansen a statement and told him not to publish it until the UE paper was published."

CLOSE QUESTIONING

In cross examination W. J. Arthur Fair, QC, counsel for Hunter, questioned him closely.

Mr. Fair referred to the the paragraph by Quinn "I hereby state categorically and under oath . . ."

"Do you know what categorically mean"? asked Mr. Fair.

"Honestly," was the reply.

"So you think it means honestly! Did anybody administer the oath?"

"No."

"That was Mr. Hansen's idea, too,".

On the same statement Quinn had said the signature on the 50-cent checkoff card was written by "some right-handed person and I write left-handed."

On Wednesday the handwriting expert said he was unable to tell whether the signature on the checkoff card was by a right or left-handed person.

Mr. Fair followed this up:

"Now can you tell me if it was written by a right or left-handed person"? said Mr. Fair.

"No, but when I looked at it I felt it was a right-handed man."

"Explain that feeling," said Mr. Fair.

The witness just repeated his previous statement.

"You say the UE had $6 illegally of yours," said Mr. Fair.

"Yes."

"In other words you are saying that by forgery they had $6 that wasn't theirs . . and you knew Art Hunter was the business agent responsible for the $6"?

"Yes."

"You realize that forgery is a serious offence"?

"Yes."

After the UE put out their leaflet with the photostats the IUE distributed their leaflet "Here Is The Proof", containing Quinn's reply. This leaflet, which mentioned Hunter by name, led to the libel action.

Joe Wirtz, IUE Canadian coordinator, was the only one of three top IUE officials, named as defendants, who was present.

He said it was his duty to check the printed material for the IUE campaign, and he had authorized the allegedly libellous pamphlet though he didn't know everything on it to be true.

"To your own knowledge have you ever heard of UE being 'caught forging signatures'" asked Mr. Fair.

"No," said Wirtz. He elaborated this later to point out he had never heard of UE being "caught" at it.

"Where did the information for this leaflet come from?" asked Mr. Justice Ferguson.

"From employees working at the CGE plant," said Wirtz.

Mao Misses Meetings

LONDON (AP)—The Red China radio said Thursday night that chairman Mao Tze-tung was absent from recent important meetings in Peiping because he is on vacation. It was the first time in nearly four years that he has not attended these party sessions. There have been persistent rumors that Mao, 68, has been seriously ill.

LONELY AIR BASE—Careful maintenance by RCAF crews at lonely posts in Alaska and along the Aleutian chain keeps the planes of 426 Squadron flying in the United Nations airlift between North America and the Far East. Blessed Event Happy Ending Calf Complete With Tail

WOOSTER, O. (AP) — At the Ohio agricultural experiment station there was born a bull calf—and thereon hangs a tail.

The blessed event, eagerly awaited by cattle breeders, provided a happy ending—especially for the calf—to a story started last May when a tailless bull was mated with a tailless heifer.

The idea was to determine whether lack of the bovine fly swatter was a hereditary defect.

Absence of a tail on a newborn calf—and Ohio breeders have reported some 50 such instances in the last year—is a serious matter to cattlemen. They must spray the beast hourly during the fly season to keep it from misery. And the little, spindly-legged newcomer is forever banned from the social register of his line—such a snobbish volume that a tail of the wrong color is a barrier—let alone no tail at all.

By latching on a tail, the little fellow born Thursday to a father of mixed holstein-jersey extraction and a mother who is a crossbreed, mostly black angus, escapes the cruel fate of many tailless calves.

Sad to report, farmers have been known to haul out murderous sledge hammers and conk the heads of baby bossies with blank behinds.

Not only does this bull calf of tailless parentage have a tail, but he is normal in all other respects, reports Dr. L. O. Gilmore, associate chairman of the station's dairy science department.

The calf's parents lack even stump tails and have deep grooves halfway back along their rumps where the tail roots would be. Their offspring is the first known to be sired of such parentage.

"But the tailed bull calf does not prove that the no-tail defect is not inherited," Gilmore said.

While it is not the work of a "dominant" gene—meaning that it invariably would be passed on to offspring—it could be a "recessive" that would crop out whenever defective male and female genes team up.

"We will have to have more matings with the same two animals to prove inheritance," Gilmore added.

Take Big Swig, Become Giant

LONDON (AP) — The British Medical Journal reported today that an Irishman named Paddy—they didn't bother identifying him further—has discovered how to become a giant among men. You just take a big swig of trichlorethylene.

The stuff is usually used as a cleaning fluid. Paddy mistook it for a bottle of beer.

He woke up 36 hours later in the hospital.

"The ward appeared to be only two feet high and the beds about 18 inches long," he related.

"In response to my cries a little nurse, 12 inches tall, ran to my bed.

"She was followed by other nurses and a doctor, all about a foot high.

"The only other person in the ward who seemed to be of normal size was the man in the next bed."

Psychiatrist J. B. Todd, who wrote the report on the case, said Paddy's vision returned to normal the following day.

Approve Decision To Meet China

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—Viet Namese officials today said they aprove the Big Four's decision to meet with Red China in an effort to settle the Indo-China war, but added that the settlement must make it impossible for the Communist-led Vietminh to take over Indo-China.

They say it is essential that a peace treaty or armistice prevent Hô Chi Minh's rebels from obtaining politically the full conquest they have not been able to obtain by military means.

France bears the brunt of the war, but Viet Nam, largest of the three associated states of Indo-China, has more than 200,000 troops in training or fighting as allies. The Berlin decision that Korean and Indo-China affairs would be taken up at Geneva April 26 stirred considerable excitement here.

Eden's Nephew Wins By-Election

BOURNEMOUTH, Eng. (Reuters)—John B. Eden, 28, nephew of Foreign Secretary Eden, today won a seat in Parliament in a by-election.

Final results of Thursday's balloting showed Eden retained the Bournemouth West seat for the Conservative party against a determined effort by the Labor party in a straight two-party fight.

Eden got 20,695 votes to 9,006 for Henry Brinton, Labor, for a Conservative majority of 11,689.

The by-election was caused by the resignation through ill health of Lord Cranborne, Conservative, who had a majority of 15,737 in 1951.

Mother, 8 Children Flee Burning House

KITCHENER (CP) — A Kitchener mother and eight children fled to safety today when fire hit a cellar stairway and lower-floor bedroom at their home.

Mrs. John V. Hoffman and her children made their way out of the home without difficulty. The two youngest children, George, 1½ and Peggy, 3, were carried to a neighbor's home.

Interior of the Hoffman home was damaged by smoke but no estimate of the loss was immediately available. Cause of the fire was not learned.

Cattle Prices Strong During Week

TORONTO (CP) — Cattle prices were strong on branded steers and heifers and steady on other grades at the Ontario stockyards this week. Calves were steady to strong and hogs were $1 lower. Sheep and lambs were unchanged.

A moderate cattle run of 6,366 head, including 540 westerns was added to 350 carried from last week. Choice weighty and light steers $18-19; good steers $17-18; mediums downward to $ 5.50; good heifers $15-16; a few $16.50; mediums downward to $14. Choice fed yearlings $20-20.50; a few $21; mediums as low as $16. Good cows mostly $11-11.50; few heifer cows up to $13; canners and cutters downward to $7. Good heavy bulls $12-13, few tops $13.50. A small supply of stockers $13-16.50, according to quality.

Calves totalled 978 head with choice vealers strong at $28-29, few $30; medium to good $20-27; plain downward to $13.

Hogs opened $1 lower at $35 for grade A and closed at $35-35.50; dressed sows $26; stags $18. The run totalled 1,945.

Sheep and lambs were 500 head including a car of western lambs. Few good local lambs sold steady at $23-24; plain to medium $14-22; one car choice Alberta lambs $23.50. Common to medium sheep $4-7; few good sheep up to $10.

Your Children's Aid Society

A Weekly Column Written in the Interest of the Peterborough Children's Aid Society

The telephone rings at the children's aid office. A voice says, "I noticed in last night's Examiner that you wanted boarding homes for babies. I applied to adopt a baby two years ago, but have not got one yet. Why is this so when you have babies to board?"

That is not an unusual query to be received by the society. Why are some babies not placed for adoption?

One of the obvious reasons is a physical disability such as cleft palate and club feet. This does not mean that these children will not be adopted at a later time when a prediction can be made as to what this disability may mean to the child in the future. The society has adopting parents who will take children who have physical disabilities but it is felt well to determine the extent of the disability before placement. In other words, it is important that foster parents know what they are facing in accepting a child.

Children may have a background of diseases which might be inherited. Among these are epilepsy, asthma, hay fever and certain kinds of mental illness.

The society is dependent chiefly on the social history of both the mother and father in the placement of an infant and sometimes it is not possible to get such information for children born out of wedlock.

The society looks after a few babies for a short period while parents make plans to look after the children themselves.

Perhaps now you can see why the children's aid society needs boarding homes for babies and why all babies whom they look after cannot be placed for adoption.

The foster parents who look after babies for a short period of time have an important responsibility. This care may be during a time when the baby has a physical condition needing special attention; it may be for 2 or 3 weeks while plans are being made for the baby to be placed for adoption or it may be several months while the parents make their own plan. This is a particularly difficult, and important job. It is difficult in that good foster parents cannot help but get attached to the child and having the child leave is not easy. It is important because a child usually is being given his first experience in a family — shall we say his "start in life."

However, as we said previously, being a foster parent of any child demands the finest kind of people and is not a job to be considered by any one who has not a surplus of love, of tolerance and of understanding.

Next week we will tell you some of the things which are taken into consideration by the children's aid society in placing a child for adoption.

MOSCOW (CP)—An evening of speech-making and music to honor Soviet-Canadian friendship will be held here Feb. 22, Soviet authorities announced Thursday.

The special program, in the Hall of Trade Unions, will be under the auspices of the Central Committee of Trade Unions, the Academy of Science, and the Society of Cultural Relations Abroad.

Two Youths Find That Florida Doesn't Pay

SIMCOE (CP) — Douglas Johnston, 18, and Gerald Stewart, 17, who went to Florida instead of appearing in court last month for sentence on charges of breaking and entering, Thursday were sentenced to nine months definite and 12 months indefinite.

The youths pleaded guilty before Christmas but were allowed to spend Christmas at home.

Simcoe police picked them up at Fort Erie last week where they had been brought by United States officers from Florida.

BATTLE DEADLY GAS AT PLANT CAVE-IN Water 22 Feet Deep Flooding CIL Windsor Plant, New Cracks At Perimiter

WINDSOR (CP)—Gas-mask equipped repair crews moved into the twisted, torn chlorine-producing plant of Canadian Industries Limited today as settling buildings halted their slide into earth started by a giant underground cave-in. The workers, wearing the masks for protection against deadly chlorine fumes, sought to repair a damaged coupling leading to one of the main gas storyage tanks amid the flooded ruins of two buildings that are down almost to roof level in the sunken ground. The whole of the $6,000,000, 30-acre CIL plant was crippled by the slide, caused by settling in an old salt working 1,000 feet underground.

So was the operation of the adjoining Canadian Salt Company and the 500-odd workers of the two plants were evacuated Friday when rumblings and sudden spouts of water from underground gave warning of danger.

FLOODING SPREADS

Water flooded the area to a depth of 22 feet.

New cracks appeared today in the ground around the perimeter of the cave-in but officials discounted the threat of a new collapse.

Flood waters spread some 40 feet west overnight in the direction of the salt company's new offices. Workers cleared all records and furniture out of the building Friday as cracks appeared in the foundation.

The water-filled pit stretched 175 yards from east to west and 125 yards from north to south. The water level appeared the same as that of the Detroit river nearby and it was believed river water was seeping into the pit through salt mine crevices in the limestone formation.

A hydrogen tank on one end of a concrete slab listed eight inches by early today. Observers said that if the tank were to topple, an ammonia plant on the other end of the slab would go down as well.

Other nearby structures included a four-storey salt warehouse and the main CIL plants for producing chlorine. Officials said the roadway leading to the west-end plant could drop away.

Boxcars on a railway spur also were threatened.

Two CIL buildings were ruined in the initial collapse. A large warehouse all but vanished in the muddy water and a pump building settled to its rooftop with more than $10,000 worth of equipment.

Royal Children May Meet Queen At Tobruk

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's five-year-old heir to the throne, Prince Charles, will probably make his first royal "tour"—a foretaste of a tour-crowded future—in April.

He may sail to Tobruk, North Africa, to join the Queen and The Duke of Edinburgh on the homeward-bound journey of the current Commonwealth tour.

A Buckingham Palace spokesman said today that "there have always been speculations" concerning such a trip but plans are not complete "at the moment."

Princess Anne, 3, who insists on doing everything her big brother does, would go along too. The children would sail aboard the new royal yacht Britannia, which raises anchor for Tobruk about the second week of April.

The 12-day journey might possibly land the children there in time for them to wish their mother a happy birthday April 21, when the Queen will be 28.

It seems unlikely that either the Queen Mother or Princess Margaret—now serving as councillors of state—could be spared to watch over the children on their first trip out of Britain.

Probably Charles' governess, Miss Catherine Peebles, and the children's "Nanny," nurse Helen Lightbody, would go with them.

Get More A—Cannon

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—The U. S. army today disclosed that six more atomic cannon have arrived in West Germany.

An army spokesman said the cannon arrived here secretly on Jan. 1, and now are stationed west of the Rhine river. The cannon were accompanied, he said, by the 265th field artillery battalion.

Queen Mother Expected To Visit Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Queen Mother Elizabeth, who captivated Canadians on the royal tour of 1939, is likely to pay another—but much briefer—visit to Canada in November.

Buckingham Palace has advised Governor-General Massey that she "hopes very much" to come to this country again while she is in North America for a trip to the United States on President Eisenhower's invitation.

So far, government informants said, neither the official Canadian invitation nor the Queen's conditional acceptance include Princess Margaret.

The governor-general extended the invitation to the Queen Mother after the recent announcement that she will be going to the United States for a 10-day tour in the fall. Since the announcement did not mention the princess, the Canadian invitation did not include her.

DISCUSSED IN HOUSE

The prospective Canadian visit was discussed in the Commons (PC—Toronto Eglinton) asked Acting Prime Minister Howe if there has been a reply to the Canadian invitation.

"I have heard indirectly . . . that the Queen Mother has stated that she hopes to come to Canada," Mr. Howe said amid applause.

Later, government officials said the Queen's reply to the invitation had expressed hope for her visit but had stated there could be no definite answer until plans were arranged further.

Dulles Tries To Stress U.S. Victory

Has To Convince Congress No Appeasement Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dulles has undertaken to convince his critics, Congress and the country that the United States scored a diplomatic victory in arranging for a conference to discuss peace in Asia.

Dulles returned Friday night from the Big Four foreign ministers' meeting in Berlin, where he agreed to seating Russia and China at the conference opening April 26 at Geneva, Switzerland.

He obviously was disturbed by fears in Congress that "appeasement" might result. He told reporters that the U.S. got "100 per cent" of what it wanted and that "the place and composition of the conference are precisely what we sought."

Dulles, fatigued after nearly a month of fencing with Russia's V. M. Molotov, faces three days of questioning by congressional leaders of both parties and by congressional foreign-affairs committees. He also will report Wednesday night on radio and TV.

He is said to be planning to emphasize that the U.S. will continue to refuse recognition to Red China, and will not permit her admission to the United Nations.

PEACE TO KOREA

The Asian peace conference will search for ways to bring peace in Korea and also to end the seven-year-old Communist-led uprising in Indo-China.

Dulles also is reported concerned over a diplomatic protest lodged by South Korea's ambassador You Chan Yang. Acting on instructions from his government, Yang called at the state department a few hours before Dulles' arrival to protest that the Berlin conference represented "a diplomatic victory by the Soviets."

Yang complained that the Asiatic peace conference was being shifted from Panmunjom without consulting his government and that the arrangement by-passes the UN, in effect rewarding the aggressors.

HOW TO BECOME A MILLIONAIRE has been discovered by these three men who had mining claims in the Manitouwadge lake area, 65 miles from Geraldton, Ontario. Left to right they are John E. Forster, auto dealer; Roy Barker, carpenter and William Dawidowich, lumber camp foreman. Each is reported to have been issued with 100,000 shares, valued at $12 each.

Say Secret Warning Forced Unity

Told British Troops Would Withdraw If U.S. Soldiers Left

BERLIN (AP)— A secret warning by Prime Minister Churchill—that if American forces were to leave the Continent, the British Army would go with them—helped force Western unity against Russia in the Berlin Big Four talks.

Western officials who reported this today said the warning was aimed at France. It was delivered during Churchill's Bermuda talks in December with President Eisenhower and French Premier Joseph Laniel.

The informants said Churchill let Laniel and Foreign Minister Georges Bidault know that unless France pressed on to ratify the project for a European Defence Community, the West would be confronted with this choice:

1. Either bring German resources directly or indirectly into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

2. Or watch an American withdrawal from Europe.

The British statesman added that if the Americans were to leave the Continent, Britain's troops would march out with them.

The information, from persons with access to the records of the Bermuda conference, was that Bidault and his aides were annoyed at first by the bluntness of some of Churchill's remarks. Bidault at the time was pinch-hitting for Laniel, who was ill. One of the things the French resented what they considered a disparaging reference by Churchill to the condition and efficiency of the French Army.

Bidault also expressed some apparent defiance when Churchill spoke of possible new arrangements to bring Germany into NATO. In a roundabout way, the informants said, he reminded Churchill that France still possesses a veto right in NATO counsels. The implication was that France—a member of the American-British-French standing group of NATO—would block Germany's direct entry into the alliance.

Kidnapped Boy Rescued By Cuban Army

SANTIAGO, Cuba (AP)—Swift army action, rescue, arrests and the killing of a servant deemed faithless, broke the Facundo Barcardi kidnapping case Friday night little more than 11 hours after the eight-year-old heir to a rum fortune was seized for $50,000 ransom.

The servant was chauffeur Guillermo Rodriguez, 23, a dishonorably discharged navy veteran who was at the wheel of the station wagon in which the boy vanished on his way to a fashionable private school.

Accused of conspiracy in the frustrated plot, Rodrigues was shot "while attempting to escape" soon after Facundo was safely restored to his parents. A jobless youth nabbed while walking the boy along a suburban road was jailed.

Army officials said Rodriguez, tossed out of the navy as a marijuana peddler and gambler some months before the Bacardi family hired him, died under a hail of soldiers' bullets when he made a break for liberty in the country while re-enacting his part in the crime.

The surviving prisoner, Manuel Echevarria, 20, faces prosecution under a law providing a maximum of 12 years for kidnapping.

TIRED, HUNGRY

To Facundo, the day was one of hiking and hunger.

"There was lots and lots of walking and I got real tired and hungry," he said. "The men did not harm me in any way, but they gave me nothing to eat. I am just fine now."

No ransom was paid.

Facundo's father, Daniel Bacardi, had assembled the $50,000 in peso notes and made one attempt through Rodriguez to deliver it as indicated in a ransom note the chauffeur said was given him by a group of three kidnappers.

But Rodriguez returned with a story that he was unable to re-establish contact.

A quick-thinking army lieutenant, Luis Gamboa, saw a man and a boy walking along the road.

Third Holdup Suspect Mailed $600 To Hospital

TORONTO (CP)—Police said today Peter Mason, 26, third suspect arrested in the $10,800 "bogus policemen" robbery Tuesday, mailed $600 of the loot to Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children before his arrest "as a generous gesture."

Officers said Mason mailed the money—all in 20 bills— two days after the robbery. A note accompanying the money was signed "Anonymous."

Police said the hospital won't be able to keep the money.

HAD TREATED GIRL

Officers said they understood Mason's two-year-old daughter was treated at the hospital before she died and that Mason was "thankful for the kind attention" given her.

Mason, Swansea police officer Terry Thomas, and Frank Stevens, Friday were remanded a week on robbery charges.

Police also said Mason telephoned the Prudential Life Insurance Company Wednesday to say $2,491 in cheques could be found in a Toronto theatre.

Police said they found in the theatre the cheques, the brief case grabbed from a woman clerk in the robbery, and a policeman-type uniform believed worn by the man who grabbed it.

Rosenberg Children Given To Grandmother

NEW YORK (AP)—Temporary custody of the two young sons of executed atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg was given today to their grandmother, Mrs. Sophie Rosenberg of New York.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children had charged that the children, who had been living with Mr. and Mrs. Abel Meeropol of New York, were "exploited for fund raising propositions."

Car Strikes Pole Soldier Killed

PICTON (CP)—Bdr. G. R. Baxter of the Royal Canadian School of Artillery here was killed early today when the car he was driving skidded on an icy hill and smashed into a telephone pole.

Two passengers in the car suffered minor cuts. They were Bdrs. I. I. Bye and W. J. Nesbitt, also of the artillery school in this town 15 miles southeast of Belleville.

Army officials said the three men were natives of Nova Scotia.

Bdr. Baxter was thrown from the car in the crash just off Picton's main street.

Vermont Offers Help On Niagara

WASHINGTON (AP) — The state of Vermont has offered to assist New York state in its desire to develop power facilities at Niagara Falls.

Governor Lee E. Emerson told chairman John E. Burton of the New York state power authority Friday that he agrees "in principle with the proposition that Niagara should be developed by the power authority the same as the St. Lawrence power should be developed."

In a letter to Burton, Emerson added: "We will be glad to aid and assist you as much as possible in the realization of our desired objective in this respect."

The federal power commission has licensed New York to join Ontario in building the $600,000,000 St. Lawrence power project.

Several bills are before the U.S. Senate public works committee that would authorize either public or private agencies to develop new hydro-electric sources at Niagara.

Warrants Dismissed Against Three Men

DETROIT (AP) — Warrants will be dismissed against three of the five men charged with the 1948 assassination attempt on CIO President Walter Reuther, prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien announced today.

O'Brien said he intends to drop the attempted murder and conspiracy charges against Santo (Sam) Perrone, 58, who fled when the warrants were issued; his son-in-law, Carl Renda, 29; and Peter Lombardo, 50, a Leavenworth penitentiary inmate.

But the prosecutor said that warrants will remain in effect against Clarence Jacobs, 45, of Windsor, Ont., the alleged triggerman in the plot, and his nephew, Donald Ritchie, 32, on whose testimony the warrants were issued.

O'Brien's case suffered a heavy blow yesterday when Canadian authorities at Windsor released both Ritchie and Jacobs.

Both faced extradition proceedings.

2 Hitch Hikers Slug Driver

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Found staggering along a London township ditch in a dazed condition early today, a 39-year-old London salesman told police he had been slugged by two hitch hikers and robbed of his car, wallet, watch and ring.

W. A. Murphy was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital where he was treated for a bump on the left side of his head behind his ear and minor lacerations.

His car was recovered later. It was locked and the keys were missing.

Murphy told London township police he was returning from a business trip to Hamilton and picked up the hitch hikers between Ingersoll and London. He said they slugged him and dumped him out.

Two Jets Crash

EPPING, England (AP) — Two RAF jets locked wings in flight today, spun to the ground together with a terrific explosion and burst into flames. Both pilots were killed.

Nehru, St. Laurent Plan 6 Meetings

NEW DELHI (CP) — Indian leaders, impressed by the six whole days which Prime Minister St. Laurent will spend in their country—longest scheduled stop on his round-the-world tour—prepared today to talk over their problems with the Canadian leader.

The prime minister visited Lahore, in Pakistan's northwest frontier province, today after arriving Friday at Peshawar, in the rugged region of historic Khyber Pass. He is due to arrive in this Indian Commonwealth republic at noon Sunday.

At least six different times after his arrival here, the Canadian leader will be closeted with Prime Minister Nehru, and it is a general guess that India's opposition to the proposed United States arms aid to Pakistan, the Moslem state bordering India which was made a separate Dominion in 1947, will be high on the list of subjects they will discuss.

SOUGHT CANADIAN HELP

Canada is the country which India sought hardest to enlist in the role of intervener with the U. S. in an effort to slow or block the program of help in Pakistan's armament. Hindu India and Moslem Pakistan have long disputed on many issues, particularly the fate of the rich Kashmir area.

Canada has made no public declaration on the subject beyond the prime minister's suggestion that India and Pakistan should follow the Canadian-U.S. example of good, neighborly relations.

The colorful Nehru heads a galaxy of officials and diplomats who will be waiting Sunday when the RCAF's C-5 transport carrying the Canadian party lands at Palam, New Delhi's nearby military airfield.

For three nights the two prime ministers will dine together, and the program also lists three other formal meetings between them, when Nehru will present Asian problems as India views them.

BUSY SCHEDULE

Sight-seeing and tea-drinking is given second place in the busy schedule.

The Canadian leader leaves New Delhi Feb. 25 for an inspection of one of the world's wonders, the Taj Mahal, returning the same night for a formal state dinner with India's president Rajendra Prasad.

The following morning he will be off again for Bombay, thence to Madras, south India's leading city, for a meeting with chief minister Chakravarty Rajagopalachari, one of India's most colorful political figures.

The program does not include a visit to riot-torn Calcutta, but a spokesman here said the decision to omit Calcutta and spend more time in places of greater interest to Canada was made long before the disorders developed there. They stemmed from a teachers' strike which began about two weeks ago.

LEAVES KARACHI

The prime minister left Karachi, the Pakistan capital, Friday for the cool northwest frontier area of Pakistan to which Canadian Colombo plan funds will bring water power and improved farming through irrigation.

He said goodbye to Premier Mohammed Ali at the airport, then flew 600 miles up the dry valley of the great Indus river to Peshawar, chief city of the northwest frontier.

With his party were Kenneth P. Kirkwood, Canadian high commissioner to Pakistan, and John Hadwen, secretary of the Canadian mission.

At Karachi airport a Pakistan Army guard of honor with its pipe band saluted the prime minister. Three hours later on Peshawar airfield, at the foot of the snow-clad Hindu Kush mountains, an air force guard with pipe band, saluted him.

He was welcomed by Khwaja Shahabuddin, governor of the province, and its chief minister, Sardar Abdurrashid Khan, who escorted him to governor's large, white, garden-surrounded residence in the green city of Peshawar.

Decide To Continue Weather Ship System

PARIS (AP) — Fifteen countries operating commercial air lines over the North Atlantic agreed tentatively today to continue a slightly reduced system of weather ships in the area. The Europeans will assume a greater share of the cost and the United States will pay less.

The weather ships have been bobbing about the north Atlantic since 1946, in fair weather and foul, to spot meteorological trends.

The program started with 13 nations. Under the agreement just reached, the system will be further trimmed to nine.

Cyclones Lashing Eastern Australia

BRISBANE, Australia (Reuters) Fierce cyclones lashed 350 miles of Australia's eastern coast today, killing one person and leaving a trail of damage.

Winds up to 72 miles an hour and heavy rain squalls ripped off roofs, smashed boats and blew down trees.

In Brisbane, gay decorations for the forthcoming visit of Queen Elizabeth were blown down.

Torrential rains accompanying the cyclone were in sharp contrast to an 80-day drought parching Australia's sister Dominion, New Zealand.

Conservatives, CCF Opposed To Granting Salary Increases To Federal Cabinet

OTTAWA (CP)—Pay increases for the cabinet, an extra $10,000 for the prime minister and $5,000 for other cabinet members, are opposed by two parties. Their reasons are sharply different.

CCF leader Coldwell said Friday the increase is "more than is warranted at this time."

However, opposition Leader Drew criticized a bill to implement the increases as giving the Commons no chance to study an alternative idea of tailoring the salary to fit the individual job.

He said the question should be referred to a select parliamentary committee or royal commission for an inquiry before the Commons is asked to approve any raises.

ADDITIONAL ALLOWANCE

The increase, effective April 1, would come on top of a $4,000 rise in parliamentary indemnity which became law earlier this week. All members of the Commons and Senate now receive $10,000 a year.

The two increases would make the total pay for the prime minister $37,000 and for cabinet members $27,000, including a $2,000 tax-free automobile allowance.

Acting Prime Minister Howe, opening the debate Friday, said the fact that cabinet salaries have not been changed since 1920 is "perhaps the strongest argument" for the legislation.

In those days, income tax was negligible. But the present tax on a cabinet minister's salary and indemnity cut his pay to "no more than the salary of a very junior executive in an ordinary business corporation."

The prime minister's job was "probably the position of the greatest responsibility of any man in this Dominion of Canada," and no group of executives worked longer hours under greater responsibilities than cabinet ministers.

Mr. Drew said a select committee or royal commission should be set up to study an "alternative method" to a flat pay rate for all ministers.

Government was "big business on a very large scale" and cabinet salaries should reflect that fact. But industry geared executive salaries to the responsibilities of the job and the capabilities of individuals.

Mr. Drew said varying amounts are paid cabinet ministers in the United Kingdom, Australia and France.

Mr. Coldwell said the Commons must accept its responsibility to decide on pay increases and not refer it to a committee or commission.

The CCF party would oppose the bill, although most members felt some increase was deserved, especially for the prime minister.

The Rev. E. G. Hansell (SC-Macleod), speaking in the absence of party leader Solon Low, said he has "no particular objection" to the increases.

Describes Buying Montreal Baby, Price $3,000

MONTREAL (CP) — A New York woman detective told criminal court here Friday she bought a baby in a Montreal black market for $3,000.

Miss Theresa Bagatta said she paid the money to Louis Glazer, Montreal lawyer, and that she had a false birth registration for the child arranged through him.

She testified at the preliminary hearing of Glazer, charged on five counts in connection with what police have described as a $3,000,000 baby-selling racket operating in Montreal and the United States.

Judge Gerald Almond adjourned until next week the hearing of Glazer, who faces two charges of conspiracy in connection with birth registration, two of falsification and forgery and one of uttering.

SETS SAME DATE

The judge set the same date for continuation of the hearing of another Montreal lawyer, Herman Buller, charged with falsifying entries in a birth certificate and with giving advice and counsel in connection with an indictable offence. Both have pleaded not guilty.

Meanwhile, George Hill, crown prosecutor in charge of the case, presented a motion asking for a rogatory commission to go to New York to question persons there who had purchased babies from the international ring. The judge took the motion under advisement.

Such a commission would take evidence which could be used at subsequent trials. It would relieve foster parents in New York of coming to Montreal to testify.

Judge Almond told reporters they would be held in contempt of court if a name mentioned in a birth certificate book produced in court were made public.

Guard Embassy In Bomb Scare

ROME (AP) — A bomb scare caused Italian riot police to throw a guard around part of the United States embassy property today. An unexploded hand grenade was found near the embassy.

A demolition expert, however, said the grenade appeared to be a dud. He dismantled it and took the pieces away with him.

Then police, who had blocked pedestrians from approaching the area, relaxed their cordon and withdrew. An embassy spokesman said the bomb was "someone's idea of a joke."

Most members of Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce's small Saturday staff at the embassy were unaware of the incident.

425 Mine Workers Granted Pay Boost

TIMMINS (CP)—Pamour Porcupine Mines Ltd., one of only two gold mines not struck by miners in last fall's long-drawn strike in northern Ontario gold mines, today announced increases in the hourly rates of its 425 employees.

In a letter to each worker, the company said hourly rates have been increased effective Feb. 16 by 4.33 per cent, equivalent to an average of five cents an hour.

"Unless there is a corresponding increase in efficiency on the part of each employee to offset the higher wages, Pamour's production costs will be increased and the company will be in a poor position to continue operations," the letter said.

Canadian Butter Support Unchanged

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government's price support policy on butter is not likely to be affected by a drop in the United States government's support price, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said Friday.

"We do not expect the U.S. action will affect the position in Canada," he told the Commons in reply to a question from R. E. Anderson (L—Norfolk).

Mr. Gardiner said the eight-cent reduction in the U.S. support price brings it down to 58 cents a pound, the same figure at which the Canadian government buys producers' surpluses.

The U.S. reduction is part of a lowering of parity farm prices on some products.

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9:30 a.m.:

Synopsis:

Scattered showers entering southwestern Ontario this morning will probably spread through the rest of the province tonight and Sunday. There appears little prospect for much change in the mild temperatures of recent days. This is because a large area of low pressure in the central states is now moving only quite slowly and hence the winds will be blowing from a southerly quarter for the next 48 hours.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Sunday:

Niagara, Lake Ontario, Haliburton and Georgian bay regions: Toronto and Hamilton: Sunny, clouding over later this afternoon and clearing Sunday afternoon showers from this evening until Sunday; little change in temperature; winds southeast 20 today becoming southwest 20 Sunday afternoon; low-high at St. Catharines, Hamilton and Toronto 35 and 45, Muskoka 30 and 40, Trenton 30 and 45, Killaloe 25 and 40. Summary for Sunday: Clearing by noon, windy.

Woman Refuses To Take Bail

VICTORIA (CP) — Mrs. Alice May Dobeson, elderly widow who threw an assortment of scrap iron through a window of the treasury office here, refused bail and insisted on spending Thursday night in jail.

Mrs. Dobeson, who claims to be a cousin of the late David Lloyd George, is charged with causing wilful damage.

Staff members of the provincial government office ducked for cover Thursday when Mrs. Dobeson tossed a chisel, railway spikes, plumbing fixtures and three pieces of angle iron through a 24-square-foot window.

Then Mrs. Dobeson, who says she has lost thousands of dollars in a real estate deal, walked into the treasury office and surrendered.

Police seized several more chisels and spikes she was carrying.

French-Speaking Newsmen Meet

MONTREAL (CP) — Some 400 French-speaking newspaper men throughout Canada have formed an association to "safeguard the liberty, develop the prestige and increase the social role of the journalistic profession."

Delegates, mainly from French-language dailies in eastern Canada, unanimously adopted a constitution and elected an executive body.

The possibility of holding a world-wide, French-speaking newspaper men's convention here next year, was studied.

Jean-Marie Morin of Montreal La Presse was chosen president.

Object of the association was given as "the safeguarding of the freedom of the press and of the freedom of newspapermen in the accomplishment of their duties; the promotion of relations between newspaper men and their unions; various forms of mutual assistance, the development of prestige and the social role of the profession throughout the country."

Parking Fines, Meter Revenue Drops

Motorists paid less into the city's coffers last month than they did a year ago, the monthly report of City Clerk E. A. Outram reveals. Receips from both parking fines and meters were lower than in January, 1953.

Total receipts from parking meters on the city's streets last month were only $2,366.12, compared with $2,794.46 in January of last year, when the highest total of any January on record was collected.

ON CITY PARKING LOT

Meters on the city square parking lot last month yielded $1,132.25, compared with $1,207.30 a year ago. Since the lot was opened on July 21, 1951, motorists have dropped a total of $35,374.77 into the meters there.

Parking tickets cost motorists a total of $342 last month, compared with $521 the previous January. There were 210 parking violation cards issued at the parking lot last month.

Total receipts at the city clerk's office last month were $5,783.14, including: licences, $529; police court $1,248.67; parking tickets, $342; marriage licences, $55; transient traders, $50; rest room money, $60.10; street parking meters, $2,366.12; city square meters, $1,132.25.

Total fines and fees collected in police court amounted to $1,462.17, of which the city received $460.75, the provincial treasurer $425.42, the justice of the peace $165, witnesses $35, court reporter $7.50 and bail bonds $6.

There were 262 cases disposed of, comprising 182 convictions and 80 withdrawals. Of the total convictions, 57 were under the Highway Traffic Act, 20 under the Liquor Control Act, 92 parking violations and the remaining 13 under the criminal code.

River Begins To Recede

CHATHAM (CP) — The swollen Thames river, which has overflowed banks onto hundreds of acres of farmland in this district, began to recede about 6 a.m. today.

Chatham water works officials said the highest point it reached was 15 feet, six inches above normal. It began dropping an inch an hour today.

Downtown merchants moved their stocks from basements Friday in the fear the river would overflow into the city.

At Thamesville 20 miles upstream, downtown sections were covered with about 18 inches of water today. Business in the village of 950 persons was halted Friday when the river poured over seven blocks.

Highway the main route between Toronto and Windsor, was flooded for 300 feet Friday but traffic continued.

Expect MacDonald Contest South York

TORONTO (CP) — Donald C. MacDonald Ontario CCF leader, will likely contest the riding of York South in the next provincial election, it was indicated today.

V. J. Flowers, member of the York South CCF Riding Association, said Mr. MacDonald will stand for nomination at a meeting March 5.

Elected provincial CCF leader last November, Mr. MacDonald, 39, formerly a full-time worker for the Dominion CCF organization, has recently moved here with his family from Ottawa. He has purchased a home in suburban York township.

Tasmania Renames Cape In Honor of Queen's Visit

HOBART, Tasmania (AP)—Honor for Australia's first geographical reminder of the current royal visit goes to Tasmania, the "apple island" off the Commonwealth's southeast coast. As the royal Gothic rounded Cape Pillar early today and sailed up the estuary of the Derwent river to Hobart, the Tasmanian government announced that henceforth it will be called Cape Queen Eilzabeth.

The cape, known to mariners the world over who have taken their ships to Hobart, is marked by its 1,00-foot-high cliffs which can be seen for miles.

The royal couple's arrival in Hobart today coincided with the 50th anniversary of the founding of the city. The Gothic steamed through a welcoming swarm of yachts and small craft moored along the Derwent, while a squadron of Lincoln bombers dipped overhead in salute.

An estimated 150,000 people, some of whom had camped out at vantage points all night, greeted the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh with cheering as they were greeted by Governor Sir Ronald Cross.

The Queen, dressed in a taffeta lavendar - grey coat with long sleeves, a close - fitting matching hat and black shoes, received a civic welcome after driving through the decorated streets.

QUEEN MOTHER INVITED TO CANADA — Queen Mother Elizabeth drives from Clarence House to Buckingham Palace to hold the first of six investitures on behalf of her daughter, Queen Elizabeth, who is now touring Australia. A formal invitation was extended to the Queen Mother by Governor-General Vincent Massey to spend a few days in Canada following her visit to the United States next November.

Giant Jet Plane To Carry 100 Passengers Non-Stop From London To New York

WEYBRIDGE, England (CP)— A giant jet plane fast taking shape here may constitute Britain's most formidable bid for the world's long distance air transport business.

This revolutionary aircraft, due to fly in June next year, will have a top speed of 600 miles an hour and be able to carry 100 persons non-stop from London to New York.

If necessary it would be able to make the round trip from London to New York and back—about 7,000 miles—in a single day.

The aircraft is the Vickers 1,000, which has been ordered as a military transport prototype. If orders are forthcoming, the makers will go straight on to the production of a civil airliner version.

The Vickers 1,000 is being developed in the light of experience gained with the firm's four-jet Valiant atom bomber, now in super-priority production for the Royal Air Force.

But it is bigger than the Valiant, has power units whose details are still secret.

SPEED WITH ECONOMY

They are Rolls-Royce Conway bypass gas turbines, designed to give the tremendous speed of the pure-jet engine coupled with an economy comparable to that obtained with the slower propeller-jet.

A pure jet plane, such as the Comet, is driven through the air by the force of gas expelled from the rear of its turbine engines. A propeller-jet uses the power generated by its gas-turbines to drive conventional propellers.

The by-pass engine operates on the pure-jet principle, but cooler air is by-passed around the gas-turbine proper. The by-pass is expected to provide better take-off power with the same high-speed properties as a normal jet, and be both much quieter and more economical than the ordinary pure-jet or propeller-jet.

The aircraft has been designed by Vickers team headed by George Edwards, which produced the propeller-jet Viscount, now in service with British European Airways and Air France, and soon to go into service with Trans-Canada Air Lines which has bought 15 of the 47-seat passenger planes.

CRUISE SPEED HIGH

The cruising speed of the Vickers 1,000 will exceed 500 miles an hour, and it will have a fuel capacity sufficient to enable it to cross the Atlantic non-stop with adequate reserves for "stand off" or for reaching alternative airports.

The Vickers 1,000 is one of three big jetliner projects which have originated in experience with Britain's new atom bombers The others are an Avro delta-wing jetliner which will be based on experience with the Avro Vulcan delta bomber and a Handley-Page jetliner which owes much to the same firm's Victor jet bomber.

Like the Vickers project, these airliners will have a high speed and carry 100 or more passengers over long ranges.

Before this year ends, a super-Comet will be flying. This is the new series 111, which can carry 58 to 76 passengers over long stages a an economical crnising speed of 'better than 500 miles an hour." The present Comets carry up to 44 passengers.

Citizens Meet To Appoint Memorial Centre Committee

The success of efforts to finally get construction of Peterborough's long-awaited Memorial Centre under way depends, to a great extent, on the outcome of this afternoon's public meeting in city hall.

The meeting will be asked to elect a new general committee to succeed the original organization headed by Joe Jebson, who is now in Sunnybrook Hospital. Several other members have also left the city.

ORGANIZE SUPPORT

It is thought that the most important task of the new committee will be to organize local support for city council's petition to the provincial legislature for a private bill to permit erection of the centre in Morrow (Exhibition) Park.

Should the bill become law, the biggest task would undoubtedly fall on the building committee, if it is decided to get started with construction right away.

Chairman of the original building committee is Clarence B. Neal who, in a letter to city council, tendered his resignation owing to the pressure of private business.

UNABLE TO CARRY ON

In a letter to council members and to local newspapers, Mr. Jebson urged that Mr. Neal be persuaded to carry on as chairman of this all-important committee. Although council referred Mr. Neal's resignation to the new general committee, interested parties have meanwhile asked him to reconsider. But the Examiner learned this morning that Mr. Neal had found it impossible to change his decision.

Mr. Jebson also referred, in his letter, to a report that minutes and records of the organizational work of the committee were missing. He said that no records had been destroyed, and they were ready at any time to be turned over to the properly constituted body.

It was learned Friday that these records are now on hand in Peterborough, and will be put in the hands of the new general committee.

One statement in Mr. Jebson's letter has not gone unnoticed: "We must remember that the first thing to do is to get more money, and, personally, if properly organized, I do not think you will have a great deal of difficulty in doing so. However, I think you will agree that before the building committee can do anything at all, they must have some idea of the amount of money available."

There's a chance—and no one has committed himself on this point yet—that more money will indeed be needed. That task may face the general committee before the work of the building committee can take effect.

British Authorities Differ On Value Of Caning

By JOHN DUDMAN

LONDON (Reuters)— Corporal punishment may be on the way out of British public schools. Some education authorities are moving to the opinion that "six of the best" hurt kids psychologically as well as physically.

Flogging nowadays is mainly the backbone of the disciplinary system in Britain's "public" schools—actually exclusive private schools.

One school where flogging is an exact science is Eton College, founded by King Henry VI around 1440. At Eton there are three types of corporal punishment:

1. Prefects—seniors who have special privileges—are allowed to wallop their juniors with a bamboo stick. But they must first obtain permission from the headmaster. If the stick breaks the victim has to pay for it.

2. The head boy and members of the society called "pop" are also permitted to flog boys for "offences against the good name of the school." The members of "pop" are boys who have distinguished themselves at studies and sport.

3. The headmaster—or principal—himself administers punishment to boys whose offences are too serious for the prefects and "poppers" to avenge. His weapon is a collection of birch twigs. According to tradition, the boy who gets them across the seat of his trousers has to pay the school five shillings for the privilege.

State educational authorities are not at all sure that caning is a good thing. In some schools the decision is left to the headmaster. But the responsibility is usually taken by educational bodies like school boards, who lay down rules for corporal punishment.

In Middlesex county regulations protect a schoolboy from being flogged in front of the whole school—a practice still retained for stubborn youngsters in public schools.

ADULTS FORM COMMITTEES

Corporal punishment is a controversial subject in many towns. Parents themselves have taken a hand and formed committees for and against caning.

What do children think about it? Not long ago a questionnaire was addressed to 2,628 boys and girls asking them which punishment they preferred—two strikes with the cane, 500 lines to be written at home, or a half-day's detention. About 90 per cent of the boys chose the cane. And so did 37 per cent of the girls—who are not customarily chastised anyway.

Two Pedestrians Injured When Car Skids

Two pedestrians were injured at 7:35 Friday night when they were involved in a collision with a car in Water St.

The injured were Mrs. T. Robbins, RR 4, Peterborough, and Sharon Robbins of the same address. Both were found to be suffering abrasions and cuts when examined at the scene of tre accident by Dr. Henry Dunham. Sharon Robbins ended up underneath the car, but neither she nor Mrs. Robbins suffered any serious injury.

It is alleged that the driver of the car, John Robert Johnston, 585 Rose Ave., skidded his vehicle while attempting to brake on the icy road, with the resulting collision. Damage to the car was negligible.

Constable W. A. Scott investigated.

Two visitors to the city, Rolland Smith, Toronto, and Clayton G. Newham, Oshawa, were in collision at Reid and Hall Sts. Damage was light. Constable J. Armstrong investigated.

In Reid St. a half-ton pickup wagon driven by Garold Robinson, Cavan, came into collision with a car driven by Charles S. Scott, 634 Reid St. Both vehicles suffered over $200 damage. Robinson was treated at the Civic hocpital for superficial injuries. Constable W. A. Scott investigated.

20,000,000 Tons Ore Yearly Objective

MONTREAL (CP) — More than 20,000,000 tons of iron ore may flow annually out of Ungava and Labrador once the St. Lawrence seaway is completed.

W. H. Durrell, general manager of the Iron Ore Company of Canada, said today present plans call for production of 10,000,000 tons of ore annually from the company's vast deposits straddling the Quebec-Labrador boundary.

"But with the seaway we could handle 20,000,000 tons," he said.

The first shipment of ore is expected to leave Sept Iles in August.

Plan March Inquest In Sarnia Death

SARNIA (CP)—(CP)—Crown attorney S. A. K. Logan today announced that an inquest into the death of Louise Blackhall, 24, will be held March 3.

She was found dying Oct. 24 with a bullet wound in her abdomen in a hotel in Blue Water.

Mr. Logan said, "There is no doubt in my mind that the woman committed suicide." He said the inquest will be held to dispel any doubts.

Missing Boy, 12 Found In London

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A 12-year-old Kitchener boy, who said he left home Monday, was picked up by city police here shortly after midnight.

Frank Wilfred Schwartz was penniless when stopped and questioned by police at Clarence and Dundas streets.

He was lodged in the observation home overnight.

West Germany Rebuilding Sea-Going Trade

By HARRY GELBER

BONN (Reuters)—German national colors are flying from the mastheads of passenger ships for the first time in 15 years as West Germany forges steadily ahead toward regaining some of the country's pre-war maritime prosperity.

A few West German ships have made a modest start toward rebuilding the sea-going trade which during the war was reduced from a pound German merchant fleet of nearly 4,500,000 tons, the fifth largest in the world, to about 100,000 tons of small, old and battered ships.

Now, the 19,105-ton motorship Gripsholm, chartered from Sweden, has begun a North Atlantic passenger service for the North German Lloyd Company of Bremen. Manned by a German crew under Capt. Heinrich Lorenz, last commander of the Bremen, Germany's pre-war luxury liner, the Gripsholm arrived in New York Feb. 13 after calling at Halifax.

STEADY RISE SEEN

The first medium-sized cargo-passenger ship built in West Germany since the war, the 9,000-ton Schwabenstein, has left on her maiden voyage to east Asia. She can carry 86 passengers and 10,000 tons of cargo.

Since November, 1949, when the newly-constituted federal republic and the Western allies signed the Petersberg agreement removing limitations on the size and speed of ships, on passenger carrying, and on buying ships abroad, there has been a steady rise in German shipbuilding.

West Germany's merchant fleet now totals about 1,800,000 tons, including 417,000 gross registered tons of new construction in 1953, 225,000 tons in 1952, 235,000 tons in 1951, and 90,000 tons in 1950.

About 600,000 tons of shipping has been bought abroad.

MOST SHIPS 'TRAMPS'

Ships of German lines now sail 120 world routes, calling at about 450 ports. Most of them at present operate as "tramps." For the time being, West German shipping men are not trying to regain their former position in the shipping world, competing for the title of the largest and most luxurious on the seas.

The modern emphasis is on comfortable passenger accommodation on freighters like the Schwabenstein. The North German Lloyd and the Hamburg-America Lines are building six of these 9,000-ton ships.

The Howaltswerke of Hamburg built what it claimed to be the world's largest tanker, the Tina Onassis, of about 45,000 tons. West Germany's tanker fleet, which now totals 181,000 tons, with a carrying capacity of 270,000 tons, is stronger than in 1939.

The deutsche Werft of Hamburg claims to lead the world with the construction of 224,000 tons of shipping in 1953.

On the chance that the boy might be the rum heir, Gamboa shouted "Facundo".

"The boy answered immediately 'I am Facundo,' and I grabbed him as the man fled," the lieutenant said.

Soldiers in a nearby field captured the fleeing man.

U.S.-Dust, Snow Storms Batter Communities

CHICAGO (CP)—A big portion of the United States today presented a patchwork weather picture with the colors shading from dark brown to white.

High winds kicked up heavy dust storms over the midwest states Friday and were followed by heavy snow in some areas Friday night.

Western Kansas, hit hardest by the duster, came in for a full-fledged blizzard. After a day of zero visibility because of dust, the snow moved in to knock out power lines and stall transportation.

Communications with 16 Kansas towns were reported cut off. The highway patrol said all roads and major highways in the northwestern corner of the state were blocked by drifting snow.

Eight passenger trains were reported halted between Kinsley and Garden City, Kan., after automatic signal systems were crippled by ice and snow. Scores of automobiles were ditched and abandoned.

Light snow still was falling early today.

Dust piled up to three inches in streets Friday and, as the rain and snow moved in, mud balls and broken snow fell in some areas.

TEXAS DUST PALL

A dust pall hung over Texas early today except for the western tip.

Blowing dust was heaviest in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, but also lapped over into sections of Colorado and New Mexico.

Lamar, in southeast Colorado, was hard hit when 65-mile-an-hour winds knocked down power lines and an estimated two-thirds of the television antennas in the city.

Rounding out the Friday weather scene were two tornadoes, one at Pine Bluff, Ark., and the other at Conroe, Tex.

Five persons were injured in the Texas twister and 10 buildings were damaged. At Pine Bluff, six homes were wrecked and one child was injured.

Water Floods

A representative of a diving company Friday night went to the spot and offered his firm's services in recovering the pumping machinery.

The area was closed to sightseers but countless motorists travelling along a highway a short distance away slowed down to try to get a view of the crippled chemical plant with some of its buildings sunk and others tilted at crazy angles.

The 30-acre plant lies less than a mile from a $45,000,000 Ontario hydro commission steam-powered electric generating plant.

EXPLOSION HEARD

Muffled explosions about noon Friday warned CIL and Canadian Salt officials who evacuated 500 workers from the buildings which were about to settle. No one was injured.

As the buildings sank, water gushed up from the depths of the earth and swirled about the structures.

One theory was that a cave-in at the 1,000-foot level where salt was mined half a century ago caused the land to settle. However, a veteran salt miner suggested the appearance of "black water" when the ground first dropped suggested there had been an earth slippage at the depth of about 100 feet.

Seismographic observers at the University of Michigan said there was no earthquake.

FANTASTIC SIGHT

H. L. Watts, an engineer at an adjacent steam plant, witnessed the cave-in and described it as fantastic. He said the buildings actually sank as he watched them and some went down six to eight feet within minutes.

Other witnesses said the low explosions from beneath the earth's surface were followed by a gush of water upuward. It spurted up from below in spirals and flood waters swirling into the low-lying area of the plant like a tidal wave, rose eight to 12 feet in a matter of minutes.

CIL plant officials could make no immediate estimate of the damage. They said the greatest loss would be the enforced tie-up of the whole plant. Other parts of the plant cannot operate without the chlorine section. It will be months before the plant can reopen.

Montreal officials of CIL were expected to arrive today to survey the damage.

INCREASING WORD POWER

"Reading your dictionary can be fun", said Mr. Dudley Freeman at the YMCA Friday Night Club last night. His talk "Increasing your Word Power", proved that a wide vocabulary contributes much to the success of the individual. Mr. Freeman was introduced by Joe Crossman and thanked by Bob Jameson.

Two-Car Crash Near Lindsay Brings $50 Fine

LINDSAY (ENS)—Magistrate R. I. Moore fined a Coboconk man, Lawrence Chenowyth, $50 and $10.50 costs Friday, when Chenowyth was convicted of dangerous driving in an accident on Highway 7 last December.

Chenowyth's car was in collision with a car driven by Roy Polito of Lindsay at the eastern end of the Hill Head curve. All five persons involved, three of them passengers in Chenowyth's vehicle, were injured. One, Nelson Kerr of Bethany, suffered a broken shoulder, three broken ribs and a punctured lung and was confined to hospital for 48 days following the accident.

According to Polito, who was proceding to Lindsay from Peterborough, at the time of the accident, he saw Chenowyth's headlights before he began to round the curve, but lost sight of them until Chenowyth's car suddenly appeared on his side of the road, skidding sideways on the icy pavement.

In the broadside collision that followed, damage totalled $2,000 as the body of Chenowyth's car was moved completely off the undercarriage some two feet. Polito's car bounced back from the point of impact.

Both drivers estimated that the other had been driving at a high rate of speed at the time of the accident but Kerr, who shut his eyes when the skid began and never saw the Polito vehicle hit his side of the car, said Chenowyth had been travelling only 25 to 30 miles an hour at the time.

Magistrate Moore commented: "His wheels might have been going that fast, but he could have been doing 60 miles an hour sideways in the skid."

The evidence of another defence witness, Orville Graham of Fenelon Falls, indicated to the magistrate that Chenowyth had been traveling fairly fast at the time.

Graham had followed Polito, he said, and had seen Chenowyth enter the curve when he was a quarter of a mile from the accident scene. When Chenowyth entered the curve his headlights went out of sight.

Magistrate Moore concluded that, since the curve is a halfmile long, with the collision occuring at the eastern end of it, Chenowyth must have ben travelling much faster than Graham, who was making approximately the same speed as Polito.

Chenowyth was defended by H. E. Richardson of Lindsay, who drew the ire of Magistrate Moore, when he referred to the magistrate's questioning of Kerr, who came out of hospital this week, as a "cross-examination"

"I resent that", the magistrate rerorted. 'It is improper to call my questions cross-examination. A court does do that."

Mr. Richardson corrected himself, terming the questioning an "examination."

FIRST OF STEELWORK IN—Ground floor steelwork was laid this week at the new Grace United church at the corner of Howden Ave and Monaghan Rd. Workmen for the Charles Huffman construction company started laying the flooring Friday as the second big step in the construction. There was a lengthy lapse of work early in construction while difficulties arose with the foundation. The church, like the new St. Giles' Presbyterian church on Park St., is of ultra-modern design.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Cattle Rustler Sentenced To Nine Months

COBOURG (ENS) — William Bright, 36, of Warkworth was sentenced to nine months determinate and three indeterminate by Magistrate R. B. Baxter Firday for theft of a steer from Floyd Murphy in Haldimand township on August 21.

Evidence given last week at his trial was that the steer was slaughtered in the pasture field and cut up and sold in Belleville.

The reformatory sentence imposed by the magistrate Friday is to run concurrently with the five months and two months sentence Bright received at Peterborough for theft. Bright's arrest took place when provincial police located him after his arrest on the theft charge at Peterborough.

RECORD PRODUCED

Producing the record of the accused, Crown Attorney Harry Deyman informed the court that the record ran to January of 1953 but that since then, Bright had received two additional convictions at Peterborough. He was released from Mimico in March of last year. Mr. Deyman suggested that a longer term should be imposed than the one he was already surving.

"The first time you came before me was in 1945," the magistrate told Brighton. "Since then your career of misbehaviour has continued and I don't think there is much that can be done for you or that you can do on your own behalf. I guess the only thing for you and society is to keep you out of circulation for as long a time as possible.

"I am sentencing you to nine determinate and three indeterminate and the sentence is to run concurrently with the one you are already serving. It wouldn't take much to make me make it consecutive."

Hear Story of Brave Man Broken By Reds; Colonel Held Out Long Time

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a drab, improvised courtroom on a hill overlooking the Pentagon, United States military headquarters, marine flyer Col. Franke Schwable is the central figure in the story of a man broken by his Communist captors.

He was a war prisoner in Korea 14 months. Midway in his captivity he signed a confession he took part in germ-warfare activities which, in fact, never were carried on.

The Reds used Schwable's "confession" for propaganda. Now a four-member court of inquiry is trying to decide whether the 45-year-old Schwable should face a court-martial.

Four marines and one army sergeant who saw Schwable in prison camps during his ordeal told their stories Friday.

Some told of seeing Schwable in September and October, 1952—emaciated, unshaven, jittery but defiant. Schwable had been captured the preceding July 8. He'd been thrown into solitary confinement, harrassed by constant questioning, deprived of food. But his attitude toward his Red tormentors was: "Go to hell."

Former marine Cpl. William N. Shockley testified he heard those words ring out in a firm voice once when a browbeating, finger-waving interrogator was submittlng Schwable to inquisition.

STRONGER LANGUAGE

Sgt. Pearson O. Porter, an army man, told of stronger language used by the marine officer to a Communist questioner.

It was a different story, though, by Dec. 8 when Schwable and some of the men were herded into a truck and transferred to another camp. They described the colonel as:

"Awful nervous."

"He just stared straight ahead."

"He kept jerking and twitching—like a punch-drunk prize fighter."

Once, the men agreed, Schwable leaped up to his feet and cried he was "surrounded by oil." There wasn't any oil on the floor. Again, they said, he brooded two hours before answering a Communist guard's remark about the weather. One said the colonel started shadow-boxing when they stopped for food.

'Winnie' Author Ill

TUNBRIDGE WELLS, England (AP)—A. A. Milne, humorous British author best known for his stories of Christopher Robin and Winnie-the-Pook, was reported seriously ill today with pneumonia. Milne suffered a stroke last November that left him partly paralyzed, but he recovered enough to travel to London for his 72nd birthday Jan. 18.

College Head Dr. Bradwin Dies In Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Edmund W. Bradwin, 76, principal of Frontier College and a pioneer in Canadian adult education, died Friday.

A native of Linden, Ont., he spent his childhood in Wingham. He had been working with the college for the last 50 years.

Dr. Bradwin joined the unique college, which sends thousands of laborer-teachers into remote lumber and mining camps throughout Canada, soon after it was founded by the late Rev. Alfred Fitzpatrick.

He was a graduate of Queen's and Columbia Universities.

The Frontier teachers, usually college students, are sent by the college to the remote areas. They work with the men during the day and hold classes and discussion groups in the evening.

The college to which Dr. Bradwin devoted most of his life celebrated its 50th anniversary in 1948. At that time it was estimated some 2,300 teachers had gone into remote areas to work and teach. It circulated 64,000 copies of the college's own primer besides countless magazines and other books.

ENGLISH POPULAR

English is a popular class in areas where many new Canadians have gone to work.

Teacher - laborers receive $100 for a summer's work plus any wages he earns.

Dr. Bradwin once said the instructor's reward was not financial but in the knowledge he "is serving Canada and shaping citizenship."

"We are not up there to heal the world. We do not touch controversial matters such as capital and labor relations. We represent progress in Canada and leave the rest to its laws."

Censorship Withdrawn

LAHORE, Pakistan (Reuters)—The West Punjab provincial government today announced immediate withdrawal of censorship imposed on newspapers after disturbances last March. Censorship had been imposed under a special security act after 20 persons were killed in riots which followed demonstrations against the Ahmadiya sect of Msolems.

Rural Leaders Hold Forum

COBOURG (ENS)—The Northumberland County Rural Leadership Forum opened Friday at Roseneath with forum members in attendance from all over the county.

Forum leaders were Mrs. John H. McCullouch of Brampton, member of the Rural Leadership Forum Committee and Don Middleton of Granton, president of the Junior Farmers Association of Ontario. The sessions will close today.

At Friday's afternoon meeting, following a get-acquainted social hour, discussion groups deliberated on the purpose of group discussion, advantages of informal group discussion, the responsibilities of members and the charcteristics of a good leader.

Panel discussions were held during the evening. Today the group discussed program planning, evaluation and community work.

Norham WA Guests Of Mrs. Peterson

WARKWORTH (ENS) — The Norham Women's Association met at the home of Mrs. Martin Peterson.

Mrs. O. Laver, vice-president, presided. Mrs. Fisher read the scripture lesson.

Mrs. W. Hatcher sang a solo. The secretary's report was given by Mrs. H. Russell and Mrs. H. Newman gave the treasurer's report.

A flower committee was appointed, composed of Mrs. Sam Platt, Mrs. Ivan Denike and Mrs. Howard Russell. Four Thank-you notes were read by Mrs. Hayden Newman, sunshine convener.

Mrs. Ted Pearson and Mrs. H. Newman, program conveners, were in charge of the program, consisting of readings by Mrs. C. Knox and Mrs. S. Brenton. Mrs. W. Hatcher sang a solo. Mrs. Howard Evans conducted a contest. Winners were Mrs. C. Knox and Mrs. H. Newman.

Jury Excluded From Proceedings

SUDBURY (CP) — The jury was excluded from most of Friday afternoon's proceedings at the murder trial of two youths while lawyers argued over admissibility of a statement one of the two is said to have made to police.

On trial in connection with the bludgeon death Oct. 2 of 53-year-old bushworker Frank Asselin are Jean Guy Henaire, 18, and Emile Bedard, 17. Robert Deslauriers, another youth, also is charged and is to be tried separately.

Mr. Justice R. W. Trelaven will rule on the admissibility of the statement at the start of today's hearing. If he admits it, it is expected most of the testimony offered Friday will be repeated before the jury.

Unity Without Uniformity

Brotherhood Week, sponsored by the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews, begins tomorrow; it has the sincere good wishes of the Prime Minister, of Premier Frost, and of an impressive group of churchmen of all faiths, statesmen of all shades of opinion, educators and labour leaders. Best of all, we think that it has the sincere good wishes of a majority of the people of Canada. This is, all things considered, a tolerant country, in which rancorous and petty disagreement between people of different faiths is the shocking and uncommon exception, rather than the rule.

* * *

Not that we do not have our disagreements. We should be less than human if we did not sometimes disagree, and seriously, about important matters of belief. As we have said many times in these columns, 'tolerance' is a double-edged word; it can mean respect for another man's right to believe what he pleases, or it can mean a languid indifference to belief of any kind. Better an intolerance rooted in conviction than a tolerance which disguises indifference to important things. The bitterly intolerant man may be persuaded to moderate his opinions, but the flaccid and indifferent man, if he begins to take an interest in what is important, is likely to champion foolish and superficial ideas. The indifferent man is an inferior man.

* * *

Brotherhood Week is not, of course, a limited portion of the year in which we are expected to show the breadth of our sympathies; it is rather a week in which we are reminded of the duty we owe to our fellow-man at all times. The injunction to love our neighbours is the common property of all branches of Christianity, and of the Jewish faith. But we need not interpret the word 'love' to mean that we must be exactly like our neighbours, sharing all their thoughts and customs; we love them much more truly when we cherish our right to disagree with them, and their right to disagree with us, without creating bad feeling. Without disagreement there can be no advance. As Bertrand Russell says in his Liberal's Creed: "Find more pleasure in intelligent dissent than in passive agreement, for, if you value intelligence as you should, the former implies a deeper agreement than the latter".

* * *

Brotherhood and intelligent disagreement can live happily side by side. Brotherhood is a recognition of the universal Fatherhood of God; intelligent disagreement recognizes the diversity and freedom of man. Both are elements in the highest civilization. Both exist in Canada to a degree which is creditable to us, but neither is so strong that it does not need constant re-affirmation and the impetus which comes from renewed resolve. Brotherhood Week is the time for renewing our resolve that goodwill toward all men, and freedom of intellect and conscience, shall be part of the foundation of our national life.

Admitting The Most Suitable To Universities

Educators—and taxpayers—must look ahead. The rising birth-rate after the war as well as the greater population due to other causes meant that more elementary school rooms would be required within six years. That need is now manifest. Hundreds of new schools, additions and annexes have been built to house the new, large elementary school population. Secondary schools are only beginning to feel the press, but as these elementary school pupils pass up the ladder, they will be overcrowding high schools. Within a dozen years the throngs debouching from the secondary schools will create a problem of accommodation for our universities.

Although most of the persons now attending university were born during the Depression years when the birth-rate was low, their generation is providing a university population of more than sixty thousand. How can the universities meet the demands of today's large elementary school children in 1970? The increased post-war birth rate will double the number of eighteen-year-old persons in Ontario by 1970. At the present rate of university entrances—that is, the proportion of the young people who go to college—our universities will be swamped unless measures are taken before long to deal with the problem.

One solution is to double the number of universities, or the capacities of the existing institutions. We cannot feel that this is desirable, or even possible. Where would the teaching staffs come from, where the laboratories and the money?

Another solution is to provide different kinds of advanced training; in special schools or under some system whereby industry, institutions and government co-operate in providing training for students beyond Grade 13. This was a proposal made in President Sydney Smith's annual report to the Governors of the University of Toronto. Thus, university education would be restricted to those best able to profit from it, and the universities could concentrate on higher education at high standards, rather than on technical training and mixed standards. Dr. Smith advocated a Canadian educational pattern which would resemble the British more closely than the American system. Britain today, with a population four times as great as that of Canada, has less than one-and-a-half times as many students attending universities full-time. Technical schools and institutions provide advanced training, on a part-time basis or full time, to other youths not wanting or bent towards purely academic and professional studies.

In an address given recently President Smith proposed another method of dealing with the problem of overcrowding in universities in the future. He suggested that the universities should use a "scholastic aptitude test", in addition to departmental examinations to determine which high school students should be admitted to universities. This seems a cold, mechanical way to select or reject candidates for university entrance, but Dr. Smith assured his audience that the tests have worked well in the United States. Further, he would not rely solely on them. The formal written examination should be retained, and also confidential reports from their high school principals should accompany students' applications for entrance, reports on their character and mental abilities as the school principals knew them.

Although there is not undue overcrowding at the universities now, it is apparent that colleges are not securing the selection of students who can best profit from college courses. This is shown by the rate of failures. President Smith said that the universities are getting many of the group who can clearly make good use of the higher education available there, but they are not getting "the whole group and nothing but the group". He recommended the establishment of a national scholarship and bursary scheme that "will ensure real equality of education opportunity".

There is wise foresight in President Smith's proposals. They deserve study by all educators and governments in Canada, now, before the problem of university admissions becomes acute.

Are You Bored, Boys and Girls?

The Stratford Beacon-Herald thinks that young people today, having everything ready-made for them, become bored with life. 'Yet the old-timers had lots of good, clean fun, largely of their own creation. They did not get bored with life at 18, whereas thousands of youths and many young girls have been sent to jail, sometimes for years, because they flouted moral codes and even shot some innocent person . . .' Yes, we have heard this many times before, and we wonder if it is not our contemporary who has grown bored with the world, rather than the youth of 1954. For there is evidence in the news that things are not so gloomy as the Beacon-Herald imagines. A recent report showed a marked decline in what is called 'juvenile delinquency' during the past five years, and we may also point out that the illegitimacy rate is lower than it has been, in relation to Ontario's population, since first records on this subject were kept.

Are you bored, boys and girls? We see no evidence that you are. You give us a pain in the neck, every now and then, but that is not because you are wicked or abandoned, but merely because you are young, and we are growing old. 'Crabbed age and youth cannot live together', as the poet has it, and the generations will always have their quarrels. Your exuberance and mindless enthusiasm bores us, sometimes, just as our pessimism and lack of energy undoubtedly bores you. But upon the whole we like you very much, and think that you are going to make at least as good a job of the world, when your time comes, as we have done.

Everybody is bored, now and then. We are bored, often. The only people who never succumbed to boredom were the cave-dwellers. Life was so miserable for them that they never had a chance to think whether they were bored or not. A reasonable amount of boredom—call it fifteen minutes a day—is an endurable handicap of civilization.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Vancouver has just opened a new, $16,500,000 bridge over False Creek, we hear. Sounds to us like one of those pre-election jobs—handsome highways leading nowhere, a new dock where there is no shipping, a bridge over a phoney creek. Anyway, it is not one of these costly roads billed as being cut through hills in the Fort William area; as least the Vancouver bridge exists.

Burma's Cruel Paradox

By O. M. GREEN

IT is the cruel paradox of Burma that what should be its greatest source of wealth has become the cause of its greatest anxiety.

Rice presents a problem which overshadows the country's future—a future which in other respects is considerably brighter than it was a year ago. The new rice of the 1953 harvest is now coming in, or should be. It is reported to be a very good crop, probably of 4,500,000 tons, of which 1,250,000 tons will be available for export. But the granaries of Rangoon are blocked with not less than 750,000 tons of the 1952 rice, which the Burmese Government has not been able to sell. Meanwhile, there is no proper storage space for the new rice. At present rice is reported to be heaped up around the villages of the delta; and if it stays there too long, it will be ruined by the weather.

✧ ✧ ✧

MEANWHILE, a considerable part of the 1952 rice has become worthless because of accumulated dirt and weevils.

In the past year or so the rice market has come to favour buyers rather than sellers. Japan, according to estimates of its Ministry of Agriculture, will have to import 1,145,000 tons of rice in the coming year, but will get it from the United States. India, formerly Burma's best customer, claims to have raised its rice production by five million tons a year, and refuses to pay more than £35 a ton for Burma's rice. Siam has an excellent crop and is selling at reasonable prices.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE BURMESE GOVERNMENT, with memories of the recent golden past when it was receiving £80 and even more a ton for rice, which before the war sold for about £8 or £9 a ton, has lowered its prices to £40. This is still too high for potential customers, but as yet Burma will not go lower.

✧ ✧ ✧

OBVIOUSLY the longer the rice remains on Burma's hands the poorer will be the price obtained for it. Burma budgets for £30 million from rice, but that sum has yet to be obtained. This fact may well react on Burma's intended purchase of foreign machinery for its seven year Development Plan. And if the cultivators do not receive the expected price for their rice, they will riot, as they always have done.

✧ ✧ ✧

THESE FACTS are the more regrettable because of Burma's otherwise improved fortunes. There are plenty of rebels about the country, but little cohesion among them. They are gangs of dacoits rather than an organized force.

✧ ✧ ✧

ARAKAN, the Western province adjoining India, is out of control, and seems to be reverting to primitive tribal rule. The long strip of the Tenasserim (which shares with Siam the upper part of the Malay Peninsula) is also out of control, partly held by rebel Karens, while there are said to be many Communists there. But there is yet no sign of China giving any help to the "comrades" in Burma.

✧ ✧ ✧

A FAVOURABLE economic sign is the Burmese Government's agreement with the Burma Oil Company and two other companies for joint working of the oilfields. It took two years of haggling to put the agreement through. Rumour has it that the negotiator on Burma's side was secretly blocking the agreement all the time. He was recently put in gaol; after which agreement was reached in five days.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE IMMEDIATE objective is to refine 4,500 barrels a day. This would make Burma self-sufficient in oil. But the Burma Oil Company plans to build a new refinery at Rangoon, with a quantity of new plant taken out just before the war but never used. This should enable Burma to be an oil exporter once more.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE RECAPTURE by Government troops last November of the Mawchi tungsten and silver mines, which had been shut off in rebel country since 1949, should also prove a valuable asset. The local manager of the British Mawchi Mines Company has got through to the mines and reports that the installation, which had been rebuilt by the company since the Japanese defeat, has suffered no destruction by the rebels, although obviously after long disuse it will need overhaul.

✧ ✧ ✧

SOME TEAK is now coming down the Irrawaddy River from Upper Burma. Trains between Rangoon and Mandalay run, though not in the night, with fair regularity. And all accounts agree that the Burmese people are the best fed, best clothed best housed in Asia. If only there was not the problem of the unsold rice.

Letters To The Editor

RECOGNITION FOR BRAVERY

SIR: In yesterday's Examiner we read an account of the bravery of two little girls, Isobel Irwin and Janet Wilson of Villiers in risking their own lives in rescuing and saving the lives from drowning of their two little chums. We read of other acts of bravery being publicly rewarded, and would it not be a timely gesture for the proper officials to attend to this matter and render to these two little "heroines" the public recognition that they so justly deserve.

Yours,
I. E. NELSON.

BLASPHEMY ON THE AIR

SIR: Listening to the radio Thursday, February 18, a broadcast from the Ontario Sports' Writers' and Sportscasters' Association dinner brought to the listening audience, the famed Lefty Gomez, one time Yankee ball great.

Whether or not he toasted too much prior to the broadcast is not known but certainly his sportsmanship was in poor taste as an example not only to the youth of our country, but to any one who has any respect for our Creator's name.

When at a time, when he could have risen to great heights with his talk, he preferred the "gutter" using the word "Christ" in disrespect. Surely any other average citizen would be immediately cut off the air, but he was allowed to carry on and I might add in rather a boastful manner.

I am sure Timmy, the crippled boy, symbol of the Easter Seal Campaign, who was at the dinner would see his hero, Gomez, drop in his estimation and the number of parents across Canada, who happened to be tuned in to this broadcast would all agree, that the one true thing was the title bestowed on Gomez years ago, namely "Goofy," still holds good for him.

The CBC in not cutting him off the air, would be running a close second to Gomez.

LUTHER FILM AS PROPAGANDA

Sir: The film "Martin Luther" has been in the last few months, reviewed in detail by the press, and in several instances given its applause.

Although the picture in its form can well be qualified as a "masterpiece", because the acting is superb, it is regrettable that it is marred with historical, biographical and theological inaccuracies. It makes Catholicism appear extremely ridiculous by distortion of history and misrepresentation of Catholic doctrine.

It is amazing to notice the absence of essential characteristics and incidents in the life of Luther. Any historical picture must forcibly recur to certain understandable omissions, but in this one the omissions made are such a part of his personality and viewpoint that a true picture of the man is not given to the people. To omit important facts creates an entirely wrong opinion and in truth is a virtual falsification.

About one half of the picture is devoted to a completely wrong interpretation of the Catholic Church's teaching on indulgences. The document promulgated on indulgences by Leo. X, can be consulted in Pastor's "History of the Popes" Vol. VII P. 349. It is the same doctrine that is taught in the Catholic Church today. Luther was well aware of this doctrine as he preached on the subject in a sermon in July 1516.

If the producers had consulted Pope Leo's document they would not have made such statements which leave the audience with impression that the Pope was "selling" indulgences, or that indulgence "forgive sins." The Catholic Church did not teach such a doctrine then nor does it teach it now.

It is accepted that John Tetzel, the Dominican Friar, had certain personal opinions on indulgences, not in agreement with Catholic teaching but he never taught that indulgences bring about the forgiveness of sins nor can it be proved that he used the expression: "As soon as money in the casket rings—the soul its flight from Purgatory wings." Tetzel suffers badly in this picture. He is made to appear more like a circus barker than the famous preacher that he was.

In the over emphasis that is given to the indulgence controversy the producers show a decided lack of understanding of Martin Luther—the movement that he started went far deeper than the indulgence question. It reached the very necessity of good works for salvation. He attacked the virtue of good works and the actual value of atonement. Since indulgences are only another aspect of good works, there was no room for them in his system.

The same misrepresentation of the Church's teaching on relics is found in the picture—Catholics are made to "adore the wood and splinters" of the crucifix. In no era of the church's history was this ever taught nor did Catholics believe this. Why this distortion of the fact?

Luther himself is pictured as a calm and understanding lover of truth. He is the leader and defender of the common man and individual liberty. But is this true? Here is where the picture sins by omission. We find nothing there of the rages in which he indulged when his former friends disagreed with him. The picture shows how he fought for individual interpretation of the Bible, but it does not portray the fact that he violently urged his friends and followers to accept his interpretation.

For instance Melanchthon, who is shown Luther's closest friend in the film, complained in his correspondence that he was forced to put up with "an ignominious servility" in his association with Luther because he had different opinions on various points of doctrine.

If Luther's later years when he reviewed the extremes to which the doctrinal liberty which he instigated had gone, he went so far as to recommend compulsory measures against those who disagreed with him.

Again the picture is at fault by omission when it depicts Luther as the leader of the common man, the peasant of Luther's time. The Peasants Revolt is carefully omitted. What are the facts?

When the peasants, stimulated by their "newborn freedom" advocated by Luther began to extricate themselves from their enclosing conditions by attaching the ecclesastical holdings, Luther favoured them. But in 1525 when they began to attack the property and the rights of the princes, most of whom by this time favoured Luther's doctrines, his attitude changed. In this revolt he could see a grave danger to his religion in a split between peasants and lay nobles. He then turned to the side of the lay princes. Insisting on toleration for his own revolt, he vehemently pressed the princes to smash the peasants revolt. And so, the peasants revolt was crushed with utmost cruelty and with the slaughter of some 50,000 peasants.

The important part played by the princes in Luther's revolt is adequately emphasized in the picture. But it appears that the representation of their pure motives is contrary to historical facts. One is overwhelmed with their lack of self-interest. Love of freedom of conscience is made the motivating force in their revolt. Neither is farther from the truth. These princes wanted to assert their authority against the Emperor, Charles V and make themselves masters in their own territories. Luther's revolt was a means to this end.

Catholic historians are quick to admit that abuses existed in the Catholic Church during the 16th Century. But this picture leaves the distorted impression that these abuses permeated the entire Church. This is not true. This age, as did every other age produced a great many saints and martyrs.

It is not our aim to detail all the historical inaccuracies of the film, such as the distortion of the Luther—Eck debate.

It is hard to believe that an historical picture could deviate so much from the truth. It is too bad to see the remarkable talents of the actors wasted on propaganda that can only serve to distort historical truths and injure the bonds of christian charity.

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

And God said moreover unto Moses, Thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel, The Lord God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, hath sent me unto you: this is his name for ever, and this is my memorial unto all generations. (Ex. 3:15.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And Moses answered and said, But behold, they will not believe me, nor hearken unto my voice: for they will say, The Lord hath not appeared unto thee.

And the Lord said unto him, What is that in thine hand? And he said, A rod.

And he said, Cast it on the ground. And he cast it on the ground, and it became a serpent; and Moses fled from before it.

And the Lord said unto Moses, Put forth thine hand, and take it by the tail. And he put forth his hand, and caught it, and it became a rod in his hand: that they may believe that the Lord God of their fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, hath appeared unto thee.

And the Lord said furthermore, unto him, Put now thine hand into thy bosom. And he put his hand into his bosom; and when he took it out, behold, his hand was leprous as snow.

And he said, Put thine hand into thy bosom again. And he put his hand into his bosom again; and plucked it out of his bosom, and, behold, it was turned again as his other flesh. And it shall come to pass, if they will not believe thee, neither hearken to the voice of the first sign, that they will believe the voice of the latter sign. (Ex. 4:1-8.)

For the law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ. (John 1:17.)

Lamprey Battle

(Hamilton Spectator)

The intention of the Fisheries Department to spend $150,000 in the coming fiscal year — three times more than in the present year —on research in the fight against the lamprey eel will be welcomed by the hard pressed Great Lakes fisheries industry.

The lamprey eel is a predator whose natural home is in the ocean. It is about twelve inches long and has a disk-like mouth which it attaches to a fresh-water fish and sucks its blood away. A survey some time ago estimated that the lamprey had caused losses of $5,000,000 a year in the lake trout industry and had virtually ruined it in Lake Huron and Lake Michigan. It has also made serious inroads into the Lake Superior trout industry.

Spring must be just around the corner for fishing equipment catalogues are starting to arrive in the mail. First comes Heddon's from Dowiagic, Mich., and if we don't browse through any others this will fill the bill.

It contains just about everything, as usual, with a looseleaf picture of a walleye ready for framing. That alone is worth the two bits price of the catalogue and we suggest you could do worse than send for one, a handsome thing for your cottage living room.

There is an added section this year about how to take stills and movies of your angling, needed information for the average angler who cannot get photos of his prowess for sour apples.

There is nothing to be gained by shaking an admonishing finger at people who shoot everything and anything but we do appeal to gun owners to leave the Snowy Owls alone. There is nothing illegal about shooting them but morally it is all wrong.

Many of these large Arctic tourists have been seen in city and district, so many that their appearance ceases to make news any more. These birds have moved south in great numbers this winter in search of food. Small mouse-like lemmings in the far north have done one of their four-year disappearing acts and left the owls hungry. That is why they are foraging this winter in southern latitudes and they are doing us a good turn by keeping down our mouse and mole populations. Let them alone.

A date to keep is March 3 when the Peterborough Nature Club in co-operation with the Federation of Ontario Naturalists presents Dick and Ada Bird again. This year the Birds will show a new film entitled "Alphabet of the Outdoors." They have made films in 68 countries throughout the world and are recognized as tops in the wildlife lecture field. Get your tickets from the Public Library, TEM Agency or any club members.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

After blasting the Federation of Naturalists for sending out the worst press release to date a short while ago, along comes their monthly magazine, "The Bulletin". We knew there was quite a lot to the Federation and their publication proves it; it is tops.

The editorial matter tells how to interest children in natural history, about the Bob-white Quail in Ontario, the Lake on the Mountain at the Sandbanks in Prince Edward County and so forth. One especially good article by our own Peterborough naturalist, Frank Pammett, "Birds are where you find them," and a reference key to the habitat of 254 species of North American birds makes very good reading.

The Fed's 1954 Nature Camp will be held this year at Irondale in Haliburton County from June 26 to July 10.

Winter ice fishermen have been pestering baitman Grant Lytle, north Water St., for live minnow bait but they have been disappointed. There are two good reasons why Grant cannot come across; he is unable, due to winter thickness of ice, to get native minnows from their natural creek holes; it is agin the law to transport them from elsewhere to keep in his own tanks for resale. Don't ever think Grant has overlooked any possibilities along that line. He is too sharp for that.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

We read that the Speech from the Throne read by Lieutenant-Governor Louis Breithaupt last week at the opening of the Ontario Legislature had little information to offer.

Yet, there were indications that the government is facing up to the pressing need for a full-scale conservation program. A new public parks policy is to be established which could mean an entirely new division within the Department of Lands and Forests for the development of public parks for recreational centres.

We have watched this development (public parks) with much interest after many talks with regional forester Ben Greenwood, some field trips with him to look over available sites (Kosh Lake). We hope that his possible suggestions of developing the Serpent Mounds, Rice Lake, picnic grounds at Trent Canal lock sites will bear fruit.

The Kawarthas could blossom out into the finest small public parks system in the province. We are loaded with sites, scenery and a great summer tourist and resident population that would enjoy them to the full. And we are willing to be government guinea pigs in this program.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

Acquaintances who remark in surprise: "Oh, so you have a day off every week . . ." don't need to get the impression that we use this time to loll around at home on a pile of polar bearskin rugs smoking a hookah. A nice thought and would that it worked out that way. On the contrary, it seems to go like this:

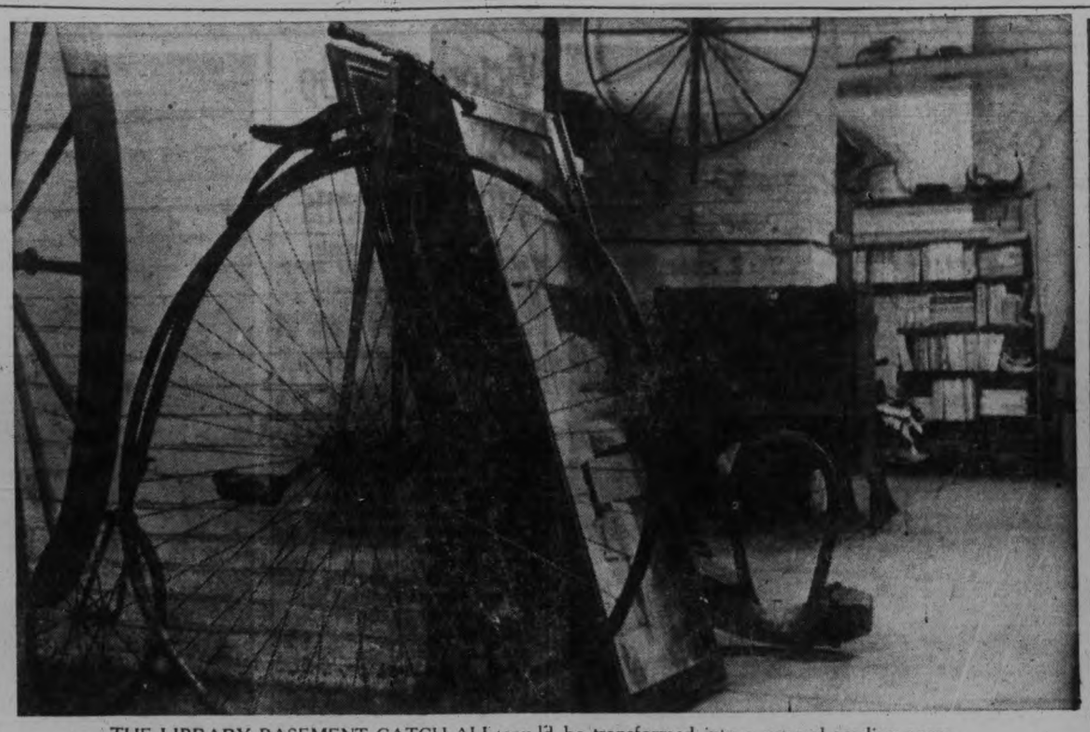
5:30 a.m.—Alphie, the cat, rustles around suspiciously; we turn him from our door, just in time.

6:10 a.m.—Stony, the dog, licks our right ear, a signal that she wants out. We oblige.

6:55 a.m.—Muffled complaints that the house is colder than usual and we get up for the third time to look at the oil heater; it is out because the fuel tank is as dry as a bone. On with clothes and out to get oil in temperature that must be all of minus 20 degrees.

7:15 a.m.—Having nursed the heater back to life we are afraid to leave it to go back to bed because it is turned up so high. We stand at the front door and whistle at the dog to come home. The cat comes in instead. The f ning of opening and closing doors does nothing to advance the heating of the house.

But there is no need to itemize further; chores and errands go on all day and far into the night and by midnight we are glad to crawl into bed and dream of a perfect off-day.



THE LIBRARY BASEMENT CATCH-ALL could be transformed into a general reading room.

$100,000 Plan To Change Library

Civic expansion makes itself felt in all departments and services. Some keep abreast with the times, with taxpayers' money, while others do not. In the latter class is the Peterborough Public Library.

In th past 10 years the population of the city has increased 35 per cent while library membership has increased almost 75 per cent and circulation 80 per cent. The library board have long since known that there must be a streamlined rejuvenation program, or, a new building altogether. Both proposals are now being considered by the civic finance committee.

If the 43-year-old building is to be modernized—which may solve the problem for the next 25 years—it will csot about $100,000. If a new building is agreed to at least $500,000 will have to be spent.

RENOVATION PLANS

In the program of refurbishing the present building officially-accepted architect's sketches show many changes. The main floor would have a great deal more room for book stacks, adequate lighting and some necessary privacy for library workers to carry on their various duties. The reference section would likely remain on that floor.

The basement which is still partly furnished with some shelving from the Mechanics' Institute, circa 1868, would be turned into a general reading room and a section made for Peterborough Historical Society meetings and displays.

The rather ponderous oaken staircase that leads from the front entrance to the assembly rooms on the second floor would be replaced by an iron structure, chiefly as a fire protection measure.

There is also consideration in the new plans to have the four massive red brick pillars removed on the street facade and that jutting extension of the front of the building boxed off square to conform to the plain exterior of the new City Hall.

A CARNEGIE LIBRARY

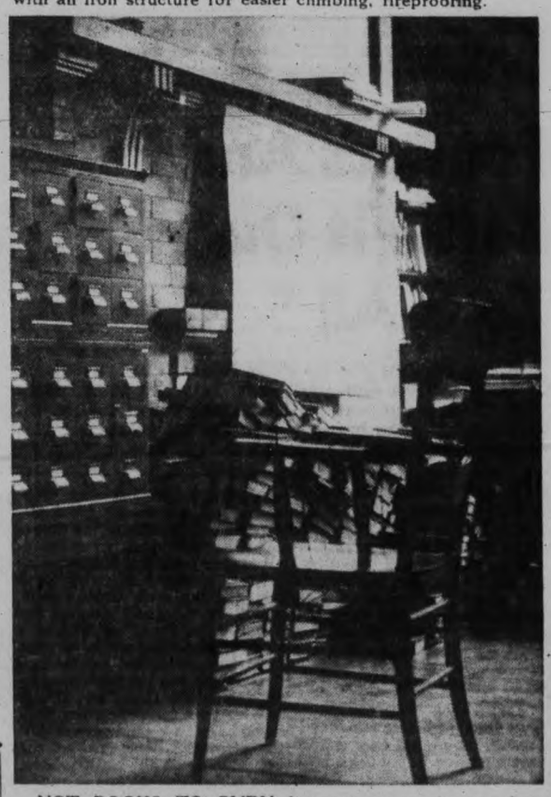
The present building was given to the city by the late philanthropist Andrew Carnegie. Charlotte Jane Nicholls of Peterborough was a benefactress too. It was designed by architect George Belcher and opened to the public in 1910. Financial aid was continued by the Carnegie fund for the next seven years and from that time forward supported by the citizens of Peterborugh and government grants.

The Peterborough Public Library is a much-used community service. It has 11,100 members, circulated 268,287 books in 1953, showed films to 128,800 people and lent recordings to 2,073 more. There were 12 art exhibits throughout the year and 440 groups held business meetings in its second-floor assembly rooms. Nor were the sick forgotten; in co-operation with ladies auxiliaries, 5,200 patients in both hospitals enjoyed books and magazine.

The library is a great community service but in order to give better srevice it must be brought along with the times, officials say. Complete renovation or a new building are the alternatives.

REFERENCE SECTION AND MEN'S reading room, background, could be re-arranged for better circulation traffic.

OAK STAIRWAY to the auditorium could be replaced with an iron structure for easier climbing, fireproofing.



NOT BOOKS TO BURN but temporary storage for volumes blocks the opening of an unused double fireplace. There are also two single fireplaces, both unused. There is also a fireplace in the Board Room, in the basement. These fireplaces recall the old-fashioned atmosphere and the previous generations of users of the Library, rather an attractive recollection, but there is little evidence of the fireplaces having been used more than once or twice in all the 43 years of their existence.

City Trust Paid $5,000 For King Edward Park In 1911

By HARRY THEOBALD

(This is the sixth in a series of articles on the Peterborough City Trust).

The death of James Stevenson, last of the original members of the Peterborough Town Trust, is recorded in the minutes of a special meeting on Oct. 26, 1910.

In the circumstances of bereavement it is unlikely that this memorial tribute was written by his son, Arthur Stevenson, as secretary of the Trust. This comment is only an assumption. The resolution of appreciation cited the long service of Mr. Stevenson as a Commisioner "for almost 50 years continuously from 1861, when the Trust was constituted, and he was chairman for many years". Sympathy was expressed to his family, to whom a copy was directed to be sent, and the Trust decided to attend the funeral in a body.

The first trustees of the town's debenture funds were: Charles Bradfield, Samuel Dickson, James Stevenson, Edmund Chamberlen and William Hall.

Their first requisition on the town council was for $5,706 in the following year for interest and sinking fund due Dec. 31, 1862. When Mr. Stevenson died in 1910 the Trust's levy mounted to $78,512,16 for loan charges to pay for municipal works.

James Stevenson had been mayor from 1886 to the end of 1891. He was also Member of Parliament for Peterborough West. Dr. A. R. Stevenson, his grandson, lives at 245 Engleburn Ave., with office at 295 Charlotte St.

One of the first references to socialistic enterprise in Peterborough is the Commission's approval of purchase of $5,000 waterworks debentures. Private investment laid the first mains and delivered the first water in the city. This was a common utility, and it became a public property, followed for a few years later by gas and electric services.

Ashburnham and Peterborough had bridged the separatist barrier of the Otonabee River, and as new landlord of the village property the Trust decided that rental of the town hall at Hunter and Mark Sts. should be $5 to churches and for charitable purposes and $10 to others.

POLITICO

An early incident in the rise and fall of John Hampden Burnham was his application in April 1911 for permission to hold a public meeting for political purpose in the market hall. "For a debate on reciprocity" says the record. The Commission replied that the hall was let only for meetings called by the mayor "which it was understood could be secured by a requisition of citizens."

In Peterborough and many other ridings the issue of reciprocal trade with the United States was subordinated to the spurious appeal of "Under Which Flag" in the verse written by Rudyard Kipling for a front page splatsh in Lord Atholstan's Montreal Star. In September Mr. Burnham was M.P., defeating J. R. Stratton. Quite a story is wrapped away in the career of J. H. B.

Mention of "an old drill shed" in Ashburnham recalls that vanished building south of Mark St. somewhere at the rear of the "town hall."

A motion in 1911 by Vincent Eastwood and Richard Hall authorized purchase of the property "between George and Aylmer Streets" that became King Edward Park. The Trust provided $5,000, "and notice be sent to the estate of Henry Best to that effect."

PIG PEN ON MARKET

Sense of cityhood and a changing attitude toward the uses of the farm produce market are indicated in an Eastwood motion "that the council be notified to have the pig pen on the market removed as a nuisance to all the tenants of the locality, and further that the market square at Water and Charlotte Streeets be kept in a sanitary condition, and that it be levelled up with coal and cinders."

It had been suggested that the Commission invest sinking fund money in the Birdsall block on the east side of George St., south of Brock. The minute says—"the Commission not being satisfied as to the propriety, consideration of the purchase be deferred."

The commission paid for a public lavatory in the basement under the south stairs to the market hall.

A minute of the March meeting, 1909, reflects the objection of the city council to the heavy increases in the Trust's annual demand for sinking fund and interest obligations of the municipality. The council had incurred the expenditure for public works, and the Trust was bound in duty to get the money from the city for the annual instalments of principal and interest to the people who had lent the funds for those civic improvements, roads, bridges, and so on.

"The commission regrets that it cannot comply with the city request for a reduction of the demand for sinking fund for the current year." Actually, the Trust did manage to cut $8,500 from the requisition that year, but it was not by shirking their obligation of having the payments for the city's creditors on the due dates.

IN 1912

From $12,103 in 1901 to $38,724 in 1912 was a wracking increase in Trust's levy on the council.

Council in April, 1912, requested and authorized the Trust to have plans prepared by William Blackwell for enlargement of the police station at a cost of not more than $5,000. It was suggested that the Trust could take the money from the GTR mortgage account. The contract was let to Henry Carveth.

Civic history repeats itself, too. Robert Neill, G. A. Gillespie, Roland Denne and W. E. Conway called on the commission in 1912 with a request that they buy "the Exhibition Park." The secretary's record: "The chairman told them the commission was a lending and not a purchasing body, and could assist only by purchasing debentures issued for the purpose."

Forty-two years later (today) citizens are meeting to consider the prospect of securing by legislative amendment a corner of the same Morrow Park.

ACCESSIBLE MONEY

Successive city councils looked upon the Trust's sinking fund as accessible money to be tapped for emergencies in helping to finance the council's affairs. In Sept., 1912, the mayor and city clerk asked for help. E. A. Peck and Mr. Eastwood moved that the commission lend the city whatever money was on hand, and take as security the CPR agreement (for purchase of the Charlotte St. water front) and the agreement with the Peterborough Cereal Co. (Simcoe St. east) "to be repaid in not more than six months." That was keeping tight rein on the council's necessitous borrowing, whenever they were accommodated.

Here's another record in the same course of caution: That the Trust buy $7,000 Bonner-Worth (Dominion Woollens, McDonnel St.) debentures with the proviso of security by mortgage on the real estate.

At that meeting, in October, also: that the council be advised of debentures falling due on Jan. 1, 1913, and steps be taken for the issue of debentures to replace those maturing, or provide otherwise for their redemption.

Spring Bloom and Lovely Magnolias

By HENRY PREE (NEA)

Yearly introductions of new types of roses, annual and perennial flowers of all sorts grab the spotlight in the spring catalogues and garden magaz..es.

While all this publicity for the easy-to-grow plants is noteworthy, the old gardener wishes to call attention to a few worthwhile trees and shrubs whose beauty, unlike the flowers, increases year after year, and being permanent also add greatly to the value of the property.

Spring bloom, even though we have countless tulips and narcissus to greet us, would not be as exciting were it not for the lovely magnolias. The first of the magnolias to welcome us is the lovely star magnolia, magnolia stellata, but unfortunately it is also one of the most difficult to transplant and it is slow growing.

Many years of hybridizing and testing have developed a star magnolia which grows rapidly and transplants rapidly.

The original tree, about eight years old, has attained a height of approximately ten feet and is eight inches in diameter. From this specimen, a horticulturist obtained cuttings four years ago, and they are now offering small plants for sale under the name of "Dr. Merrill." This makes a handsome specimen, for it has fine foliage and in early spring is covered with star-like flowers.

Should red or purple flowers and foliage fit into your desires or planting scheme, consider the new flowering crabapple, "Purple Wave." It is described as having rosy red flowers in spring, red fruits in summer and autumn and purple foliage throughout the growing season.

Purple Wave makes a bushy, low-branched tree eight feet tall and eight feet or more wide, with attractive wave-like horizontal branches. Such a description recommends it highly as a specimen in the lawn and just off the corner of the house.

Incidentally all flowering crabapples are hardy as well as beautiful and the many varieties available offer much to aid the young folks with a limited planting budget.

Although very beautiful, the star magnolia is slow growing and hard to transplant.

For years the Schwedler variety of Norway maple was the outstanding red-leaf maple. Recently introduced is a superior red-leaf maple called crimson king maple; superior because its foliage is a deep maroon-purple from the time it leafs out until Jack Frost arrives. The weakness of the Schwedler maple is its failure to hold its color through the hot summer.

Gardening Questions

Q—Are there any ever-blooming house plants?

A—No—the African violet, wax begonia and patience plant, under ideal conditions—such as a greenhouse—come closest to this request.

Q—In the planning of our yard we are stumped as to what flowering shrubs will grow in a low and damp back corner.

A—Try viburnum dentatum, arrowwood; aronia arbutifolia, red chokeberry; clethra alnifolia, summersweet, and azalea viscosa, swamp azalea.

Q—What is the reason for wrapping newly transplanted shade trees with burlap?

A—Experience has taught arborists that covering the lower trunk of trees will help prevent frost damage, bark scalding, borer attack and excessive loss of bark moisture.

Q—Are there any trees absolutely resistant to leaf-eating insects?

A—Frankly there are none. However, the Ginkgo is generally immune, although occasionally Ginkgos have been attacked by both bagworms and Tussock moth caterpillars.

Q—We mounded soil about our hybrid tea roses for winter protection. When should this soil be removed?

A—Remove a third of the mound about March 20 and again a third the following weekends.

Fast Brain

The world's quickest operating computing machine has just been put into use in Sweden. Known as BESK (binary electronic sequence calculator), it works about 1,000 times faster than BARK, an earlier Swedish machine of the binary type.

Working tens of thousands times faster than the human brain, the new computing machine will shortly be at the service of industrial enterprises, insurance companies, scientists and others who are large-scale "consumers" of applied mathematics. A group of meteorologists is at present working out new methods of obtaining quicker and more exact weather forecasts by means of the machine—(UNESCO).

THE FOUR BRICK-PILLAR FACADE might be removed to conform closer with the face of the new City Hall. Roosting pigeons will miss them. Pillars, like other ornaments to buildings, are somewhat out of fashion with architects and builders. The plain, simple and functional is the prevailing trend.

NO USE LOOKING, JOHN, IT'S IN!—Petes' goalie, John Donlevy, desperately hunts for the puck (above) but he should look over his shoulder because it's in the net behind him. Orillia's McCrone (7) took a rebound from his first shot, and tipped the puck into the net for Orillia's first goal, the only one scored in the first period. The Petes went ahead 3-1 in the second but Orillia rallied in the third to tie the score and force a scoreless overtime period.

Pontiacs And Petes Battle It Out To 3-All Senior Tie

Orillia Pontiacs and the Petes fought it out to a fierce 3-3 overtime OHA senior "B" draw here last night before 1,500 fans in the second last scheduled game of the season. The draw left Petes in top spot in the hot group race and almost clinched a playoff spot for Orillia, though Belleville still has the mathematical chance of pulling up into a tie with them for fourth place. Orillia led 1-0 in the first frame but were down 3-1 to wind up the second. They battled back with two unanswered goals to send it into a scoreless overtime session. The game was nearly half an hour late starting, Orillia as usual being late and Referee Maurice Walsh also putting in a tardy appearance.

FLOCK OF PENALTIES

Two dozen penalties were handed out in the rugged fray, a flock of them coming in the third heat, and none in overtime. Orillia drew 14 of them, one a misconduct to Robertson for arguing too hotly. One of the Petes was a match misconduct to Bert Hill for continuing to argue bitterly over a holding penalty after being warned by the touchy Maurice Walsh, who refused to recognize that Hill was assistant captain of the Petes and entitled to question a referee's ruling. Fans showered the ice with programs and held up the game still further.

Orillia snipers were Marty Desroches, Danny MacDonald and Earl McCrone, an assist each going to Coach Vic Grigg, Moe Richardson, Lloyd Pearsall, John Woods and Ron Nelson. The Petes' tallies were notched by Toodie Greenlaw, Ted Collins and Doc Prentice, while Bill Crowley, Bert Hill, Coach Eddie Redmond and Rod Belisle each earned an assist. Some smart goalkeeping was shown on both sides in this fast-stepping tilt.

SCORED FIRST

McCrone drew an early interference penalty, with Richardson and Collins chased shortly after for high-sticking each other. All [illegible] when McCrone scored [illegible] Nelson on an [illegible] Donlevy [illegible] the drive from a very sharp angle but the disc trickling in. Pearsall returned from a holding penalty and Fryia got it for elbowing, but the Petes forechecked so well that Donlevy didn't have a shot to handle in his absence.

Robertson was gate to start the middle heat for high-sticking as the rival checked hard. He returned with no damage done. It was careful hockey, the business of getting over the red line and unloading, while the defences pitched the puck back out. Desroches got a sentence for interference and McMaster for charging. They were back when Pearsall hit the trail for tripping. Next it was Peterson and Grigg for a high-sticking duel, Grigg having a cut on the head patched up. Prentice tied the tilt up with both sides even on a passout in close from Belisle. Nelson got the nod for slashing and the Petes peppered the goal, Greenlaw finally tallying in a scramble from Redmond as he pounded the puck past the sprawling Shropshire at the net corner. With Nelson back, they added another fast one for a 3-1 margin, Collins counting neatly on a closs-in combination effort with Hill and Crowley. The latter then went over for interference.

SEWED IT UP

Favero got it early in the third for hooking and Munroe followed for elbowing. Next it was Grigg for high-sticking as play became hot and heavy. Favero was back shortly when he drew the finger again for interference and Robertson was gated at the same time for a misconduct when he berated Referee Walsh. Munroe returned and Hill was charged with a holding penalty. He argued the point, was warned and when he kept arguing was given a match misconduct, with Peterson also drawing a minor for delaying the game. A big argument ensued and fans tossed papers on the ice. A couple of sinners returned and Payne served a hooking penalty but all were eventually back and the sides even when MacDonald raced in close to bat home Pearsall's pass. Munroe was back from an interference penalty when they sewed it up, Desroches hitting the hemp with Grigg's pass, a slap angle shot, screened all the way. Payne then drew a tripping sentence.

There was no scoring and no penalties in the third period. After Payne returned from his third-period sentence, they played some scrambly hockey for awhile, both sides being careful. Orillia pressed for a time and had Donlevy on the hop and looking good as he kicked hot rubber out. Later, the Petes tested Shropshire with several in-close thrusts but they couldn't beat him, and it finally wound up in a draw.

Orillia: goal, Shropshire; defence, Desroches and Grigg; centre, Payne; wings, Favero and Vasey; alts.: Nelson, Woods, McCrone, Bowen, MacDonald, Richardson, Pearsall, Shewchuk and Robertson.

Petes: goal, Donlevy; defence, Redmond and McMaster; centre, Leonard; wings, Fryia and Greenlaw; alts.: Hill Crowley, Collins, Belisle, Prentice, Peterson, Munroe, Montgomery and Armstrong.

An item from St. Kitts says: "Skip Teal and George (Red) Sullivan of Hershey Bears of the AHL took a busman's holiday this week and witnessed a senior hockey game in Niagara Falls. Sully in an interview stated that his biggest bang came while a members of the Teepees. In the final game of the OHA playoffs with Oshawa, Teepees defeated the Generals 6-5 and Sullivan scored three of those St. Catharines' goals. That was the 1947-48 season." Yeah, the Ashburnham redhead broke into minor hockey here just after the war, played junior "B" for Lakefield and Peterborough and then junior "A" for St. Kitts ere going to the AHL as property of Boston Bruins. He's leading AHL scorers now and by a goodly margin.

The local Aces, under Angus Bradley and Bill Crowley, are off for Port Perry tonight to open home-and-home OMHA juvenile "A" playdowns with Oshawa, return tilt being here Thursday. No word yet on playdowns for the local bantam or midget Shamrocks. Both of these teams are handled by Pat Doherty and Dave Hayes, both (like Aces) being city champs and looking for provincial honors. Bantams are backed by the Travellers Association, while the midgets receive aid from the Police Athletic Association. They're worthy representatives of the PMHA, which was run this season by Dick Ouimet, Phonse Brioux, Harley Carr, Angus Bradley, Jack Miller, and the 12 team managers.

Maybe You Know 'em

Look over some of the surnames in these lineups—maybe your boy or your neighbor's lad is among 'em: Juve Aces: Hickson, Parry, Chambers, Strickland, Brooks, Smith, Doris, McFadyen, Murphy, Floyd, Ferren, Kane, Stewart and possibly one or two we missed; midget Shamrocks; Daley, Baker, Forestell, Stewart, King, Haig, Armstrong, Olmstead, Darling Pace, Mahoney, Welsh, Riel, Jay, Coombs, Shaw, Heron and McCarthy; bantam Shamrocks: DeNoble, Brown, Doughty, Copping, McCormack, Tucker, McFadden, Meagher, Delpellaro, Shearer, Danahy, Roy, McCarthy, Nichols and Moffatt. These are the city's future junior and senior OHA stars.—

In senior "B" action last e'en, Kingston took Oshawa 7-5 to clinch a playoff spot, while Petes and Orillia drew 3-all in overtime here. That means that Orillia needs but one more point to reach the charmed circle as Belleville's chances grow rapidly dimmer. Petes are alone in top place now with 41 points, Oshawa has 40, Kingston 37, Orillia 36 and Belleville 30. If they fall tonight to Orillia the Memos are through, though the schedule will have one more week to go ere playoffs. A group meeting here Monday night will set playoff dates. The TPT-ers trek tonight to Bowmanville to tackle Oshawa with first place again at stake. Kingston is here next Friday to wind up the schedule in Peterborough.

Possible Preview, eh?

Last night's local number was possibly a playoff preview, and it was a tight tussle all the way. Orillia got the lone marker of the initial inning, Petes roared back for three without a return in the second, but the scrappy Pontiacs poured in two in the third to send it into a scoreless overtime session. Plenty of penalties handed out a rather chippy and close-checking contest. Orillia as usual were late arriving and so was Referee Maurice Walsh. Bert Hill would sooner have seen Walsh stay away altogether as the trigger-tempered arbiter tossed off the Petes' assistant captain with a match misconduct for questioning a holding penalty. Scoring on both sides was well spread around and defence work excellent by each blue line and some smart goaltending shown to slightly more than 1,500 paid fans.

It's whoops, hoops and oops again with no less than nine cage contests run off around these parts last gloaming. In girls' play, Collis opened best-of-three senior city finals with a 37-22 win o'er Black's at the YW. In the Collegiate, PCVS senior lasses beat Lindsay 27-18 and now enter COSSA playoffs next month, while PCVS junior colleens clipped the Scugog squad 30-18. They meet Cobourg in a set to see which reaches COSSA playoffs. SPS boys rollicked to a hefty group playoff win in Port Hope last eve. Both Kenner boys' teams took triumphs up Lakefield way. PCVS senior and bantam champs won in Lindsay while the junior PCI-ers dropped a close decision in the YW, while Collis prep for an LOBA tussle next Wednesday in Toronto, return one being Friday. Two exhibitions this p.m. at the Collegiate, starting at seven: SPS vs. PCVS Juniors followed by Toronto Eaton's Jr. Exec. all-stars vs. the senior PCI-ers.

Victory Toss-Up Between Soviet And Canadians

By ARCH MacKENZIE

LONDON (CP) — Rudy Eklow, official of the International Ice Hockey Federation and sports editor of the Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter, said Friday it's "even money" whether Russia or Canada wins the world championship.

Eklow, who has seen both Russia and Canada play, said he figured the Canadians — Toronto Lyndhursts—were five goals below the Russians when he saw Lyndhursts beat the Swiss team twice this month. But, he added in a telephone interview from Stockholm, "I understand the Canadians have improved a lot during their subsequent Italian and German games and they have four new players coming."

BEGIN FRIDAY

The eight-country championships begin next Friday. The Russians arrived in Stockholm Friday.

"The Russians have speed to burn," said Eklow. "They draw their players from speed-skating ranks and they skate straight up. They aren't bent over like the Swedes or other countries.

"They don't wear much protection either," he added, probably because they played 'bandy" long before they played hockey. Bandy is a kind of field hockey on skates, using a larger ice surface, curved sticks and a ball-like puck.

DIFFERENT STYLE

"The Russians have quite a different style altogether and the Canadians may be surprised when they first see it."

Eklow said that Stockholm hockey fans have snapped up almost all the tickets for the eight-country round-robin, last held in Stockholm in 1949 when Sudbury Wolves placed second to Czechoslovakia.

The Czechs are ticketed for third or fourth place this year in pre-championship seedings.

Like Canada, the Czech team skipped the world championships last year, when Sweden won. The Swedes are expected to give the Czechs a battle for third place.

Swedes Humble Lyndhursts 5-4

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Toronto Lyndhursts fell 5-4 before a junior Swedish hockey team Friday night putting an end to the 10-game winning streak they had enjoyed for a month.

The defeat marked the end of a warmup European exhibition tour for the Toronto club which will represent Canada in the world hockey championships beginning here Friday. A team of expatriate Canadians pros gave them their only other defeat, 11-2, in Paris last month.

Lyndhursts won all their other contests in Switzerland, Italy and Germany.

The Canadians trailed 3-0 in the second period. After a scoreless first frame, the youthful Swedish team rapped in three fast goals.

Tallies by Norm Gray, Harold Fiskari and John Petro evened the count but in the finale Sweden's Lars Soederberg sank his third goal.

Gray's second marker only narrowed the gap for the Canadians.

Garth Braund, Dr. M. McCartney and their rinks are back from the Ontario open bonspiel, playing at Toronto all this week. They made a fine showing and report a grand time.

Strange as it may seem, there were only a couple of lady curlers at the rink last evening.

A number of rinks from this club are taking in the open mixed rink bonspiel at Lindsay next week. It is an all-week contest, and play begins at nine o'clock Monday morning.

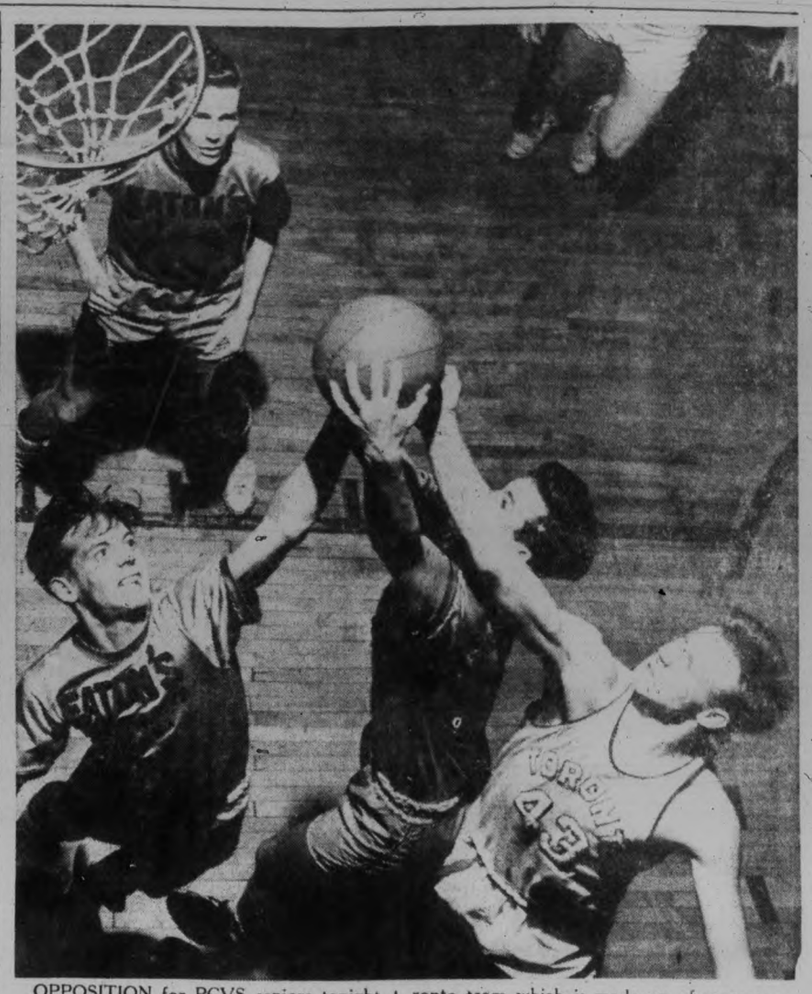
Talbert Eliminates Rochon In Second

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Talbert, United States Davis Cup captain, easily eliminated Canada's Henri Rochon 6-1, 6-1 Friday night in the second round of the U.S. national indoor tennis championships.

The Montreal lefthander was no match for the 35-year-old New York veteran, twice winner of this event.



OPPOSITION for PCVS seniors tonight will be the basketball club of Eaton's Junior Executives in the collegiate gym. The visit has become an annual affair with the Toronto team which is made up of representatives of Toronto's secondary schools. They are shown here during a game with University of Toronto intermediates.

Collis Win To Start Series In Heavy Basketball Play

Nine basketball games involving Peterborough girls' and boys' teams were staged around the district Friday night, some of them being playoffs. Collis defeated Black's 37-22 at the YW to open their best-of-three senior girls' city finals in the major tilt of the evening. Black's led 7-6 in the first quarter but were down 17-12 at the half and 25-16 going into the fourth. J. Dunk led Collis with 12 points, P. Stewart and N. Rose each getting eight, S. Bestard five, and M. McIlvena and W. Floyd two each. Tops for Black's was C. Boswell with 11, R. Butch clicking for seven, and E. McIlhagga and R. Naylor two apiece.

PCVS GIRLS WIN

At the Collegiate, PCVS senior girls downed Lindsay 27-18 while PCVS junior damsels defeated their Lindsay rivals 30-18. By their win, the senior PCI-ers go into COSSA playoffs in Toronto on March 13, while the local juniors now have a home-and-home series with Cobourg, the winner going into COSSA playoffs next month.

The senior guard line of Joan Naish, Joyce McIlraith, Maureen Fletcher, Janet Estlick and Betty Revill shone defensively for the PCVS, with Bev Pollock featuring up front in a fast-passing game. PCVS led 16-9 halfway through and finished a little stronger. B. Pollock had 11 points for them, M. Raddon nine, L. Cutmore six and M. Dobson one. For Lindsay C. Webster led with six, J. McBrien and J. Phillips each getting four, A. Webster three and L. Chase one.

Bernice Callan, Marg Patterson and Joan Weir worked well for PCVS juniors to rack up the points, while the guard line of Pat Collins, Jane Buckland and Catharine Bertrand stood out. It was 100-8 for PCVS at the half. B. Callan dropped in 11 points, J. Weir six, D. Kingston, J. Hughson and M. Patterson four apiece, and S. Fee one. Leading Lindsay was G. Johnson with eight points, as C. Tone tallied six and N. Parker four.

RYAN OUTSTANDING

St. Peter's senior boys opened their next group round Friday in Port Hope and rolled to a 69-21 triumph. They broke from the barrier fast for a 21-5 lead in the first quarter, making it 25-8 at the intermission and 44-13 going into the fourth heat. Ryan played a terrific game for the Saints to rack up 30 points in a starry showing, getting 17 of them in the first half. Quinlan clicked for 15 points for SPS, Braniff got nine, while two each were counted by Feeley, O'Rourke and Fitzpatrick. Plummer led the losers with nine points, Ruttan got four as two each went to McMahon, Ballet, Meadows and Lesnick.

In Lakefield, Kenner COSSA bantams banged out a 62-19 win over Lakefield boys, while Kenner COSSA juniors trampled Lakefield 61-23. In the latter joust, Kenner led 17-7 in the first, 23-16 halfway through, and then erupted in the last half to roll up the count. Drury dropped in 24 points for Kenner Juniors in a neat chore, while Hollingsworth got 14, McKinney eight, Ward seven, Reid four, Hancock two, and Ball and Frise one each. Darling, Moore and Perkins led Lakefield. The bantam K's led 18-5 in the first quarter, 31-8 at the rest period, and 46-13 to end the third. Hendry was their big sniper with 25 points, Degroat having 12, Rowe eight, Wood six, Beath and Johnston four each, and Simpson two. Hill, Perkins, Brattain and Mitchell led Lakefield.

PCVS GET TWO

In scheduled boys' games at Lindsay, PCVS bantams won 36-22, Lindsay juniors were victors over PCVS 37-35, while PCVS seniors romped to a 79-18 triumph. Cournyea led the senior winners with 22 points as Roberts clicked for 19, Ash and McKinney 12 each, and B. Boorman nine, J. Boorman four and Carleton one. The Lindsay sniping was well spread around. The junior joust was a keen one, nip-and-tuck to the finish. Sinclair led Lindsay boys with nine points, Landley had eight, Gilson seven, Blackwell six, Barbe three, and Bowey and Mason two each. Bell topped PCVS with 12, Balleny getting eight, Davis seven, Dubay three, and Hawkins and Beck two each, as Brown hooped a free one. Sorrie and Stewart led the PCVS bantams with eight points each, seven each going to Tetlack and MacArthur, as Brown got four and Haig two. Best for the losers was Dawson with 14 points, Allen clicking for four and Barbe and Peel two.

Rangers Scuttle Hawk Chances With 3-0 Victory

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Chicago Black Hawks today now are along for little else but "the ride" for the rest of the National Hockey League campaign. Ever since the early stages of the season when they first showed they didn't have the manpower the Black Hawks have been chugging along on only a prayer they wouldn't end in last place. But now even their prayers won't help. Friday night New York Rangers dealt the blow that finished the Hawks for all practical purposes this season. The Broadway Blues blanked them 3-0 and that 42nd loss with only 10 victories wiped out the last remaining mathematical chance the Hawks had of moving up.

The game was played at Indianapolis before a crowd of 4,190. Because of poor attendance at Chicago the Hawks made the switch to Indianapolis, where they hoped to establish an American Hockey League farm club.

The change of scenery for one of their home encounters didn't do any good. The Rangers were in command all the way and goalie Johnny Bower of the Rangers racked up his second shutout of the season.

Both Bower shutouts have come at the expense of the Hawks, who have dropped eight games and tied one in their last 11 meetings with the Rangers.

The victory drew the Rangers to within a point of the fourth-place Bruins in their battle for the last playoff spot.

Nick Mickoski was the driving force for the Rangers, scoring two goals, one in the first period and the other in the third, after rookie Camille Henry opened the scoring in the initial session.

Mickoski's first goal came with less than seven minutes remaining in the first period. He got inside the Hawks' defence and beat goalie Al Rollins with a 10-footer from the left side after being set up by centre Don Raleigh and defenceman Ivan Irwin. The Hawks were shorthanded at the time with Jack Price off for slashing.

Mickoski's second counter was scored on knee high shot from 12 feet out at the 8:24 mark of the final frame.

New York's battle with the Rangers for the fourth playoff spot and the struggle between Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens for second place are the main attractions in the league.

PLAY TWICE

The Leafs, deadlocked with the Montrealers with 65 points, play twice during the week-end while the Canadiens play once. Saturday the league-leading Red Wings clash with the Canadiens at Montreal while the Leafs take on the battling Bruins in Toronto.

Boston is the only other team carded for two games in the week-end action. The Bruins travel to Chicago for a Sunday encounter while the Leafs clash for the second straight night in a game at New York with the Rangers.

Burlington Breaks Leg, Won't Set Record

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Tommy Burlington won't set a scoring record this year.

The 33-year-old Owen Sound Mercury's centre who has the use of only one eye suffered a broken leg Friday night when he lost his balance and crashed into the boards at Niagara Falls. The hometown Cataracts defeated the league-leading Mercurys 8-4 in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A group game.

The injury to Burlington, who was four points away from the league record of 112 points by Stratford Indian's Mickey Roth, was accidental.

Ron Castelan and Bill Hartsburg paced last-place Cataracts to their first win this season over Mercurys with three goals each. Sandy Air and Bill Young scored the others.

Doug Gillespie scored two for Merks with Vern Gardiner and Bill McComb getting singles.

MAROONS-TIGERS WIN

In other games, Chatham Maroons racked up a 6-1 victory over Stratford Indians and Hamilton Tigers came from behind a two-goal deficit to hold Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen to a 4-4 overtime draw.

The Stratford goal was scored for the fifth-place club by George Aitken. Jim Connelly and Paul Oliver scored three goals each for Maroons.

At Hamilton, Tigers' officials said they will protest the Dutchmen's use of goalie Keith Woodall in the last two periods because his name was not given to the official scorekeeper.

Al Buchanan, Murray Comfort, Hub Anslow and Harvey Jacklin got the Hamilton goals. Doug Verity, Don Oberholzer, Art Hurst and Gerry Theberge scored for Kitchener.

WOLVES MOVE UP

In the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A southern group, Sudbury Wolves scored a 4-2 win over North Bay Trappers.

The win, which lifted the Wolves to within five points of league-leading Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds, came after the home-town Wolves made a three-goal comeback in the final period.

Mike Bukacheski and Durno Rondina put Trappers in the lead in the second period with a pair of goals after Wolves' Hub Beaudry scored in the opener. Other Sudbury scorers were Nick Tomiuk, Tatter McClellan and Fiori Goegan.

Week-end play will see Windsor at Kitchener, Chatham at Owen Sound and Hamilton at Stratford Saturday and Niagara Falls at Windsor Sunday.

In the NOHA Saturday, North Bay will visit Pembroke and Sudbury will play at Sault, Ont. Wolves will visit the Sault (Mich.) Indians Sunday.

Castellani Has Lopsided Durando Win

NEW YORK (AP)—Rocky Castellani, top-ranking middleweight contender from Cleveland, handed Ernie Durando an artistic boxing lesson Friday night to score a lopsided 10-round decision over the slow-moving Bayonne, N.J., Bomber in Madison Square Garden. Castellani weighed 160¾, Durando 160.

It was the eighth straight victory for the 26-year-old Castellani and his second win in three fights with the powerful but inept Durando.

Two years ago Durando came from far behind to stop the broad-shouldered Castellani with a tremendous right uppercut to the jaw in the seventh round.

COULDN'T SCORE

Friday night Ernie couldn't score with a solid right until the ninth round but by then some of the steam had gone out of his punches and while the blow hurt it didn't drop Casty.

Rocky held on for all he was worth and then Ernie clipped him with another right to bring a roar from the crowd of 5,865 which paid $19,355 for the telcast and broadcast bout.

Castellani, jeered earlier for his dancing tactics, brought cheers from the fans when he came back fighting in the liveliest round of the one-sided fray.

Johnny Digilio, 141, Bayonne, N.J., outpointed Bryan Kelly, 139, Niagara Falls, Ont., in a lively eight round semi-final. Digilio rocked his rival several times in the free-swinging affair.

Royal Canadians Triple Winner At Bonspiel

TORONTO (CP)—Andy Grant of Royal Canadians came out a triple-winner from the 27th annual Ontario bonspiel which ended Friday night.

Thursday Grant walloped L. E. Ross of Agincourt 13-2 to claim the Birks Trophy — second event of the bonspiel. He took the Monarch Knitting Trophy Friday night with an 11-6 victory over J. W. Wyse of Torontos 11-6 and was awarded the grand aggregate jewels for winning more games than any other entry—11 out of 12 starts.

Four other finals were played Friday.

Mel Cunnington of Torontos defeated Wick Green of the Royal Canadian Club to win the North American Life Trophy and D. B. Carlyle, also of Torontos, downed W. M. Miller of Campbellton, N.B. 12-4 to win the Seagram event.

W. G. Allan of Toronto High Park won the Parker Pen Trophy with a convincing 10-3 win over Ivan Brown of Thornbury.

S. H. Smithers of Galt — only outsider to take a title this year—won the Seiberling after a forced 11 decision over J. W. Raine of Brampton in an extra end game.

Smithers was awarded the grand aggregate jewels in 1952.

Vern Mathewman of Toronto won the top-award Royal York finals Thursday.

THIS IS BASEBALL? — Billy Pierce, left, isn't grappling with Cass Michaels for a job on the White Sox. The hurler and Michaels, a third base aspirant, are using the mat to get in shape.

Stockholm Fans Have Eyes On Hockey

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Stockholm sport fans forgot skiing, despite the nearby ski championships, as the Russians and Canadians arrived for the world hockey tournament.

The two teams, regarded as a toss-up to take the title over all other contenders, are sharing living quarters in the city's most modern hotel.

Greg Currie, coach of Toronto Lyndhursts, said "ever since we arrived in Europe to warm up for this we have heard: 'Over here we can't match the Russians, so we count on you.'"

"And we're going to do it."

Currie heads a team of 15 players with an average age of 22½ years. Four more are due Monday to strengthen the team, which has been criticized in England and at home for dropping its opening European exhibition game to a team of pros, and losing 5-4 to a Swedish junior team Friday night.

PLAN HARD CHECKING

"We'll make it by speed and hard checking," Currie said. "That will overcome the unfavorable statistics."

Swedish papers said today, however, that Canada hardly will win any medals on the basis of Friday night's play. The Swedish team, which included only one player who'll compete in the world tournament, is regarded as a second-class outfit.

"A listless team playing a gloomy, handicraft ice hockey without ideas, push or teamwork," said the Stockholm Tidningen, adding:

"It will be very difficult for this team to attain top placing in the championships."

RUSSIANS PLEASED

The Soviet world ice hockey players smiled broadly when they saw the Canadians play," the Morgan Tidningen reported. "They had reason for doing so—Canada will certainly not beat the Soviet Union, not even Czechoslovakia and Sweden."

The Soviet pucksters hardly took time to unpack their rucksacks before heading for the rink. They even cancelled a scheduled press conference to be there in time.

After, Vladimir Igorov, coach of the all-star Soviet team selected from the Moscow TSDA (central house of the Soviet Army), Dynamo and Zenith teams, said he is confident that the "collective playing" of his men will be efficient enough to overcome the Canadians tough tactics.

He said the Russian team had been selected from among "thousands of players" all over Russia, where hockey was introduced eight years ago.

GIVEN EVEN CHANCE

Ivar Harbom, coach of the Swedish second-division team which lost 5-3 against the Russian team earlier, said the speedy Soviets might have an even chance against Canada "if they give their top display."

Currie sent his team right into its first try-out here shortly after arriving from a heavy exhibition tour.

The Stockholm paper Dagens Nyheter said only two of the Canadian players were of first-class calibre, Norman Gray and John Petro. Svenska Dagbladet labelled the Lyndhursts "one of the poorest Canadian teams ever sent to Europe."

"Soviet Russia will beat this Canadian team 10-0," said John Narvestad, president of the Norwegian Ice Hockey Federation. He had just arrived from Moscow where he saw the Russians play Switzerland and Czechoslovakia.

Here And There In Sports

FOLLOWS TRADITION

OPPDAL, Norway (CP) — Fifteen-year-old Anne Heggtveit of Ottawa, who placed 13th in the women's downhill race of the Holmenkollen ski festival here, is reported to the youngest entry in this year's alpine world championships at Are, Sweden, later this month.

Anne is the daughter of Harold Heggtveit, Norwegian Canadian who was a Canadian entry in the 1932 Olympic winter games at Lake Placid, N.Y.

Her uncle, Bud Clark, now president of the Canadian Amateur Ski Association, was a member of Canada's team at the 1936 Garmisch Partenkirchen, Germany.

Following in the family tradition, Anne herself plans to qualify for the 1956 games at Cortina d'Ampezzo, Italy.

CALGARY OFFERS TRADE

VANCOUVER (CP) — Calgary Stampeders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union have offered halfback Pete Thodos to British Columbia Lions in a straight player-for-player trade.

Coach Annis Stukus of the new WIFU entry from Vancouver said Calgary had made a formal offer of Thodos, but would not confirm reports circulating here that Calgary is seeking Lions' Ray Willsey, who played with Edmonton Eskimos last season.

"I understand Calgary is willing to trade and that they want Canadian players," Stukus said. "Thodos is on the block."

Asked if Lions would be interested in a straight Thodos-Willsey trade, Stukus replied, "No."

LOGAN COMES TO TERMS

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Johnny Logan, last of Milwaukee Braves' "reluctant regulars," signed his 1954 contract Friday.

Logan, top fielding shortstop in the National League for the last two seasons, had been resisting stubbornly all efforts at getting him to come to terms, and is the last of the 1953 regulars to sign. There was no word on what compromise was reached, but presumably the quick-tempered infielder will get about $18,000.

McKENLEY SCORES AGAIN

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) Herb McKenley of Jamaica won the world professional sprint championship Friday night, finishing first in three of the four events.

He won the 100-yard dash in 9.6 seconds and the 220 in 21.5 seconds. Last week he won the 130-yard dash in 12.2 and finished third in the 75-yard dash.

SOVIETS SEEK TOURNEY

FALUN, Sweden (AP)—Russia is reported to be "very much interested" in getting the 1958 world skiing championsships.

A prominent official of the International Ski Federation, who declined to identified by name, said Russian FIS vice-president Viktor Andreev told him Russia is "deeply interested in organizing the 1958 world championships."

Bombers Negotiating With Al Sherman

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Interprovincial Football Union are negotiating with Al Sherman, an assistant coach last year with New York Giants of the National Football League, to take over as Bombers' head coach, officials said Friday night.

They said Sherman returned to New York last Wednesday after meeting the team's selection committee for a new coach.

Coach George Trafton was dropped by Bombers early this year with one year still remaining on his three-year contract.

Hodges, Morgan Sign With Dodgers

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Brooklyn Dodgers today brought two more of the National League champions in line with the signing of first-baseman Gil Hodges and utility infielder Bobby Morgan.

Hodges had asked for more money but, although the terms of his contract were not announced, he quickly signed after conferring with vice-president Buzzy Bavasi at the Dodgers' school here.

Plan Airborne Classes

LONDON (Reuters) — British European Airways will introduce "flying classrooms" for school children on some flights to London from Birmingham, 110 miles away in the industrial Midlands. The children, accompanied by teachers, will have special maps and will be given sheets from the pilot's logbook to help them identify landmarks along the route.

Toronto Skater Places In Fourth Spot

OSLO (CP)—A spill at the end of a difficult jump cost Tenley Albright her world figure-skating crown Friday night. Gundi Busch, first German to take the title since the Second World War, is the new champion.

Barbara Gratton of Toronto won fourth place behind Britain's Erica Batchelor.

Miss Albright, the defending champion from Boston, held a 22.8-point lead over her German challenger at the start of Friday's free-skating competition. Even after her fall at the end of a double-loop jump, she was rated on a par with Miss Busch on the quality of her program. But her mishap gave her rival top marks in execution.

The victory by Miss Busch completed a split of the major titles among four different countries. Hayes Alan Jenkins of the United States won the men's singles, Norris Bowden and Frances Dafoe of Toronto carried off the doubles crown and the ice-dancing competition went to Jean Westwood and Larry Demmy of Britain.

Canada's three remaining contestants in the women's singles finished well back. Carole Anne Pohl of Montreal was eighth, Ann Johnston of Toronto ninth and Sonja Currie of Calgary 10th in the field of 11.

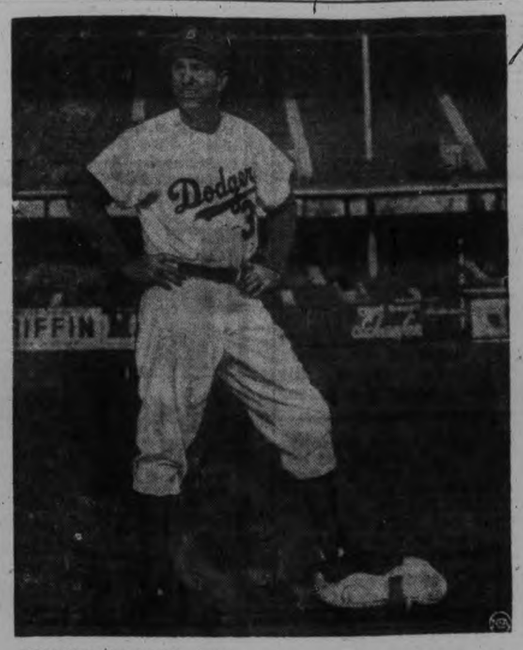
2 Centres Say Skiing Excellent

TORONTO (CP) — Midland and Orangeville-Hockley were the only Ontario centres reporting excellent skiing conditions both on the tow hills and in the bush.

The official forecast promised continuing mild weather throughout the province.

A province-wide survey Friday indicated good conditions at Brimacombe, Cobourg, Flesherton-Markdale, Haileybury, Huntsville, (excellent in the bush), Newmarket, Owen Sound, Sinclair township, Muskoka, (excellent in the bush) and Toronto Summit (excellent in the bush).

Skiing is fair at Barrie, Bracebridge, Collingwood, (good in the bush), Kirkland Lake, Larder Lake, North Bay, Raglan and Sudbury-Levack. Skiing is poor at Bolton, Dagmar (good in the bush) Gravenhurst and Sundridge.



STAND-UP GUY—Walter Alston, rookie manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, this season will man the third base coaching box where, he says, so many games are won and lost on split-second decisions.

Barrie Dumps Montreal With Sparkling 4-1 Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The three lowest teams of the eight-club Ontario Hockey Association Junior A group Friday night scrambled to improve their positions.

Barrie Flyers came out on top with a 4-1 victory over Montreal Canadiens. The win boosted them to within two points of Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts and Hamilton Cubs, tied for fourth place with 47 points. It also kept Guelph Biltmores, with a 4-0 win over last-place Galt Black Hawks, from moving into a sixth-place tie with Flyers.

Guelph has 43 points, two less than Barrie. Galt is in the cellar with 33 points.

Flyers turned in one of their best performances of the season in their interlocking schedule meet on hometown ice with the powerful Canadiens of the Quebec Junior Hockey League.

More than 2,500 fans, largest crowd of the season, saw Flyers hold the Montrealers to a 1-1 score in the first period. In the second, Flyers took a one-goal edge.

RANEIRI GETS PAIR

George Raneiri scored two goals and Jim Robertson and Danny Foliziani counted the third-period markers. Henri Richard scored for Montreal.

At Guelph, Glen Ramsay's shutout was his first of the season.

Bill Sweeney, playing his second game in the junior hockey group, scored for Biltmores. Ike Scott scored the other three Guelph markers.

Ramsay got his shutout the easy way. He turned aside only 18 shots while Galt's Les Binkley handled 39 shots on goal.

In week-end action, Kitchener will visit Trois-Rivieres Saturday while Montreal Canadiens play at Galt and Toronto Marlboros go to Hamilton. Sunday, Kitchener will play the Royals in Montreal; Guelph will visit Quebec, St. Catharines will play Marlboros in Toronto and Hamilton will also visit Toronto for a game with St. Michael's.

Wrestling Bout Good Medicine For All Women Spectators

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO (CP)—A professional wrestling bout to a woman spectator is worth "about $10 in nerve medicine," says Earl McCready who started in the game because he was "afraid a good little man could beat a big man."

A bout where the villain is manhandling the hero—and handsome Earl is the good man in the ring—gives the fair sex "a chance to get rid of their inhibitions—they can yell and hollet to their heart's content," McCready explained in an interview. "They go home and if they had any yen to beat up on the old man it is gone—they're exhausted but happy."

McCready figures about 25 per cent of persons going to wrestling matches are from the distaff side and they always cheer for the hero in the ring.

Earl, just arrived from New Zealand for his annual winter tour of Canada, was a strapping 15-year-old 200-pounder living at Amulet, Sask., when a poster on farm fences "almost scared me to death." The poster, from Farmer Burns, a former wrestler, and addressed to "little men," read: "Handle big men with ease."

"I figured I might be one of those big guys, so I wrote for the course and learned my wrestling by correspondence."

30-YEARS IN RING

That was 30 years ago and McCready can look back on championships he has won—the heavyweight title in the 1930 British Empire Games at Hamilton, Ont., and the professional British Empire "championship" in 1933. He lost the pro title six years later.

McCready, six feet two inches tall and weighing 247 pounds, still wrestles at least once a week.

He can remember enjoying the summer sunshine only four years in the last 23. He wrestles in New Zealand during the winter months—April to September—and returns to Canada for more wrestling from October to the end of March.

McCready, born in Lansdowne, Ont., turned pro in 1931 and accepted an offer to tour Australia. "Our boat stopped at New Zealand and we were asked to help out with wrestling shows there," he said. "I stayed on and wrestled and Frank Miller, a former wrestler who talked me into the trip, stayed on and promoted.

"It's been the same since then—wrestle in New Zealand's winter months and come home to Canada for bouts in our winter season."

Palmer Heads Field Of 90 In Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (CP) — Johnny Palmer of North Carolina, who thinks San Antonio's Brackenridge park is the easiest course on the winter golf tour and illustrated his point by playing it twice in a total of only 127, headed a field of 90 into the third round of the $12,500 Texas open golf tournament today.

The Canadian sensation of the first day's play, Rudy Horvath of Windsor, Ont., who shot a blazing 61 in the first round, ran into hard luck Friday and wound up with a par 71 which left him far down the list.

Horvath's big trouble was on the 15th, where he drove into a river and emerged with a double bogey. He did well to finish in par, but the beating the course has taken from the pros make a spectacular score mandatory to stay among the leaders.

GERRY STILL IN

Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener, Ont., is the only Canadian left in the tournament as the three other contenders failed to qualify for the next round. Kesselring, who can't win any money because of his probationary pro status which still has a month to go, ended the second round with 131, tied with four others.

The Canadians who bowed out were Bob Dean of Cornwall, Ont., at 144, Al Balding of Toronto, 146 after a bad 77 in the second round, and John Kay of Quebec at 148.

Palmer breezed over the 6,400-yard course in nine-under-par 62. In steady pursuit is Joe Moore of White Plains, N.Y., who was second to Horvath with a 62 in the first round and had 66 in the second for a total of 128.

Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., and Lionel Hebert of Erie, Pa., tied for third place at 130.

Tri-Bells Winners

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Tri-Bells Friday night downed Niagara Falls Jolleys 90-54 in the opener of the International Triple A basketball league semi-finals. Toronto took a 22-12 lead in the first quarter, led 42-26 at the half and increased their margin to 63-39 at the three-quarter mark.

Westinghouse Moves TV Plant To Brantford

BRANTFORD.—The television-radio division of Canadian Westinghouse, Hamilton, will be transferred to Brantford to premises leased from Behr Manning (Canada) Ltd., H. H. Rogge, president, announced Friday. Operations are expected to commence in May.

"Brantford was selected because it is convenient to our Hamilton plants, and had available the type of manufacturing facilities we were seeking," he said. "The Westinghouse television-radio division has a bright future in this community where increased assembly and manufacturing space in a modern plant will enable our company ot keep pace with the expanding market for TV, Mr. Rogge said.

One of the factors which influenced Westinghouse to move to Brantford was to improve the production efficiency and quality in order to meet today's market conditions. Seven divisions in three separate plants in Hamilton present many operating problems under a city-wide seniority system. The cost of the time and production lost due to training and familiarizing employees transferred from one division to another has handicapped economical and efficient production in this division, it was said.

TOO COMPLICATED

For example, one operation in the TV-radio division has had five changes of personnel, entirely due to maintaining city-wide seniority.

"When seniority applied on a city-wide basis promotes inefficiency and excessive high costs these provisions cease to provide security for employees and simply result in fewer jobs for all, it was said.

Manager of the new plant will be Harry E. Rice. E. Olsen will be manager in charge of engineering and the sales manager will be Julian Tuteur. A number of other key personnel will move to Brantford when the plant is ready for occupancy.

DISTINCTIVE FLAG

The national flag of the Republic of Ireland is a tricolor of green, white and orange.

ONE THEY LEFT BEHIND—Found roaming the streets in Republican-held Washington, D.C., this forlorn-looking donkey is led to the police station where he was given the facts of politilal life. Policeman George Andrasik holds the rope, while his partner, Robert L. Rabe, drives.

Measures Relaxed

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (AP) Gen. Sir Gerald Templer today eased the burden of civil war restrictions on 341,000 more Malayans. He widened Malaya's "white zones," further limiting the area ruled under severe emergency measures instituted to cope with the rebellion of Communist-led guerrillas.

WI Donates Quilt To Victims Of Fire

FENELLA (ENS) — The Women's Institute met in the hall with 17 members and four visitors present.

A letter regarding the conference for branch presidents to be held at Guelph was discussed by Mrs. Bart. Thackeray, district president.

The March meeting will be an open meeting in the hall, followed by a card party and sale of home made candy.

It was decided to donate a quilt to Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Baptist and family who lost their home by fire. A quilting will be held in the hall March 4.

Mrs. J. Waldie, president, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. B. Thackeray, district president, Roseneath. Mrs. Eric Sandercock moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Thackeray.

Program conveners, Mrs. E. Sandercock and Mrs. A. Pollard, presented the following numbers: paper "Community Activities and Public Relations," Mrs. Ross Macklin; piano solo, Mrs. F. Down; contest, Mrs. Pollard; community singing.

Lunch was served.

BREALEY'S SCHOOL, a new two-room school serving 60 rural children in North Monaghan township, was officially opened Friday night by the Hon. Harold Scott. It replaces the old school, built at the corners about 100 years ago. School trustees C. W. Laing, Henry Batten, George Whitfield and Elwood Johnston (left to right, top), discuss the opening program with secretary A. Bernard Preston (centre, top). Two former pupils, guest speaker John Londerville (lower centre), master at the Peterborough Teachers' College, and Miss Clara Dobbin (right), also a former Brealey's teacher, chat with Mrs. Mildred Batten, one of the school's present teachers.

Brealey's School Acclaimed As Credit To Community

They hacked, they hewed, they slogged—for what? The fulfilment of a vision. The vision of a prosperous settlement where the children of tomorrow, and the next day, could grow up amidst an atmosphere of security and faith. So what did they do, these forefathers of Peterborough? They built churches and schools, houses and farms. They did not live to see the fulfilment of that dream, but we have.

In North Monaghan Friday night, the Hon. Harold Scott officially opened Brealey's school, the second to be built in that district in 100 years. A very modern structure, admittedly with only two rooms, but a far cry from the hopes of the pioneers. It will serve as a learning centre for more than 60 rural children. Alongside the new building stands the small brick school house that has served that section of North Monaghan for more than 100 years. It is now being used for manual training.

A master at the Peterborough Teachers' College and a former pupil at Brealey's, John Londerville was guest speaker.

He congratulated the school board, the officers and the district for their achievement. A school to be proud of, Brealey's was a credit to the community and an admirable centre of learning for the district's youth.

But there was more to the education of children than a fine school and equipment, he said. Education should teach youngsters how to think accurately, express themselves accurately and to work diligently alone, and with others.

HUMAN RELATIONS

"Within the past 100 years the science of human relations has developed too slowly," continued the speaker. "We must develop an attitude towards God in our standards of work. That must be the spiritual cornerstone of any school."

Everyone had to remember that they were involved in mankind. "Jesus said, "Thou must love thy neighbor as thyself' — that means the kind of love in which you and your neighbor share equally.

"I urge you to covet faith of mutuality," he continued. "Without this there can be no success for mankind."

Public schools inspector Major E. C. Anderson, who acted as chairman, also congratulated all those who had contributed towards the building of the school. Not only was it a step forward for North Monaghan, but also another step in the advancement of Peterborough. He considered that the churches and schools, often built within sight of one another, went together in the education of the country's youth.

UNPAID OFFICERS

Major Anderson thought that many people did not realise the sacrifices that were made by unpaid officers in works such as Brealey's school. Everywhere these new schools were going up to try and keep pace with Canada's growing population.

In 1953, Ontario's school population had increased by 58,000.

"We can count on a 60,000 increase per year for some time to come," he added.

The fact that the school had been built for something less than $27,000 was a credit to the builder, Denton Johnston, and to board members.

Other speakers were Mr. K. O. Birkin, public school inspector, Willard Waterman, county warden, Dick Batten, Joseph Doyle, Melville Johnston, the Rev. M. Hayslip and Leo Copp, principal of the Teachers' College.

DEDICATED SCHOOL

The Rev. A. E. Larke led the devotional and dedicational prayers.

Two vocal numbers were given by Ross Cotton, with Walter Morrow at the piano.

At the conclusion of the official ceremony, guests, who filled the school, were treated to lunch and given the opportunity to look over the new building.

Built a few yards away from the 100-year-old former school, the new Brealey's is a single-storied structure with a maximum of windows for natural lighting. A central hall gives access to both school rooms. Also in the building are a teachers' room and boiler room.

At present, more than 60 pupils are attending the school, but with the increasing development of the district, it is considered that another room may be necessary in the not too distant future.

DESIGN 120—Architect M. G. Dixon, of Ottawa, designed this bungalow which features a large and attractive living room. The fireplace and corner window arrangement help to provide a bright and cheerful atmosphere in the room. A handy sliding table may be used in the kitchen or slid through the partition to convert part of the living room into a dining area. The exterior dimensions of the house are 31 feet, four inches, by 27 feet, eight inches. The floor area is 804 square feet while the cubic measurement is 16,480 cubic fet. Working drawings may be obtained from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

Bird Of Bad Omen Seen Hovering Around Ottawa

By WALTER GRAY

TORONTO (CP)—The bohemian waxwing, a rare species of bird, considered in European countries as a bad omen, a forerunner of severe weather conditions and political upheaval, has been spotted in Ottawa.

Dr. William W. H. Gunn, secretary of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists, says four of the birds, normally found in the Siberian wastelands and the Pacific Northwest, were located on the Dominion experimental farm outside Ottawa recently.

Dr. Gunn said it was curious to note that the waxwing arrived in Berlin just at the time of the Big Four conference of foreign ministers and just prior to a series of freezing storms that lashed most of Europe.

UNUSUAL EVENT

He said the reporting of waxwings this far east in Canada has practically been unheard of.

The bird is usually a polar migrator. He offered no explanation for their arrival in Ottawa.

Some migratory birds which stayed behind in southern Ontario last fall due to the unusually warm weather are finding things difficult this winter, says Dr. Gunn.

The bodies of several mourning doves have been found in the Brantford and St. Thomas areas.

James L. Baillie, assistant director of ornithology at the Ontario Museum, said mourning doves were also wintering at Port Credit.

"How they have survived I don't know," he said. The dove normally feeds on roots and seeds.

TARDY MIGRANTS.

Cowbirds and towhees have been seen near Brantford and St. Thomas.

Flocks of meadowlarks, which usually migrate to the southeastern United States, remained in the London, St. Thomas, Hamilton and Toronto areas. Insect-eating birds, the larks have been foraging around farms.

The fox sparrow, pileated woodpecker and the kingfisher were seen in the Toronto district.

A sudden decrease in lemmings, a small mouse found in the Arctic barrens, has brought the snowy owl down from the frozen northland to the warmer climes of southern Ontario.

The northern shrike, a northern Ontario habitant, has been spotted in large numbers along county roads. A predator, the northern shrike feeds on small birds and mice.

Says Gallery Has Great Deal Of Phony Art

WINNIPEG (CP)—The people of Winnipeg have been told that their art gallery's permanent collection contains "nothing really worthwhile" and includes "a great deal of phony art."

Who says so? Dr. Ferdinand Eckhart, Winnipeg Art Gallery director.

"There is nothing—not a single painting—in our permanent collection that has any international importance whatever," he told a meeting of the women's committee of the gallery Thursday.

Elaborating in an interview, he said: "I am sorry to have to make this statement, but I feel the people must know that the collection is not what they have fondly thought and hoped it to be."

GOT RAW DEAL

Much of the gallery's permanent collection is made up of paintings contributed by Winnipeg art lovers. The art expert from Vienna says they got a raw deal from the dealers.

Winnipegers have paid a lot of money for these things," said Dr. Eckhardt. "It is hard to tell them they have been imposed upon by dealers. But such is the case. Dealers have told stories to our citizens and sold them unknowns for the genuine.

"It is a tragedy that this should have happened for sincere effort and good money have gone to acquiring unworthy art."

Dr. Eckhardt came to Winnipeg last October from Vienna, where he was director of educational development at the Austrian State Art Galleries.

Electric Supply In New Quarters

Kesco Electric Supply Limited are now in their new premises at 387 George St., South, in the building formerly occupied by the Outboard, Marine and Manufacturing Company. Many weeks of work under Roy Locke as general contractor, and a considerable expenditure has transformed the factory building into an up-to-date and carefully designed warehouse with showrooms, offices and ample space for the very large and various stock which now-a-days must be carried to conduct the business of a wholesale electrical distributor and jobber.

Such a stock must consist not only of the materials required by electrical contractors in the building and maintenance of homes, stores, industries, schools, etc., but also of electric motors and control aparatus for the farm and factory. The handsome showroom is largely given over to the display of electrical fixtures of all types, industrial, commercial and domestic, and also to show a very comprehensive line of household appliances.

The business known as Kesco Electric, was an off-shoot of the firm of Grant & Loucks Company Ltd. It was the wholesale department of that company, the stock of which was purchased last year by a small group of men engaged in the electrical wholesale business in Toronto. They disposed of the retail and contracting departments of Grant & Loucks, and applied for and have been granted permission to change from that name to Kesco Electric Supply Limited, by which name the company is now known. There has been practically no change in the staff which is essentially the same as was in Kesco Electric.

4,000 Pounds Supplies Given To Koreans

PUSAN, Korea (CP) — The Royal Canadian Navy has turned over 4,000 pounds of clothing and other relief supplies to the Korean civil assistance command.

The shipment was the first of an estimated eight tons of supplies —mostly clothing—collected by the Halifax Junior Board of Trade and destined for distribution to South Korean refugees in the Pusan area.

Lt.-Cmdr. Budd E. Smith of Brighton, Ont., Canadian navy liaison officer in Japan, presented the first shipment on behalf of the Halifax board at a brief ceremony here.

No Private Seaway Pact

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada and the United States have no "private agreement" on the St. Lawrence seaway project, Acting Prime Minister Howe said Friday.

He was replying in the Commons to a request from Opposition Leader Drew for comment on a press report that—as Mr. Drew put it—"There was an undisclosed agreement not to press for the joint development of the seaway in consideration of the advancement of the joint development of the hydro-electric plants on the St. Lawrence."

(There are two plans for developing navigation facilities on the international section of the river. One is an all-Canadian seaway, and the other is a joint project with the U.S.)

There was no further amplification in the Commons, but Mr. Drew said later, outside the House, he was referring to an Ottawa report in Thursday's Toronto Globe and Mail.

Cancel BBC Interview After Getting Protest

LONDON (Reuters)—Paul Garland, 19, who was recently ousted from the British Boy Scout movement because he is a Communist, Friday was barred from a radio program after Conservative party protests.

The BBC called off an interview program with Garland two hours before it was scheduled to go on the air. Garland and a Scout official were to state their opposing views.

Unfounded Beliefs About Lumber

Because in some instances persons are prejudiced against the use of timber cut from dead trees, it is customary for individuals to specify that only timber cut from live trees will be accepted. It is true, however, that when sound trees which are dead are sawed into lumber and the weathered or charred outside is cut away, the resulting lumber can not be distinguished from that coming from live trees except in so far as the lumber from dead trees may be somewhat seasoned at the time it is sawed. It must be remembered that the heartwood of a living tree is fully matured and that in the sapwood only a small portion of the cells are in a living condition. As a consequence most of the wood cut from trees is already dead even when the tree itself is considered alive.

For structural purposes, it may be said that lumber cut from fire or insect killed trees is just as good as any other lumber unless wood has been subjected to further decay or insect attack.

DRY-ROT

Loosely used, the term "dry-rot" is applied to any type of dry crumbly rot and includes under these circumstances all types of brown decay in wood. The pathologist uses the term "dry-rot" in the limited sense as it applies to the work of certain decay fungi which are frequently found growing in timber where they appear to have access to no moisture. Deday fungi will not grow in perfectly dry wood and no material decay need be expected in wood used under shelter and maintained in a normal air-dry condition. With moist wood the fungi are able to penetrate amazingly long distances because they extend their water-supply system by means of slender, minute, porous strands. Fungi of other kinds produce a rot not unlike dry-rot, but brown or yellow in color. The wood in an advanced state is shrunken, and in some places the cracks are filled with a white soggy mass, the wood itself being brittle, friable, and easily crushed into powder.

VIRGIN AND SECOND GROWTH

Occasionally an order calls for lumber of either virgin growth or second growth. The terms, however, are without significance, as an individual can not tell one type from another when they are delivered.

The virgin growth, which is also called old growth or first growth, refers to timber which grows in the forest along with many other trees, and therefore has suffered the consequence of the fight for sunlight and moisture.

The second growth is considered as that timber which grows up with less of the competition for sunlight and moisture which characterizes first-growth timber.

Because of environment, the virgin growth is usually thought of as wood of slow-growing type, whereas the second growth is considered as of relatively rapid growth, evideneed by wider annual rings. In such hardwoods as ash, hickory, elm and oak these wider annual rings are supposed to indicate stronger and tougher wood, whereas in the conifers such as pine and fir, this condition is supposed to result in a weaker and brashier wood. For this reason, where strength and toughness are desired, the second growth is preferred among hardwoods, and virgin growth is desired in conifers. Because of the variety of conditions under which both virgin and second growth timbers grow, because virgin growth may have the characteristics of second growth, and because second growth may have the characteristics of virgin timber, it is advisable in judging the strength of wood to rely upon its density and rate of growth rather than upon its being either virgin growth or second growth.

TIME OF CUTTING TIMBER

The time when timber is cut has very little to do with its durability or other desirable properties, if, after it is cut, it is cared for properly. Timber cut in the late spirng, however, or early summer is more likely to be attacked by insects and fungi. In addition, seasoning will proceed much more rapidly during the summer months; and, therefore, will result in checking, unless the lumber is shaded from the intense sunlight. It is stated that there is practically no difference in the moisture content in green lumber, either during the summer or winter.

AIR-DRIED AND KILN-DRIED

There is a prevailing misapprehension that air-dried lumber is stronger or better than kiln-dried lumber. Exhaustive tests have conclusively shown that good kiln-dried lumber and good air-dried lumber have exactly the same strength. Wood increases in strength with the elimination of moisture content. This may account for the claim that kiln-dried lumber is stronger than air-dried lumber. This has little significance, because in use wood will come to practically the same moisture content whether it has been kiln-dried or air-dried.

The same kiln-drying process cannot be applied to all species of wood. Consequently it must be remembered that lack of certain strength properties in wood may be due to improper kiln-drying. Similar damage also may result from air seasoning under unsuitable conditions.

SAPWOOD VERSUS HEARTWOOD

The belief is common that in some species the heartwood is stronger than the sapwood and that the reverse is the case in such species as hickory and ash. Tests have shown conclusively that neither is the case, and that sapwood is not necessarily stronger than heartwood or heartwood stronger than sapwood, but that density rather than other factors makes the difference in strength. In trees that are mature the sapwood is frequently weaker, whereas in young trees the sapwood may be stronger. Density, proportion of spring and summer wood, then must be the basis of consideration of strength rather than whether the wood be sapwood or heartwood.

Under unfavorable conditions the sapwood of most species is more subject to decay than the heartwood.

BLUE STAIN

In the sapwood of many species of both softwoods and hardwoods there often develops a blueish-black discolouration known as blue stain. It does not indicate an early stage of decay, nor does it have any practicable effect on the strength of the wood.

Blue stain is caused by a fungus growth in unseasoned lumber. Although objectionable where appearance is of importance, as in unpainted sash or trim, blue stain need cause no concern for framing lumber. Precaution should be taken, however, to make sure that no decay fungus is present with the blue stain.

Brockville Entry Opens Festival

BROCKVILLE (CP) — The Brockville Theatre Guild's entry of "The Corn is Green" will be the opening production of the nine plays to be presented at the week-long Eastern Ontario Drama Festival here beginning Feb. 22. The festival was also held here in 1949.

"Playboy of the Western World" will be presented by the Dominion Theatre Company of Kingston Tuesday night and "Miranda" by the Cobourg Opera and Drama Company Wednesday.

Also scheduled are "The Curious Savage" by the Gateway Club of the Brockville Theatre Guild Feb. 25; "Blood Wedding" by the Ottawa Saturday Players Feb. 26; three one-act plays on Saturday afternoon Feb. 27—"Blood" by the Ottawa Little Theatre Workshop group; "The Rose and Crown" by the Play for Fun group of Kemptville and "Fumed Oak" by the Belleville Theatre Guild. The final play will be "Gigi" by the Ottawa Little Theatre Saturday night.

Graham Suter, British actor and producer, will be the adjudicator and will present the Calvert Regional trophy for the best play.

Send Money To Graham

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Inter - Denominational Committee of the Billy Graham campaign has sent a cheque for $26,500 to the Billy Graham crusade in London, England, Dr. E. Crossley Hunter, chairman of the Toronto committee, said Thursday. The money was raised during the evangelist's three appearances in Toronto last month.

Frost Objects To Hansard 'Inaccuracies'

TORONTO (CP) — Premier Frost, Friday objected to the "terrific inaccuracies" in Hansard, the official record of the Ontario legislature.

The premier joined with opposition leader Farquhar Oliver who criticized the report which he said deleted certain passages of a debate on the public accounts committee last Monday.

"If we are going to have it, let's have it down correctly," the premier said. "I never was enthusiastic over Hansard anyway."

DOESN'T RECOGNIZE IT

Mr. Frost said he "didn't recognize" the transcription of the debate on the accounts committee.

W. E. Hamilton, minister without portfolio, suggested the possibility of having the proceedings tape recorded.

Speaker Davies said the question was being investigated but no decision had been reached.

Hansard was introduced in the legislature in 1944 by George Drew when he took over as Conservative premier.

The ontario contract is held by Ralph Sturgeon, whose staff takes down a verbatum shorthand report in 20-minute shifts.

How to KEEP FIT after 50

In the old days fifty seemed the signal to slow down—take things easy—watch your diet—get more rest. It's still good advice. But these days you can face fifty with many interesting and active years ahead,—active, that is, if you can avoid backache and the "tired-out" feeling, due to kidney and bladder disorders, that often develop around that age. For more than 60 years Dodd's Kidney Pills have been helping men and women of all ages to keep kidneys and bladder in good order,—helping them to feel better, to work better, and get more fun out of life. If you are approaching fifty, or past it, Dodd's Kidney Pills may help you, too. You can depend on Dodd's. 54

Louvered Windows Convert Porch to Room

By MR. FIX

Jalousie windows have won popularity in all parts of the country for their many unique, convenient features, not the least of them being that handy home owners can install the units themselves.

They are ideally suited for converting breezeways, roofed terraces and screened porches into rooms, but their applications extend to any room in the house.

Here are a few of their features:

Inside and outside glass surfaces can be cleaned from indoors simply by rotating the louvres; broken panes can be replaced by just slipping them into place, no putty needed; glass of any color can be inserted as louvres, or steel, wood, plastic or composition materials can be used in place of glass; units can be made to fit almost any size of opening.

Louvres are opened and closed by turning a crank, or by moving a lever up and down, and can be locked in any partially opened position. They are so easily installed that in many cases they cost less than ordinary windows. This is how [illegible] or new window fittings to match. If there is no stock fitting equal to the opening in height, two smaller fittings may be mounted one on top of the other or one set of fittings cut down to size.

Width of the opening is important only in that it should not exceed 40 inches. If it exceeds 40 inches the opening should be divided into two or more sections by mounting window fittings back-to-back and bolting them together or by installing wooden mullions (vertical uprights) to section off the opening.

Fittings mounted back-to-back (without wooden mullions) need to be held rigid where they meet top and bottom of the framed opening. Small boxlike metal spacers are first screwed to the frame at those two points then the fittings are slipped over them and fastened together. Spacers are ordered from your window dealer.

Fittings need to be installed square with the opening and plumb. To fasten them to wooden mullions use 1-inch or longer wood screws or rust-proofed nails.

For a seal at top and sill of the opening install ¾-inch horizontal [illegible] put.

When installing the sash fittings, check on which side of the opening the manufacturer advises placing the operating handle.

Order glass of proper length to extend between fittings. Long edges of glass should be roughed with a soft stone held at 45-degree angle to remove sharpness, then install. Difficult operation of window may be caused by glass being too long or uprights not vertical or parallel. Relieve this by shortening the glass, screwing fitting tighter into the uprights or by repositioning it carefully.

LOUVRED-WINDOW units can be bolted together, cut down or added to in order to fit almost any size of window opening.

The Movie Column

Still Confused About Word "Supporting"

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)— Random notes on the academy nominations:

The classification of "supporting actor" remains as confused as ever. The height of confusion was reached in 1944, when Barry Fitzgerald was nominated both as star and supporting player in "Going My Way."

There was a big clamor to clarify the question of when an actor stops being merely a support and becomes the star of the picture. This yardstick was offered: If a performer's name is billed above the title of the picture, he is a star. Yet Frank Sinatra and Donna Reed had star billing in "From Here to Eternity," and both were nominated in the supporting category.

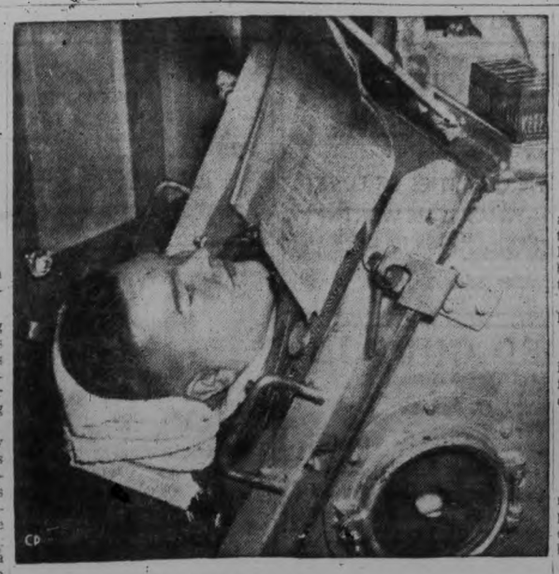
On the other hand, Victor Mature played a definitely supporting role in "The Robe," yet he was classified as a star in the voting. That's why he didn't get a mention. He would have been a cinch for a nomination in the supporting classification.

It looks like another absentee year among the top winners. Last year Shirley Booth got her Oscar in New York and Gary Cooper was in Mexico. This year Leslie Caron, Audrey Hepburn and Deborah Kerr are all in plays in the east. Ava Gardner is making a film in Europe.

William Holden may be the only star nominee present. Of the other males, Burt Lancaster will be making a movie in Mexico, and Richard Burton is playing on the stage in England. Montgomery Clift will probably remain in New York, and Marlon Brando—well, your guess is as good as 20th Century-Fox's. The studio has been looking for him for weeks.

The revised versions of "Little Caesar" (1930) and "Public Enemy" (1931) are a hit on the reissue circuit. They have been given an "objectionable in part" classification by the Roman Catholic Legion of Decency, but have not been condemned.

"Little Caesar" was cited for "excessive brutality, methods of crime minutely detailed and low moral tone." "Public enemy" was found objectionable for "low moral tone, suggestive sequences and excessive brutality."



16 YEARS IN IRON LUNG—Kalevi Oksanen, 23, of Port Arthur, stricken with bulbar poliomyelitis when he was seven has spent the rest of his life in an iron lung in hospital. He is believed the oldest living respirator patient in Canada who contracted the disease during the 1938 epidemic. He is shown reading from a magazine pinned up on the wall of the lung. Oksanen says he hopes somebody will give him an automatic page turner "which would be a wonderful thing to have." (CP Photo)

16 Years In Iron Lung Never Had Cold Or Bed Sore

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. (CP)—For 16 years Kalevi Oksanen has looked at life through the five-inch mirror attached to his iron lung.

Confined to the isolation hospital here since he was stricken with bulbar polio at seven, the 23-year-old man is virtually helpless. His confinement is a record for Canada, polio authorities report.

He lies encased in the lung, except for a 10-minute period daily when it is thrown open and he breathes under his own power.

Despite this, Kalevi, of Finnish-Canadian extraction has educated himself, reads widely and has a keen interest in the world around him.

A WAY OF LIFE

He has evolved a philosophy of life, usually associated with those of mature years and deep understanding.

Kalevi's lung is a way of life, forcing him to eat and talk and even think to its rhythm. Sometimes his voice becomes heavy and compressed under the machine's force, then he slows his words to harmonize.

Books and magazines are pinned on the wall of the lung before his eyes. Piled on his dressing table are books indicating his keen interest in politics, science and religion. Beside him is his well-worn Bible from which he can quote passages by heart.

From his lung Kalevi verbally blasts those who deny the existence of God.

"Atheists," he says, "are sadly misled for they deny the evidence before them. I remember reading when I was being confirmed in the Lutheran Church that 'every house has its builder.' Those who do not believe that are so wrong."

DEVOTED NURSE

A story of devotion and patience itself could be told by his nurse, Mary Leighton who has cared for him through the 16 years. Miss Leighton, now superintendent of the hospital, calls herself his second mother.

"He is like my own child," she says, "we have been together for so many years."

A tribute to her care, Kalevi has never had a cold or a bed sore during his 16 years in the lung. She supervises all his nursing care.

Alevi speaks both English and Finnish free of accent and easily slips from one tongue to the other in conversation. His parents, who came to Canada in 1927, taught him the Finnish language at home before he contracted polio during the 1938 epidemic.

He was instructed for several years at the hospital reading and general school subjects. Since then he has educated himself reading books of every description.

A favorite pastime is to argue politics or the work of the United Nations with his visitors. The topics which interest him most now he says are world politics, the United Nations, television and science, particularly nuclear physics.

Hospital authorities soon hope to place Kalevi in a new streamlined type of iron lung, for greater comfort.

St. Michael's Choir Boys Making Good In New York Night Clubs

By BILL HARCOURT

NEW YORK (CP)—Forty 'teen-aged girls sat around a horseshoe table in a New York restaurant. Flash cameras were loaded. Forty bright pairs of eyes kept watching the door.

What were they waiting for? Boys, obviously.

But not 40 boys. Only four.

And when The Four Lads walked in, excitement burst in cheers, flash bulbs popped, cries of welcome rang.

"Connie" (Codarini)!

"Bernie" (Toorish)!

"Jimmy" (Arnold)!

"Frankie" (Busseri)!

"Girls," replied the four young men from Toronto who parlayed perfect pitch and cathedral choir experience into success in show business.

The party, thrown for the quartet by presidents of Four Lads fan clubs in the New York City area, represented one facet of that success.

UNAFFECTED BY SUCCESS

And the lads' ease and naturalness that afternoon showed that success has not affected them. Only in age and experience are they different from the youngsters who learned solfeggio, harmony and counterpoint under the direction of Msgr. J. E. Ronan of Toronto St. Michael's cathedral choir school.

Codarini says "Our biggest break in music was getting into the choir school."

Nor has that choir training been forgotten. One Sunday last November The Four Lads—who now do most of their singing in night clubs, theatres and recording studios—sang the High Mass at St. Ignatius church in Newton, Mass., using Msgr. Ronan's arrangements.

The harmony that won them success comes from four individualists. But dark and handsome Codarini, the quartet's announcer and bass and generally their spokesman, emphasizes that professionally they're a group.

"There must be four of us if we're to have a future. Together we've already gone farther than we ever hoped.

"There's no such thing as individual pictures of the Four Lads. Our autograph is 'The Four Lads.'"

WROTE TWO FAVORITES

Toorish, second tenor and arranger, fair-haired and Irish, wrote two of the songs the lads recorded: "Turn Back" and "Down by the Riverside." The latter has sold more than 250,000 copies.

The biggest success to date is their recording of "Istanbul" which may sell 1,000,000 copies and which tells anyone who didn't know that the capital of Turkey these days is Istanbul, not Constantinople.

The long road to Istanbul started in the fall of 1951 when the Golden Gate Quartet played Toronto. The Lads, who then sang mostly spirituals, so impressed one of the quartet that he advised his manager, Michael Stewart. Stewart brought the lads to New York and became their manager.

Their first "big time" engagement—two weeks at New York's Ruban Bleu—extended into 30 weeks. From there the lads went on a night club tour and on the way sang with Johnny Ray in the two records that made him famous: "Cry" and "The Little White Cloud That Cried."

From then on making records became a large part of the Lads' career. Their latest, cut with Jill Corey, "Cleo and Meo" and "Do You Know What Lips Are For?," looks like another success.

RECORDING STARS—The "Four Lads," a quartet of former choir singers from Msgr. J. E. Ronan's famed Cathedral School in Toronto, are doing well in the big-time theatrical circles in the United States. They made some of their first records with Johnny Ray, the celebrated "Cry" singer and went on to fame in their own right appearing in radio, stage, night clubs and television. Left to right: Jimmy Arnold, Connie Codarini, Frank Busseri and Bernie Toorish. (CP Photo)

Advises Clergy Study Technique On Radio

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP)—Serious study of radio technique by clergymen is advocated by the Rev. H. N. Burgess, minister of St. Paul's United church here, who says that up to now "religious broadcasting in Canada has not been entirely successful."

Mr. Burgess, who has been connected with religious broadcasting for several years, described radio as one of God's finest gifts to mankind, providing a means of reaching Christians who never attend church services.

Radio religion, he said in an address here, should be aimed towards persons who have drifted away from the church.

RADIO STYLE

"Listeners to a regular Sunday service broadcast from a church are eavesdropping on what was intended for the congregation," he said. "Busy housewives have no time to listen to a sermon from the radio. The style that should be cultivated is friendly and conversational."

Outlining types of programs that would prove interesting to the average radio listener, he said good religious music had wide appeal, and religious stories would make excellent dramatizations. Work done in this direction by the United Church included recording of 128 hymns for broadcasting, he said.

RELIGION HAS PLACE

As far as television is concerned, Mr. Burgess said "If beer and beans have a right on television, so has religion."

Expense of televising programs is beyond the means of the church, he said. He did not like the idea of a commercial product sponsoring church programs, but would favor the idea if it proved the only way of putting religion regularly on Canadian television screens.

Crescent City Now Marked By A Cairn

YORKTON (CP)—Only a cairn now marks the spot of Crescent City—Saskatchewan's so-called lost city—18 miles south of here.

Two years ago Alex Phelps, son of one of the early pioneers, filled in the hollow basements and with a plow erased the last vestige of Crescent City.

What is known about the lost city comes from a 32-page book prepared in 1933 by the late Olive Phelps, wife of Alex Phelps.

The name of Crescent City, said to have been chosen because of nearby Crescent lake, was born in 1882 in the minds of a group of Toronto business men who formed the then Saskatchewan Land and Homestead Company.

With the Canadian Pacific Railways stretching west from Winnipeg, the group pictured Crescent City as a big community some 50 miles north of Broadview.

The majority of settlers spent their first winter in tents. In the fall of 1886 a fire swept the district and the town's sawmill was razed.

When the Manitoba and Western reached Langenburg in 1886, freighting began from that point. During the next four years many settlers moved to their homesteads or to the small towns which sprang up as the railway moved westward.

In 1891, the store and Queen's Hotel were burned. The few residents left moved to farms and the visions of a city faded.

Copyright Issue Under Review

OTTAWA (CP)—The question of what powers Parliament gave the copyright appeal board to establish fees for performances of copyright music rests with the Supreme Court of Canada.

The court Friday reserved judgment in a test case designed to answer this question. Maple Leaf Broadcasting Company, operators of radio station CHML, Hamilton, Ont., raised the problem in appealing a $500-damages award by the Exchequer Court of Canada to the Composers, Authors and Publishers Association of Canada.

Maple Leaf, on behalf of fellow-members of the Canadian Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters, and CAPAC agreed that the damage action should serve as a test of the powers given the three-man copyright board to set annual performance fees.

Maple Leaf claims the copyright board had no legal power in 1952 to change the method of calculating fees from a fixed amount to a percentage of the station's gross revenues. CAPAC claims the board had this power.

Predict Rockets Travel At 7,500 MPH

LONDON (AP)—Rockets of the future carrying passengers from Moscow to Peiping in 30 minutes at speeds of 7,500 miles an hour were described today by a Soviet space scientist, Moscow radio reported.

The broadcast said engineer A. Sternfeld, international prize winner of interplanetary travel, told the astro-navigational section of the Chkalov Aero Club in a paper about "the use of earth-to-earth passenger-carrying rockets."

"Taking the Peiping - Moscow route as an example," the broadcast added, "he described how the take-off, flight and landing of the passenger rocket would take place. The rocket would be capable of covering the distance of 6,000 kilometres (3,728 miles) in only half an hour."

Unmarried Mothers Posing Problem

SUDBURY (CP)—D. B. Fenny, superintendent of the Sudbury and district Children's Aid Society, said Thursday night the number of unmarried mothers under 16 in this district is "alarming."

He told the society the number has shown a "terrific" increase in the last year.

Three cases involving girls under 16 had come to his attention in the last three weeks.

"One of the girls involved was only 14 years old," he said.

Mr. Fenny said the society has been handicapped in its efforts to take criminal action against the men involved.

Twenty-seven children were placed for adoption in the city and district in January, but demands for children still exceeded the supply.

Sentenced For Escape

BRAMPTON (CP) — Three youths who escaped from the Ontario boys' training school here were sentenced Friday to three months in addition to their present terms. They are Edmond Green, 18, of Huntsville; William Fero, 18, of Port Arthur; and Rene Desmartaux, 20, of Montreal.

Magistrate Reduces Drunk Driving Charge

TORONTO (CP) — Magistrate O. M. Martin Friday reduced a charge of drunk driving to one of driving while impaired and fined Joseph Mosynski, 22, $50 and costs of $10. Police testified that, when arrested, Mosynski was able to stand on one leg and also passed a test involving picking up coins.

Magistrate Martin said all the evidence "pointed to the fact the man was not completely intoxicated."

(The Canadian Press reported erroneously Friday that Mosynski was asked to pick up coins while standing first on one leg and then the other.)

Bigamous Marriages Annulled For 2 DPs

TORONTO (CP) — Two bigamous marriages involving men who left wives and children behind the Iron Curtain and wedded again were annulled Friday.

In Ontario Supreme Court hearings, Mr. Justice Wilfred Judson declared null and void the church wedding ceremonies that united Elizabeta Marija Kavcic and Johann Reigl, Yugoslavs who met in a displaced persons' camp in Italy and were married in St. Peter's church in Rome, and George Popovich and Amelia Cucin who became acquainted in Toronto.

Louis Herman, counsel for the women, said that in the case of the first couple the "bride" wrote home to her mother in Yugoslavia who checked with a village priest and learned about Reigl's wife and child. Amelia Cucin, six months after the ceremony, found among her husband's belongings the certificate of his former marriage in Yugoslavia.

The original marriage documents of both Reigl and Popovich were produced in court.

Potato Growers Form New Association

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario potato growers have formed the Ontario Potato Growers' Association with the aim of promoting a regulated marketing program and improving grade and quality.

Officers of the new association: President, Harold Willan, Leamington; vice-president, Clare Leach, Alliston; secretary-treasurer, R. E. Goodin, Toronto; executive committee, Clifford Smith, Ridgetown; William Rutledge, Shelburne; Morris Darby, Waverly.

MERCY IN CLEVELAND—Sally Ann Settlemyer, 9, smiles from her hospital bed at Cleveland where she is recovering from wounds suffered when Toughy (right), a St. Bernard, bit and clawed her. The owner of Toughy, Sally's aunt, wanted to have the dog destroyed after he attacked the girl apparently in a fit of jealousy. Sally protested saying "I don't want Toughy to die." The girl's wish was granted and Toughy will live.

It Could Not Happen Here

By REV. A. C. FORREST

The other day the newspapers featured a story about the predicament of some 24 couples in New Jersey who had been married by a Presbyterian student pastor, who had been performing marriages for the past six years without proper authority. The lad apparently thought that he had the right to marry members of his flock although he had never been ordained nor licensed. They have now made an application to the New Jersey legislature to pass a special bill to make their "marriages" legal and regular.

There have been many precedents for this sort of thing. One of the most notable concerned a former president of the United States, and I believe the old duel was fought over some lady's honor being besmirched, by the suggestion that her marriage was technically improper.

One of the things which always impresses me is that when this happens, the couples discovering that they are legally free, almost without exception rush off desperately to have the knot tied. That should mean something or other to the pessimists who are always speaking about the breakdown of the modern home, etc.

ONTARIO ACT

The most striking thing about it, however, is that there are some places where what has happened in New Jersey just couldn't happen, and there is no reason I can think of why every marriage act shouldn't have protection for well-meaning people against the ignorance of some amateur minister. Ontario, for example, has a clause in the marriage act which states:

"If the parties to a marriage solemnized in good faith . . . have lived together and cohabited as man and wife, such marriage shall be deemed a valid marriage, notwithstanding that the person who solemnized the marriage was not authorized to solemnize marriage, and notwithstanding the absence of or any irregularity or insufficiency in the publication of banns or the issue of the license or special permit."

That protects sincere people, and puts the responsibility where it belongs, on the person performing the marriage ceremony.

Not that this is apt to happen very often, but it is sometimes a wonder to me that in this field where the religious and civil matters are intertwined there aren't more difficulties.

I used to know an elderly man who, in his youth, had been a lay preacher. Then he became a carpenter and one of his sons entered the ministry in the United States. When he was in his seventies he went down to visit his son, and somewhere in the Kentucky hills he took to preaching again. One of the small evangelical groups ordained him and he called himself Reverend. He returned to Canada and took pride in going about with a clerical collar and calling on old friends. He did some supply preaching in small churches, and was certainly ready and willing to marry anyone who came along. I was able to help him keep out of difficulties by explaining that he could not legally perform marriages in Ontario until he applied for and received authority from the Provincial Secretary to do so. His application would have been rejected, for his sect was not recognized here.

But if, in his misguided enthusiasm, he had married some well-meaning couple, and they had lived together believing they had complied with the laws, their marriage would have been a legal and valid marriage.

That isn't so in all of Canada, however. Each province makes its own laws in this respect, and some of them need to be amended. Ontario has recently amended its marriage act. Newfoundland and Saskatchewan are in the process of doing so now. Quebec passed certain amendments in 1940, but for Protestant ministers there are still some matters in Quebec which must be closely watched, or they can make a mistake. There is no civil marriage there. In Quebec one of the sentences in the act which some people feel dates back to frontier days reads:

NULLIFICATION EASIER

"A man cannot contract marriage before the age of 14 years, nor a woman before the age of 12 years." Not that I expect there are many 12-year-olds married in Quebec, but I wonder if an official act should even suggest that that could be considered a minimum proper age. There is more provision in the Quebec act for annullment than in Ontario. Divorce may be harder, but nullification is easier.

This business of marrying is one of the few places where a clergyman acts as both a servant of the state (unpaid) and a minister of the church. Today, when there is so much emphasis on preparation and training for the serious business of marriage, all the churches are urging their ministers and priests to give this phase of their work considerable attention.

But there are ministers to whom many strangers come, license from the state in hand, asking to be joned. They may hesitate to inflict themselves as ministers upon persons looking for a civil servant. In provinces where there is a civil ceremony this is not as apt to occur.

In the long run, the heavy responsibility does fall on church and minister. At the same time it has to be remembered that civil authorities as well as clergymen have a lot of responsibility. It is obvious that in New Jersey the student pastor was in error. But there is something wrong with the New Jersey regulations when that error is possible. Provinces which have not reviewed nor amended their marriage acts in recent decades are apt to carry regulations which are obsolete, and rules which make the work of the minister more difficult in this difficult field.

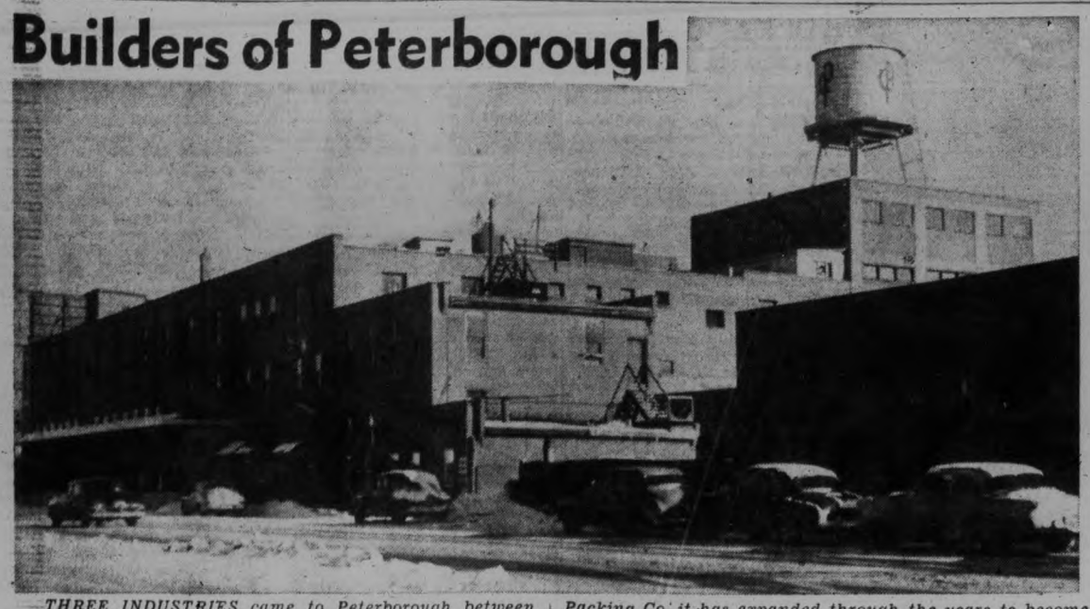
Builders of Peterborough



THREE INDUSTRIES came to Peterborough between 1878 and 1885 and one of these is what is known today as Canada Packers Ltd. Starting in 1882 as Matthews Packing Co. it has expanded through the years to become one of the major meat packing houses in Canada.

—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Meat-Packing Plant Started 1882

Three Generations Matthews' Family Headed Industry

Peterborough probably looks upon its branch of Canada Packers Limited as essentially unchanged for all its 72 years of continuous production since the business was begun by George Matthews.

That casual impression has become fixed from the actual fact that smoked hams and rashers of bacon, tenderloin and pork chops, look and taste much the same as they did in 1882. Those sources of protein were just as common and necessary in the health maintaining diet of long ago as they are today, although such terms as protein and vitamin are only of recent coining.

But, the packing industry has had its own share of drama in the development of new mechanical and technical efficiencies, and particularly as the source of supply of such life-extending glandular end products as insulin, ACHT, thryoxine, adrenaline and others in that comparatively new category of discovery by expert chemists.

Just a reminder of that phase of the modern packing business as a handmaiden of medicine and in therapeutics points to the wide field of its present service and usefulness.

OPENED IN 1882

George Matthews was literally a packer and curer of pork. It was a simple industry when he opened his newly constructed plant that November day in 1882. He had come to Peterborough from Lindsay to establish himself here. Part of the outline of that first building is traceable today in the expanded front wall along George St. It was 100 ft. by 52 ft. in three storeys, and its purpose was for the curing and packing of meats.

Packers at that time bought dressed hogs from farmers. Nature took care of most of the freezing process.

Cured meats were imported from the United States, mainly from Cincinnatti. That competition gradually stimulated the first radical changes in the industry. Slaughtering on the premises followed the setting up of abattoir accommodation.

In 1882 the C.P.R. had not reached Peterborough. That expansive event was three years later. Meanwhile, Wolfe St. reached from Aylmer St. to the river. Facilities of transportation were few. In his choice of site, Mr. Matthews probably visualized the extension of his business to the receiving and processing of live hogs, and the advantage of location close to the boat route that was already available.

HOGS BROUGHT ON SCOWS

Eventually, hogs were brought to Peterborough on scows towed by steamers that called at river and Rice Lake wharves. They were bought from farmers of North Monaghan, South Monaghan, Otonabee and the Northumberland townships fronting on the lake. The old wharf at the foot of Wolfe St. still indicates the convenient place of unloading between the plant and the C.P.R.

Gradually the business grew, the plant was enlarged, and three retail stores were closed, relegated into disuse by the increasing volume of business beyond Peterborough, even abroad. They were at the northeast corner of Brock

FATHER AND SON were for more than half a century head of one of Peterborough's major industries and both gave years of public service as members of the utilities commission. T. Frank Matthews, LEFT, was chairman of the old water works commission and later chairman of the first Utilities commission. His term of service was from 1902 to 1920. His son Gordon S. Matthews became a member of the commission in 1926 and was chairman from 1928 to 1953.

Fraser Answers Labor Criticism

Gordon K. Fraser (PC-Peterborough) has replied to a criticism of the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL), saying that he agrees with them that health insurance on a national basis "is becoming more and more essential every day."

The CCF, during debate on the Address from the Throne, proposed an amendment that cut out the words "the welfare of Canada is dependent upon free competition" that were in a previous PC amendmend. They substituted the words ". . . this House regrets that Your Excellency's advisers have failed to recommend legislation establishing a nation-wide health insurance program, with provision for provincial participation."

The PCs joined the Liberals in voting down the CCF's amendment to the amendment, the final tally being 156 against and 36 for.

ASK FOR EXPLANATION

When the labor council heard of Mr. Fraser voting against this CCF move they wrote to him expressing disappointment at his decision; and they asked for an explanation.

"You stated that your council believes that health insurance on a national basis is becoming more and more essential every day," replied Mr. Fraser. "I agree with this last statement 100 per cent. In fact our party has advocated a national health plan on a contributory basis with provision for provincial participation for some years now. It was part of our manifesto at the last election.

"However, voting for the CCF amendment would not in any way help Canada to get a national health plan.

"The truth of the matter is that they took our amendment to the Speech from the Throne and deliberately cut off the final phrase which said that 'the welfare of Canada is dependent upon free competition.' By doing so they placed us in the position where if we had supported their resolution we would have been voting against the free enterprise system."

FAVORS NATIONAL PLAN

Concluded Mr. Fraser:

"Our party is very anxious that the government call the provinces together so that they may come to an understanding on how a national health plan can be achieved.

"You may rest assured that I will fight and work for a national health plan, but it must be on a contributory basis, as the contribution of every individual would be very little and would not affect the taxpayer's take-home pay, as would an out-and-out health plan as advocated by the CCF. The CCF health plan would increase taxes at least 10 per cent."

Cambray Couple 62 Years Wed, Another Pair 61

CAMBRAY (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Spence, residents of this village for many years, celebrated their 62nd wedding anniversary on Wednesday. Two doors distant, their neighbours, Mr. and Mrs. Sam McKinnon, will celebrate their 62nd wedding anniversary next June.

When a Peterborough reporter called on the two couples this week, he found that both Mr. Spence, who will be 88 his next birthday, and Mr. McKinnon, who is 83 past, had a little extra work to do like other menfolk in many parts of the country. The extra work was doing some snow shovelling. The two elderly Cambray men had cleared their walks and driveways of snow just as they have always done following numerous other snowstorms in the past.

Donald Spence is six years older than his wife and they were married in Lindsay, eight miles from Cambray. They farmed for some years following which Mr. Spence operated a general store at Valentia and later at Cambray. He was in the store business for 33 years before retiring two years ago.

40 YEARS, NO ACCIDENT

Mr. Spence has driven automobiles for 40 years without an accident. He and his wife look many years younger and they were widely congratulated this week on reaching their 62nd wedding anniversary. They have two sons, three grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Sam McKinnon has also driven automobiles for 40 years without an accident. When he and his wife farmed in the Cambray district, he also did considerable livestock transporting and he trucked cattle to Toronto livestock markets and to other markets. He and his 87-year-old wife are both active. They have six children and several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Both Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Spence and Mr. and Mrs. Sam McKinnon are friendly couples and good conversationalists. They have no special reasons for still enjoying life at their advanced ages and they have no special reasons for looking and acting like people many years younger. They know they worked hard in earlier years when Mr. Spence farmed and later spent long hours in the store business and when Sam McKinnon farmed and took cattle to markets. And their wives worked, too, in the early days when there were no labor-saving devices such as modern wives have today.

Mr. and Mrs. Spence and Mr. and Mrs. McKinnon live happy lives with their friendly neighbours and are happy and contented in the community they love so well.

Give Hunter 50 Cents In Libel Case

Verdict Indicates Technical Libel: 3 Others Dismissed

A 12-man Peterborough county jury at 4 p.m. Friday brought in a verdict for the plaintiff, Arthur Hunter, business agent for Local 524, UE, in a libel action against Thomas M. Quinn, a CGE worker who lives in Ennismore.

They awarded Hunter 50 cents in damages — an indication that there was a technical libel but the action should not have been undertaken.

The jury, at the same time, found in favor of three other defendants and against Hunter. The action was dismissed against Joe Wirtz, IUE Canadian co-ordinator; Ray Hansen, director of publicity; and Minor J. Shaw, international representative.

In his charge to the jury Friday morning Mr. Justice R. I. Ferguson said that the statement, complained of as libellous, was privileged though the contents were incriminating. The campaign at the CGE between the two unions last April was of common interest to all concerned and therefore more leeway than usual was permitted in the use of harsh language.

INSTRUCTED JURY

Mr. Justice Ferguson instructed the jury on several categories of damages, including an award so small as to indicate there had been a libel, technically speaking, but the action should not have been brought.

The jury apparently followed this interpretation. They brought in their verdict at 4 p.m., four hours after they retired.

In his statement of claim Hunter had asked for a $10,000 award, though no specific amount was asked for during the trial.

Costs of the action will be decided by Mr. Justice Ferguson some time next week.

Hunter started the action after the IUE distributed a leaflet on April 17, 1953, with the heading "Here Is The Proof". It contained a statement by Quinn, a worker in industrial control, who said that a 50-cent checkoff card, authorizing the company to deduct that amount each week from his pay, was a forgery.

Quinn's signed statement also included this paragraph:

"Furthermore, I told Art Hunter, business agent, that it is a forgery and he knows it. According to my records I have approximately $6 in back checkoff money owing me from the UE.

The statement concluded:

"If UE issues any so-called photostatic copies of my signatures, etc., please compare them with my real signature below and you will see as I did that the signature is a forgery. That signature on the 50 cent checkoff card is written by some right-handed person and I write left-handed."

MAINTAINED A FORGERY

Quinn said he had never signed a 50-cent checkoff card and maintained it was a forgery. Hunter had an expert handwriting expert testify that the signature was genuine.

Last April the IUE had applied to the Ontario Labor Relations Board for certification. They were in a bitter propaganda war with the existing bargaining agents, Local 524, UE, when this incident occurred.

When the charge of forgery was hurled at UE it stirred up a wave of interest among the plant workers. Hunter, in rebuttal to a forgery charge in the IUE Magnet of April 14, 1953, produced four photostatic copies of Quinn's signatures. Three of them were acknowledged to be genuine but the one on the 50-cent checkoff card was disputed.

After the UE issued a leaflet with prints of the four signatures on it, Quinn, authorized the IUE to reply with the leaflet "Here Is The Proof." It repeated the charge of forgery and contained Quinn's own signed statement.

STATEMENT PRIVILEGES

Mr. Justice Ferguson said that the words, on their face, were capable of defamatory meaning; though they were also capable of an innocent meaning. The contents were incriminating but the statement was privileged, he ruled.

Having accepted that principle of law from the judge, the jury had to find if the words had injured Hunter's reputation. If they had, it was still necessary to prove malice.

The issue of whether or not the card was forged was important only in so far as it showed malice or lack of it, said the judge.

Quinn was considered separately from Wirtz, Hansen and Shaw. Quinn was directly involved because the statement on the Here Is The Proof leaflet was signed by him; the other three—top IUE officials—were responsible for issuing the whole leaflet.

At present Shaw and Hansen are in the United States on union business. Wirtz, alone of these three, was at the trial.

W. J. Arthur Fair, QC, was counsel for Hunter. He was assisted by John Corkery. John H. Osler of Toronto was counsel for the four defendants.

Jury members were: Donald Kerneghan, 261 Hunter St. W., foreman; Earl Sexsmith, Otonabee township; William Dale, 1147 High St.; Robert Elliott, Asphodel township; Charles Whittington, North Monaghan township; Theodore McCabe, Asphodel; Charles Beamish, Asphodel; John Coughlin, Douro township; Oram Cochrane, 734 George St.; Elder Caldwell, 490 Dickson St.; Fred Newton, Havelock; and John Bitten, Norwood.

McNulty Appeals Sentence On Charge Of Arson Claims Unlawful Influence

Appeared Without Counsel In Calgary Pleading Guilty To Charge Of Arson Sentenced To Three Years In Prison

Frank Joseph McNulty of Peterborough, wanted for murder and arson at St. Thomas, has launched an appeal against his conviction and three-year sentence imposed in Calgary on a charge of arson in connection with a fire at Calgary's Salvation Army hostel Jan. 14. The 38-year-old McNulty filed his appeal Friday, alleging that two eastern Canadian police officials "unlawfully influenced" him to plead guilty.

McNulty said he was told if he did not plead guilty the officials would see "it went hard" for him.

Soon after McNulty's arrest here on the arson charge, Inspector James Melville of the St. Thomas police, and Ray Simmons, inspector from the fire marshall's office at Toronto, arrived to interview the accused.

It was understood they questioned him regarding a fire at the St. Thomas YMCA Nov. 15, 1953, in which two men died. Several days following McNulty's conviction they returned to eastern Canada.

McNulty appeared without counsel in police court Jan. 21 and pleaded guilty to the arson charge. He was sentenced to three years in penitentiary.

Can Travel For Nickle

NEW YORK (AP)—Got a nickel? Want to go somewhere? You still can—provided you want to travel from Biddeford, Me., to Saco, Me., Or even vice versa.

The nickel fare is a memory in most cities. Transit companies tell you, and offer statistics if you question them, that operating costs are way up yonder.

But in Maine, the Biddeford and Saco Railroad Company still operates on a five-cent fare.

"The only one left in the country," says president J. Burton Stride.

It started 67 years ago with two-horse, open-car, four-wheeled conveyances. In 1891 it changed to electric trams, and in 1939 to buses.

But all that time it has stayed loyal to the lowly nickel.

WORKERS MAIN CUSTOMERS

The transit line's customers along its 20-mile route are mainly textile workers from the plants of Bates, Pepperell and Saco-Lowell.

President Stride says his employees have wage scales comparable to those of the larger transport lines. He gives a lot of credit to the use of modern equipment which keeps operating costs down. The company has only two working executives and one secretary.

Manor Heights Subdivision Opened To Buyers March 1

First come — first choice. That is the advice to all prospective purchasers from the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation which will open for sale some 98 lots in the Manor Heights subdivision on March 1.

Formerly known as the old Hatton property the subdivision is situated at the west end of Charlotte St. and commands a pleasant view of the city.

Although the corporation has made no definite statements regarding the future of the area, indications from the city hall and corporation advertisements indicate that the building restrictions will tend to make the subdivision a first class residential quarter.

PLACE RESTRICTIONS

Some weeks ago the city planning board passed a resolution stipulating several restrictions on building on the lots. The minimum floor area in a bungalow is to be 1,000 suare feet, a 1½ storey house, 1,250 square feet and a two-storied house, 1,500 suare feet.

Lot prices vary according to size and location. They range from $1,050 to $1,825. Average frontage on the properties is between 60 and 70 feet. Payment may be made in full by cash or with a 10% down payment with offer to purchase. The balance, including interest at 5¼%, to be paid within six months of the date of closing.

The corporation will reserve the right to restrict the number of lots to any one individual, builder or builders. However, it may be possible to purchase two adjoining lots for the purpose of building one house, or the purchase of three lots to build two houses. In such cases the homes will have to harmonize with the general architectural style and planning of the subdivision.

STARTED IN 6 MONTHS

Another corporation stipulation will be that every house must be started within six months of the purchase being accepted and completed within 18 months of commencement. If this is not carried out then the sale will be cancelled.

The requirements for construction and material as outlined in the National Housing Act will be in force and plans and specifications must be approved by the corporation before construction is started.

COSTS RELATIVELY HIGH

Every effort is being made by the corporation and the city to make Manor Heights a properly planned and first class showplace for Peterborough. Costs will be relatively high, but homes will maintain a high value and services are already in and paid for.

As a protection to owners the planners have made rules to ensure that there will be no "building out"—a practice common in many subdivisions. Required setback for houses will give all possible light and view to each lot.

The planning of the subdivision has been done to give maximum parking space and a central playing area for children.

Within two years, if the area develops according to plan, Peterborough will have added yet another residential section to its rapidly extending city outskirts.

One Dog Lost, Two Rescued From Icy Water

Thin ice on the Otonabee river is now a hazard for wandering dogs. In the last two days a little golden spaniel has been drowned and two other dogs have fallen into the icy water and barely made shore.

Friday afternoon the spaniel and his companion—a larger dog of dubious breed—romped across the river ice from Otonabee township to the city, at the south end of Lock St.

WENT THROUGH ICE

On their way back they came to a section of ice that was unable to bear their weight and they both fell into the water. Spectators saw the two of them trying to break through the ice to get to the Otonabee shore, and they called the fire department.

City firemen were unable to be of any assistance because the dogs had swum beyond their reach and were closer to the Otonabee side of the river. The spaniel, an unidentified woman's pet, wasn't strong enough to make much headway. He drowned after a 25-minute struggle.

The larger dog, his companion, managed to break his way through the ice to safety.

A reportedly drowning dog pulled a fast one on his would-be rescuers today.

Firemen arrived at Burnham point in response to a call that a dog was drowning in the river. When they arrived nothing could be seen but still water and ice.

"Guess he's gone under," said one, and spectators dumbly agreed.

"What kind of dog was he?" asked Chief Bill Sorrie.

"Police dog," muttered someone.

"A police dog, all wet, just ran in there, sir," said a youngster, pointing to the home of Miss B. Todd, 2 Wallace St.

The dog growled in the doorway as Chief Sorrie checked with the lady.

Brinton Carpet Announces 3 Promotions

Oswald Phillips, 37-year-old English born Peterborough resident, has been named manager of a new department of product planning at the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co., it was announced today.

Mr. Phillips joined the company in 1935, was with the CGE from 1943 until 1947, when he rejoined the Brinton firm. He was a carpet designer, later became a colorist and now will coordinate all color and design work.

A year ago Mr. Phillips received a certificate from the National Industrial committee for the best carpet design submitted.

Joseph S. Gore had been named plant superintendent of the Lindsay branch of the Brinton firm. He succeeds Robert Scott who resigned two months ago.

Mr. Gore, 49, and also a native of England brings to his new job a varied background in the textile field. Before joining Brinton - Peterborough Carpet he worked with such firms as the CIL nylon plant in Kingston, Montreal Cottons in Valleyfield and the Auburn Woolen Mills in Peterborough. He also served four years as supervisor of a mill in Australia.

Douglas A. Butcher, 28, one-time secretary to the president of the company, has been named timestudy engineer at the Lindsay plant. Mr. Butcher, an army veteran with three years' service with the RCEME, will be in charge of timestudy at Lindsay under the timestudy engineer at Peterborough. Mr. Butcher also keeps busy holding a reserve commission with the RCAPC and is secretary-treasurer of the RCAPC Association.

MONTREAL (CP)—Two bandits held up a grocery store messenger here, took his carton of groceries and sped off in a car, neglecting to take the $16 in cash the 35-year-old messenger was carrying.

New Minister Is Welcomed To Gilmour Baptist Church

The Rev. E. C. Smith was inducted as the minister of Gilmour Baptist church at a special service Friday night in the church. Mr. Smith succeeds the Rev. William Lecton who was called to Wiarton.

A congregation of 250 attended the service. Among them were visitors from Belleville, Cobourg, Port Hope, Lakefield, Reaboro and Lindsay.

Mr. Smith came to Gilmour from Smiths Falls.

Friday night's sermon was by the Rev. Eric L. Quirk, minister of the Farmer Memorial Baptist church, Toronto. Mr. Quirk, a former mathematics teacher, taught Mr. Smith when the latter was a pupil 30 years ago at North Toronto collegiate.

Later Mr. Quirk went to India as principal of a Baptist high school in Kakinada.

LAY PARTICIPATION

Mr. Quirk dealt with the necessity for lay participation in the church program. What is needed, he said, is not only prayerful interest by laymen but also the active promotion of work by the lay group.

Paul Wicks of Peterborough, moderator of the Peterborough association of Baptist churches, was in chargee of the service. The scripture lesson was by the Rev. George Downing of Lakefield Baptist church.

The Rev. L. Keith Daniel of the Victoria Avenue Baptist church, Belleville, vice moderator of the Peterborough association, conducted the induction service.

A special anthem for theh occasion was sung by the Gilmour Memorial choir. And after the service there was an informal gathering in the church basement. Refreshments were served by the women.

Headmaster Criticizes Poor Type Of Student

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. J. R. Hamilton, headmaster of Ridley College at St. Catharines, said Friday night teaching standards in Ontario's public and secondary schools are being lowered "to accommodate a poorer quality of students."

Addressing the 56th annual dinner of the Ridley College Old Boys' Association, he criticized the lowering of qualifications required for a student to advance from public to high school and from secondary school to university.

The headmaster of the private school said competition in the classroom has largely disappeared in an era in which grading is frowned upon.

"This type of schooling which eliminates competition is bad training for life, because living is a highly competitive game."

Says 500,000 Unemployed

HAMILTON (CP) — Donald C. MacDonald, Ontario CCF leader, said today Canada has 500,000 unemployed and the federal government refuses to acknowledge their plight.

"With all the homes and schools and other unmet needs of the Canadian people, it is shocking enough that there should be 500,000 unemployed across this nation," he said in a speech prepared for delivery to the two-day CCF regional conference starting here today.

"But even more shocking is the attitude of cold indifference on the part of the governments to the plight of those unemployed.

"Acting Prime Minister Howe even refuses to concede that there is a problem of any serious proportions. Like Lord Nelson of old, he lifts the telescope to his blind eye, looks over across the sea of 500,000 unemployed in Canada, and solemnly declares that he can't see any recession."

Criticized Pictures, Not Artists Masson Closes Art Argument

OTTAWA (CP) — Henri Masson, Ottawa artist whose criticism of a $20,000 collection of contemporary Canadian paintings caused a stir in art circles, Friday issued a statement "to close all the fuss."

The Belgian-born painter, who last week panned the Seagram collection as "calendar pictures," said in his statement that he did not say there were only three good painters represented in the collection. Instead, he had said there were only three good paintings in the collection. He did not identify the paintings.

The paintings are scenes of 22 Canadian cities by 20 artists. Collected by the House of Seagram, a Montreal liquor firm, they were sent on a tour of Latin America and Europe. They now are being shown at Amsterdam.

LABELLED POSTCARDS

The canvases were labelled "brightly colored postcards" and the collection was called "a whisky monument" by Swedish critics in Stockholm last month.

Then Feb. 10, the 47-year-old painter told Ottawa's Richeliu Club that the collection was "a major publicity stunt . . . a farce." He was quoted as saying "two or three good Canadian artists" were asked to exhibit for the collection, but they now were "great artists among a group of bad buttons."

NAMES TRIO

In an interview later, Mr. Masson singled out A. Y. Jackson of Toronto, Jacques de Tonnancour of Montreal and Goodridge Roberts of Digby, N.S. He said that apart from these three the rest of the 20 are "mostly commercial artists or second-rate painters."

Art critics across the country immediately came to the defence of the collection, calling it a fine idea and the paintings good. Some, however, qualified their praise and a few considered the paintings "commercial" and not representative of Canadian art.

The Canadian Press Friday received the following letter from Mr. Masson:

"To close all the fuss about the Seagram collection, will you please publish the enclosed statement?

"In fairness to a few (the word "few" was underscored) artists, whom I esteem as painters and men, but, in my opinion, did not reach their usual high standard on this occasion, I wish to make clear that I did not say that there were only three good painters represented in the Seagram collection.

"I said there were only three good paintings."

VISITS AUSTRALIA — Lt.-Cmdr. Bob Pearce, 49, former Olympic sculling champion, has visited his native Australia as lieutenant-commander on the Canadian cruiser Ontario, flagship of the Pacific fleet. Now a resident of Hamilton, Ont., Pearce left Australia in 1930. In 1928 and 1932 he won the world Olympic sculling title. In 1927 he broke the world sculling record on the Yarra river and a year later broke his own record. —(CP from National Defence).

Heating System Authorized For Parsonage

BAILIEBORO — (ENS) — On Wednesday evening the annual meeting of the Fraserville circuit meeting was held at Bailieboro United church, with representatives from Bensfort, Fraserville and Bailieboro. The Bailieboro Thomas Association served dinner in the hall adjoining the church.

The meeting was held in the church, with Rev. Herbert Yarr in the chair and James Lewis recording secretary. A complete and satisfactory report of church work was given for 1953.

Frank Buckham was appointed delegate to Presbytery with Mrs. H. C. Howson as alternative.

ANNIVERSARIES

Dates for fall anniversaries are: September 26, Fraserville; October 17, Bensfort; October 24, Bailieboro. The committee to assist the minister in arrangements includes Ray Finley, W. C. Dawson and James Lewis.

The committee in charge of the parsonage were given authority to install a satisfactory heating system in the parsonage as soon as possible.

Fort William Wheat Sold At $1.79 Bus.

OTTAWA (CP)—Wheat in store at Fort William will be sold to any purchaser at the newly-announced price of $1.79 a bushel, Trade Minister Howe said Friday.

He was replying in the Commons to G. H. Castleden (CCF—Yorkton) who asked if the price applied to milling companies as well as foreign buyers.

Mr. Howe Thursday announced a seven-cent cut in the price of wheat at Fort William. He said the move is aimed at permitting foreign purchasers to buy wheat at Montreal and Halifax as cheaply as at Vancouver.

Three Trips To Far East Enough Travel For Soldier

OTTAWA (CP)—A Canadian soldier who has made three trips to the Far East and travelled 50,000 miles since 1950 says he's had enough of moving about for a while.

Cpl. A. J. Gauthier, 34, of Penetanguishene, was flown from Korea to Canada late last month and now is on two months' leave. After that, he hopes to be posted as an instructor to the Royal Canadian School of Infantry at Camp Borden, 35 miles from Penetanguishene.

Cpl. Gauthier, who won the Military Medal for gallantry in action in Rimini, Italy, during the Second World War, re-joined the army in 1950 for service in Korea. His first trip to the Far East was with the advance party. He came back a few months later and immediately applied for another posting to Korea. He made the trip with the Royal 22nd Regiment in April, 1951.

Cpl. Gauthier returned to Canada a year later as a warrant officer second class, but gave up the rank for a third trip to the Orient. He served that time with the Royal Canadian Regiment.

Japan Claims Attack

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese foreign office charged today that a Japanese patrol boat was fired upon and seized by a South Korean Coast Guard vessel. The incident occurred west of Koje, former prison island at the south tip of the Korean peninsula and when last seen the Japanese craft was being towed in the direction of Koje, the foreign office said.

No. 2 IN A SERIES . . . YOUR HYDRO AT WORK FOR YOU AND YOURS
YOUR HYDRO . . .
the hired hand that never tires

The Ontario farmer has at his command some 400 "hired hands". Electricity provided by your Hydro operates not only the farm machinery, but also the lights that illuminate the farmhouse and barn, the scores of labor-saving appliances in the farm home and the radio and television sets that supply entertainment.
Through electricity, Ontario farm families, like urban families, enjoy greater leisure, more comforts and a truly high standard of living. Yet this power supplied by Ontario Hydro, which does so much, costs so little. For benefits per dollar it is your best buy in better living.

Leo, the Electronic Brain Compiles Company Payrolls

By JOHN DAVY

LONDON (OFNS) — The first electronic calculating machine to be specially designed and built for office work, known as "Leo," or "Lyon's Electronic Office," was shown to the press in London today. It can work about five hundred times faster than a human clerk using ordinary office machinery; it is suitable for all clerical work involving repetitive calculation; and it has cost J. Lyons, the English food and catering firm, about £150,000 to develop. A team of workers has taken six years to develop the machine at Cadby Hall, the headquarters of the Lyons organization.

FIGURES PAYROLL

Leo's first clerical job was to work out the weekly payroll for the one thousand seven hundred workers at the Cadby Hall bakery. This normally needs about two hundred and twenty-five hours of clerical work; Leo does the job in forty-six minutes. At first Leo merely duplicated the clerical staff's work; now that he has proved himself reliable, he is doing it alone.

The firm think Leo is the beginning of a revolution in business methods and procedure; and they expect the machine to take much of the drudgery out of office work. In addition, they hope Leo will make possible research into details of the catering trade (for instance, into the problems of supplying a network of restaurants with the right amounts of the right things on the right days) which would otherwise involve a prohibitive amount of calculation.

AND GUIDED MISSILES

At the moment Leo' is also doing work on guided missiles for the Ministry of Supply, on shell trajectories, on weather-forecasting, on the positions of atoms in crystals and on actuarial problems. By other methods, each one of these jobs would have normally taken months or even years.

Leo has a business-like air. Unlike the more academic calculators found in university research laboratories, which are usually half-strangled in wires and always look partially dismantled, Leo is sleek and well-groomed.

Four trim grey Hollerith office accounting machines stand on a polished wooden floor. They are used to feed information to the machine on punched cards, and to record the results.

HIS FILING SYSTEM

On a sort of dais to one side are six rows of tall, narrow metal cabinets, painted a gay blue, and each boldly marked "Leo." They hold the actual calculating apparatus, a jungle of wires connecting condensers and five thousand valves. The "memory," or store, where the numbers to be juggled with and the "instructions" on how to combine them are stored until they are needed, is housed beneath the floor, and takes the form of sixty-four mercury-filled tubes each several feet long.

Previous calculators have all been designed primarily for scientific work, where single problems are tackled, and where there is no urgent need for the result. But the clerical work in business must be completed by a certain time, and an enormous amount of data has to be fed in and an enormous number of results recorded at the other end. Leo is unique in the speed with which it can handle a mass of information and produce a mass of results with great reliability.

Need More New Businesses Combat Unrest In Guiana

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (OFNS) — Experience gained in tackling the reconstruction of Britain's depressed areas will be put to good use in encouraging the growth of new businesses — spreading "small capitalism" — in British Guiana.

The man in charge of this "capital building" in the colony is Dr. Norman Duthie, of Scotland. Under the colony's five-year Development Plan, he will have about seven million dollars to distribute, and the money which it is his job to make available to "men of initiative" in British Guiana is part of the generous assistance Britain has offered the colony to speed its economic disturbance. Dr. Duthie is prepared to take risks; but he has no illusions that his job will be easy.

$44 MILLION PLAN

The colony's fourty-four million dollar development plan, to provide more employment, to increase production and to improve living standards, has been given a sceptical reception by the man-in-the-street here. As one rice farmer put it: "That scheme there is like a big motor car. A powerful motor car is a good thing—if you can drive it."

Susbstantially the same view was expressed by Oliver Lyttleton, the Colonial Secretary, in Britain's House of Commons, when he noted that the ambitious program may have to face shortages of materials, skilled staff and artisans, which could slow down the rate of progress.

The plan provides eleven million dollars for agriculture (including research), ten million dollars for improving transport facilities, ten million dollars for housing and smaller sums for school-building, hospitals, forestry and geological schemes and other public works.

LONG FOR LAND

A Georgetown mechanic summed up the feelings of Dr. Duthie's "men of initiative by saying: "All I would like to have is ten acres of land and tools to work it. I congratulate the Governor. May God help him to get through and make the country progressive."

May God help him indeed, for there are thousands of men in the street—voters, under universal adult suffrage—whose feelings are like those of the porter who said: "We should all thank the People's Progressive Party. But for them this money would have never been given to us."

For years there had been promises and more promises, and experts with facts and figures. But nothing much had been done. Then came the Communist-led PPP and started a furore. The lesson in this will not be lost on the leaders of other colonies crying for development aid. Nor has it been lost on the leaders of the unseated PPP, who are making full propaganda use of it. They are still admired by too many men in the street; and their non-co-operation threat still stands. "Small capitalism" must be spread here, quickly and efficiently.

Trying Coax France To Take Division

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—South Korean Maj.-Gen. Choi Duk Shin arrived here today to try to convince France to accept the Korean offer of a division for the Indo-China war.

Choi also said he hopes to lay the foundation for an anti-Communist pact between the Indo-Chinese state of Laos, Cambodia and Viet Nam with other anti-Red countries in Asia.

"The only chance of the free nations of Asia to survive is to form a common front against communism," the South Korean general declared.

Choi said the French govern-

Water Supplies Discussed At Conference

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP) — First step toward finding future water supplies for western Ontario was taken in Waterloo Friday with the formation of a committee to discuss the problem.

The committee, representing 14 municipalities, will study the water supply question and recommend a course of action at another meeting soon in Waterloo.

The action was taken as more than 50 men — mayors, public utilities and water commission members, chambers of commerce members and other civic officials from the various centres — gathered to discuss their common problem.

The committee comprises Mayor Allan Rush of London; Warker Pettit, Brantford; David Simpson, Stratford; O. J. Little Preston; Mayor McPherson, Paris; F. M. Woods, Guelph; O. J. Wright, Conestogo; H. E. Dickinson, St. Marys; Marcel Pequegnat, Kitchener; A. M. Snider, Waterloo; Fred Howard, Elmira; P. R. Locke, St. Thomas; Mayor Anderson, Galt and Mayor Goebel, Hespeler.

Though the meeting was probably the first of its kind in this part of the province, Mayor Rush saw it as "history repeating itself." He compared it to the history-making gathering of the fathers of hydro in this district in the early days of the 20th century.

TWO WATER SOURCES

While little action was taken outside of formation of interim committee, delegates discussed various aspects of the situation.

They heard the pros and cons of two methods of supplying water —from lakes and from rivers — and were reminded of the necessity of finding further sources to meet the future needs of the municipalities.

Dr. A. E. Berry of the department of health spoke of the pollution problem involved in river water supply and the financial difficulties of piping water from lakes.

He said it is difficult to combine the two uses of rivers — disposal of sewage and supplying water for consumption. The taste and temperature of river water is not always satisfactory.

Lake water, however, had a good temperature and could be treated but the costs of piping it here are high, he said. But the distances the water would have to be brought are not so high compared to the length of some pipelines in the United States.

PREFERS LAKE WATER

Professor Herman Overgaard of Waterloo College, who has been recommending lake water, said river water is harder and is 15-25 degrees warmer than lake water.

E. F. Roberts of Brantford, secretary-treasurer of the Grand river conservation commission and a proponent of river water supply said: "Our water problems can be solved now and for all time to come if we conserve our water."

"We have sufficient water here but we must prevent waste," he said.

Mr. Roberts felt Georgian bay is eliminated as a source of supply because of difficulties involved in piping water due to the difference in elevation. If Lake Huron were selected, water would have to be pumped upward seven times before it reached here.

Order Fresh Talks To Help Solve Strike

SAINT JOHN (CP) — The provincial government has ordered fresh conciliation talks in an attempt to settle a wage strike by 125 bus drivers and maintenance men that has paralyzed public transport for greater Saint John's 80,000 persons.

The strikers are members of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America (AFL-TLC). They walked off the job at dawn Friday after fruitless settlement talks. The company refused to grant a 10-cent hourly wage increase across the board.

Minister Denounces Sunday Hockey, Skiing

here, the Rev. J. S. Roe, newly-elected moderator, said today.

In a report, Mr. Roe, minister of the Knox Presbyterian church here, said, "Extra-curricular school activities have apparently become so numerous as to demand not only the evenings of these young people but also considerable of their Sundays."

Bingos, lotteries and similar activities were condemned as further "evidence of the growing strength of our own brand of materialism and secularism which is crowding the lives of our people to the exclusion of the things of God."

New Zealand Premier Opens Paper Mill

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (Reuters) — Premier Sidney Holland today opened a $25,000,000 pulp and paper mill at Kinleith near here.

Holland said timber is the country's fourth primary product, and trees grow faster and more satisfactorily in New Zealand than anywhere else in the world.

At full capacity, the new mill will produce 45,000 tons of pulp, 25,000 tons of paper and 50,000,000 board feet of timber a year.

Say Pope's Recovery Will Be Gradual

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican, apparently answering rumors that Pope Pius has taken a turn for the worse, announced today that his "gradual, slow recovery continues normally."

A communique, the first issued in several days on the ailing pontiff's health, said his convalescence from a persistent stomach ailment was expected to be a long one.

"A good period of repose," is needed before the Pope can regain his normal health, the Vatican said.

7 Patients Die In Fire

HARTFORD, Mich. (AP)—Seven patients — four women and three men — lost their lives in a fire that raced through a convalescent home for the aged late Friday night.

In 30 minutes, the fire destroyed the two-storey frame building, three miles west of here in southwestern Michigan.

Five of the elderly victims were bed-ridden.

Three other patients were rescued, and treated at a hospital for burns.

The former private residence had been operated as a convalescent home for the last two years by Mr. and Mrs Clark Shimer.

Red Army Lieutenant Flees To W. Berlin

BERLIN (Reuters) — A Russian army lieutenant fled to West Berlin today and asked for political asylum.

A 19-year-old private, who came with him, changed his mind and asked to be returned to his unit in East Berlin.

Women From 8 Services In Booth At Farm Market

Peterborough ex-servicewomen, complete with regimental blazers, conducted a bake sale at the market today. Patiently they told each customer, "No, we are not the wives of ex-servicemen, we are ex-servicewomen."

Commanding officer of the sale is former CWAC corporal Barbara Watters, manning the date-square section. The girls, representing eight wartime outfits, were also selling such things as cup cakes at five cents each, pies at 50 cents, cookies at 35 cents a dozen and date squares at 25 cents for six.

The outfits represented — and the girls would reminisce at the drop of a cookie—were the RCAF (WD); the British World War I WAC's, the CWAC's, WRAF, RCAMC, WRCN, the British ATS and the Canadian Red Cross orthopaedic unit. Members of the latter group are not actually ex-servicewomen but are so considered.

There was an unusually wide variety of goods on sale at the market today—potted plants, pillows, pullets, and pullovers, not to mention socks, summer dresses and slipcovers.

Of particular interest to men was a booth managed by Mrs. Vina Tripp. She was selling men's hand knit socks, in all sizes, shapes and colors, at from 1.50 for heavy wool to $2.50 and $3.00 for cable-stitched nylons. Orders were being taken to get on the Tripp waiting list for made-to-order jobs.

As usual, chickens and eggs were scattered over a dozen tables, in between the other exhibits. One man had on his counter a unique combination of eggs and pillows. The duck-feather pillows were $12 a pair, the eggs 55 cents a dozen.

There was wide variation in egg prices. Monster-sized eggs, which looked as if they might hatch little emus, were on sale in the lobby at 75 cents a dozen. Upstairs pullets were a little over half this price at 45 cents. Most Grade A large were at 55 cents.

Chicken prices were relatively constant at 45 or 50 cents a pound with weights averaging about five pounds.

Among the specialty items were crocheted doilies at $3.50 and tablecloths at $4.50 a pair. There were also all sorts of flowers, some potted in vegetable tins, others sitting in haphazard bouquets, and all, in the words of one energetic saleslady, "a tremendous bargain."

UN Committee Says Freeing PoWs Illegal

PANMUNJOM (AP) — The Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, in a final majority report, today branded as illegal the release of unrepatriated Korean war prisoners last month by the United Nations command.

The report, released on the eve of the commission's dissolution, declared: "It would be a bare assertion unsupported by any evidence (to say) that the prisoners had voluntarily sought non-repatriation."

The commission, comprising delegates from India, Sweden, Poland, Switzerland and Czechoslovakia, goes out of existence at midnight Sunday under terms of the Korean armistice.

The Indians, Czechs and Poles signed the report. The Swiss and Swedes issued a statement emphasizing that they did not "join in the conclusions."

"RISKED LIVES"

The minority statement declared that "while admitting the existence in the (anti-Communist) camps of strong prisoner-of-war organizations, the Swedish and Swiss members hold the opinion that the prisoners had nevertheless opportunities to apply for repatriation . . ."

The three-member majority report was basically a restatement of an interim report issued Dec. 28, which declared that organizations of prisoners in the anti-Communist south camp which held more than 22,000 Koreans and Chinese ruled out any possibility of freedom of choice.

"Only a small proportion of the prisoners-of-war succeeded in exercising their rights to be repatriated which they did either surreptitiously or by risking their life," the report said.

Youth Pleads Guilty To Drunk Driving

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A 19-year-old Sarnia youth pleaded guilty in city court today to drunk driving and was sentenced to seven days in jail.

Gerald D. Belrose, construction worker, was prohibited from driving for 12 months and had his car impounded for three months.

Belrose was arrested early today.

Dial Police Ten Languages But Singapore Crime High

By RAWLE KNOX

SINGAPORE (OFNS)—A man who dials "999" in Singapore can speak to the police in English, Malay, Sinhalese, Urdu, Punjabi or any one of four or five Chinese dialects, and get an instant answer. In the emergency control room at police headquarters there is always a man on the phone who will recognize the language, and someone immediately beside him who can speak it. I have been in that room when the phone rang —and no one spoke from the other end. In well under a minute the call had been traced and a squad car was on the way to the phone subscriber's address.

But far too seldom in Singapore does anyone dial 999, or indeed seek police aid at all. Recently a rich Chinese was kidnapped and held for twenty-four hours; his ransom money of well over £12,000 was handed across to the kidnappers by his family, who never even approached the police.

AFRAID TO TESTIFY

The authorities are now sure they know the criminals; but neither the kidnapped man nor any member of his family is prepared to give evidence in court. They give the time-honoured reply of the Asian to the European colonial police officer: "You see, Mr. Smith, you may succeed in putting the criminal in gaol for twelve years. But in twelve years you will be at home in your country and I shall still be here."

A comparison of figures of serious crimes will show that Singapore, in proportion to populations, is twice as law-abiding an island as Britain. Nevertheless, the city of Singapore, in which practically all the island population lives, is in the permanent grip of small-time terror.

HALF PAY PROTECTION

The police do not think it an under-estimate to say that five hundred thousand people — or nearly half Singapore's population — are paying protection money, in large or small amounts, to some ten thousand gangsters. Almost all this protection money is paid without complaint. Some of it may go to Communist collectors who pass it on to the rebels in the jungle, but most of it is taken by plain criminals. The victims who do complain are either killed or assaulted, at any time and any place.

Recently a street hawker—one of Singapore's twenty-five thousand, almost all of whom are reckoned by the police to be paying protection money—was beaten up in a crowded street at midday; and no one lifted a finger to protect him.

EFFICIENT BUT LIMITED

The Singapore police are efficient, but no one recognises their limitations better than senior police officers. In an almost totally Chinese city there are only three hundred Chinese detectives and a handful of Chinese constables. The Malay constable as a rule speaks only Malay. The Chinese reckon they can do better for themselves than become policemen.

The law is thus quite foreign to the population, and often seems to emphasise its foreignness. Recently the police raided a narrow back street and broke up the stalls of the hawkers trading there. In a Press statement issued afterwards the police said they had nothing against hawkers, especially since most of the ones concerned were properly licensed; but their stalls must not be allowed to block up the streets.

FRIENDS?

Only the other day a trishaw puller was fined twenty-five shillings for smoking while pulling a passenger; and was brusquely told in court by the British magistrate to put his licence badge on his right instead of his left arm. It must have seemed a very foreign law. Yet eighteen months ago, when the police in the neighbouring Federation of Malaya started a campaign to impress the public that they were the friends of the people, the Singapore police called a Press conference to explain that such a campaign was quite unnecessary in Singapore.

The Singapore police have an answer. Until the end of 1952, emergency regulations such as are in force in the Federation, and which allow arrest and indefinite imprisonment without trial, enabled known Singapore criminals to be picked up and neatly put away. In a city which simply will not cooperate with the law, say police chiefs, such regulations are the only way of protecting the public; and they are probably right.

TV NEWS

By KEN McCANNAN

If your TV reception is not what it could be the trouble could lie in your antenna. Don't make the mistake of thinking that a few metal rods projecting from the roof is all that is needed to catch the maximum signal from the air.

In the trade the three main types of antennas are known as: The dipole, a type used on earlier models which is both simple and effective; the folded dipole, which uses separate antennas for high and low stations; and the "X" or conical type.

In fringer areas a "stacked" arrangement is common and these antennas are built up to 170 feet and more in some instances. Contrasted with these monsters are the built-in types of some sets. These are occasionally plagued by ghosts or weak signals.

The main thing to remember if you have antenna worries is to consult a firm that KNOWS ITS TELEVISION. Here at McCANNAN ELECTRIC television is our "first love" (and we've been going steady ever since!) One of our greatest pleasures is talking television, so if this complex business has you scratching your head, drop in and have a chat. When you're here we'd like you to have a look at our large selection of DUMONT models, one of the finest makes on the market today. We'll happily provide you with a set for home approval and you can enjoy the benefits of our long term financing if you wish. The BEST BUY IN TV are awaiting you at 274 George Street. Car Falls 35 Ft. To Railway Tracks also of Amherstburg, seriously injured when their car plunged over a railway overpass north of the town on Highway 18 and fell 35 feet to the tracks.

Smith, who was driving the car, was killed instantly. Mrs. Ridley crawled from the wrecked car and made her way to the highway despite injuries that were later found to include a broken shoulder, several broken ribs and severe cuts and bruises.

Smith had come to Amherstburg recently from St. Thomas and was employed at Brunner Mond. Mrs. Ridley operates a lunch room not far from the overpass.

AN ICE CREAM CONE DELIGHTS the heart of a small Indian lad in the same way it appeals to any child of any race! Children the world over are very much alike.

Mentally Ill Require Additional Hospital Space

More hospital accommodation and more trained personnel are needed to look after the mentally ill in Canada, Dr. John S. Pratten, Civic Hospital psychiatrist, said Friday night to a group in Mark Street United Church.

He was addressing 50 members of the Mark Street church's Mr. and Mrs. Club at their February meeting in the Sunday School room.

Dr. Pratten also said that some misconception about mental illness need to be dispelled. Mental illness can be treated and cured, similar to physical illness; it isn't necesarily permanent.

He was introduced by the Rev. Dr. N. D. Patterson and thanked by Alan Coones, the president.

The worship service was conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hendren.

There was a solo by Mrs. N. D. Patterson and entertainment included a game of musical chairs.

It was announced that the next speaker will be Mrs. Mel. Shadgett, police matron.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Personals and Social

Scouts, Cubs Of St. Paul's Hold Banquet

In keeping with other Scout and Cub groups in the city. No. 7 Troop and Pack of St. Paul's Presbyterian church met in the Sunday school hall, with their fathers, for the annual father and son banquet on Friday evening.

The Mothers' Auxiliary had charge of the dinner and provided a splendid meal—the tables being adorned with candles in brass holders, and other scout emblems, including a picture of the late Lord Baden-Powell, the revered Chief of Scouts, whose memory will be honored next week.

At the head table were Dr. G. R. Langley and Mrs. Langley, the Rev. Charles G. Boyd and Mrs. Boyd, Akela and Mrs. James McLeod, Scoutmaster Archie Ballantine, the guest speaker Mr. Campbell Rowatt and Mrs. Rowatt, and chairman John Anderson.

Welcome was extended to the 110 fathers, sons and guests present, and a vote of thanks given the auxiliary for the dinner. Mrs. Herb. Hewitt, president, replied.

A chaplain's stole provided an investiture ceremony, the symbol being presented by Dr. Langley on behalf of the Scout and Cub groups and the auxiliary. Rev. Mr. Boyd repeated the Scout and Cub promises given by Akela McLeod and Scoutmaster Ballantine, and thanked No. 7 for this honor, with words of advice to the boys on entering their ranks.

Then followed a toast to the fathers by Sixer W. Dunfield, with response by Assistant Cubmaster H. Hewitt; toast to the sons, by Mr. W. Turner, with reply by Roger Mallory.

Greetings from the Scout Association were brought by Dr. Langley, past commissioner, with complimentary words, and telling of the progress being made towards the new campsite for the local troops and packs, since so much vandalism has been reported at the Nassau camp.

The speaker of the evening, Mr. Campbell Rowatt, was introduced by Mr. Walter Perks, his subject covering conservation of fish and game, and forests. He dealt with early fishing methods from bone and ivory hooks down to our present up-to-date equipment of bait and rod. He also advised the boys to study the trees and their growth, and help towards conserving our forests to save the soil and protect our farm lands.

Mr. Rowatt showed a splendid colored film of a canoe trip in little-known lakes on the Lake Superior boundary, the projector being handled by Mr. James Burns.

Mr. Frank Montgomery voiced the thanks of the listeners to Mr. Rowatt for his interesting talk.

The national anthem concluded the banquet.

Mrs. Don Campbell and baby son of Patterson St. have been visiting parents and friends in Kitchener during the past week.

Euchre Party

The Rev. and Mrs. T. S. Gault held a progressive euchre party at the rectory on Wednesday evening, proceeds going to the ladies' guild of St. Paul's church. There were 12 tables of players, with prizes for high scores awarded to Mrs. F. S. Gray and Mervin Smith; consolation prizes to Mrs. Rupert Woods and Bruce McGill; door prize to Mrs. Walter Neals and lucky number prizes to A. H. Watson and J. T. Coburn.

Assisting on the lunch committee with Mrs. Gault were Mrs. Robert Sisson, Mrs. Carl Smith and Mrs. Charles Reynolds.

Coldsprings News

Mr. and Mrs. D. Stockton, Mimico, were recent guests with Mr. and Mrs. Herb. McKinley.

Miss Ada McKinley, Welcome, is spending a few days with Mrs. David Buttars.

Guests this week with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shier and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gibson are Mrs. Russell Jenkins of Alton and Mrs. A. Carlow, Toronto.

SKIN BEST

Everyone likes baked potatoes. But some people have not acquainted themselves with the most delicious — and most nutritious—part, the skin.

FOR PARENTS ONLY:

Children Quick To Accept Snobbishness Of Parents

By NANCY CLEAVER

An unknown writer has voiced his conviction in these lines:

"All men are my kin
Since every man has been,
Blood of my blood;
I glory in the grace
And strength of every race,
And joy in every trace
Of Brotherhood."

Late in February in many lands Brotherhood Week is celebrated. The common bond, not only of people of different races, but also of different faiths, is emphasized.

Behind the Iron Curtain, religion is scorned as "the opiate of the people." It is well for Jews and Protestants and Catholics to be reminded that there is one God, the Creator of all men. "One God, The Ways We Worship Him," by F. M. Fitch, published by Macmillan, is an excellent book for any home library. It shows the helpful ceremonies in the major denominations of this continent.

When a donor turns up at a Red Cross blood bank clinic, the nurse is not interested in his racial background. Not the color of his skin, but the type of blood is the important question. Scientists have discovered that the blood of all the members of the human family falls into four predominant blood types. A knowledge of these groups is essential in blood transfusions and in research.

Adults are far more conscious of contrasting skin colors than children. In crowded downtown areas of large cities, in the nursery school play groups, there are often children whose parents come from many lands. Some of them are new Canadians of Oriental, Negro and European extraction. John may notice that Sam is yellow-skinned and Tom is black, but they play together on equal footing.

NOT INHERITED

Racial prejudice is not inherited, it is "caught" from grownups. Children are very quick to accept the snobbish attitude of parents who consider the Anglo-Saxon race superior. The unfair practice of judging an individual because he belongs to a class, and not on his merits as a person, cuts across the ideal of brotherhood.

A small pair of wood shoes were left outside the door of a Canadian rural school by a little Dutch child who had recently arrived from Holland. The other scholars thought this a great joke. The little newcomer didn't know much English, but he soon "caught on" that he was being laughed at. Who would wonder at his tears from a hurt and homesick heart?

Children can be quite callous if they are not encouraged by their teachers and parents to be considerate. Thousands of new Canadian youngsters have been making their own way in a strange land. Many of them have excelled at school. Their parents are working on our farms, in our industries and institutions. Many of them have brought skill in handcrafts, appreciations of music and art and the culture of the Old World with them. Brotherhood Week would be a very good time for families to extend hospitality to a new Canadian household. Do try to make plans for this in your Family Council.

Another good topic to discuss if there are senior Collegiate students in the home, is the plan of Introprovincial vacation visits between Quebec and Ontario. This project has been operating for a number of years to further understanding and fluency in both French and English. Detailed information may be obtained from "Visites Interprovinciales," 340 Jarvis St., Toronto

The vast missionary enterprise of the church is based on the belief of one God who is Father of all men. The greatest teacher of all time taught that all men were brothers bound by love. In little Mission Band groups in countless churches large and small, boys and girls learn of the healing and educational work of missionaries in distant lands and in remote districts in the far north.

A lasting faith in the brotherhood code is firmly based on the golden rule. Only as more and more people think, feel and act in a brotherly fashion is there any hope of building a "Brave New World." Let us and our children make this ideal come true in so far as we are able to be neighborly to those around us. They may differ in creed or race, but they are like us in many ways.

Lakefield WA Has Successful Tea

LAKEFIELD (ENS) — Despite inclement weather, the new parish hall of St. John the Baptist Anglican church was thronged all Tuesday afternoon with shoppers attending the Valentine tea and bazaar held under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary. Many guests were received by president Mrs. F. Dainton and Mrs. L. J. Delaney.

Tea was poured by four past-presidents, Miss Florence Atwood, Mrs. S. E. White, Mrs. E. Waldon and Mrs. C. Stenner. The table was covered with a lace cloth and centred with a bowl of daffodils.

Convening the tea tables was Mrs. H. F. Ketchum and those serving were Mrs. Harold Dunford, Mrs. H. Penberthy, Mrs. L. Foster and Mrs. Walter Watson. Plates were replenished by Mrs. Percy Watson and Miss Amy Watson was in charge of tea making.

The Dorcas table, at which knitted articles, aprons and a wide variety of needlework could be purchased, was in charge of Mrs. Walter Chappell, who was assisted by Mrs. W. Sharman and Mrs. W. Eaton.

Mrs. J. Sanderson and Mrs. C. Crawford convened the home baking table and candy was sold by Miss M. Hampton and Mrs. G. Bell. Mrs. E. Waldon and Mrs. W. Armstrong were in charge of the parcel post booth.

Mrs. B. Q. Dench was the treasurer.

Victoria Woman Has 3 Careers

VICTORIA (CP)—Peggy Walton Packard is a girl with three careers, apart from her role as housewife and mother.

An outstanding painter and sculptor, she is also a singer of renown and has left for New York to audition for the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Peggy's powerful, dramatic soprano voice took her to New York once before, about 10 years ago, and a number of musical experts, including Edward Johnson, former manager of the Metropolitan, haven't forgotten it.

Her former teacher, Madam Marion Freshel, with the Curtis Institute of Music in New York, offered to sponsor her in the New York try-outs.

"I am a little apprehensive," said Peggy, "as I have not studied my music as strenuously of late years; but when Madam has so much faith, I couldn't refuse. It is a very exciting challenge."

David Packard, her husband, is also an artist of note. They have two children.

Cheerleader Queen Of Ball

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — A blue-eyed blonde from Guelph, Barbara Cooke, Friday was crowned queen of the ball at University of Western Ontario.

The 22-year-old former cheerleader at Guelph collegiate won over nine rivals in the beauty-with-brains competition.

Barbara was enthroned at the University College ball, one of the big social events of the year at Western.

Barbara represented her year on the students' council, took part in "Purple Patches," an annual stage show, played intramural softball and is a member of the Canterbury Club. She also plays basketball and says she likes bridge, golf and dancing.

Next year she plans to attend Ontario Teachers College because she enjoys teaching youngsters. One of her ambitions is to travel in Europe.

Reaction Of Consumer To Determine Policy

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Watch how the consumer reacts to the robins.

If he starts to buy more a month from now and gives business its usual spring lift, President Eisenhower says, all will be well and the United States government's prescription for curing the recession by encouraging business will work as planned.

If the consumer doesn't—or can't—step up his buying, then Eisenhower proposes to tackle the recession from the other angle and give the consumer more encouragement—presumably by lightening his tax load.

So far, the idea has largely been that it is business and industry that provide jobs and, therefore, tax burdens on business should be eased, credit made readily available and at slightly lower interest rates. Business can stay healthy, or recover its health—and make more jobs.

The U.S. economy got a $5,000,000,000-a-year boost Jan. 1 when that amount of federal taxes were written of the books. Other tax easing for business is before Congress. The effect of this, however, has been mostly psychological—as witness the stock market—because so far the tax reforms are only a future promise, being still under debate in Congress.

JOBLESS COUNT RISES

But the number of those out of work continues to rise—is officially admitted now to be more than 3,000,000.

At the end of the year the total dollar value of the goods and services turned out in the United States was dropping at the rate of $6,000,000,000 a year. And the drop has continued this year.

Industrial production, which usually rises in January, dipped this time, and the February output of mines and mills and factories will doubtless be still lower.

Business failures have been rising. Chain stores report in each of the last six been running behind year's figures.

Since most observe drop in February, the little alarm. All hands, ho have been counting on March and April to halt or slow down this retreat somewhat.

Spring usually makes consumers think of a lot of things they's like to buy—a new car, new finery for Easter, a home in the suburbs. Spring revives jobs on the farm, usually gives the building industry a boost.

30,000,000 Clubwomen Now Feeling Their Oats

NEW YORK (AP)—Thirty million clubwomen are feeling their oats.

It's beginning to dawn on the general public, it seems, that if a town needs a new school, a community centre or somebody to tame its teen-agers, the local women's clubs usually can get the job done.

Recently I was asked to sit in on a panel of judges to choose the club woman of the year for a magazine award. The stacks of nominations were imposing.

There were innumerable instances where women's clubs had succeeded in accomplishing some long-needed project.

What surprised me was that so many of the clubs were made up of young members—not the dowager types that cartoonists love to depict.

MOTHERS GETTING OUT

Thousands of young mothers with several small children seem to be finding time to get out and do their community duty, without neglecting either home or children.

There's no doubt that the girls are getting things done, and that membership in women's clubs is growing every day. Just to give you an idea—there are more than 1,000 women's clubs in Detroit, 650 in St. Paul and 92 in Ogden, Utah.

The figure of 30,000,000 members of U.S. women's clubs represents the combined membership of 18 national organizations, including the General Federation of Women's Clubs, which alone has an estimated membership of 5,500,000 women in the United States and 11,000,000 over the world.

Village Folk Lore Tales Fascinate City Group

Mrs. "Happy" Bonnell's visit to the Women's Art Association on Friday afternoon might be called the "refresher" of this year's studio programs.

Every member of the audience was brought to outright laughter at some point in the story of "Life in our village."

Her village is Holland Landing, 30 miles north of Toronto, peculiarly situated "on a hill, in a valley, with a canal around it." Some hearers recalled the government "bloomer" of the early 1900's when this Holland canal was very thoroughly and capably built. On completion it was found that water would have to run uphill to it, and it has never since been wet by much more than enough water to float a canoe.

One of Mrs. Bonnell's little "people" stories included the observation of a man whose wife was just rescued that "some time in her lift every woman of the Landing tried to drown herself in the canal."

The village consists of three stores, a four-room school, two churches, a volunteer fire brigade, and four growing industries, the tannery, a glove factory, a shoe fctory and a basket factory. It was at one time surveyed for Toronto and is still marked out in lanes, she told.

One declaration she made about people of Holland Landing still seems unbelievable. "Everybody minds their own business. No one sees anything that does not actually concern them." But Mrs. Bonnell insisted this was true, and pointed out too that it had an undesirable side to it.

She said a man told her that if he observed someone being murdered on the next lot, he would not "see" it, for, since he was not being murdered, it did not concern him. Though many villagers long for privacy in their affairs, few would have it carried to this extreme.

Back of the village are "The Plains", and here the "barons of the swamp whiskey era" and their numerous descendants live. Mrs. Bonnell is evidently quite friendly with and very fond of these people, visiting them frequently to take them shopping and advising and handling their business affairs, since most of the older generation cannot read or write.

She claims that even yet these [illegible] him to m[illegible] out papers so he could get his old age pension.

Another little story was about one of the original "Seven Sutherland Sisters", who brought up quite a large family in the Plains, but lost her husband because she insisted on carrying on her career.

An encouraging site to the picture was of the young men from the Plains who served overseas, married nice English and Scottish girls, and are now quite respectable village residents, bringing up children who may be expected to become really fine people.

Mrs. Bonnell started a Cub Pack in the village, she says it was in self defence, because, at her little farm she has animal pets of all sorts and the small boys would hang around there whenever they were out of school. Now she is Cubmaster of a pack of 40 or so, and there are Scouts, Guides and Brownies organized too, though leaders are hard to find in a village such as this one.

One of the particularly peculiar things about the inhabitants is their "deadpan" expressions, regardless of the situation confronting them. This is carried out by adults and children alike, and give strangers, particularly speakers at Home and School and cub meetings, rather a difficult time. They can never tell if they are pleasing or displeasing, and even a question like "Would you like an ice cream cone" gets nothing more than an unsmiling "I don't care" from a Holland Landing child.

Determination to hear more of the village stories was declared by the relaxed and happy group of ladies who had tea following Mrs. Bonnells talk. She will come to them over a CBC radio series about the end of March, and on another program on CBL there will be a serial play from a book she has written.

Severe Penalty For Taking Bribe

COLOMBO (Reuters) — Severe penalties, including up to 14 years' in prison, are provided for anyone accepting or offering a bribe under a law which comes into force in Ceylon March 1.

Only the governor-general is excluded from the preview of the new act.

Bribes within its meaning include not only the offer or acceptance of gifts of money or in kind, but also such intangible things as favors and advantages.

Bribery increased by leaps and bounds in Ceylon during the war when almost everything was subject to rationing. The black market flourished, making it profitable for unscrupulous public servants to turn a "blind" eye on the most flagrant breaches of law.

One of the major difficulties to be overcome is tradition. The giving of gifts to officials is a custom here dating back to the days before European conquest. Such were the customs then, and such they still are, that village headmen—minor government officials—save their entire salaries and live on the perquisites of office.

"RECIPES FOR MEATLESS MENUS
By Elsie the Borden Cow

CHATEAU-AND-EGG-GRILL
Just centre a poached egg on hot toast, top the egg with slices of Borden's Chateau. Then pop under the grill until the Chateau melts. If this doesn't cause a sensation at mealtime, nothing will! The mellow-mild flavor of Borden's Chateau Cheese makes a terrific hit with children and men alike. Chateau is so versatile for meatless dishes. See what a difference it makes with macaroni, with rice-and-tomato. Keep a good supply on hand all the time.

BAUMERT CHEESE PARTY
Here's how to prepare an oh-so-tasty party snack your guests will really go for. Leave 4 pkgs. Borden's fresh-tasting, creamy Baumert Cheese at room temperature for an hour to soften. Then add ½ cup milk, ¼ tsp. salt, 1 tbsp. salad dressing, ½ tsp. onion juice, ½ tsp. mustard and beat until smooth. Serve on tray surrounded by potato chips or crackers. Ask your guests to "dip in"—and watch it disappear!

LUNCHES ON THE DOUBLE
With double-length Borden Cheese Slices. If your man carries his lunch to work, he'll love you if you use Borden's Cheese Slices in his sandwiches. They have that mellow-mild zip that men go for. And those double-length slices mean fresher flavor in every slice. You see, you usually don't use the whole package for one lunch, you [illegible]

IF GUESTS DROP IN:
It's like waving a magic wand the way you can come up with a snack for surprise visitors . . . if you keep Borden's Elsie Roll on hand. It slices into circles just the size for those dandy round crackers. Try Elsie Roll with salads too, and with apple pie.

SOUPED-UP SOUP
You can add extra zest to soup by sprinkling on a little Borden's Grated Cheese. A natural for spaghetti! Keeps for weeks in its handy canister.

Readers' Saturday Column Conducted By Mary Moore

LETTER: Am writing to tell you how much we enjoy your cookery column, and was particularly interested in the column on cooking cereals, for we too like oatmeal under our belts, but use skim milk in place of water in the double boiler (when making it). It prevents burning and sticking. Have used skim milk for several years and would not want to change. Do you use milk in pie crust? We do and like it. Hope I have been some help in getting more milk into everyday foods . . . Mrs. Cecil S.

ANSWER: I am reminded of an observation made in my hearing by an unimaginative woman. "You can use water instead of milk in almost everything if you think about it. I have to aeconomize because we have so many doctor bills."

That statement made it so apparent to me that maybe if she had used milk instead of water she wouldn't have the doctor bills to pay—and would have the added dividend of good health for the whole family. Economizing on nutritious food always adds up to poor health.

Thank you for your boost.

QUESTION: I noticed that you, upon request, would print recipe for chocolate roll batter. I should like to have the recipe.—Mabel M.

QUESTION: Would you please print the recipe for chocolate roll batter?—L. G.

ANSWER: With pleasure ladies.

CHOCOLATE ROLL BATTER

Four tablespoons each sifted flour and unsifted cocoa, ¼ teaspoon salt, 6 egg whites, ½ teaspoon cream of tartar, ½ cup sugar, 6 egg yolks, ½ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Sift together the cocoa, flour and salt. Beat until stiff the egg whites and cream of tartar, then gradually beat into them the first ½ cup sugar until merigue is glossy. Beat until very thick and lemon-colored the egg yolks and then gradually beat into them the second ½ cup sugar, then beat into them the sifted dry ingredients. Then carefully fold this into the egg white mixture. Line a greased pan that is 15½ x 10½ inches with greased paper and spread the batter in it ½ inch thick. Bake in a slow oven of 325 deg. Fahr. about 20 to 25 minutes or until surface springs back when lightly touched with finger. Immediately turn upside-down on icing-sugar-sprinkled towel. Quickly peel paper off cake, and roll cake up in towel, encolsing towel in the roll. Roll from side or ends, depending on whether you want a thin long roll, or a thick short roll. Shortly before serving time, unroll and place roll on folds of waxed paper. Remove towel. Fill with double whipped cream as described Jan. 26. Roll up carefully, tucking any overflow of cream back into roll. Chill. Serve in thick slices.

QUESTION: Just keep up the good work. I think you are terrific. Would appreciate recipe for split pea soup, also a pea soup that's creamed in tins that you buy. The split pea soup is usually served in restaurants with a few slices of toast cut in squares on the top. Either or both would be appreciated — also 'Bismarks' — they are like doughnuts but instead of the open hole they are usually filled with jam or thick chocolate sauce.—Mrs. B. T.

ANSWER: I have mailed you the release for column which appeared Jan. 18. It contained recipe for vegetarian split pea soup and honey yeast doughnuts. To the pea soup add ¼ lb. finely chopped or ground fat salt pork or side bacon. Use the recipe for honey yeast doughnuts but when you come to cut them out roll them ½ inch thick. Then cut out 3-inch rounds with floured cookie cutter—not one with hole for cutting out regular doughnuts. Fry as directed. When doughnuts are cool cut a short slit in the side of each fried ball through to the centre. Thrust a teaspoonful of jam or jelly or whatever filling you fancy into the centre and close tightly. Roll in sugar. These should be served fresh.

WASH FREQUENTLY

You want to keep everything about you as fresh looking as your wel-scrubbed face. So don't forget to launder such things as scarves frequently. A limp, slightly soiled scarf detracts greatly from one's appearance.

HELPS TO KEEP SHAPE

As you know, there will be many slim skirts around in coming months. Your skirts will keep their shape better if you have half slips sewn right into them.

CHINA Highlights by TOM O'CONNOR

We continue our story about Belleek China . . .

Of recent years Belleek has brought out for public approval nice teaware in ancient Irish Script like the ancient Irish Celts used. However, we modern Irish have great difficulty with modern English, and ancient Irish is allee same Chinese or Persian. . . .

Man 21, Delayed Telling Girl He Was Wed

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a single girl of 19. Five months ago I met a man of 21, who didn't tell me he was married until I had fallen in love with him. He has three children, but he and his wife do not get along. I don't want to break up a marriage, and I told the young man to forget all other women, and concentrate on making his wife happy. However, he says he has tried, and it didn't work. He wants to know, "If I get a divorce will you marry me?" Since he claims his marriage is a failure anyway, would it be all right for me to go with him and keep hoping? G. G.

✧ ✧ ✧

A GOOD REASON FOR BREAK

ANSWER: I wonder just how many hearts have been broken, hopes blasted, and lives ruined by those words, "If I get a divorce etc., etc." Suppose your young man does get a divorce. At 21, he has three children to support. Only if he has a substantial salary could he keep his head above water supporting an ex-wife and her three children plus another wife and home. Just exercise a bit of common sense and you'll have your answer.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am married to a very handsome man of 44; I am 42. We have been very close friends of Mr. nd Mrs. D. for some time, and recently I was told that Mrs. D. is in love with my husband. Should I tell him what I have heard or not? Frieda.

ANSWER: Until you have more proof than the wagging tongue of an inveterate gossip; keep the news to yourself. Since your husband is, according to you, a good provider, a fine family man and has never given you cause to worry, you're foolish to doubt him now.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Do you think it is wrong for a young married woman of 24 to go to a dance with her sisters and a brother-in-law? My husband is working out of town and doesn't want me to go to danecs. Yet, I love dancing and can see no harm in going with my family. H. W.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: There's undoubtedly no harm in what you are doing, but there is potential danger. You are bound to meet strangers at these dances, which immediately puts you on the spot where you are fair prey for gossip that may not always be without foundation. Besides, your husband's disapproval should be sufficient to deter you He has enough difficulty earning a living for you without having to worry over what he does not favor your doing. Circumspection is a prime duty of a married woman and the loss of certain personal libert is one of her expected sacrifices.

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm going with a boy I like very much and I know he likes me. Before I met him, he had been going with a married woman whose husband works out town. Now she is calling him again, and while he admits he shouldn't take her out, he does anyway. I know he's going to be hurt if he continues this friendship. JACQUELINE K.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Do you realize, Jacqualine, that the boy is giving you a preview of what married life with him will be? Not only is he unfaithful to you now, but he is abetting a wife in the same deceit. There certainly is no loyalty in his make-up, absolutely no resistance to temptation and, certainly, no real love for you. Rub his name off your slate, girl, before you are the one to be acutely hurt.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband has a small business, with a married woman working for him. They live in different directions from the business, yet after the place is closed. she drives him home almost every night. Sometimes this is at late as midnight. My husband says he appreciates the ride, but since he has only a short walk to and from the bus, I don't see why he needs the ride. He says their only mutual interest is the business. SYBIL

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If buses in your community are anything like they are in mine, there can be a mighty long wait for one, especially at midnight. After a hard day's work this isn't very pleasant, and I think the lady is being no more than courteous in extending the convenience of transportation. Since she and your husband are together all day, there's little the ride home can add to their relationship. I think you're being unreasonably jealous, and perhaps you're planting ideas in your husband's mind. Be wary of nagging.

St. Paul's CWL Sends Proceeds To Red Cross

LAKEFIELD (ENS) — A pleasant evening was enjoyed by those attending the euchre party held in the parish hall by the Catholic Women's League of St. Paul's church.

Ten tables were played and the proceesd will be donated to the Lakefield Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society.

Prizes were won as follows: Ladies, first, Mrs. Albert O'Donnell; consolation, Mrs. J. Sanderson. Gentlemen's, first, J. Kennedy; consolation, Price Morris.

The hostesses for the evening who served refreshments were Mrs. J. Sabatino, Mrs. E. Mann, Mrs. J. Kennedy, Mrs. J. McCarthey and Mrs. O'Donnell.

Dogs Great Help In Teaching Music

VICTORIA (CP)—Dogs—lots of them—are a great help in teaching music to children, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Mellish have discovered.

"Everyone, especially housewives, should have a hobby," she said. "Our hobbies certainly fill in our spare moments, and we're definitely not bored with life. Children love dogs. Dogs love children."

NO DULL MOMENTS

So the Mellishes breed dogs and the children make the Mellish home their headquarters.

It gets a big confusing when a few violins, a piano and an accordian get going at the same time on different tunes, but everyone around the place loves it.

An artist of note, Mrs. Mellish used to give concerts and at one time had her own orchestra of 14 string instruments.

Mr. Mellish plays the violin and piano and is also fond of children, singing and animals. The Mellishes have accumulated 300 trophy cups for their prize dogs which they have shown all over the continent.

"We lose money on the dogs every year," said Mrs. Mellish, "but we both like them so we keep them around and sell a few puppies to help feed the rest."

Sick Room Hints For Roll Call

OMEMEE (ENS)—The Women's Institute met at the parsonage on Wednesday evening. President Mrs. D. Hicks presided and Mrs. V. E. R. Zufelt was in charge of the program. Roll call was answered with hints for the sick room. Mrs. Zufelt gave a demonstration on bed-side nursing. Mrs. H. Fisher, Mrs. R. Cornwall, Mrs. A. Hayes each gave suitable readings. Mrs. Robert Reeds showed colored slides of her trip to the west coast. Social hostesses were Mrs. James Magee, Mrs. E. MacPherson and Mrs. Zufelt.

Bethany News

Mrs. Sherman Montgomery and infant son Darrell Wayne of Peterborough are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Phillips.

Master David Merrick of Kingston spent several days this week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stacey.

John Henderson, Buckingham, Quebec, was home with his mother, Mrs. J. P. Henderson for last weekend.

Mr. Murray Shea suffered a broken arm on Wednesday. The accident occurred when he was towing his car with a team of horses.

Thomas Staples and Clarence Page of Bethany were lucky curlers in a jitney bonspiel at Lindsay last week — both winning large cured hams.

Mrs. Bruce Scott Hostess To Aid

FOWLER'S CORNERS (ENS). The Lakevale Ladies' Aid met on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Bruce Scott, with a good attendance.

The meeting opened with a short poem read by Mrs. Scott.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Ken Nurse and Mrs. Melville Moncrieff. Mrs. Moncrieff and Mrs. Nurse gave readings. The scripture reading was given by Mrs. Melville Deyell.

Roll call was answered with an item which had been made by each member for a bazaar to be held during the summer. Print was distributed among the members to be made up for the bazaar.

After a short business discussion the meeting was brought to a close, and a social half-hour enjoyed, with lunch being served by the lunch committee, Mrs. Rhea Bringsman and Mrs. Alma Blackbourn, assisted by the hostess.

LENGTHEN LIFE OF BROOM

Lengthen the life of your broom by hanging it so that the bristles do not touch the floor. Allowing it to stand in the closet wears the bristles and also mars the shape of the broom.

KILLS ODOR

If the odor of turnips bothers you when the vegetable is cooking, you can lessen it by adding a teaspoon of sugar to the water. The sugar also will improve the flavor.

WALKING PLEASURE

Walking with new, improved Miracle is like walking on a soft cushion. And you instantly feel the new comfort. Yet Miracle is strong enough to restore even obstinate misplaced bones back to normal position. Miracle does it gently, too, causing you no pain, in fact relieving pain.

Miracle FOOT-AID "Don't Neglect Your Feet"

Waterford, Ont., September 29, 1952

Miracle Arch Co.
Dear Sirs:

When I first came to your Clinic, my feet, ankles and legs were so sore I could hardly walk and it was very difficult to go up and down stairs. In fact I could only step one step at a time.

Had I not gotten help with Miracle Foot Aid, I would have had to quit work.

Now thanks to the help of Miracle Foot Aid, I can walk without pain, and with only normal tiredness.

Anyone suffering with foot or heel pains or back, I would certainly recommend them to come to you.

Yours very truly

(Signed) Clarence Chambers.

6—In Memoriam

ALLEN—In loving memory of Mr. Joseph R. Allen, who passed away February 20, 1952.
Oh what would I give to clasp your hand,
Your dear kind face to see,
Your loving smile your loving voice
That meant so much to me.
No one knows the silent heart ache,
Only those who have such can tell
Of the grief that is borne in silence
For the one I loved so well.
—J. Reginald Allen, son and family.

ALLEN—In loving memory of our father, Joseph Allen, who passed away, February 20th, 1952.
Calm and peaceful he is sleeping,
Sweetest rest that follows pain,
We who loved him sadly miss him,
But trust in God to meet again.
—Ever remembered by daughter Alice and grandchildren.

CURTAIN—In remembrance of John Allan Curtain who passed away, February 21st, 1952.
We watched him suffer day by day,
It caused us bitter grief
To see him slowly pine away
And could not give relief,
His weary hours and days of pain
His troubled nights are passed,
And in our aching hearts we know
He has found sweet rest at last.
—Mom, Dad, Renie and Stephen.

STAPLES—In loving memory of a dear grandfather who passed away February 20th, 1953.
We who loved you, sadly miss you,
As it dawns another year.
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of you are ever near.
—Ever remembered by Audrey (Mrs. E. Saltern) and family.

7—Card of Thanks

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the attending doctor, nurses and staff of Civic Hospital, Mr. Kenneth Stewart and all friends and relattives who remembered me with flowers, cards, fruit and visits during my stay in hospital.—Mrs. Charles Quick.

The family of the late Mrs. George Olan, take this opportunity of thanking the Rev. Mr. Butler, MacPherson Funeral Home also all relatives who remembered me with flowers and many other kindnesses shown during the recent sad bereavement of a dear mother.

India To Order British Jets

By PHILIP DEANE

NEW DELHI (OFNS) — Britain stands to get a substantial Indian order for jet aircraft, even though the French are after the same contract.

France's air minister, Louis Christians, was leaving for Delhi today at the head of a group of experts in an effort to negotiate a new purchase of French Ouragan jet fighters by India.

Two years ago the French successfully competed against British firms for Indian Air Force orders. The Ouragans bought then by India have not given complete satisfaction. Moreover, the Indian Air Force is worried by the fact that the Ouragans have been out of production in France for some time past. Consequently, spares have been progressively more expensive to get.

Two years ago France won the contract because the British could not give the Indian Air Force the advanced jets it wanted, nor could they compete with France for delivery. Now, however, the Indians can buy advanced jet fighters in Britain and can even receive permission to assemble these aircraft in India.

The best the French can hope for is to sell a few more Ouragans as reserves for the existing squadrons. And the Indian Air Force has let it be known that orders for new types are likely to go to Britain if India can get satisfaction on delivery limits and prices.

BADLY BURNED — Peter Beauchamp, 59, of 282½ Sherbrooke St., was rushed to St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, by Nisbett's ambulance Friday afternoon. He suffered second and third degree burns to his face, chest, abdomen, arms and hands while filling a fuel tank at the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co. Monday night. In serious condition, Mr. Beauchamp is gently lifted into the ambulance (above) where he was given oxygen and blood plasma throughout the 100-mile trip. The ambulance was given a police escort from St. Joseph's Hospital to St. Michael's. —(Examiner Staff Photo).

Weeds Cost Prairie Farmers 1-5 Of Returns

TORONTO (CP) — One of Canada's foremost experts on weed control said Friday that weeds cost farmers in the three Prairie provinces an estimated $255,000,000 a year—one-fifth of their crop returns.

H. E. Woods of the Manitoba agriculture department estimated that the loss in Ontario at $40,000,000.

He said in an address to the first annual meeting of the Canadian Agricultural Chemicals Association that extensive mechanization on Canadian farms is conducive to the spread of weeds.

DETERMINED ATTITUDE

A revolution in weed control had taken place in recent years. Some farmers were still indifferent but generally the attitude of defeatism had changed to one of determination to beat the age-old problem.

"I believe we are on the threshold of an era when chemical weed control is destined to play a much greater part than even the tremendous strides it has made in the last few years."

President Hostess To Coldsprings WMS

COLDSPRINGS (ENS). — The Women's Missionary Society met at the home of the president, Mrs. Percy Davidson, who presided.

Mrs. Herbert Davidson, who had attended as a delegate the Cobourg Presbyterial at Brighton January 27, gave a report. She stated that the 1954 allocation for the presbytery is $13,000.

Castleton WMS had read the most books in the past year, and were presented with a book.

There are 30 mission bands in the presbytery.

An expression of sympathy was extended to Mrs. Norman Lang in the death of her mother. Mrs. J. Ritchie gave a temperance reading. Mrs. P. Davidson donated a number of missionary books to the Coldsprings WMS.

The president announced the World Day of Prayer at Camborne United church on March 5.

It was decided that Mrs. A. Jamieson would be responsible for Christmas cards handed in.

Mrs. N. D. McIntosh was convener of the program. A scripture reading was given by Mrs. J. Rosevear. Responsive readings were given on adoration and praise, followed by confession and intercession.

The theme was taken from the study book. A short skit was presented on preparing a radio program as missionaries in Latin America. Those taking part were Mesdames V. M. Gilbert, H. McKinley, N. J. Dines, E. Morrison, and Mrs. N. D. McIntosh.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Mathew Linton and group.

Search Called Off

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Search for a British Army officer, last person still missing in the crash of a United States Air Force C-47 northeast of here Feb. 5, has been suspended temporarily, Alaska air command officials said today. Still unaccounted for among the 16 who started the ill-fated flight is Lt.-Col. W. West-Watson, British observer stationed at Elmendorf air force base. Six men survived the crash.

Outboard Marine Employee Rushed To Toronto Hospital

Suffering second and third degree burns, Peter Beauchamp, 282½ Sherbrooke St., was rushed to St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, for further treatment late Friday afternoon.

Mr. Beauchamp, 59, has been in St. Joseph's Hospital since early Monday night after being burned in an accident at the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing company. He was rushed there by car in a critical condition.

At St. Joseph's Hospital, Mr. Beauchamp was treated for second and third degree burns to his chest, abdomen, arms, hands, face and back. Listed as critical, he improved slowly.

Thursday night hospital authorities described his condition as "poor." His condition prompted the move to Toronto.

About 2 p.m. Nisbett's ambulance with a police escort started to Toronto with Mr. Beauchamp. A nurse attended him, giving blood plasma and oxygen to the burned man throughout the trip.

Escorted to Scarboro by the Ontario Provincial Police, the ambulance was guided through Scarboro by police there. Then over the last lap the Toronto accident squad escorted the ambulance.

Mr. Beauchamp was filling a fuel tank over a furnace when the accident happened. While filling the tank in the dye-casting department, the tank overflowed. The fluid fell to the top of the furnace and ignited.

Mr. Beauchamp was standing there and immediately the fire caught his shirt. Fellow workers rushed to his aid and within seven minutes he was in hospital.

Young Deep Sea Diver Works Way Through School

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. (CP)—A young deep sea diver is working his way through high school here.

Telescoping grades 11 and 12 into one year, Hans Dieter, a 23-year-old German immigrant, is the local collegiate's most unusual pupil. Weekdays he studies algebra and Canadian history. Weekends he explores the cold waters of the Lakehead with a salvage crew.

The diver, who came to Canada two years ago from Germany, had his education interrupted after the war. He found himself sole supporter of a family of five when he was 16. His parents were invalids and his brothers and sisters too young for work.

Hans started out with a salvage company at a Rhine river port in the Ruhr basin, recovering tugs sunk in the Rhine. One day he got a chance to "go down" and became a full-time diver.

WENT TO NAPLES

His work carried him to Naples in Italy where he found his most harrowing job. He was assigned with a crew of divers to recover bodies from an Italian troop ship sunk during the war with 2,000 soldiers aboard.

More than 900 bodies were found. Hans said he had a nervous breakdown after it was over.

Hans came to the Lakehead area through a succession of odd-jobs —bush worker, painter, cook in a railway rang, waiter and a welder at the local shipyard.

Several weeks ago Hans was working at the bottom of Steep Rock lake near here, looking for a 40-foot piece of dredge anchor pipe. The water was so cold, he could stay down only half an hour at a time.

WANTS TO BE TEACHER

Just 140 pounds and five feet, eight inches tall, Hans has to use equipment weighing 110 pounds. He practically disappears when he climbs into the diving suit, designed for over six feet.

When he first came to Canada his aim was to make money fast and return to Germany. Befriended by a Canadian family in Port Arthur who have encouraged him to finish school, Hans says he is completely converted and wants to stay on in Canada—but not as a diver.

He wants to be a teacher.

Meat Packing

and George Sts., the present A. B. Burrows premises; on the east side of George St. immediately south of the Dominion Bank, and at the corner of Park and Sherbrooke Streets.

T. Frank Matthews, son of the founder, succeeded his father, and during his years of management, the plant passed through several mergers, the first known as Matthews-Blackwell Co., and the final incorporation as a unit of Canada Packers Limited.

RETURNED FROM WAR

Gordon S. Matthews returned in 1918 from the first World War in which his older brother, Harold, was killed in action in France. Two years later the T. F. Matthews family moved to Toronto, and the son was appointed manager here.

For many years, and since T. F. Matthews' day, farmers of a wide area of central Ontario have delivered hogs to Peterborough. That radius of business has spread through the counties: Victoria, Durham, Northumberland, Hastings, Lennox-Addington, Prince Edward, Haliburton and Peterborough. This business has expanded from hogs to beef and lambs. Curing and refrigerating methods changed, and the enterprise of Canada Packers steadily gathered into its economy not only the meat products but other new branches of the industry until the colloquial expression was true, the plant utilized everything but the squeal. Material that once had been rated waste, was used in the making of fertilizer.

The bacon trade had been largely developed before World War I, but that emergency demand of plant capacity applied a tremendous empetus to that branch of the business and its methods.

Fats were refined for manufacture of soaps, and a by-product of that department was glycerin for which there was such a diversity of outlet as pharmaceuticals and explosives. The high protein content of blood recommended it as an ingredient in animal feeds.

The hides of cattle are passed on to the tanning industry. Hog bristles make brushes. And animal hair finds its way into automobile upholstering.

A tribute has been often paid to Canada Packers for their untiring research, and their enterprise in using by-products of the industry that were once estimated as valueless. Their animal feed branch could comprise a whole story in itself. It has been said, and from the company itself, that their profits have come largely from materials for which practical use has been developed.

The discovery of hormones and the development of products of animal glandular source in new phases of medicine invites the reminder that federal government graders, qualified veterinarians, ensure extraction only from healthy animals. Not so long ago glands were merely waste for which the only end was in the fertilizer tank.

Imagine associating with the packing industry, before research expanded its usefulness to the public, such a word as this — adrenocorticotropic hormone (ACTH) deprived from the pituitary gland about the size of a pea at the base of the brain. This gland from 100 hogs weighs about .9 of an ounce. Wm. C. Nash, chemist at C.P.C. informed the Examiner yesterday.

Insulin is obtained from the pancrease of cattle. The quantity from 20 animals is sufficient for one diabetic patient for a whole year. Adrenaline from the suprarenal gland is used by eye, ear and throat specialist doctors in reducing the flow of blood to affected parts.

However, that is a far departure from a sketch of the industry George Matthews set up in Peterborough 72 years ago. Present employees at CPC average around 275.

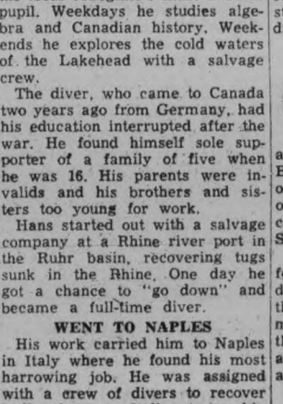
In the building of Peterborough, T. F. Matthews broadened his interest beyond his private business to the affairs of the municipality. He was one of the three original members of the Utilities Commission, elected by the people. In its beginning it was only the Waterworks Commission, the first utility to become publicly owned and operated.

Mr. Matthews was elected with T. H. G. Denne and W. H. Hill in 1902. His two associates appointed him chairman, and he continued in that administrative responsibility until 1919 when he moved to Toronto. His sense of public service and his business capabilities were recognized in that larger field by his appointment to the Toronto Harbor Commission.

Mr. Matthews was chairman of the commission for 18 years. Early in that period the old pump house and dam of the private company were abandoned, and the city's waterworks plant and system were established in the virtual park of their present estate.

Gordon Matthews followed the example of his father in offering himself for election to the commission. He was elected in 1926 when E. F. Mason was chairman and W. H. Bradburn the 3rd Commissioner, and was returned at the polls triennially until the end of 1952. During that long span he was 25 years chairman. Incidentally, and in the long chapter of the progress of the Utilities Commission, the distribution of electric power was transferred from private to public hands in 1914. The third utility, the gas works, followed in 1929, acquired as part of the property of the Peterborough Light and Power Company.

The record of the commission since 1902 is another chapter of accomplishment in the building of Peterborough, providing utilities that were necessary in home and factories and also in the growth of the city. Its more crowded years of activity are of recent memory.



EDUCATOR — Harold M. Nason, assistant director of educational services for the Nova Scotia department of education, has attracted the attention of educators in other parts of Canada and abroad with his new approach to the teaching of reading. His system leans heavily on word recognition through pronunciation and word pictures. It scraps the teaching of the alphabet in primary grades.—(CP Photo).

35 Detectives Hunt Anastasia

NEW YORK (AP) — Anthony (Tough Tony) Anastasia was hunted by 35 detectives today while two of his alleged waterfront "muscle men" were being held for Thursday's beating of another Brooklyn dock union official.

Frank Russo, 39, and Salvatore Trapani, 40, were arrested Friday night on charges of felonious assault and illegal possession of weapons in the attack on Thomas Rubino, 46.

Rubino, financial secretary of Local 1199 of the International Longshoremen's Association (Ind.) remained in critical condition today, an apparent victim of the fight between the ILA and the AFL.

Police said Russo and Trapani, officials of other ILA locals in Brooklyn, frequently have done "dirty work" for Anastasia, regarded as the ILA boss on the Brooklyn waterfront.

The detectives were assigned to find Anastasia after it became known that officers, who have been watching Anastasia for the last three months, had lost track of him Tuesday.

YPU To Enter Play In Drama Festival

COLDSRINGS (ENS) — Mr. and Mrs. Harold West were host and hostess to the Coldsprings YPU. Twelve members and one visitor attended.

Viva Minifie, stewardship and training convener was in charge and opened the meeting with the call to worship.

Jean Willis read the scripture. All repeated the second and third confessions in the hymnary. Bert Vanclief read a poem. Grace Wilton gave the topic.

The president, Bruce McIntosh presided for the business. Plans were made to enter the drama festival. The play chosen was "For He Has Great Possessions." Viva Minifie conducted recreation, after which lunch was served. The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

Germany Seeks More Trade Russia And East

BONN (OFNS)—News of the presence of Russian and Chinese trade delegations in East Berlin, added to Russia's announced intention of purchasing a million dollars worth of consumer goods, has accentuated the ever-latent German longing to regain its pre-war markets in the East. The feeling here is that if Germany gains no political advantages in the Berlin conference, at least it should get some trade benefits. Hand in hand with this go bitter allegations in industrial quarters that the Allies, notably Britain and France, have been using secret sessions at the Berlin conference to forward their own East-West trade ambitions to the exclusion of the Germans.

PRESSURE FROM INDUSTRY

Pressure from industry on the government for an increase in trade with countries behind the Iron Curtain culminated in a speech by Dr. Rheinhold Bende, chairman of the Bundestag Committee for Foreign Trade, in which he urged intensification on the grounds that Germany's markets in the West were steadily receding. Dr. Beutler, president of the Federal Association of German industry, called on the government last week to press the Allies to amend the Organisation for European Economic Cooperation embargo list on strategic goods for the Eastern block.

A constant complaint of German industry is that the Allies use their occupational role to practtice "unfair" and discriminatory methods of competition in East-West trade against West Germany. As the federal republic does not yet possess sovereignty to make its own foreign treaties, all trade agreements have been negotiated via the Allied High Command.

Up To Provinces To Safeguard Babies By Law

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal criminal law has no provision against trafficking in babies because adoption laws are under provincial jurisdiction.

Justice Minister Garson said Friday in the Commons that they should remain under provincial jurisdiction unless there are abuses which can't be controlled by provincial law. The Criminal Code was a "rather blunt and harsh instrument" to deal with relations between parents and children.

Mr. Garson made a statement to amplify his remarks in the House Thursday that the revised Criminal Code has no provision making it a crime to sell infants or children. CCF leader Coldwell said then that the reply might create a wrong impression outside of Canada.

Mr. Garson said there has never been a trace of slavery in Canada. However, the question raised dealt with the disclosure of a big baby-selling ring in Montreal.

ICE BRIDGE AT FALLS—An unusual close-up view of the ice bridge at Niagara Falls was taken by a photographer in a helicopter which hovered near the brink of the Horseshoe Falls. The ice cap is 40 feet thick. Snow and ice covering rocks at the foot of the falls add an artistic touch to the world-famous sight.—(CP Photo).

Noranda Mines Suing Railway

NORANDA, Que. (CP)—Noranda Mines Ltd., announced Friday it will sue Canadian National Railways for $26,000 damages in connection with alleged delays in the delivery of machinery and material.

The company, strikebound for six months by a union dispute which was settled Feb. 14 charged the CNR did not fulfill a contract to deliver the goods 'in due course."

The action concerns two box cars of material to be used in a new plant. The first car arrived here last Oct. 20 but train crews refused to take it through picket lines to the mine.

The second car arrived Nov. 29. Both stayed on a siding until Feb. 6 when they were delivered to the mine.

Drop Rent Controls

WOODSTOCK (CP)—City council Friday night decided to take no action on rent controls when the Ontario government drops them March 1.

Destruction Keeps Cost Of Picnic Tables High

TORONTO (CP) — Destruction keeps the cost of maintaining the province's 1,490 picnic tables along the main highways high, J. D. Millar, deputy minister of highways, said Friday.

Mr. Millar said in an interview that the maintenance cost of each table is estimated at from $35 to $40 a year.

"That cost would be cut by half if all the people who use them were as thoughtful, clean and considerate as the great majority," he said.

Mr. Millar said carving names on tables makes them harder to keep clean. Dirt becomes embedded in the carvings and creates a nuisance.

BEGAN IN 1930

Roadside parks and picnic sites were first introduced in 1930 and their propularity grew rapidly.

The deputy minister said sanitation is a particular problem, especially in northern Ontario.

"In some of the roadside parks, on Monday mornings, district cottagers on lakes and streams bring their garbage to the camps expecting that it will be removed by the department of highways maintenance forces. But too many late comers leave garbage piled right on the picnic tables where other visitors and campers want to have their meals.

Mr. Millar said that in northern Ontario the department has had cases of tables being used to build bonfires, or stolen for other uses.

3 RCN Members To Get Awards

OTTAWA (CP)—The Queen has approved awards to three members of the Royal Canadian Navy for their services aboard Canadian destroyers during the Korean war, the defence department announced today.

Capt. William Moss Landymore, 37, of Brantford has been made an officer of the Order of the British Empire for his "fine example of leadership and courage" while commander of HMCS Iroquois. He made two tours of duty with the United Nations fleet, commanding the Iroquois from October, 1951, until November, 1953.

Ordnance Lieut. Gerald Joseph Giroux, 27, of Ottawa and White Fox, Sask., and CPO. Lennox Clark, 29, of Victoria were mentioned in dispatches while serving aboard HMCS Athabaskan.

Hastings Crop Group Plans Year's Projects

STIRLING (ENS) — A project planning meeting of Hastings County Crop Improvement Association was held in Stirling Agricultural office.

About 20 were in attendance. President Ridley Wallbridge presided.

Douglas Parks, field crop specialist from Kemptville Agricultural School, and Kenneth Fallis, fieldman for the department of agriculture, Toronto, took part in the discussions. Plans were made for projects for the coming year.

PCs Capture Seat In Alberta

INNISFAIL, Alta. (CP) — Progressive Conservative membership in the 61-seat Alberta legislature was increased to three with the election Friday of W. J. C. (Cam) Kirby in the Red Deer by-election, a gain from Social Credit.

The third count of ballots gave Mr. Kirby 3,385 and Donald Prescott, Red Deer junior high school teacher and Social Credit candidate, 3,139.

Four candidates ran in Monday's by-election, made necessary by the death in December in a highway accident of Hon. David Ure, agriculture minister.

Standings in the house: Social Credit, 51; Liberal, 4; Progressive Conservative, 3; CCF, 2; and Independent Social Credit, 1.

Stockyards Report Profit Of $47,187

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario stockyards had a net profit of $47,187.12 in the 1952-53 fiscal year, it is shown in the annual report.

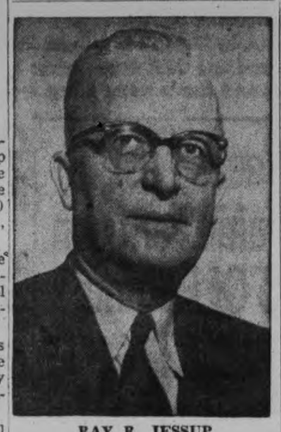
The report, tabled in the legislature by Provincial Secretary Welsh Friday, showed the profit was an increase of almost $20,000 over the previous year. The net income totalled $54,419.

The stockyards handled 385,004 cattle and calves during the year, an increase of 38,905. Total livestock handled was 785,214 compared with 692,608 in the previous year.

The co - operative marketing board reported loans totalling $96,750 to six co-operatives during the calendar year.

Auxiliary Holds Euchre

MARMORA (ENS)—The ladies' auxiliary of Marmora branch No. 237 Canadian Legion held a euchre party in St. Paul's parish hall on Thursday evening with six tables in play. The winners were Mrs. Clifford Jones (playing as gent) and Mrs. Donald McInroy. Refreshments were served at the close.



RAY R. JESSUP

Head Of Rotary To Visit Club

The Rotary club of Peterborough tomorrow will be host to Ray R. Jessup, Governor of District No. 247 of Rotary International, who is making his annual official visit to each of the 60 Rotary clubs in Ontario and Quebec. He will confer with President Paul Irwin, Secretary Dave Bell and other local officers on Rotary administration and service activities.

Mr. Jessup is a member of the Rotary club of Sudbury. He was elected District Governor of Rotary International for the 1953-54 fiscal year at the annual Rotary convention in Paris, France, last May. He is one of the 212 District Governors supervising the activities of some 8,000 Rotary clubs which have a membership of 372,000 business and professional executitves in 86 countries and geographical regions throughout the world.

Wherever Rotary clubs are located, their activities are similar to those of the Rotary club of Peterborough because they are based on the same general objectives — developing better understanding and fellowship among business and professional men, promoting community-betterment undertakings, raising the standards of business and professions, and fostering the advancement of good will, understanding and peacee among all the peoples of the world.

Each year, this world-wide service organization continues to grow in numbers and in strength. During the past fiscal year, for example, 217 new Rotary Clubs were organized in 42 countries of North, South and Central America, Europe, Asia, Africa, and the Islands of the Pacific.

Antique Torn Down

NAPANEE (CP) — This town's last link with the horse-and-buggy days was broken Friday with the removal of a church shed at Grace United Church. The building was the last of such structures in this area once provided by most churches for the protection of horses while their owners attended services.

Present White Paper On Ontario Forests

TORONTO (CP)—A white paper on Ontario forests will be presented in the legislature Monday.

Premier Frost indicated the report will set down a long-range policy on Ontario forests.

"We are at the point where the forest inventory is virtually completed in most parts of Ontario," he said in the house Friday. "What we now must do is establish a long-range policy on forests. There are unlimited problems, and the fairest way to put them to the people . . . is to place a white paper before the house. Then let those people who wish to make known their opinions, come before us."

He said the report, to be presented by Lands and Forests Minister Gemmell, will be referred to committee for study. It was prepared by Maj.-Gen. Howard Kennedy, forest conservation authority and Professor J. W. B. Sisam, dean of foestry at the University of Toronto, in co-operation with the lands and forests department.

DISCUSS ELECTION LAWS

A difference in opinion in government party ranks arose Friday over the report of the select committee on election laws.

Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar and Dr. S. F. Leavine (PC—Waterloo North) objected to the recommended $200 deposit by candidates in provincial elections and the lowering of the number of signatures on nomination papers from 100 to 10.

Mr. Dunbar said the deposit was "penalizing" a man offering himself for public service and a reduction of names on nomination papers would allow "crackpots" to run for office. He and Dr. Leavine favored 200 names.

H. C. Nixon (L—Brant) and W. J. Grummett (CCF—Cochrane South) expressed approval of a recommendation calling for permanent returning officers but disagreed on the deposit at all, calling it "undemocratic."

The report also recommended a 45-day period between the issuing of the election writ and the election day instead of the current 37-day period in summer and 44 in winter. It also suggested that election candidates be allowed to hire cars on election day and that those persons who "expect" to be away instead of the present "will" be away be allowed to vote in the advance poll.

Gold Reserves Up

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's official reserves of gold and United States dollars climbed by $15,600,000 during January to a nine-month high of $1,834,100,000, the Bank of Canada reported today.

SKILLED INDIANS

The Haida Indians long excelled all other Pacific coast tribes in wood-carving and painting.

One Out Of Every 45 Canadians On Federal Payroll In November

OTTAWA (CP)—One in every 45 Canadians was on a federal payroll last November.

The bureau of statistics Friday reported that federal government employees totalled 171,452 last November and employees of government enterprises 146,633. That is a total of 318,085 out of a population of some 15,000,000.

The annual payroll for the civil service that month totalled $39,520,152 and for government enterprises such as Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., the CBC and similar agencies was $39,020,850. That was a total payroll of $80,224,002.

The bureau's analysis of the government service also showed that the number of civil servants was up about 10,000 from the previous year and the payroll was about $2,500,000 higher. The number of employees of government agencies increased about 6,000 and the payroll was almost $4,000,000 higher.

The defence department was the biggest employer of temporary and permanent civil servants with 28,391 in November of last year. It also had the biggest payroll at $5,660,090. The post office was next with 19,665 and a payroll of 4,592,198.

The revenue department had 12,888 on a $3,430,156 payroll and the veterans' affairs department had 12,455 on a $2,902,688 payroll.

Manitoba May Redraw Some of Boundary Lines

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The boundary lines of Manitoba constituencies may be redrawn to keep pace with development and population shifts.

Premier Campbell of Manitoba proposed in the legislature at Winnipeg Friday that a committee be appointed to study the problem. It is expected Ontario will set up a similar committee this year.

The last Manitoba redistribution, in 1949, eliminated two rural constituencies, gave two additional seats to Winnipeg, a second to St. Boniface and created the constituency of Kildonan-Transcona. The house now has 57 seats.

As throne speech debate continued in the Saskatchewan legislature, the only woman member, Mrs. Marjorie Cooper, CCF member for Regina, said she cannot support the view that restriction makes people want to drink and easy accessibility would decrease use of liquor. She said any proposal to make the province's liquor laws more liberal should be approached with extreme caution.

INCREASED PENALTIES

A measure introduced in the Alberta legislature would increase the fine for illegal entry into a prison from $10 to $50 and the alternative jail term from one month to three. The increased penalties also would apply for trespassing or loitering on prison property.

The Quebec legislature discussed details of the proposed provincial income tax. Premier Duplessis said his government is ready to reconsider fixing the filing date at March 15, six weeks ahead of the deadline for federal returns.

In the New Brunswick Legislature, every opposition member gave notice of a request for information. The Progressive Conservative government will face the biggest single list of opposition questions in years.

Appeal To Parents

CALGARY (CP) — One of the greatest problems facing schools is the increasing failure of parents to discipline their children, a teachers' convention here was told by Dr. E. P. Scarlett, chancellor of the University of Alberta "We can't educate until the home civilizes children," he said.

MONTREAL STEWARDESSES Audrey Alexander, 26, Diana Zacaruk, 24, Joan Wrigley, 26, and Ruth Fox, 23, vote "thumbs-down" on being retired at the age of 32, referring to a new policy of a U.S. airline of grounding the "flygirls" at that age.

Canadians Find It Harder To Break In Acting In U.K.

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON (CP)—Montreal actor Stuart Nichol, who says a Canadian accent is no longer a sure passport to success in the British theatre, wants two good parts "under my belt" before returning to Canada.

Nichol, ex-RCAF rear gunner, came to London in 1948 to gain experience for a future in Canada's "growing theatre." He found it takes about two years to break into drama circles here—and longer to get established.

"The market is flooded with Canadians," he said. "It's not so easy as in pre-war days to cash in on a North American accent."

So the one-time scholar from McGill University and the Royal Military College at Kingston, Ont., cultivated an English accent as "a second string to my bow"—and most of his parts so far have been Canadian.

RADIO EXPERIENCE

In 1949 he introduced the role of Alex, bombastic Canadian immigrant brother, to the radio series "Mrs. Dale's Diary." This soap opera-style family story has been running since 1948 and Nichol has played this part intermittently since.

He now is one of several Canadian actors and actresses making a commercial radio series for broadcasting in Canada. The half-hour recordings dramatize the life and work of the RCMP.

This is the second radio series featuring the mounties in which he has played varied parts. In 1952-53 he acted in a series of some 30 records called "The Mounties."

There are two BBC jobs that stick in Nichol's memory. His first TV part was as a knife-thrower in a semi-documentary story of a backstreet theatrical boarding house. A real knife-thrower "stood-in" for the actual variety act—and one night this entertainer got so drunk he threatened to knife his woman assistant.

"Needless to say," said Nichol, "she was his partner no longer."

Nichol recalls with more pleasure a visit to Aberdeen in 1953 to act with Lord Tweedsmuir, son of a former governor-general of Canada, in a radio dramatization of his book "Hudson's Bay Trader."

PLAYED THRILLERS

Nichol has just finished two appearances in a serial thriller for TV produced by Toronto's Alvin Rakoff. This month he will be seen in the film "Eight O'Clock Walk." He has a small part as a London cop.

"I'm sure I'll get the west end chance I want if I stick around," he said. He's eager, however, to get back to Canada. His sister, Montreal actress Eleanor Stuart, who played Shakespeare in Stratford, Ont., last summer with Alec Guinness and Irene Worth, is keeping him up to date on Canada's theatre world.

Nichol is a good-looking, six-footer with sandy hair and blue eyes.

Mrs. Ducie Hostess To Mission Circle

WARKWORTH (ENS)—The Cramahe Baptist Mission Circle met at the home of Mrs. Herb Ducie.

The president, Mrs. Moran Grills presided over the opening exercises. Mrs. J. B. McKague led in prayer and Mrs. Don Ducie gave the scripture reading.

The secretary's report was given by Mrs. C. Rusk and Mrs. D. Dingwall gave the treasurer's report.

It was decided to have Mr. Williams of Colborne as guest speaker at the next meeting.

Readings were given by Mrs. T. Glenny, Mrs. D. Dingwall and Mrs. Norman Fitchett. Mrs. D. Ducie and Mrs. L. Glenn sang a duet. Mrs. J. B. McKague spoke on Jane Scott.

Cancer Symptoms Explained To WI

The South Smith WA held their February meeting at the home of Mrs. Elmer Milbourn with 15 members present.

President Mrs. Clarence Mann presided for the meeting the theme of which was "Health," in charge of Mrs. Archie Bulmer, the health convener.

Mrs. Bulmer had arranged for representatives of the Cancer Society of Peterborough to come to give an outline of the work carried on by their society.

Mrs. Gordon Langthorne showed the film "Breast Self-Examination" after which Mrs. Claire Stuart, vice-president of the cancer society, spoke on the work carried on by their organization. She stressed the four danger signals or early symptoms of cancer and the importance of seeing a doctor immediately. She pointed out however, that such symptoms might or might not indicate cancer.

She also explained other details of their work which is mainly lay education, welfare work and fund raising. In connection with the fund raising, Mrs. Stuart made an appeal for volunteers for the April campaign, an estimated 350 volunteers are needed.

These ladies were thanked on behalf of the institute by Mrs. W. Rosborough.

Another feature of the afternoon program was a "Silent Auction" in charge of Mrs. L. McKee and Mrs. Albert Bulmer. The sum of $10 was realized from the sale of home baking, aprons, etc., which were on display.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Lockington and Mrs. Bulmer.

Mystery Donor

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP) — A rifle of somewhat ancient vintage was left at the Moose Jaw museum some time ago. Now the museum committee is appealing for information so that the rifle's history and the donor's name may be attached to the relic.

Securities Trading Has Reached First Rough Going In 1954

By BOB JOHNSTONE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto, New York, and Montreal stock market activity moved into 1954's first tempest this week.

Although no major market drop resulted from the harder going, much of it from profit-taking, it did hit investors who had been watching prices climb steadily for six weeks.

Papers and refining oils bore the brunt of the Toronto drop. Losses later spread to utilities, foods, manufactures and steels. The steels had been strong two weeks before and most observers attributed much of their weakness to delayed profit-taking.

Textiles, too, were lower, a standard position for more than four months.

The final session ended on a slightly stronger note, however, as papers, steels, liquors and foods led a slight upturn.

MINES WEAK

Mining issues were also weaker with uraniums and Bathurst-area base metals still unable to show the activity that sent them shooting upward last year.

(The penny boom was at its peak market had its quietest session of 1954 as only 1,950,000 shares were traded.)

Base metals remained lower as commodity prices, particularly those of lead and zinc, were low. Profit-taking cut gold issues such as Preston East Dome and East Malartic. Manitouwadge-area base metals were steady in cautious buying although Geco reached its high point, $13, then eased.

The Friday-to-Friday comparison showed industrials down 2.56 at 325.02, golds down .79 at 73.57, base metals down 2.58 at 138.12 and western oils down 2.92 at 92.45.

Montreal trading was irregular and all groups closed slightly lower. Banks slipped a little in mixed trading near the close, papers were down in mixed trading from the opening and utilities were lower in dull trading all week. Mines were lower every session although western oils closed slightly stronger.

Banks were off .03 at 37.73, utilities off 1.1 at 96.6, industrials off 2.9 at 184.4, combined off 2.3 at 155.1, papers off 1.62 at 830.17 and golds were higher .64 at 54.95.

New York trading opened with a stormy irregular session and closed quietly with little interest in any group. Steels, oils and railroads drew most attention, and all were slightly lower at the close.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down $1.10 at $113.80.

Many Newspapermen At Whitaker Funeral

BRANTFORD (CP) — Friends and newspaper associates Friday attended the funeral of Arthur T. Whitaker, Brantford Expositor news editor who died Tuesday at the age of 63.

A newspaper man 48 years, Mr. Whitaker served as news editor of the Expositor for 39 years.

Attending with numerous Brantford residents were representatives of many Ontario newspapers and of The Canadian Press, for which Mr. Whitaker had been Brantford correspondent since 1917.

Rev. R. F. Bullen and Rev. F.W. Schafter conducted the service. Burial was in the Farringdon burial ground.

Suggest 10-Year Plan For Forests In Ontario

EVERY WEEK is Brotherhood Week for these children from many lands who study and play together at Central School in Peterborough. Lessons in living together are unnecessary. Only differences of language require the use of books, as demonstrated in the top photo by Richard Payne, a native Canadian, who helps Chufon Mac (left) and Allen Hum with their adopted language. The English language is no barrier for Roderick Colburn (lower photo) who came to this country from his native England. Waiting her turn with him at the drinking fountain is Greta Birl, a newcomer from Denmark, while Sonya Fyn, from the Netherlands, slakes her thirst between periods of study. —(Examiner Staff Photos)

School Boy Charged With Slaying

Rail Conductor Shot By Boy 15 In Family Quarrel

NORTH BAY (CP)—A 15-year-old high school student was charged today with the Sunday morning rifle-slaying of his father. The charge was laid under the Juvenile Delinquency Act and the boy was not taken into custody.

Russell R. Croghan, 40-year-old Canadian Pacific Railway conductor, was killed by a single bullet from a .22-calibre rifle he gave his son for Christmas.

Police said the boy told them he did not know there was a bullet in the rifle and had aimed it at his father "to scare him."

The shooting followed a family quarrel at the Croghan home.

Police were reluctant to give any details of the case. Chief J. W. Pilgrim said he did not know when the boy will appear in court. Juvenile courts are held here each Friday afternoon and are not open to the public.

BOY 'PHONED POLICE

The boy called the police station early Sunday but was so distraught he could not make himself understood and his mother took over the phone and told police what had happened.

When Chief Pilgrim arrived at the house the boy had been put to bed with a sedative given to him by Dr. F. J. Lindsdell, who had been called. The lad slept during the day but was questioned by police in the evening.

Witnesses at the house after the shooting said that when police arrived the boy was sitting on the stairs, his head buried in his hands, sobbing.

Chief Pilgrim said that the boy told police he did not realize the gun was loaded. The boy had used the gun to shoot rats at the city dump and apparently thought he had fired off all the rounds he had.

Croghan was struck by one round in the forehead.

Has Lung Puncture

MADOC. — John Stewart, 35, of Madoc, is in Belleville General Hospital with a punctured lung as a result of an accident on Highway No. 7, seven miles east of here Saturday night. He was a passenger in a car driven by Ross Bristol, who said his car was crowded off the road by an oncoming car. Stewart was thrown out of the car as it left the road and went through a fence. He was pinned under the car when it rolled over. His condition was described as fair.

Say Industry May Die In 20 Years

White Paper Urges Long-Range Management Program

TORONTO —(CP)—A long-range management program, coupled with a 10-year development program for Ontario's depleted forest resources, was proposed today in a government white paper tabled in the Ontario legislature.

The 113-page paper, based on a recently-completed forest resources inventory, predicted that unless remedial measures are taken, the province's sawmilling industry will die within the next 20 years.

"It is estimated that the present stands of white and red pine will last for 17 years at even the present small cut. It will have taken less than a century of exploitation to deplete the once great pineries of the Ottawa-Huron region in Ontario to the vanishing point, the paper said. "With the decline of white pine, distress has spread through the sawmilling industry in Ontario at a time when the province is experiencing its greatest industrial prosperity."

USE OTHER TREES

To meet this situation, the paper said the sawmilling industry may have to shift to other species of trees and work under long-term agreements instead of annual contracts.

As a start of reforestation, a pilot program of operational size was proposed in the Algonquin region, for the development of reforestation techniques in the white pine area.

The paper, tabled by Lands and Forests Minister Gemmell, suggested placing forests under a "modern system of sustained yield management."

CAN BE REGULATED

"Except for red and white pine, the forest situation can be success-

Privy Council Says Federal Gov't Has Road Control

LONDON (CP)—The Privy Council ruled today that the federal government is the only Canadian body with authority to legislate with regard to the use of highways as part of an interprovincial bus service. The judicial committee of the Privy Council said in a reserved judgment that it was allowing the appeal of a United States bus company against a Supreme Court of Canada decision of October, 1951. It rejected an appeal by Ontario, Prince Edward Island and Alberta, supported by British Columbia, Quebec and New Brunswick. Costs were awarded to the American company.

TWO-PART DECISION

The Supreme Court of Canada ruling was in two parts. The Privy Council upheld one and reversed the other.

This was the Supreme Court ruling:

1. New Brunswick holds the power to restrict operations of the bus line within its boundaries.

2. The province is not entitled to control the company's movements across international or provincial borders.

Ontario, Alberta and Prince Edward Island appealed the second part of the ruling. The bus company and the two major railways appealed the first.

The federal government intervened in support of the latter appeal while Nova Scotia asked that both appeals be thrown out.

The Privy Council ruled in favor of the bus company, the two major railways and the Canadian government by reversing the first part and upholding the second.

The ruling was, in effect, an upholding of the principle of federal control of trans - border highway traffic.

THREE-WAY CONFLICT

The case was brought from a Supreme Court of Canada ruling in October, 1951. This said that the United States-owned Bus company, Mackenzie Coach Lines of Lewiston, Me., was entitled to pick up or deposit inside New Brunswick those passengers who had bought tickets outside the province with stop-over privileges.

Three provinces — Ontario, Alberta and Prince Edward Island—appealed. Support was given by Quebec, British Columbia and New Brunswick.

The American company placed a counter-appeal, supported by the PRIVY COUNCIL

Troops Corner Last Remnants Of Terrorists

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters) — British troops today bottled up the last remnants of a desperate Mau Mau terrorist band at the end of a 100-mile running battle north of here since last Thursday.

The troops this morning closed a ring around thickly - wooded Ruathia ridge at the foot of the rugged Aberdare mountains Their trap contained an estimated 80 terroists—all that remain of a fierce raiding party originally numbering well over 200.

Police and native guard units tightened the ring held by the British troops, while other units fanned back over the long corridor where the bitter battle was fought. Casualties inflicted on the terrorists in the fight's climax this week-end are expected to rise above 100 when all the bodies are counted.

The battle—the biggest success yet scored by the security forces in their 16-month anti-terrorist campaign — began on Thursday after the gang raided a police post at Kandara, 30 miles northeast of here. Police and troop units, native and British, harried the 200-strong gang as it fled back toward the Aberdares.

Charge Wife, 17 In $10,000 Policeman Theft

TORONTO (CP) — A 17-year-old Toronto wife has been charged in connection with the $10,000 "bogus policeman" robbery here last Tuesday, police said today.

A charge of receiving $100, laid against Mrs. Darlene Johnston, brings to four the number of persons charged in connection with the briefcase snatch from a woman insurance company clerk as she crossed a busy street in suburban Swansea.

Previously charged were three natives of England, one a police officer, whom police said planned to use the robbery money to go back there. They are constable Terry Thomas, 25, of Swansea police, and Frank Stevens and Peter Mason, both 26.

Mrs. Johnston appeared in court today and was remanded to Feb. 26 on $5;; bail.

CARRIED STOLEN MONEY

In an interview today, she quoted Mason as telling her by telephone: "I'm the one who went and pulled the bank robbery." She said she went to a Toronto theatre at his request.

" 'Where is your purse?' was the first question he asked. He started taking money from the paper bag he was carrying and transferred it to my purse."

Mrs. Johnston said she and Mason went to another theatre where Mason transferred the silver back from the purse into his pockets.

She said she had first met Mason in a restaurant where she worked.

Missing Plane Has Turned Up

SUDBURY (CP) — A private plane, reported missing Sunday on a flight to North Bay, has turned up at Parry Sound.

Airport officials at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., said today the pilot phoned from Parry Sound this morning saying he was forced to land his ski-equipped craft on a lake near there because of weather. The pilot, Walter Gulay of Gimli, Man., was flying the plane from Sault Ste. Marie to Newfoundland.

Owner of the plane was reported to be Frank Ledrew of Corner Brook, Nfld.

The pilot landed at Sudbury airport Saturday and asked for five gallons of fuel so that he would be sure of getting to North Bay. He also asked for a map of the area.

Some bush pilots said the pilot may have landed to wait out a heavy rain.

CCF Convention In July

OTTAWA (CP) — The 13th national convention of the CCF will be held at Edmonton July 28 to 30, CCF headquarters announced today.

Stabs Fellow-Convict On Exercise Parade

KINGSTON (CP)—A knife-stabbing in Kingston penitentiary Sunday resulted in one of the inmates being wounded several times in the left side and groin, prison officials reported today.

Although the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church were administered, officials said his condition is satisfactory today and not considered critical.

It is understood the stabbing arose out of a quarrel, the nature of which has not yet been determined.

The incident occurred just after the afternoon exercise period.

The argument arose on the second floor of the cell block. One inmate threw a cup of coffee at another. The second convict, wielding a home-made knife, rushed at another prisoner, stabbing him several times.

Beef Bull Show

TORONTO (CP) — The annual beef bull show and sale of the Ontario Beef Cattle Improvement Association will be held here March 9-10 at the Canadian National Exhibition grounds.

Bulls offered are inspected by a culling committee and those ruled undesirable as sires will not be eligible for sale.

Propose $1 Resident Angling Licence

TORONTO (CP) — Introduction of a $1 resident angling licence to help pay for a 10-year program of fishery and wildlife management was proposed in a white paper tabled in the Ontario legislature today.

The paper, a study of Ontario's forest resources, said the licence, plus the saving achieved by the closing down of non-productive fish hatcheries, would finance the estimated $5,500,000 program.

It recommended the closing of fish hatcheries at Sarnia, Southampton, Little Current, Fort Frances, Normandale and Collingwood; called for an increase in the number of public shooting areas—at the rate of one a year; and an inventory of wildlife and fish.

"Research into habits and life history of all forms of wildlife is imperative, if we are to integrate the various types of land use and achieve the best returns from our renewable natural resources.

OTHER PROPOSALS

The paper also recommended:

Development of 200 small impoundments for producing waterfowl, muskrat and upland game birds;

One new marsh restoration project each year;

A planning program for a farm-game habitat, based on the establishment of a demonstration farm which could be used as a nursery and as an experimental area for quail and pheasants in captivity; enough to provide trapper with a major part of his annual income; that trappers be allowed to use their areas as a place to guide tourists, fishermen and hunters;

An increased staff of conservation officers—there are 200 now—to meet the demands created by the growing influx of sportsmen;

Regulation and control of tourist resorts and private camps by a system of zoning recreational areas;

Establishment of nature programs in Sibley provincial park in the Port Arthur area and the Kenora district; a firm statement of government policy on water pollution legislation and regulations and the addition of a full-time chairman and staff, if necessary, to the pollution control board; training courses for guides and a program of guide licensing according to individual qualifications.

Storm Wrecks 3,000 Sq. Miles

SYDNEY, Austrlia (AP) — The worst storm and floods in New South Wales' history ended today, leaving some 3,000 square miles of the state's northern coast a devastated shambles.

Eighteen persons, and possibly 22, were dead, thousands were homeless and the damage was reckoned in the millions of pounds after the two days of cyclonic disturbance during which 10 to 20 inches of rain fell on the coastal plain.

"The sea seems to have gone inland at least 30 miles," said a veteran airline pilot after a flight over the area.

The storm centre finally veered out to sea and most of the north coast rivers were reported subsiding. It was believed further serious flooding was unlikely.

Entire Population Attends Funeral Of 4

COCHRANE (CP)—The entire population of this northern Ontario town lined the streets today for the funeral of the four victims of a fire last Friday which gutted their two-storey dwelling.

Mrs. Corrine Theriault, 32, her two sons, Raymond, 13, and Norman, one, and a daughter,, Rolande, 14, perished in the heat of a small upstairs bedroom.

Requiem mass was sung at the Church of the Transfiguration and members of the Cochrane volunteer brigade formed a guard of honor.

Pledges Help If U.S. At War

WINTER PARK, Fla. (AP)—External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson Sunday night pledged Canada's help to the United States in the event of war.

Speaking on Rollins College Animated Magazine, a forum-type gathering in which persons from varied walks of life read their articles instead of having them published, Pearson described Canada as the junior member of a North American partnership "which will not be dissolved by Communist blandishment or isolationist timidity."

"It would be tempting for us to step aside in any battle of the giants," he said. "But that is not the way we feel about it.

"The conflict is not between empires and powers but between freedom and slavery . . . So we rang ourselves on the side of freedom, under the leadership of the United States of America."

Plan $1,500,000 Building For Toronto Metro Council

TORONTO (CP)—A $1,500,000 building to house all metropolitan departments and council will be recommended by Metro officials. The building, which would probably be located in midtown Toronto, will conflict with plans to merge city and Metro offices in a proposed civic square.

City members of Metro council have been urging metro to join the city in a civic square building project, defraying much of the costs for the project.

Since the Toronto metropolitan area was formed last spring, department heads have had to find space where they can. The result is offices scattered through half a dozen downtown buildings with committees compelled to meet in three different buildings.

Metro officials are known to favor locating a new building much closer to the geographical centre of the area than the present city hall.

Jury Hearing Balcombe Trial

CORNWALL (CP) — An Ontario Supreme Court grand jury today began considering a murder indictment against Canadian army Lieutenant Peter E. R. Balcombe, 24, of London, Ont.

The indictment charges Balcombe with the murder of 20-year-old Marie Anne Carrier of Bienville, Que., last Oct. 15.

Chief Justice J. C. McRuer is presiding.

The nude and stabbed body of the CWAC reserve sergeant was found sprawled in a ditch five miles north of Iroquois. She had died from several knife thrusts and wore only an aquamarine ring on her engagement finger.

If the grand jury return a true bill, the trial will probably get underway tomorrow.

Crown attorney R. P. Milligan, of Cornwall, expects to call 35 witnesses.

Explosion, Fire Raze Big Power Warehouse

REGINA (CP) — Explosion and fire destroyed the Saskatchewan Power Corporation's main warehouse in north Regina early Sunday. Loss was estimated at $500,000.

The building, two large RCAF hangars joined to form a single unit half the size of a city block, contained meters, transformers, insulators, wiring and other electrical equipment, besides corporation vehicles.

No one was injured and cause of the fire was not known. An investigation is scheduled for today.

Spend Less On Equipment

RAF To Be Given First Atomic Bombs

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain will supply atomic bombs to the RAF for the first time this year, it was announced today.

Air Secretary Earl de l'Isle and Dudley, made the disclosure in a report on estimated RAF expenditures for the 1954-55 year.

Prime Minister Churchill's government announced last Thursday that "atomic weapons" were being produced in Britain and being delivered to the armed forces. Today's announcement specifically mentioned bombs. The air secretary said:

"We are allowing (in the budget) for the first time for some atomic bombs."

The air secretary said that more money would be spent on planes and weapons but much less on equipment, stores and buildings in the coming year. Thus, the total estimate of costs he said, is £491,640,000 ($1,377,000,000), a reduction of about £6,425,000 in the previous year's expenditures.

SET-UP CHANGING

His report said modern trends in air warfare have produced many changes in organization of the air force.

"Many, if not all, of these changes and improvements are guided weapons coming over the horizon," he said.

Since the modern bomber can go extremely fast and change direction rapidly, "We have stepped up the whole of our ground organization and made changes in the command system to match the needs of operations that may often be conducted above the speed of sound," he commented.

He reported a serious need for more pilots and navigators.

BOMBS STORED SAFELY

The minister said the storage of atom bombs would cause no particular safety problems. The air force has made special arrangements to store them.

Longer and stronger runways are being constructed in Britain for her three new atom bombers—the Valiant, the Vulcan and the Victor, he said.

The air minister said the air force "continues to derive great advantage" from the aircrew training which the Canadian government provides for North Atlantic treaty nations.

3 Men Stabbed In Street Fight

OSHAWA (CP) — Three Oshawa men were admitted to hospital with stab wounds after a street fight early today.

Bernard Petrowsky, 34, was in serious condition with a punctured lung.

Less severely hurt were Mike Breda and Walter Maryniuk, both 27.

Police said the fight apparently started over money.

Indo-China Truce Asked By Nehru

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Premier Jawaharlal Nehru today proposed that all parties concerned in the Indo-China war should agree on a cease-fire "without any party giving up its own position."

Nehru told the House of the Peo- forthcoming conference in Geneva, Switzerland, on the Indo-China and Korea problems.

Nehru emphasized, however, that his government has no intention of intervening in the war between the French union forces and Communist-led Vietminh rebels in Indo-China nor should any responsibility in trying to effect a cease-fire.

Nehru Gives Canadian Prime Minister Warm Welcome On Arrival In India

NEW DELHI (CP) — Prime minister St. Laurent today had his first smell of mysore incense during a courtesy call on Prime Minister Nehru.

"I like that very much," the Canadian leader said the south Indian sandalwood burned on a table in front of a sofa where the two men were chatting in Nehru's foreign ministry office.

The Canadian prime minister received a warm personal welcome to India from Nehru on his arrival here Sunday.

The smiling leader of more than 300,000,000 Asians was at Palam airfield when the visitor's four-engined plane touched down after a 1¼-hour flight from Lahore across the northern border of Pakistan.

Nehru wearing white trousers, a tan knee-length jacket and his familiar white cap waved from the foot of the high gangway leading up to the door of the C-5 when the Canadian leader appeared.

The two men exchanged a friendly handshake on the air field concrete and the Indian prime minister chatted with members of the Canadian world tour party while Prime Minister St. Laurent, from a stand surrounded by potted plants, was saluted by an army, navy and air force guard of honor.

MEETS DIPLOMATS OFFICIALS

Nehru accompanied him while he made his way shaking hands down a long line of foreign diplomats, Indian cabinet ministers, service chiefs and Canadians living in India.

The Canadian leader, his son Jean-Paul and daughter, Mrs. Hugh O'Donnell were taken to the palatial residence of India's president, the official residence in pre-republican days of the British viceroy.

Nehru showed his guest about the vast grounds, about the residence and later dined alone with him. The two men will have several private talks during the Canadian prime minister's Indian visit of one week, the longest o his tour.

St. Laurent was in the president's box in parliament when Nehru spoke, pleading today for a cease-fire in Indo-China.

BARS FOREIGN TROOPS

Speaking in a lower house debate on President Rajendra Prasad's inaugural address, Nehru reasserted India's independent foreign policy with the declaration:

"On no account, whatever the occasion may be, are we going to allow any foreign troops to land in India."

Deputies cheered as Nehru, in a renewed attack on proposed U.S. military aid to Pakistan, said:

"We do not want to enter into this circle of hatred, violence and fear that is the cold war—and we do not want others to do so either."

Nehru pleaded for the great powers to abandon "misguided ideas of what is security."

DEVELOPING SECURITY

"I am prepared to accept that the thought of the people behind this U.S. military aid to Pakistan is the idea of developing security in this region. It may be that from some military point of view this may be justified.

"But I am absolutely certain that instead of adding to the security of the region it adds to the tensions of the region, it adds to feelings of insecurity in Asia and it adds to the fears.

"It is a wrong step. A soldier's idea of security and a politician's or statesman's are not the same. When the soldier's voice comes first in peacetime then it is likely that peace will be converted into war."

CIL Plant Stops Sinking, Hope To Fill Hole

WINDSOR (CP)—The sinking of the earth stopped Sunday in a huge cave-in at the $6,000,000 Canadian Industries Limited chemical plant and plans went forward to repair the damage where a sudden settling of the ground Friday left some buildings almost buried and others tilted at crazy angles. Officials of the CIL and the adjacent Canadian Salt Company plant Sunday night pondered means of filling the hole, which also swallowed up part of a railway spur.

A collapse far underground in an old salt mine working left at the surface a water-filled hole nine yards deep, 125 yards wide and 175 yards long. In the hole were several buildings that toppled into it after the earth gave way with a rumble about noon Friday.

Philip F. Morand, works manager of Canadian Salt Company on the adjacent property, said his firm will be back in full production Tuesday. He said a new office building, from which furnishings and records were hastily evacuated Friday when cracks appeared in the walls, will be reoccupied at once.

At the chemical plant near the banks of the Detroit river, all 300 employees were due to return to work with the possibility they will be assigned for a time to jobs other than their regular ones. Some of their former working quarters in the chlorine-producing section of the big plant were entirely or partially submerged in water that gushed up from underground after the cave-in and formed a little lake around the tilted buildings.

FELL 27 FEET

The ground dropped 22 feet after the initial cave-in, then went down another five feet in spots, with the earth gradually crumbling back from the main pit.

A storage warehouse containing expensive equipment which officials hope to salvage was up-ended under water and left with the point of its hip roof thrust above the surface. The plant pumphouse with $10,000 worth of machinery sank to the window tops.

A small office building and a two-storey washroom went under to about ceiling level. A loading platform for chlorine was partly submerged. A railway spur went down.

Employees laid a temporary pipeline to a tank car and pumped off chlorine escaping from storage tanks. Gas was allowed to escape from a big hydrogen tank after the tank threatened to topple.

Engineers faced the problem of how to fill the gigantic hole.

Install Officers More Conclave

The installation of officers of Moore conclave No. 15 of the Red Cross of Constantine was held on Saturday evening, conducted by III Kt. Comp. F. G. Mann, assisted by four past sovereigns of Holy Land conclave No. 3 at Toronto, headed by R III Kt. Comp. W. J. Brackner, grand recorder of the Imperial Grand Conclave of Canada.

The Peterborough conclave was first instituted in August 1870, with C. D. MacDonald as first sovereign.

Preceded by the customary dinner catered for by Hooper's, the officers installed on Saturday were, Most Puisant Sovereign, John Dishart; Viceroy Eusebius, Leonard H. Bearne; Senior General, Robt. S. Cotton; Junior General, E. Neil Gregory; High Prelate, Stanley Y. Walsh, MD; Treasurer, Cyril K. Lech; Recorder, Leslie F. Dyer; Almoner, Sidney M. Sandham; Marshal, E. John Wilmink; Orator, Donald T. Crawford; Standard Bearer, Percy D. Windrim; Prefect, Walter H. Mortlock; 1st Aide, Morley H. Hancock; 2nd Aide, E. Noble Armstrong, M.D., Herald Malcolm D. Munroe; Sentinel, F. S. Crichton.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

AT YWCA TONIGHT

James Bryden, of Ontario Agricultural College, was here this afternoon for the meeting of Horticultural Society tonight at the YWCA. His subject will be a timely discussion on lawns and their care, and generally how the householders can have better lawns around their homes.

SPECIAL SERVICE

When a combined service of the Scouts, Guides, Cubs and Brownies was held at St. George's Anglican church Sunday morning, the main hall had to be used as these organizations have grown so much the church no longer accommodates them and their families. The altar erected for the occasion was flanked with the respective flags and Scout and Guide prayers were said and hymns were suited to the occasion. Lessons were read by Scout Bill Kokesh and Guide Sandra Dawson. Rector, the Rev. H. J. Scuse, talked on the life of the founder, Lord Robert Baden-Powell, whose strong love and appreciation of the beauties of nature prompted him to start a movement to help boys and girls become good and useful citizens and value things in life other than wealth.

Britain Plans To Speed Ratification

LONDON (AP)—Fresh talk of new British efforts to speed up French ratification of the European Army appeared in sections of the British press Sunday. Legislators look for Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden to give a hint of the new approach in the foreign affairs debate in the House of Commons Wednesday.

The left-wing Reynolds News said without qualification "The government is to put British troops into the European Army, alongside the rearmed Germans."

Two other Sunday newspapers—one independent, the other Conservative—did not go as far as this but suggested the Churchill government would make new concessions. The independent Observer said the announcement is expected to be timed with the opening of the debate on EDC in the French Chamber of Deputies — possibly next month.

The Conservative Sunday Times said "Britain as well as the United States will announce important concessions to France as soon as the time-table for the EDC fight in the French parliament is known."

Rifle Counter Of Cigarettes

On the night of February 16, Milton Hobbs walked into the foyer of the King George hotel. No one was around so he helped himself to 60 packages of cigarettes. As he was going out, night watchman Joseph Gallagher came down the stairs. He noticed Hobbs' bulging jacket, the empty cigarette shelves. As Hobbs drove off in a car with two other men the watchman took the license number and phoned the police.

Later that night police apprehended 28-year-old William Richmond, who was driving the car, and Richmond led them to the other two youths who had been with him earlier. One was Hobbs, the other Allen James McGlennon.

In court Monday, McGlennon pleaded guilty to receiving stolen cigarettes and Hobbs pleaded guilty to the theft of the cigarettes.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, fined McGlennon $20, costs $2.50 and Hobbs $30, costs $2.50.

Richmond, leading seaman with 12 years in the navy and a hitherto clean record, pleaded not guilty to receiving and was defended by Mr. W. B. Gordon.

Richmond said he had picked up the two youths in his car earlier in the evening and they had been driving round the city hotels trying to locate some girls supposedly checked in at one of the houses.

After leaving the King George hotel, Hobbs had produced the cigarettes and split them three ways.

Richmond dropped his two companions and then, so he said, tried to find a policeman. Being a comparative stranger to Peterborough, he did not know the locality of the police station, but he had stopped in the street on seeing Constable J. Armstrong.

TAKEN TO STATION

Constable Armstrong said he whistled Richmond to stop, and had asked him to drive to the police station. On reaching the station Richmond had produced the cigarettes and had then led him, with Constable Victor McConnell, to the homes of the two youths.

Mr. Gordon considered that a man with a career such as Richmond's would not have any part in such a petty theft. The consequences to follow discovery would far outweigh the profits.

"No matter how much sympathy I might feel for Richmond and his service career, I cannot regard the offence in this light," commented the magistrate.

"I am compelled to find him guilty. However, in view of the fact that he assisted the police and was the most innocent party, I will restrict penalty to a fine."

Richmond was fined $20, costs $5.

Pair Fined

Convicted of being drunk in a public place Joseph Gooley, 163 Princess St., and Maxwell Redmond, RR 8, Peterborough, were each fined $10 and $2.50 costs when they appeared before Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, in court today.

Oliver Charges Hydro "Mismanaged"

CHATHAM (CP)—Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal leader, said Saturday the Ontario government has been "mismanaging our hydro-electric system" and has tried to "cover up a department of highways scandal" of "gigantic" proportions.

He said the change-over from 25-cycle to 60-cycle power will cost "well over $2,500,000,000" instead of the $191,000,000 originally estimated.

Mr. Oliver spoke at a Liberal convention that set up a new six county Western Ontario (South) Liberal Association and chose Clarence Nichols of Blenheim president.

Mr. Oliver said: "Twenty-nine cents out of every dollar paid in hydro bills goes to pay the interest on the hydro debt."

Gets Two Months For Car Theft

Gregory Dillon, 19-year-old Oshawa youth who was last week convicted of stealing a car from outside the Empress hotel on the night of February 5, appeared for sentence today.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, Q.C. asked Dillon if he had anything to say.

"Well, I only get into trouble when I've had drink", said Dillon.

Magistrate philp: "Oh yes, I've heard that one before—two months in the county jail."

Dillon was arrested in Oshawa a few days after he took the car from Water St. and crashed it into two parked cars, before making good his escape.

Blood left near the scene of the collision and information from a city taxi driver led police to the arrest of Dillon.

Two Narrowly Escape Drowning

PARRY SOUND (CP) — Two Parry Sound men narrowly escaped drowning Saturday when their car went through the ice of Georgian bay and sank in 20 feet of water.

Stirley Hoddy and W. J. Morris were ice-fishing from their car on a bay near the mouth of the Naiscoot river 35 miles north of Parry Sound when the car went through.

The men had the car doors open but the sudden plunge through the ice slammed them shut. Despite the heavy water pressure, they managed to open the doors under water and swam around under the ice before locating the hole.

They pulled themselves on the ice and made for shore where they broke into a tourist camp and lit a fire.

Morris is confined to bed with pleurisy.

Hoddy fell through the ice again on Sunday on his way from repairing damage done in breaking into the tourist camp.

Report Prices Lower In Quiet Trading

TORONTO (CP)—Prices were lower in quiet early afternoon stock market trading.

Papers and foods were the lowest industrials. Textiles, refining oils, liquors and manufactures, although not strong, showed strong spots. Steels and financial institutions were steady.

Kerr-Addison, up 37½ cents, and Placer, down 62½ cents were the only important price changes in golds.

Gunnar was up 10 cents after a weak close Friday to show the only noteworthy change in uraniums and New Brunswick base metals.

Western oils, which had shown some strength in forenoon trading, slipped with Merrill's 10-cent loss in the lead. Triad led the gainers. It added 10 cents.

Royal Children Will Meet Queen At Tobruk

LONDON (Reuters)—Plans were announced Sunday for five-year-old Prince Charles, heir to Britain's throne, to make his first royal tour this spring.

He and sister Anne, 3, will sail to North Africa in April to meet their parents, Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, and sail home with them on the return from their royal tour of the Commonwealth.

An official announcement from the royal residence at Buckingham Palace verified earlier reports of the youngsters' journey.

Charles and his sister will start their first trip outside Britain April 15, when they board the royal yacht Britannia for a voyage to Tobruk, Libya.

They will sail back from the North African port May 1 with their parents, stopping at Malta and Gibraltar during the return trip to Britain, where they will arrive May 15.

BEGINNING OF CAREER

The trip will mark the beginning of a tour-crowded career for both youngsters, destined from birth for the far - flung Commonwealth appearances now occupying their parents in Australia.

They will be guided in their first venture abroad by Catherine Peebles, the prince's governess, and Helen Lightbody, their nurse.

There is little chance the voyage will get the children to Tobruk in time for the Queen's birthday April 21. The Britannia is not scheduled to arrive there until April 27, six days after the Queen becomes 28.

Use Railway Car In Conservation Drive

MONTREAL (CP) — A railway car to be used in a forestry conservation campaign today was turned over to the Canadian Forestry Association by Canadian National Railways.

The car, described as the first of its type in North America, will travel through Quebec, northern Ontario, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia to teach the safeguarding of Canada's forest wealth.

The former sleeping car was modified at the railways shops in Montreal to meet the association's requirements for a lecture car.

federal government, the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Pacific Railway. Nova Scotia asked the Privy Council to throw out both appeals and uphold the Supreme Court of Canada ruling.

The case began in 1949 when the American bus line challenged New Brunswick legislation. The provincial legislation gave permission for the American company to cross New Brunswick on its Maine-Nova Scotia run, but refused to allow the company to conduct business inside the province.

CLAIMED OTTAWA SUPREME

The company claimed that the federal government, under provisions of the British North America Act, was the only authority capable of dealing with bus-line operations primarily of an inter-provincial or international nature.

It maintained this argument before the Privy Council.

The provinces claimed that they had built, planned, maintained and governed the roads in Canada and that they should continue to do so.

The judgment today expressed no opinion whether the American bus line was entitled to operate wholly within the province of New Brunswick, even as a separate company. The principle of provincial road authority within provincial boundaries had not been in dispute.

The judgment appeared to pave the way for any plans the Canadian government may have to place the $50,000,000-a-year trans-border road haulage business under the control of the board of transport commissioners—as the railways are.

This move was recommended in a report by a royal commission on transportation in 1951.

TORONTO (CP)—The president of the Canadian Trucking Association said today a Privy Council decision on the use of highways as part of an inter-provincial bus service apparently paves the way for federal control of the inter-provincial trucking industry.

Said Donald Park, whose association represents 7,000 trucking firms in Canada's 10 provinces:

"We are opposed to having our industry controlled by the board of transport commissioners. We have asked that any control be under a separate motor carrier board or, preferably, under control of provincial regulatory bodies directed by the federal government."

Say Industry

fully regulated . . . it is the prospective situation, the situation which will arise between 20 and 40 years in the future, which must concern us now, if it is to be successfully met. Spruce, being operated precariously close to its allowable cut at the present time, requires most attention, if Ontario is to maintain its present high quality production in pulp and paper manufacture and likewise in its competitive position in world markets."

Aim should be to utilize the full allowable cut each year on all commercially valuable species, including white and red pine, jack pine, black and white spruce, balsam, hemlock, yellow birch and hard maple, the white paper said.

MAY NEED NEW LIMITS

"It may be necessary, in formulating the program, to revise limits on a watershed basis and also to consider whether an indication of longer tenure for limits might not help stimulate forest management activities."

Research would be encouraged in the utilization of the present untouched stands of jack pine, poplar, white birch and low-grade hard maple.

The paper set out several proposals to implement the general policy of forest management:

1. All provisions of the Crown Timber Act and regulations concerning management plans to be fully enforced.

2. A ban on the export of all softwoods and maple and yellow birch sawtimber in an unprocessed state.

3. In some areas to slow down operations in mature timber in order to prolong the life of existing sawmills until the younger forest growth fills the gap.

4. Within 10 years to distribute the cut throughout the forest area so that no district or management unit will operate in excess of the allowable cut for any commercially valuable species.

5. Closer utilization of the hardwoods now being cut and used in order to extend the supply.

6. All forest operators on crown lands to be required to follow silvicultural practices to assure full stocking of the medium and better sites of all cut-over lands.

7. Future timber cutting to provide for replacement.

HIT PEAK IN 1908

Reviewing the history of forest development, the paper said white and red pine for lumber was the first forest product to be exploited in Ontario. In the year following Confederation, 177,000,000 board feet of pine timber were out from crown lands. The cut gradually increased until it reached a peak of nearly 800,000,000 feet in 1908, the highest on record. Since then it declined, until in 1951 the total cut of pine timber amounted to less than 150,000,000 feet.

There were many indications that the cut of spruce pulpwood might soon reach its peak, or a position similar to that reached by the white pine sawlog industry in 1908.

The decline was due to too-rapid a removal of the virgin stands, lack of regeneration on any adequate scale after logging and lack of adequate protection of the growing forests from fire, insect attacks and other destructive agencies.

The total accessible forest area in the province is 172,000 square miles, 40,000 square miles being water and waste lands. Approximately 46 per cent of this area is covered with mature forests ready to be cut, and the balance of 54 per cent is immature growing forest, including possible productive areas not now bearing trees. Eighty-nine per cent of the total forest area is crown lands and 11 per cent is privately-owned.

The total volume of merchantable timber is 62,000,000,000 cubic feet on crown lands—39,000,000,000 cubic feet in softwoods and 23,000,000,000 cubic feet to hardwoods.

HARD TO REACH

The excess of mature timber was in the more remote sections of the province. The main commercial softwoods—spruce and red and white pine—were being overcut in the southern areas, while excess volumes remaining further north were not being utilized.

"Excessive loss through deterioration in mature and over-mature timber, especially in such species as balsam and jack pine is presently taking place . . . it is important, in order to realize the full allowable cut, that operations be uniformly distributed over the entire forest area of the province."

After cutting, valuable softwoods were being replaced by inferior species, principally poplar.

"This condition will continue until improved forestry practices have advanced so as to assure regeneration and tending of the growth of the valuable softwood species through their stage of development and maturity."

CAN INCREASE CUT

On the basis of present volume of standing timber an increase in the annual cut of about 100,000,000 cubic feet of softwood timber could be made safely.

The average annual cut of softwood timber from crown lands was 320,000,000 cubic feet.

"It should be stressed, however, in view of the fact that spruce is already being heavily overcut, any such increase must be confined to those species presently uncut, such as jackpine and balsam, and that the cutting must be carried on in areas of overmature timber presently untouched."

It was apparent that the province could only provide for present requirements and normal expansion for 20 years.

After this period, industry will become increasingly dependent on presently immature stands and regrowth on cut-over areas, and, therefore, the need for improved silvicultural methods in our forests is self evident.

MOW DOWN SCORES

Scores of terrorists were mowed down Sunday night by machine-gun fire when two companies of the British Iniskilling Fusiliers blocked a river crossing in the Maragua valley 25 miles northwest of Fort Hall. One of the dead was identified as the Mau Mau chief recruiting officer, and secret documents found on his body are now being translated from Arabic and Indian.

Mau Mau casualties in the four-day running battle covering almost 100 miles from Thika to the Aberdare region total 111 dead and 40 wounded. Against this, only three African members of security units have been wounded.

The gang is believed to be under command of terrorist "General Cargo," and has the reputation of being the toughest and most ruthless of the entire Mau Mau "army."

U.S. Troops Use Bayonets To Clear Way

Counter-Measures Denounced By Korean Vice-Chief

SEOUL (AP)—United States troops, jabbing with bayonets, chased off without apparent bloodshed some 300 South Koreans who early today tried to halt a train carrying homebound Indian soldiers, the U.S. 8th army said.

The Koreans were cleared from the tracks after some minor jabbing and shoving, and the train continued to Inchon port without incident, said an 8th army spokesman.

However, Kim Chang Heung, vice-chief of South Korea's national police, said U.S. tanks were called to the scene. He denounced what he called the 8th army's "heavy counter-measures" against "a righteous move by indignant men."

A U.S. officer said the anti-Indian demonstrators were cleared in about 30 minutes, shortly after midnight.

FIRST INCIDENT

The incident was the first show of interference which South Koreans had threatened against the Indians.

Both the 8th army and South Korean police reported they knew of no injuries in the demonstrations, three miles north of Seoul.

A South Korean police official who said he was present reported that some of the group were former prisoners of war turned loose by Indian custodial troops last month.

In explaining how the South Koreans were dispersed, the RoK official said: "They were told to go and they just went."

The demonstrators were not armed, the police official said, and saw they could do nothing against "such an overwhelming force."

The Korean official claimed more than 1,000 troops were protecting the train but the 8th army spokesman said there was not anywhere near this number.

Drunk In Car, Fined $50

A man who was found in charge of his car while in an intoxicated condition was let off a drunk driving charge in court today. Instead, he was fined $50 and $2.50 costs for being drunk.

Ray Johnston, RR 5, Peterborough, was found near his car on Saturday night. But his car was stuck; furthermore, he had run the battery flat.

Therefore, according to a Supreme Court ruling, cited by Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, it was technically no longer a car. The charge was withdrawn.

Find Coffee Prices Up Again In Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Coffee prices in Toronto have gone up again, it was reported today. Well - known brands are now selling at prices ranging between $1.19 to $1.33 a pound, compared to 95 cents to $1.20 last month.

Coffee in cafes is still 10 cents a cup with no prospect of its going to 15 cents at the present time, the Restaurant Association reported.

The price boosts have been attributed to frost last year in Brazil.

Dulles Opens Home Front Campaign Convince Congress U.S. Won Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dulles met with 15 key members of Congress today in the first round of his campaign to convince the U. S. he got the best results possible out of the Big Four meeting at Berlin.

Eight senators and seven House of Representatives members, on Dulles' invitation, came to the state department to hear a report on his Berlin conference decision to take part in an Asian peace conference in Geneva with Communist Chinese and Russian delegates.

Dulles has already said that in the arrangements the United States got 100 per cent what it wanted. Some members of Congress expressed fears that the Geneva conference might break the ice for ultimate recognition of Red China or "appeasement."

Today's closed meeting is the first of five reports Dulles will give on the results of the four-week session with Russia's foreign minister Molotov, Britain's foreign secretary Eden and France's foreign minister Bidault.

In a move to reassure uneasy U.S. legislators, Dulles is expected to stress that the forthcoming parley with the Communists, set for April 26, does not foreshadow formal U.S. diplomatic recognition or membership in the United Nations, for the Peiping regime.

TERMS NECESSARY

The secretary is reported ready to argue that the terms agreed upon were necessary in order to cut through the deadlocked preliminary peace talks at Panmunjom which had been stalled since Dec. 12 over a name - calling wrangle.

Special ambassador Arthur Dean broke off talks with the North Korean and Chinese Communist representatives then, claiming they had falsely accused the United States of "perfidy."

Although the Big Four foreign ministers spent most of their time debating the unsettled German and Austrian peace settlement problems, Dulles is expected to spend most of his time talking about the only agreement of the 23-day meeting, the Geneva conference set up to discuss Korean and Indo-Chinese problems.

The secretary plans to follow up today's meeting by reporting Tuesday to the full House of Representatives foreign affairs committee in a closed meeting.

90 Represent Many Groups At School Of Leadership

ROSENEATH (ENS) — Upwards of 90 persons, from many organizations in Northumberland county attended the leadership forum training school at Roseneath township hall on Friday and Saturday.

Forum leaders were Mrs. John H. McCulloch, Brampton, member of the rural leadership forum committee and Donald Middleton, president of the Farmer's Association of Ontario.

The school was sponsored by the Northumberland county Farm Forum with Victor Morrow, Roseneath, as president, F. S. Harnden, Grafton, vice-president and Mrs. Raymond Richardson, Dartford, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Floyd S. Harnden, Grafton, was chairman of the leadership committee.

Roseneath Women's Institute were hostesses to the visitors, with the vice-president, Mrs. Fred Murphy, as hostess and Mrs. Frank Brown in charge of registration.

TOPICS

Program planning, parliamentary procedure, discussion technique, discussion groups, panel discussions, motions and amendments were some of the many subjects dealt with.

The sessions were interspersed with community singing, with Mrs. Edgar Carew as pianist. Don Middleton led in recreational periods.

On Saturday evening, at the conclusion of the final session, Bill Murphy and Faye Adams, violinists, with Bonnie Adams at the piano, furnished music for quadrille dancing. The members of Roseneath WI served tea and cookies to the guests.

POSTER CONTEST

On Saturday evening, prizes were presented to the winners in the Farm Forum poster contest, in connection with the leadership school. The prizes were presented by Mrs. R. Richardson and Mrs. V. Morrow, Secretary and president of the organization.

SALT MINE COLLAPSES — A cave-in underground in a Windsor salt mine caused this chemical warehouse to sink deep into the ground. Water bubbling up from the old salt workings created a lake and the flood for a time threatened much of the chlorine-manufacturing section of the big $6,000,000 Canadian Industries Limited plant. —(CP from AP).

Cobourg Man Killed By Car

COBOURG (ENS) — Norbert Butler, 51, was instantly killed when struck by an automobile on the eastern outskirts of Port Hope early Sunday morning.

Mr. Butler was walking east through fog and drizzling rain when he was hit, thrown 30 feet by the impact and killed. Driver of the car was Richard Evans, who lives in Cobourg and plays hockey in Port Hope.

Born in Cobourg, Mr. Butler was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Butler. He served from 1939 to 1945 with the Hastings and Prince Edward regiment, and later returned to settle in Cobourg.

Mr. Butler is survived by one brother and four sisters: Joseph of Cobourg, Mrs. W. Cunningham and Mrs. M. Mackie of Cobourg, Mrs. E. Ackerman of Toronto, and Mrs. D. Tompkins of Oshawa.

OPP Cont. Victor Piper of Cobourg, investigated the accident. It has not yet been decided if there will be an inquest. The funeral will be held Tuesday from St. Michael's church in Cobourg.

Brotherhood Week Opens With Service

LINDSAY (ENS) — Observance of Brotherhood Week began Sunday night in Lindsay, with the annual church service, held in Cambridge Street United church. The speaker was Marvin Gelber, an outstanding Jewish layman of Toronto. Other items during the week's program included two special service club meetings. Today the Lindsay Rotarians will entertain a group of new Canadians from the Lindsay district.

Tomorrow, Miss Canada of 1953, Kathleen Archibald, of Kamloops, B.C., will be the special speaker at the Kiwanis club meeting. Miss Archibald is a highly recommended speaker on behalf of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews.

Sapling Kills Worker

BROKEN ARROW, Okla. (AP)—A stubborn willow sapling, crushed to the ground by a bulldozer, snapped back like an arrow Sunday after the machine had passed over it and speared a farm worker who was walking behind. Jess Lee Henry, 22, was struck in the chest and died before reaching a hospital.

Morocco Official Dies

TANIER, Morocco (AP) — Sidi Allal Ben Abdel Malek, 79, honorary grand vizir of Spanish Morocco, died at his home Sunday. He won his title for the support he gave Spanish policy in Morocco before the Spanish Moroccan protectorate was established. He retired from active politics some a years ago.

New Recession Fears In U.S. Business Activity Falls

By ALASTAIR BUCHAN

It is probable that it will be another two months before one can make any firm judgments about the scale and duration of the American recession which first became noticeable last autumn. Weeks ago the general mood in Washington was one of optimism that the largest decline in activity was passed and would have worked itself out of the economic system by midsummer; and in business circles that still seems to be the general opinion. This week, however, the issue of the federal reserve board's figures for January and the first week in February, coupled with the remark of one of its senior officials to a Congressional committee that business activity had fallen more sharply than the Administration had realized, has reintroduced a note of alarm.

The board's figures show that industrial production continued to decline in January, from 127 per cent. of the 1947-49 average to 125 per cent., compared with a level of 136 per cent. in January 1953— a decline in one year of eleven points, or just over eight per cent. Most of this decline continued to be accounted for by the decline in production of durable goods, whose index fell from 143 in December to 140 in January, level nearly ten per cent. below that of a year ago. Perhaps most serious of all the indicators, an improved techinque for arriving at unemployment figures put estimated unemployment for January at just over three million, or five per cent. of the labour force, instead of 3.8 (three decimal eight) which had been assumed to be the figure up till now.

President Eisenhower told his Press conference February 15 that the crucial month for judging the trend of unemployment would be March, when seasonal fluctuations begin to disappear; but the present upward trend of unemployment is rising faster than is usual for this season.

Other depressing factors are: (1) that automobile production fell in the first two weeks of February five per cent. below the January average; (2) that department store sales for January and early February were below the December level, after making the necessary seasonal adjustments; (3) that there was a slight decline in housing activity in January, and (4) that the New York stock market is showing signs of weakness.

In the face of these figures the Administrtion, including the Federal Reserve Board, holds to its belief that we are witnessing no more than an "inventory recession," resulting from maladjustment of production to demand last year.

The figures tend to support this view. At the end of 1952 the value of stocks held by department stores stood at 128 per cent. but as the result of cut-backs in production have now fallen to 123 per cent. However, officials are now beginning to wonder, looking at the rise in unemployment and the continuing decline in production, whether this inventory adjustment may not be setting new forces in motion which will prolong the recession.

Meanwhile, discussion of these economic factors has necessarily in an election year, developed into a political fight. The Democrats are in search of a good issue on which to fight the Congressional elections next November. Despite the strength of their position in both Houses of Congress the continuing personal popularity of President Eisenhower himself has convinced them that they cannot expect to gain control of Congress merely by default. The President's legislative programme, which includes cuts in taxation and a reduction in the size of the Army, is not one which it would be popular for the Democrats to oppose. If the present decline in production and employment continues; the Democrats will therefore make the maximum political capital out of it.

Already there has been considerable criticism from the Democratic side of the distribution of tax reductions, in that they favor business investments rather than consumer spending. While the Republicans are accusing them of being prophets of gloom and of creating the psychological condi- which would hasten a serious recession, the Democrats, including the leaders of organized labour, insist that they are only raising the danger signals; and that they are trying to spur the Administration to stimulate consumer buying power and public works expenditure before it is too late.

Six Fatalities Weekend Toll

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Six fatalities were reported in eastern Canada during the weekend, a Canadian Press compilation today showed. All were in Ontario.

Three died in traffic accidents, one in a fall, one in a farm mishap and one in a shooting.

Russell R. Croghan, 40, was fatally shot at North Bay at the height of a quarrel with his wife. Police questioned his 15-year-old son.

Clifford Gayer, 28, fell over a cliff near Toronto, landed in soft mud and was suffocated. He had been teaching his five-year-old daughter how to fly her model airplane.

CRUSHED IN SILO

In the Brantford district, farmer Craig Sowden, 38, was found crushed beneath tons of frozen ensilage in a silo.

In separate accidents involving automobiles that went out of control, Bdr. C. R. Baxter was killed near Picton and Harry Smith, 46, was fatally injured near Amherstburg.

Norbert Butler, 51, was killed near Port Hope when struck by a car while out for a walk.

NO DOUBT—In this closeup of Ramu, the "Wolf Boy" of Lucknow, India, can be seen the double set of front upper incisors which the 9-year-old boy possesses. Sir Philip Manson-Bahr, British authority on tropical medicine and the only western specialist to examine the boy, said he has no doubt he was reared among animals.
